Ward Three Republicans Stand By The Mayor

The Republicans of Ward Three turned out in large numbers Tuesday evening at Malnati hall at a meeting called by the Ward Committee to select candidates for the City Council and to endorse the candidacy of Mayor Thompson.

If there was any doubt how the citizens of the Mayor's own ward felt toward him, it was dispelled at this meeting. They not only endorsed his acts during the past year but by a rising vote and three cheers long and loud pledged their hearty support at the coming Municipal election.

Representative Nicoll opened the meeting, and said it was called to give the voters an opportunity to express their preference for candidates. The meeting then organized with Alexander Clark as chairman and Oscar Friske as secretary.

In response to a request from Councilman Spargo, Mayor Thompson spoke briefly. He was only too glad at any time to have an opportunity to speak to the citizens of Ward Three. For many years the voters had assembled at similar meetings and had given expression as to who should represent them in the City Council. It was far more preferable to come here and give expressions than for men to put themselves forward. Personally he never wanted anything better than the endorsement of the citizens of Ward Three in a meeting of this kind. Such an endorsement counts for a great deal.

Councilman Piper said it had been an honor to have a citizen of Ward Three as Mayor. He had filled the office in a just, able, fearless and conscientious manner. He felt the meeting would endorse his acts during the past year and would endorse his candidacy for another year and he so moved.

A dozen voices were heard to second the motion which was passed unanimously by a rising vote followed by three cheers.

The Councilmen from the ward were then called upon.

Councilman Piper said he had served for four years to the best of his ability. He wished to thank the voters for their endorsement. Every year his vote had been larger and he appreciated it.

Councilman Spargo said he had served for three years. He had done the best he could for the ward and he wished to thank the voters for the way they had stood by him.

Councilman Savage said he was not a public speaker. He wished, however, to thank the voters for the support they had given him. He had always done the best he could for the interest of the ward.

Representative Nicoll when called upon said: You know I am all done. Of course I am sorry. When you are in politics you have got to be prepared for these things. That is the way I take it. We all remember a year ago, we named a man for mayor and were successful in electing him after a strong campaign. There is no reason why we can not do the same thing this year.

The Mayor has been upright and above board. There is nothing else for us to do but to go to the polls, stand by and work for him. If we bury our differences we can beat anything in the city. He urged the voters to throw over any little personal feelings and work for the ward candidates. Our Mayor has filled the bill from A to Z, and will win again.

Julius Johnson of the board of Assessors could endorse all that had been said about the administration. There had been no year when the citizens received so much for the money expended as this year. He hoped the voters of Ward Three would endorse the Mayor heartily.

John C. Murray was glad the meeting had endorsed Mayor Thompson, and Ward Three should congratulate itself. He has given us a good clean administration and pleased the majority. Ward Three should stand by him to a man. We should line up to get a little larger majority than last year.

The meeting then proceeded to nominate candidates for the caucuses as follows:

Councilman at large, Walter E. Piper.

Councilmen from Ward, William T. Cummings, William T. Spargo, Alexander D. McGregor, William Deacon, Thomas Bishop, George Hunter.

Councilman Savage was nominated but positively declined to again serve.

In reply to a question by a voter, Mayor Thompson said the school question comes home to everyone. It was the city's intention to give its children the best education possible. The attendance at the High school is above the average of other cities in the commonwealth according to the population. Our charter divides the authority into three departments. The executive, legislative and school committee. The executive can only execute when ordered by the City Council. They appropriate every dollar. No debt can be incurred or no money expended except by their order, and the borrowing of money requires a two-thirds vote of the City Council.

The School Committee have control over the schools. The charter says no appropriation shall be made for school buildings without the approval of the School Committee.

The High school question has been pending four years. Three months after the matter was referred to the executive this year, six sets of plans were presented for the approval of the School Board, one of which has been approved, and an order appropriating money for its construction is now on its passage in the City Council. This plan gives accommodation for about 1,000 pupils, at an estimated cost of about $113,000.

John L. Miller spoke on the school question, and said that for the children's sake differences had been thrown aside, and the School Committee had united on the plan presented to the City Council.

The meeting then adjourned.

Quincy High

Defeat a Heavier Team And Also Shut Them Out

Again has Quincy High proved itself the superior of another Boston team; and that team is supposed to be one of the strongest inter-scholastic aggregations in greater Boston. Quincy got "the jump" on their opponents, threw the opposing line back; crushed the offense before it started, scattered the defense to the four winds, and completed an overwhelming victory without the least "dirty" football on their part.

The way that they hauled the runner along after he was "nailed," the brilliant rushing and tackling, brought ringing cheers time and time again from the crowd of the "red and blue." It was a fine example of organized attack and defense against a heavier team.

There were fewer disputes and less time taken out than on other occasions. This together with the fact that the crowd was kept back to the sidelines in a very efficient manner by Officer Goodhue made this the most interesting game played here this season.

GAME IN DETAIL.

Quincy kicked off to Ballou and Hobigand and got the ball immediately on downs; the visitors not being able to advance the five yards. Then Quincy began its attack. It was a smashing, irresistable, ever advancing, series of plunges and tackle around tackle plays, which scored the first touchdown in short order, Arthur carrying the ball over.

B. and H. then kicked off to Bass, who carried the ball twenty yards before being downed. Then the attack commenced again, Commins, Moody and Arthur doing the bulk of the work. In ten straight plunges they carried the ball from their 25-yard line to B. and H's. 30-yard line. Here Sanders distinguished himself by scoring a touchdown by a splendidly executed double pass around left end.

B. and H. kicked off to Quincy and Nichols ran the ball back twenty yards. Here on the next play he showed his splendid head work by giving the signal for a punt. Fallon went back and got off his punt in spite of a poor pass. The quarter-back fumbled and Nichols fell on it, making a clear gain of thirty yards, putting them on the visitors' 40-yard line. This was soon reduced by simple tandem plunges which tore through the line as though shot out of a catapult. Sanders was pushed over for the third touchdown.

Score,—20 to 0.

In the second half, B. and H. kicked to Bass who tried a double pass with Arthur but as the ball did not go anywhere near him, the trick did not work. Nichols then signaled for a fake punt by which Fallon gained six yards. On the next two plays Quincy made their only failure to advance the ball and Fallon went back and drove the ball forty yards. The quarterback of the visitors again fumbled, but as he recovered it Quincy lost another chance to score. On a quarterback run around Quincy's right end, B. and H. made the only "first down" in the whole game. Quincy then got the ball on a blocked punt by "Babe" Badger, who brushed his man aside like a piece of straw and was on the fullback before he knew it. Nichols made twenty yards on a quarterback run using his free hand effectively in protecting himself from tackles. Then Sanders rushed around left end for fifteen yards. Bass followed with five more and Commins ended the scoring by taking the ball ten yards for the last touchdown.

The only weak point that Quincy had was in kicking goals Fallon and Lupton each failing to kick any. In goal kicking Quincy should have one of their heaviest men do it all the time, as big men are the most sure.

The plays were run off at high speed which helps greatly the scoring ability in any team.

The new first-class battleship Virginia, a sister to the Rhode Island, built by the Newport News Shipbuilding & Drydock Company, will be given a standardization trial on the Monroe Island course about Nov. 20

Four Alarms In Two Hours

Fire alarms came in thick and fast last evening, four alarms being sounded from different sections of the city between 5.38 and 7.35. The first alarm was from Box 442 at 5.38 and was false. Box 138 at 6.35 was also a false alarm. Box 24 at 6.58 was for a slight fire at Alfred Olson's house on Curtis street, having caught from a bonfire. Box 71 at 7.35 was for burning leaves on Washington street.

The alarms came so near each other that the apparatus did not have time to return from answering one alarm before another was sounded.

Hallowe'en Parties.

The Sunshine club of St. Chrysostom's church gave a Hallowe'en party Tuesday afternoon under the direction of Miss Blanche Mills and Miss A. Maud Briggs. All kinds of appropriate games were introduced including a gigantic cake containing a ring, thimble and money to be cut by the children for the lucky treasures. The unexpected appearance of Mrs. Wright (Helen Sibly) as a ghost made a pleasant feature of the afternoon's entertainment. Refreshments were served.

The Atlantic C. E. society celebrated Hallowe'en in the Memorial church vestry Tuesday evening by a sheet and pillow-case party. Apple games and pumpkins created fun and a spriit of contest. There was a large attendance and a merry one.

Those who happened to pass along Hancock street, Wollaston, last evening saw what had been a vacant house lighted up and inhabited by ghost like figures. From the sounds of merriment they could easily guess that a Hallowe'en party was in progress.

The Tariff

Prominent Issue at Democratic Rally Last Night

A well attended Democratic rally was held Tuesday evening at Hancock hall. Hon. Edward J. Donovan advertised as the leading speaker was not present, but Frank K. Foster and Representative David I. Walsh were, and also R E. Hersom of Maine.

Councilman B. A. McLane, the chairman of the Democratic City Committee, called the meeting to order and spoke briefly, introducing ex-Councilman James H. Elcock the candidate for Representative as the presiding officer.

Mr. Elcock was sanguine of success. In years past all the Republicans had to do was to nominate candidates and they would be elected. Recently, it was different, and the Republicans felt the necessity of stamping the State from the Berkshires to Cape Cod.

Frank K. Foster, the first speaker, noted more enthusiasm than in any campaign since the days of Butler. He was against "Boss" Lodge who dictated the Republican policy and against protection which favored the trusts. He claimed the Republicans were antagonists to labor, and cited votes of the Massachusetts Senate this year where they voted against the picketing bill, the eight-hour bill, the overtime bill and the public opinion bill. He favored the referendum, a larger market for our goods, free coal, and free raw materials. In closing he eulogized the Democratic State candidates.

R. E. Hersom of Maine confined his address mainly to tariff issues. He claimed that only seven per cent of the people were benefitted by the tariff, and, further, that the tariff means the extinction of the shoe industry of Massachusetts, as it did the ship industry of Maine.

He argued that it was not the tariff that made the wages of this country twice as large as in foreign countries, but our natural resources, our rivers, etc. Maine bought its mowing machines and manufactures in Massachusetts, and sold its apples and vegetables to Masssachusetts. This was reciprocity. Call it free trade if you will, it is all the same. Why not extend the line to include Canada?

Representative R. I. Walsh also brought a word of cheer and of hope, noting enthusiasm for the Democratic candidates. He favored a revision of the tariff and reciprocity with Canada, and extolled the candidates.

Others on the platform were William T. Shea of the State Committee, John Cavanagh the candidate for County Commissioner, Secretary LaCroix of the City Committee, ex-Councilman George H. Wilson and ex-Representative Peter T. Fallon. Mr. Elcock made a good presiding officer, happily introducing the speakers.

Murphy—Anderson.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's church Tuesday evening, when Mr. Albert A. Murphy was united in marriage to Miss Mary Anderson by Rev. A. F. Roche. The groom was attended by Frank Anderson, a brother of the bride, and Mrs. Edith Everett was matron of honor. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will reside at 2 Lawrie street.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

A few years ago, before Quincy granite was protected by the tariff, much was heard because of the fact that rough granite could be shipped to England, manufactured into monuments, and shipped again to this country at a lower cost than it could be manufactured in Quincy. This was possible because of the difference in wages in the two countries. Today the Quincy granite cutters work less hours than a few years ago and earn higher wages. What Protection has done for the granite cutters of New England it is doing for those employed in other industries. It is not cheaper monuments and goods that are wanted at the expense of American industries, but plenty of work and higher wages. All statistics show that New England is prosperous.

One of the speakers at the Democratic rally at Hancock hall said that this country has reciprocity among its States and it works well. Call it Free Trade if you will, he said, it is all one and the same thing. Not all Democrats will admit that Reciprocity and Free Trade are the same thing, but they are Free Traders at heart, and they know the verdict of the country on that issue, and see the wisdom of changing the name. Certainly the country is more prosperous under the protective tariff than it was before the revision by the McKinley bill. It would be a mistake to change the policy.

The Democrats seem to direct their efforts to destroying the industries of other states. They would ruin the coal and iron business of Pennsylvania, the cattle raising of the great western States, the agricultural States of the northwest, the granite industry of New England, etc. And why! That Canada, Australia, Russia, Great Britain and other foreign countries might prosper. Massachusetts should be more interested in its sister States than in foreign countries. It is the industries of this country that must first be fostered, and the markets of these countries that must be preserved.

In every way Hon. Eben S. Draper, the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, comes up to the high standard which the Republican party of the states adheres to in its nominations. There is not the slightest reason why a Republican who would vote for General Guild as candidate for governor should not cast his preferences also for Mr. Draper as the lieutenant-governor. Does the Republican party want a business man for its lieutenant-governor? It has him in Mr. Draper. Is there a captain of industry wanted, a man who has made himself a force in the business affairs of the state and nation. The party has him in Mr. Draper. Does the party want a man who has endeared himself to his thousands of employes by his high regard for their best welfare as exemplified in their living conditions at Hopedale, the seat of the Draper mill interests? It has him in Mr. Draper.

What more is wanted? The tariff situation? Is that the objection which some party men find to Mr. Draper? If it is, how consistent is it? Mr. Draper has announced again and again that he stands squarely on the platform of the Republican convention, and any Republican voting for that platform must by the same token endorse Mr. Draper. And further than that a man who votes for Mr. Guild as the candidate for governor, must, to be logical, likewise vote for Mr. Draper, because Gen. Guild himself says that Mr. Draper's position on the tariff is identically the same as his own. How can a Republican take one of these candidates and omit the other from his support, and be consistent?

STORY OF A FIGHT

Old Friends Each Say They Got the Worst of It

THE PLYMPTON HEARING

Testimony That the Actor Was Found on Lawn Badly Used Up--Martin Not Quite Certain What Happened

Plymouth, Mass., Nov. 1.—After an all-day hearing before Judge Osborne, Eben Plympton, the actor, who is charged with the attempted murder of his friend and companion, George Martin, was held until next Monday, when the judge will announce his decision in the case. Judge Osborne said that he thought the matter was out of his jurisdiction, but he announced that on Monday next he would reduce the amount of Plympton's bail from $5000 to $1000.

The courtroom was crowded throughout the hearing. Only four witnesses were examined. Wallace H. Bonney, Harry B. Blanchard and Martin were called by the government, while Plympton was the only witness for the defense.

Bonney and Blanchard gave testimony regarding the conditions at Plympton's home in Kingston on the night of Sept. 13, when the assault took place. They said that they found Plympton lying on the lawn in front of his house and that he appeared to have been used roughly. They took him into the house, washed him and arranged his disordered clothing. While they were there, they testified, Plympton threatened to kill Martin.

George Martin, the victim of the assault, told the court that he and Plympton had always been upon the best of terms. He said that he had not a clear recollection of what happened on the night of Sept. 13. "We had a few words and a few blows," said Martin, "and I got most of the blows. I don't remember what the words were. Mr. Plympton and I have been close friends for years, and I do not believe that he meant to harm me."

Martin's testimony closed the government's case, and Plympton took the stand in his own defense. The actor said that he and Martin had been drinking on the day the assault took place. They drove over to Kingston village, where Plympton made some purchases. Martin objected to waiting and drove home alone. Plympton had to walk to his house, several miles away. When he reached home he was angry, he said, and after a few words with Martin, the two men came to blows, Plympton, according to his own story, getting the worst of it. It was after this quarrel that Blanchard and Bonney found Plympton on the lawn. Later in the evening, Plympton said, he and Martin engaged in another quarrel and, fearing that Martin would kill him, Plympton struck Martin with a piece of wood which he had picked up while trying to get out of Martin's way.

Plympton closed his testimony by stating that he had cared for Martin as best he could, and that the latter came to Plympton's house as soon as he was released from the hospital and is now a member of Plympton's household.

Not After Philippine "Snaps"

Washington, Nov. 1.—Having occasion to secure 25 additional officers for the Philippine constabulary, the places paying $1100 a year to begin with, 100 state military institutes and agricultural colleges were invited to name candidates for the places from among their graduates. Less than 20 applications were received, the faculty of the colleges attributing the lack of interest to the fact that their graduates were in great demand in the business world.

To Remain In Public Service

Washington, Nov. 1.—Charles H. Darling has retired from the office of assistant secretary of the navy, which post he has held since Dec. 16, 1901. He will be succeeded by Truman H. Newberry of Detroit, who took the oath of office today. Darling has served under Secretaries Long, Moody, Morton and Bonaparte. President Roosevelt is to appoint Darling collector of customs at the port of Burlington, Vt.

Infernal Machine In Tenement House

New York, Nov. 1.—Twenty-five families in a tenement on Leroy street were thrown into a panic late last night when a dynamite bomb with a fuse lighted was found in a hallway on the second floor. John Skelly, a watchman, prevented an explosion by severing the fuse, which, by that time, was within an inch of the bomb. A policeman carried the infernal machine to a station house.

CONDEMMED BY PRESS

Shaw's Smirched Play Will Not Be Again Produced

New York, Nov. 1.—The police stopped the production of George Bernard Shaw's play, "Mrs. Warren's Profession," by arresting Samuel Gumpertz, manager of the Garrick theatre, in which the first New York production of the play was made, on a charge of offending public decency in sanctioning the performance. Police Commissioner McAdoo ordered that all further performances of the play cease. Gumpertz was paroled on his promise to bring with him to court all the members of the company.

While the money will be refunded for seats purchased, many persons will be losers through having purchased tickets from speculators at exorbitant prices.

This notice, signed "Arnold Daly," was posted outside of the Garrick theatre last night: "Further performances of 'Mrs. Warren's Profession' will be discontinued, owing to the universal condemnation of the press."

A large force of policemen was at the theatre and had difficulty in keeping an immense crowd in order. The theatre was closed and two men in the box office were busy refunding money paid for tickets.

Ringer Disguised With Paint

New York, Nov. 1.—The horse Cataract has been identified at the Jamaica track by J. J. McCafferty as the horse Freckman. Freckman was stolen from the Oakland (Cal.) track last Feburary and has never appeared until Monday, when he was entered under the name of Cataract and was withdrawn from the last race. The horse was painted on the head and hind legs and after he was washed several horsemen identified him. Freckman was entered in the sixth race as a 5-year-old maiden having never started. A big killing was planned with him and he would probably have won, as he worked one mile in 1:41 and the field which he was to meet was of a very ordinary kind.

Emperor "Shouted" Americans

Seoul, Nov. 1.—Captain Broatch and 26 marines, constituting the American legation guard, left Chemulpo on the cruiser Cincinnati after a stay of 11 months in Seoul. The American guard is the last of the foreign legation guards to leave, and the responsibility of preserving order now devolves upon the Japanese government. Before the American guards departed from Seoul the Emperor of Korea presented souvenirs to Broatch and gave the marines beer and tobacco.

Great Hollowe'en Carinval

Albany, Nov. 1.—The second annual Hallowe'en carnival in Albany ended with almost indescribable scenes of hilarity, following the great illuminated parade. The streets in the center of the city were packed until long after midnight with masses of rollicking people, many in fantastic costumes, indulging in all manner of pranks. Good nature and harmless fun for the most part characterized the vast crowds.

Fever Fighters Leave New Orleans

New Orleans, Nov. 1.—The break-up of the federal forces which have been engaged in the fight against yellow fever begun with the receipt of orders from Surgeon General Wyman notifying Dr. White that 11 members of the force should be sent back to their respective stations. The officers at once completed their reports and left.

Money Lenders Bounced

Washington, Nov. 1.—Secretary Hitchcock has ordered the dismissal from service of four clerks in the pension bureau accused of lending money at usurious rates of interest. The clerks are G. H. Getz, G. S. Livingston and J. R. Hayes, all receiving salaries of $1800, and George R. Marble, whose salary was $1400.

MAIL COACH HELD UP

Driver and Highwayman Engaged In a Fusillade

Alstead, N. H., Nov. 1.—L. F. Bragg, driving a United States mail coach between Bellows Falls, Vt., and this town, was held up and shot at several times by men hidden in the bushes in the town of Walpole last night.

Bragg was driving a pair of horses attached to a large old-fashioned coach, carrying considerable mail and express, but no passengers. The driver was perched on a high seat, trotting his horses along the dark road, when voices commanded him to "halt." Bragg shouted a refusal, and had hardly spoken when he saw a flash, and a bullet hummed by his head. He dropped down on a little foot-board where he kept the mail pouch and, drawing his revolver, shot several times toward the spot where the flashes had been seen. The highwaymen remained hidden, but were generous in exchange of shots. Meanwhile the horses had become frightened and were running wild, soon bringing coach and driver out of range of the assailants.

Bragg says the holdup was the second he had experienced within the two years he has driven the stage. There is no clue to the highwaymen.

Sensational Chase For a Shooter

Boston, Nov. 1.—Mrs. Theresa E. Green of East Boston was attacked by her husband, James Green, in her kitchen, and received a bullet wound in the left arm. With the blood flowing from her arm, Mrs. Green ran down the street, pursued by her husband, until he was overpowered. Nearly 500 schoolchildren joined in the chase for Green, notwithstanding the fact that he held a revolver in his hand. Since leaving an insane asylum recently Green has not been living with his wife. He was locked up.

Motorman's Trial Continues

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 1.—In the case of N. B. Smith, starter, and E. H. Leete, motorman on the Worcester and Southbridge street railway, charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Grace Nelson at Charlton, District Attorney Taft asked for the discharge of Smith on the ground that there was not sufficient evidence against him. Smith was discharged and the trial of Leete continued. Leete's defense is based on the claim that the brakes did not work.

Doctor Wanted In Suit Case Mystery Is Located

HIS ARREST POSTPONED

The Boston Police Want to Talk With Nathan, Who Is on the Way From Pittsburg--Woman and Man Probably With Miss Geary In Her Last Hours

Boston, Nov. 1.—Chief Inspector Watts states that the doctor who dismembered the body of Susanna A. Geary, the suit case victim, has been located. He does not expect, however, that any arrest will be made for a day or two, intimating that the police are awaiting something more definite from Morris Nathan, the lover of the girl. Watts' statement was as follows:

"The doctor has been located. We know where he is and can probably put our hands on him when we want him. There is no need of seeking any further clues, as far as this one man is concerned, because we know where he is." The chief then added that he did not look for an arrest today.

The theory of the police regarding the whole affair, in which the most serious charge in connection with it can only be manslaughter, is that Miss Geary went to a woman and submitted to a criminal operation. It was not a success, but before the girl died a male physician was called in and he attempted to save the girl's life by a second operation for peritonitis. Miss Geary, however, died. The doctor then dismembered the body and distributed portions of it in two suit cases, which were subsequently found.

The charge against the woman can only be one of manslaughter, while, according to Superintendent Pierce of the local force, it will be difficult to bring any charge against Nathan unless he should be accused of concealing a crime.

That both a woman and a man were with Miss Geary during her last hours or days is believed to be shown by the physician's certificate, which was sent to the manager of "The Shepherd King" company, of which she and Nathan were members, giving an excuse for her absence. The certificate was written by a woman, while the address on the envelope was in a man's handwriting.

Mrs. Geary, the mother of the unfortunate girl, accompanied by her daughter Evelyn, had a long conference with the Cambridge police officials, during which she denied that she knew of her daughter's trouble and expressed her belief in Nathan's innocence.

The Boston officials had several long conversations by telephone with two men who were sent to Pittsburg on Sunday to bring Nathan back. A dispatch from that city to the effect that the Pittsburg authorities had stated that there would be an arrest here of a man and a woman was shown Superintendent Pierce, who regretted that publicity had been given the statement, as he believed that it would defeat the ends of justice.

With the exception of a few minor details, the police regard the suit case mystery as practically solved.

RETURNING TO BOSTON

Nathan Anxious to Avenge the Death of His Sweetheart

Pittsburg, Nov. 1.—With the reluctant consent of his attorneys and against the advice of the physician called in, Morris Nathan, arrested here in connection with the Winthrop suit case mystery, left the city late last night for Boston in the custody of Silas P. Smith of the Massachusetts state constabulary. His leaving was voluntary and Inspector McGarr of the Boston police remains here to further interrogate members of "The Shepherd King" Theatrical company, of which Nathan was a member.

Nathan was in such an extreme state of nervousness yesterday that two officers were detailed to guard his cell, lest he do himself harm. Attorney Siskand called in Dr. Briggs to examine the prisoner and the physician reported Nathan suffering from extreme nervous shock, and advised against his removal at present. Attorneys Johnson and Burleigh joined Siskand and the doctor in advising Nathan not to go, but he insisted that he wanted to return as quickly as possible and help avenge his sweetheart's murder.

One of the reasons assigned for the prisoner's extreme nervousness was that his cell in police headquarters was just across the alley from the theatre where "The Shepherd King" is being performed, and the strains of the music for the dance in which Miss Geary formerly participated were distinctly audible to the prisoner at each performance.

Tribute to Governor Wright

Manila, Nov. 1.—The farewell banquet to Governor Wright was attended by many army officers and civilians, and was one of the most popular demonstrations ever given to an official of the islands. The governor was toasted by Americans, Englishmen, Spaniards and Filipinos. He was cheered for 10 minutes when he arose to speak. He urged the people to cease political discussions and work for the development of the islands.

British Comment on Birth of Russian Freedom

WITTE IS NOT TRUSTED

Will Be Handicapped by Extremists of Revolutionary and Beaurocratic Parties--Revolution May Be Carried on to the Bitter End

London, Nov. 1.—The tremendous difficulties of the task now facing Count Witte in the sudden birth of Russian freedom are fully recognized in the editorials and the special dispatches from St. Petersburg in the London newspapers. Doubts, however, are freely expressed as to whether the count will prove strong enough or the Russian nation sufficiently self-controlled to surmount the labor involved in the growth of a new constitution.

The Daily Telegraph, in an editorial, says: "An epoch has been reached in the fortunes of czardom corresponding to the fall of the bastile in the history of France; but there is a warning as well as an inspiration in the great parallel of the French revolution which, through impatience, was returned by anarchy, massacre and terror to a despotism mightier than the one it destroyed. Russia now stands at the golden moment of constructive compromise when everything depends upon controlling the forces which may otherwise sweep the empire into chaos. Let the leaders of Russian revolution remember the fate of the Girondists while they still have power to pause."

Other papers dilate on the text that the czar's charter of freedom has still to be translated into deeds, and comment on the difficulties which Witte is likely to encounter from the extremists of the revolutionary and bureaucratic parties which, they say, are both likely to resist to the utmost any attempts at compromise and moderation.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Morning Post points out that Witte is "only a liberal from expediency, is distrusted by all shades of popular political opinion, and is openly disliked by the aristocrats." The correspondent adds that "it has been remarked that the count's cabinet list is likely to be accepted by the emperor, as he could submit no names more distasteful than his own."

The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, commenting on Tuesday's demonstrations, says that "the blowing off of steam" may be a correct description of them, but that some give them a different name and are afraid that this revolution will be carried to the bitter end. The correspondent adds: "The socialists and revolutionists on all sides, strong in their victory, declare their determination to carry the struggle further, even should it end in a military dictatorship. The government will be compelled to resist all such demands as the formation of a national militia, because it can have no guarantee that such a force would not be used in an attempt to overthrow the monarchy and establish a republic."

The Standard's Warsaw correspondent says hundreds of railroad workers yesterday stormed the Peviak prison in an attempt to liberate a political prisoner, but the attempt was frustrated, the troops firing and killing three and wounding many.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times says: "The constitution has come too late. It has satisfied nobody except the very moderate element, which is devoid of any influence upon Russia's political evolution. The inhabitants of St. Petersburg, whose political education is vastly more advanced that of those in the provinces, remain passively, if not actively, on the side of the revolutionaries. The manifesto is regarded as an avowal of weakness and incitement to further agitation. We are thus facing a situation which is perhaps more serious than ever."

Chief Procurator Down and Out

St. Petersburg, Nov. 1.—The dawn of a constitutional era marks also the passing of Constantine Pobiedonostseff, the aged chief procurator of the holy synod and the servant and adviser of three emperors, who during all his long life has been the strongest defender of the autocracy. He was unwilling to remain in office under a parliamentary government and last night presented his resignation, which was accepted by the czar, who at the same time nominated him to the senate, the resting place of retired statesmen.

Autocracy Bankrupt

Berlin, Nov. 1.—The czar's manifesto is received here with uncommon satisfaction in government quarters, where it is believed Russia will now enter upon a period of constitutional development. The more radical newspapers consider that the concession was wrung from the czar and that his decree was an announcement of the bankruptcy of the autocracy.

The Feeling In France

Paris, Nov. 1.—Official circles here point out that the czar's manifesto is somewhat general and lacking in precision concerning the exact nature of the reforms, but Count Witte's acceptance of the premiership is considered to be strong assurance that he will give practical realization to the reforms.

FATAL SKYLARKING

Youth Is Brought Down With a Bullet In His Head

Stockbridge, Mass., Nov. 1.—Walter Webster, 17 years old, is dead as the result of a bullet wound in the neck, and William Jones, 19 years old, a negro, is under arrest in connection with the case. Jones admits that he fired the fatal shot, but claims that he did not intend to do any harm and did not know that anybody had been shot until the officers came for him.

The shooting took place in a thickly settled portion of the town at 9:30 o'clock last night, and was the outcome of the Hallowe'en pranks by a crowd of boys among whom was Webster. It appears that the crowd had been roaming around town, ringing doorbells and pelting passers-by with fruit and vegetables.

Jones, accompanied by another boy and two girls, all negroes, was driving down Church street, and as he passed the crowd of boys he and his companions were the targets for a volley of apples. In order to frighten the boys, Jones says, he drew his revolver and fired one shot into the crowd. The bullet struck Webster in the neck and he fell to the sidewalk, dying within a few minutes.

Much Ado About a Trifle

Washington, Nov. 1.—The incident growing out of the attack on Admiral Train and his son by a Chinese mob near Nanking has been satisfactorily adjusted. Train and his party were shooting. A woman was accidentally wounded by Train's son, but her injuries were slight. The son was detained by the mob, but an amicable settlement was made. The governor of Nanking apologized to the officers, restored their guns and punished the ringleaders of the mob.

Canadians Insist Upon Race

Toronto, Nov. 1.—In reply to the Royal Canadian Yacht club's challenge for the Canada cup next year, the Rochester Yacht club demurred at racing next summer on the ground of expense, and suggested that the next race for the cup be held in 1907. The Canadian sailing committee has passed a resolution insisting upon a race for the cup next summer, saying that it would be impossible to comply with the wishes of the Rochester club.

Edwards No Longer Chief

Washington, Nov. 1.—The members of the isthmian canal commission have decided upon important changes in the administration office of the canal. The office held by Colonel Edwards, chief of administration, was abolished, to take effect Nov. 15. W. L. Pepperman, who was assistant chief of administration, retains his present position. Reports of friction in the administration of the canal have been current and denied for some time past.

Blow Caused Boxer's Death

St. John, Nov. 1.—Dr. Daniel, who made an autopsy on the body of Charles O'Regan, killed in a sparring match here, testified at an inquest that O'Regan's death was caused by compression of the brain, due to effusion of blood which was caused by violence. It was not possible, he said, that the injury was caused before O'Regan went into the ring. The inquest is unfinished.

Mrs Stevens Again at the Head

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 1.—The National W. C. T. U., in convention in this city, re-elected all the officers of the organization now serving as executive heads. For president, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens of Maine received 427 out of 475 ballots. Miss Anna Gordon of Boston was chosen vice president without opposition.

To Offer Crown to Prince Charles

Christiana, Nov. 1.—The storthing last evening adopted the proposition of the government that it be endowed with full power to negotiate with Prince Charles of Denmark for his acceptance of the crown of Norway on the understanding that the wishes of the people be consulted in the form of a referendum.

Public Printer Appointed

Washington, Nov. 1.—Charles A. Stillings, manager of the Printers' Board of Trade of New York, a former Boston business man, was yesterday appointed public printer by President Roosevelt, to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Frank W. Palmer of Illinois. The appointment goes into effect today.

Enjoyable and Profitable Trip

Washington, Nov. 1.—President Roosevelt regards his southern trip just ended as a most enjoyable and profitable experience. Particularly did he enjoy the sea voyage, and the president expressed himself in the most enthusiastic terms regarding the ships, officers and men of the squadron.

Long-Standing Record Broken

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—Ed Bryan, the bay gelding trotter, owned by William Robinson, in a trial against the Belmont park track record, broke the world's two-mile record which has stood for 40 years. The time was 4:45. The best previous record was 4:56 1-4, made by Dexter.

Family of Nine Killed

Bellaire, O., Nov. 1.—Sylvester Kendall, aged 52, wife and seven children, were caught by a fall of sandstone in the Malay and Johnson mine near here and instantly killed.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Thursday, Nov. 2.
Sun rises—6:19; sets—4:37.
Moon sets—9:48 p. m.
High water—2:45 a. m.; 3:15 p. m.
Rain is likely in New England, followed by generally fair and colder weather.

Gruesome Find of Two Girls

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 1.—The discovery of a human foot in a pile of debris in the water near the gas house wharf created a flurry of excitement. The discovery was made by two girls, who took it to police headquarters, where Medical Examiner Pinkham decided that the foot had been amputated by skilled hands and that no crime had been committed.

Foul Play Theory Scouted

South Hampton, N. H., Nov. 1.—Investigation of the death of William H. Orr, constable of this town, whose body was found on the bank of the Powwow river near his home Sunday, has begun. The theory that the man had been drinking and died from exhaustion is advanced by the county authorities, who do not place much reliance in the story that Orr met with foul play.

Bank President Tries to Die

Canaan, Conn., Nov. 1.—George W. Cowdrey, 50 years of age, president of the Canaan savings bank, attempted to end his life by slashing his left wrist with a razor. Poor health, together with an unhappy married life, are given as reasons for the act. It is doubtful if Cowdrey will recover. He has property worth $100,000.

Jail Breaker Recaptured

Littleton, N. H., Nov. 1.—Henry McKown, who escaped from Littleton jail last April, where he was being held for an assault upon a girl, was discovered working in a camp at Rumford Falls, and was brought back last evening by Deputy Sheriff Strain without requisition papers and lodged in the Haverhill jail.

Looking For Young Runaways

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 1.—George Collins and Herbert Brown, two boys who left Worcester county truant school Sunday, carrying, it is believed, checks, money and jewelry amounting to over $600 belonging to Misses Greaves and Hatch, assistants at the institution, have been traced to Holden and Rutland.

Battleship's Trial Postponed

Rockland, Me., Nov. 1.—On account of a leaking condenser, the official trial of the battleship Rhode Island for the purpose of standardizing her propellers, which was to have been held today, has been postponed until tomorrow. The four-hour run scheduled for Thursday will go over until Friday.

Forming New Coal Combination

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 1.—The Scranton Tribune prints a story to the effect that recent heavy purchases of coal lands in Schuylkill county were made by the Schuylkill Coal and Iron company for the Pennsylvania and the Delaware and Hudson Railroad companies, which, according to The Tribune story, are negotiating an amalgamation.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

The food fair opens tonight.

Brookline High defeated Dedham High at football on Tuesday 22 to 0.

Charles Hendrie of Davis street has gone to New York on a short business trip.

Now Abington High has defeated Milton High at football 16 to 0; what will Quincy do to Milton?

Special services with holy communion were held at Christ church this morning, in celebration of All Saints day.

Charles Smith of Thibet will give a free lecture on India at the Washington street Congregational church, November 8.

The executive committee of the East Norfolk Christion Endeavor Union will meet next Monday evening, at Bethany Chapel at 7.45 o'clock.

The official nominations of all candidates to be voted for in Norfolk county at the State election will appear in the Quincy Patriot this week.

Rev. Dr. Kneeland of the Sabbath Protective League will speak on the work of the league at the Point church Sunday evening, November 19.

Wendell Feltis, the eight-year-old son of Arthur Feltis, was run over by a carriage Tuesday evening on Hancock street, fortunately escaping serious injury.

The first fall meeting of the Men's club of the Wollaston Congregational church was held Tuesday evening at 7.45. An exceedingly interesting program was enjoyed.

The Mission Reading Circle of the Wollaston Congregational church will meet at the parsonage on Friday at 2.30. The book will be "Dux Liberator," a study of Africa. Mrs. Margaret Holmes will be the leader of the afternoon.

Philip Innis, about six years old, son of Arthur Innis, was run over on Quincy avenue Monday evening by a bicyclist who did not stop to ascertain the extent of the injuries. A few stitches were necessary in the boy's head.

All Saints' day was observed in the Catholic churches throughout the city this morning, with masses at 5.30 and 9 o'clock. This evening at St. John's church at 7.30 there will be solemn high vespers for the dead of the church.

The funeral of William O. Grant was held Tuesday evening from the residence of Hiram W. Campbell on Copeland street. The services were conducted by Rev. A. B. Tyler. The body will be taken to Hallowell, Me., today for burial.

Chandler W. Smith of Wollaston, who has for several years been in the piano business with warerooms at 120 Boylston street, Boston, has sold out to the Hallet Davis Co. Mr. Smith's plans for the future are not wholly determined but for the present he will take a much needed rest.

After the frost Monday, Walker street would have made an excellent setting for Babes in the Wood. The trees seemed to have given up their leaves all at once and it was like walking on a damp carpet under branches grimly nude before the thoughtful owners used a broom with remarkable success. Now for a dry day to make those piles of leaves crispy and then for a good old-fashioned bonfire.

Conductor Smiling

Does Not Propose To Keep In Second Place

The two Johnsons make largest gains in the scholarship contest today, the conductor landing in first place and the engineer moving up close to Clerk Maloney. There are other gains down the list.

Had friends of Miss Merritt added but 15 more votes to their bundle they would have placed their candidate first. Miss Bates today passes Miss Mahoney and others down the list move up.

There will be another bargain day tomorrow, the coupon being good for more than one vote.

Second prizes were announced by advertisement Saturday and were valuable enough in themselves to awaken a new interest. A good suit or an overcoat for the second one in the Men's list, and a stylish suit or cloak for the second one in the Ladies' list. Other prizes are also to be announced. Old papers with coupons may be obtained at the Daily Ledger office and of the news agents.

Winners in the contest who do not care to select a $100 scholarship may select two studies where the cost is $50. A postal to Mr. U. C. Benoit, 26 Foster street, will bring information relative to the courses offered by the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., which are adapted to all needs, including foreign languages by the aid of the phonograph, civil, mechanical, electrical, steam or mining engineering, drafting, architecture, bookkeeping, stenography, civil service examinations, commercial law, illustrating, designing, building inspecting, chemistry, assaying, etc., etc.

Votes should reach the office at 9 A. M., to be counted that day, and it may soon be necessary to put this hour earlier, as the vote increases.

The standing to date is:

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief.

What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Great Picture Play Tonight.

This evening comes the first entertainment in the Young Men's Christian Association course. Anyone who has read Ralph Connor's "Sky Pilot" as well as every one who has not, should plan to see the book given in the form of a picture play by Mr. Albert Armstrong, one of the foremost lecturers of today.

An obstacle race will be the attraction at the Coliseum this evening.

TODAY'S COURT.

William Mercer was arraigned for refusing to assist an officer at Braintree. Case continued until Nov. 6.

Daniel Hansburg was fined $5 for drunkenness at Milton.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

Shipbuilders' Club Events

The Shipbuilders' club of Quincy Point has been reorganized, the new executive committee being: James Gibbs, (chairman), H. R. Carwin, Francis Hodge, F. Graham, Thomas Newton, Robert Smith, Chris Krough, C. E. Bonham, A. Stoops, D. McAlpine and N. Fraser.

There will be a concert at the club rooms on Thursday evening, and a cordial invitation has been extended to all employes of the plant to attend. Refreshments will be served.

On Tuesday evening of next week at 7.30 there will be a shooting contest for a gold medal between team of the S department and the B department.

Runaway Accident.

Mrs. Estelle McMullen of Churchill lane, Milton, was thrown from her carriage on Tuesday and her left arm broken. The carriage was being driven by her coachman. One of the horses became frightened and bolted. The coachman was uninjured.

WHAT TO WEAR.

Good Materials For Shirt Waist Suits. Flower Aprons a Novelty.

White linen shirt waists and blouses will be worn all winter with slips of silk or lawn under them if you are a chilly mortal.

Colored pearl buttons and belt buckles are the newest things seen on smart shirt waists. They come in almost every shade and are not cheap by any means.

Among the most popular materials for shirt waist suits are mohair, volle and henrietta, both in plain and novelty weaves. Some stunning suitings are to be seen in green and blue checks and plaids; also smart black and brown effects.

Flower aprons are a novel and attractive conceit intended to protect the dainty housekeeper while attending to some household occupations or needlework task. They are fashioned of colored linen and are stamped or designed offhand to suggest foliage or flowers.

Mauve and dahlia are to be seen everywhere in millinery and dress fabrics.

The up to date walking costume in the cut is of a pale shade of tobacco brown cloth. The skirt has something of a long overskirt effect, effected by the rounding of the front widths at the bottom. The entire skirt is stitched in many rows as a foot trimming. The natty little jacket has a plaited basque, double revers and fancy collar of velvet about the neck. The waistcoat is of fawn colored broadcloth.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Zanzibar.

Zanzibar, more correctly Zanguebar, signifies "the coast of the negroes."

The Colorado River.

The Colorado river was named by the Spaniards from a word in their language meaning ruddy or red, an allusion to the tint of the water. La Salle first named the river Maligne (misfortune), one or two of his party having been drowned in its current.

Digitalis.

Digitalis is a preparation from the foxglove, a plant exceedingly common in many parts of Europe, on the British islands and in America. Several varieties are known, and by some botanists the plant is considered to be indigenous in both the old and new worlds.

Potassium.

Potassium, the basis of many medicines, was discovered in 1807 by Sir Humphry Davy.

Early Religion In Chicago.

Philo Carpenter, John Wright and Captain Johnson organized the first Sunday school and held the first religious meeting in Chicago about 1832. In 1833 the Rev. Jeremiah Porter, an army chaplain, located at Fort Dearborn with troops, and he was Chicago's first resident pastor.

Josiah Quincy Wedded in New York

Hon. Josiah Quincy, ex-Mayor of Boston and a native of Quincy, and Mary Honey, daughter of Col. Samuel R. Honey of Newport and New York, were quietly married in New York City on Wednesday, only the immediate friends attending the ceremony, which was performed in in the chantry of Grace church. Rev. Dr. Joseph Rushton, the assistant to Rev. Dr. Lubeck, rector of Zion and St. Timothy's church officiated.

The chantry was prettily adorned with roses and foliage. The wedding party was welcomed by Dr. Huntington the rector of the church. There were three groomsmen, William Paston, Frederick Allen and a brother of the bride, Robertson Honey.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the Metropolitan club, the New York abode of Col. Honey, which was attended by about 300.

The bride is a very attractive young woman about 26 years old. She has lived abroad much, is a brilliant conversationalist, speaks several languages and is acquainted with the world of art and music as well as society.

While preparing for her wedding, Miss Honey lived at the home of Mrs. J. N. A. Griswold.

Mr. Quincy met his bride abroad after the death of his first wife and travelled some with Col. Honey and his daughter. They will live in Boston.

Hallowe'en Party.

The home of Mrs. T. Blake, 176 Franklin street was a scene of unique splendor on Tuesday evening. The event being a Hallowe'en party given by Miss Lillian Blake. Miss Blake was assisted in receiving by Miss Elizabeth M. Boutilier of Cohasset and Braintree. Miss Boutilier has been a resident of Quincy for the last three winters and is popular in the musical and amateur dramatic circles, having taken part in several amateur shows. The lawn was prettily decorated with Japanese and pumpkin lanterns. The interior of the house was grotesque with pumpkins and lanterns, red and white chrysanthemums, ferns and red streamers. Games of all kinds were played and tricks of olden times were tried. The first prize in the donkey game was won by Fred Peverley, the consolation prize was awarded to William W. Turner. At eleven o'clock a dainty collation was served, green, grey and black menu cards serving as favors.

The musical program included: Piano solos by Lillian Blake and Ernest Talkenberg, vocal solos by Alice Deleno, Elizabeth Boutilier and Edward Cuff, and there were readings by Hilda Hymen. Games were then continued until midnight.

Those present were: Misses Hinkley H. Hymen, A. Deleno, E. Turner, E. Boutilier, L. Blake, B. McDonald, M. French, W. Haraden, Mrs. H. French, Mrs. T. Blake and Messrs. L. Benson, E. Cuff, R. Turner, I. Stoddard, Wm. Turner, W. Waite, F. Peverley, M. Damon, C. Lothrope, J. Hazard, E. Talkenberg, E. Blake, W. Blake.

There was quite a heavy frost last night. A few more such cold nights and the trees will be entirely without leaves.

Picture Play The Sky Pilot

The Y. M. C. A. entertainment course was opened Wednesday evening at the Association hall by a delightful and unique picture play, Mr. Albert Armstrong presenting "The Sky Pilot." The scene of the book is in Alberta, one of the great western provinces of Canada, and the photos for the pictures were taken personally by Mr. Armstrong, one of the characters being taken by a relative of Landlord Abrams of Hotel Greenleaf. The beautiful scenery of the Rocky mountains and the great agricultural section on the same route travelled by Miss Julia E. Underwood on her famous journey to the Pacific were shown and some were applauded.

Mr. Armstrong has found an untraveled way of reaching the hearts of patrons of the dramatic art. He very cleverly portrays one, two, three, or four characters at once. One sees the story depicted on the canvas, hears the voice of the characters, witnesses the incidents described and gets the full benefit of the moral point, the same as if a large well-trained and talented company was presenting it.

Mr. Armstrong's performance is highly satisfactory from every standpoint. It is edifying, entertaining, instructive. It is like reading the book, seeing the story staged and living among the people who are described in the story, all at the same time.

Mr. Armstrong first read and illustrated "The Same Old Story," a quaint courtship. "The Sky Pilot" was in two parts.

WHALERS IN DISTRESS

Eleven Vessels, Poorly Provisioned, Hemmed In by Ice

San Francisco, Nov. 2.—Eleven whaling vessels, comprising almost the entire fleet which sailed from this city, have been caught in the Arctic ocean. They will not be able to get out until next July or August, and in the meantime the crews of 440 men must face the hardships of a winter in the north.

This news is conveyed in a telegram to Lewis Anderson and Ford & Co. of this city. The telegram comes from Captain Bodfish of the steamer William Baylies, and states that only this vessel and the schooner Monterey were able to escape. The 11 vessels which were caught are the steamers Alexander, Beluga, Lowhead, Herman, Jeannette, Karluck, Narwhal and Thresher, and schooners Bonanza, Charles Hanson and Olga.

Most of the vessels now in the ice left San Francisco last spring and are not provisioned for a stay in the Arctic. Unless the boats are heard from within a short time it will be concluded that there is no hope for their escape, and the government will be asked to send out a relief expedition to forward supplies to the imprisoned men.

Choate Speaks For Jerome

New York, Nov. 2.—Joseph H. Choate was the principal speaker last night at a mass meeting in Carnegie hall, managed by members of the bar of New York in support of the candidacy of District Attorney Jerome. Among those on the platform were Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the insurance investigating committee, and C. A. Flammer, who withdrew from the Republican ticket in favor of Jerome. A vast and enthusiastic audience filled the auditorium and some thousands were unable to obtain admission.

Rebates Given Fruit Shippers

Washington, Nov 2.—That rebates are given to shippers in the California fruit service by practically all private car lines was admitted by General Manager Leads of the Santa Fe refrigerator dispatch at the inquiry being conducted here by the interstate commerce commission. Leads said these rebates were necessary to his company because all his competitors were granting them. He asserted that he could not break up the practice without precipitating a rate war.

"Wilful Insubordination"

Wilmington, N. C., Nov. 2.—Cornelius Hartnett council No. 231, Royal Arcanum, has been suspended by the supreme regent of the order because of a recent circular letter promulgated by the local council protesting against the advance in insurance rates upon the order. The letter is construed as an act of "wilful insubordination and contempt of superior authority." The local council has over 150 members, some of whom have been policyholders for 25 years.

British Prince Our Guest

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 2.—The commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic fleet, the superintendent of the naval academy and the governor of Maryland welcomed Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg and the armored cruiser squadron under his command to America. Strictly according to regulations as the several official welcomes have been, each has been characterized by genuine hospitality.

Battleship Trial Today

The Fore River Shipbuilding Company notified the members of the Naval trial board yesterday that the battleship Rhode Island built at Quincy, was in readiness for the trial off Rockland, Maine. The repairs to the leaking condenser, which caused a postponement of the trial for one day, were completed yesterday.

The trial today started at 9 A. M. and the program now is to have nine such trips. The Rhode Island is expected to stand the severe test.

Incendiary at Work.

An unsuccessful attempt was made at 9.30 Tuesday night to burn the blacksmith shop of C. H. Hardwick on Quarry street. The parties saturated the door of the shop with oil and set fire to it. The fire was burning briskly when it was discovered by John Larson of Smith street, an employe of the firm. Mr. Larson extinguished the flames without calling out the fire department.

Food Fair of King's Daughters

The free samples which make food fairs so popular are to be found at the Food Fair which opened Wednesday evening at Bethany chapel under the auspices of three tens of the King's Daughters, the Welcoming ten, the Sewing ten and the Music ten.

Both the chapel rooms are used, and also the parlor, and there are attractive booths in each. There is a candy booth with Velvet kisses, choice chocolates, etc. Another with bags of salt, packages of Triscuits, jellies, etc. Another with toilet articles. Another with grape juice. At others Nevershrink, Soapine, Gold Dust, etc.

In the parlor are the home-made cakes, pies, fruit, etc., and also the delicious college ices. The home-made candy table is popular.

The fair closes at 10 o'clock this evening.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The Lowell Mail sees the point with its usual good judgment when it remarks that the surest way to retard the reciprocity movement in Massachusets is to arouse the hostility of the party to whom we must look for a healthy revision of the existing tariff schedules.

Who says with truth that the industries of Massachusetts are declining? The last United States census does not reinforce the claim. If you are in doubt on this matter here are the figures:

	1890	1900
Capital	$630,032,341	$823,264,289
Wages	205,844,337	228,240,442
Materials	473,199,434	552,771,559
Product	888,160,403	1,035,198,998

Here is some increase in every item. The precentages of increase for the ten years were: In capital, 30.7; in wages, 10.9; in materials, 16.8, and in the value of the product, 16.6.

CITY BREVITIES.

Franklin street from Water street south is being resurfaced.

The offices in the Johnson block that were burned out last week are being repaired.

Wollaston lodge, A. F. and A. M., will confer the third degree at the next communication.

The prize winners at Mrs. B. Porterfield's matinee whist on Wednesday were: Mrs. William Westland, Mrs. B. J. Langhorn, Mrs. W. Pratt, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. M. Thomas.

An interesting basket ball game was played on the Goffe street grounds on Wednesday between teams representing the Senior and Junior classes at the Quincy High school. The Seniors won 4 to 0. The Juniors had previously defeated the Sophomores.

Nomination papers of both Republican and Democratic candidates for Mayor, Councilmen-at-large, Ward Councilmen, School Committee and Ward Committees, to be voted for at the caucuses Nov. 14, will be opened tonight.

A very enjoyable Hallowe'en party was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Mary Howley, Hall street, West Quincy. Guests were present from Braintree, Milton, Atlantic, Dorchester and Boston. Hallowe'en games were played and a most enjoyable evening was spent by all.

Hallowe'en was not forgotten by any means at Webber-Murphy mansion on Independence avenue. By the appearance from the outside there looked as though there was one family in Quincy Adams, that had some spirit of life to them. It was a mark of beauty to gaze upon the grand illumination.

St. Mary's Teams.

The St. Mary's C. T. A. and M. R. society of West Quincy will be represented by fast basket ball teams this year—a first team and a second team. It is expected that the teams will be fully as strong as last year, for most of the old players are back and the new candidates seem to be a likely lot.

Mullen, Joyce and Morrill will be the backbone of the first team. Joyce will captain the team this year. The other two men will be picked from the second team's ranks, as there are some very fast men there it will not be difficult to fill the vacancies with good men, nor will it weaken the second team much as there are good players to fit in any vacancy. D. Duggan, W. Duggan, Buckley, McLoughlin, Amet, Hebert, Burke, Henry and R. Morrill, as well as many new men comprise the squad from which the selection will be made.

James Geary has been appointed manager. He would like to hear from the local Y. M. C. A. for a game or a series of games, if it would not conflict with their schedule or be against the rules of their league. The manager can be addressed at 30 Grove street, West Quincy.

Mothers' Meeting.

"Patriotism" was the subject for the November meeting of the Mothers of Bethany church on Wednesday afternoon, and Mrs. Alice M. Granger of Randolph, the State historian of the Daughters of the Revolution spoke interestly on that subject. Mrs. W. G. Shaw, the president, presided at the meeting and Mrs. George Badger led the devotional exercises. Two beautiful solos were contributed by Mrs. E. C. Page.

NERVES GAVE WAY

Complete Collapse of Nathan Upon Arrival at Boston

TAKEN TO A HOSPITAL

Miss Geary's Lover May Clear Up Clouded Points Regarding Disappearance and Death of the Suit Case Victim

Boston, Nov. 2.—Morris Nathan, who was brought here from Pittsburg in a state of nervous exhaustion, will be called upon to plead in the municipal court to a charge of procuring an illegal operation on Miss Susanna A. Geary, the suit case victim, and to whom Nathan was engaged. A further attempt will then be made to clear up the circumstances regarding the death of the girl and the dismemberment of the body.

The maximum penalty in this state for the crime with which Nathan is charged is 20 years and the minimum is 5 years.

The young man was on the verge of a collapse throughout the 18 hours' journey from Pittsburg, and when he finally reached police headquarters what little nervous energy remained left him completely.

Nathan, who started from Pittsburg late Tuesday night in charge of two local officers, was met at Providence by Superintendent Pierce and Chief Inspector Watts of the Boston police and as soon as the state line had been crossed the formal warrant was served upon him.

The party reached the South station at 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. On the platform was a crowd curious to catch a glimpse of the man who it was believed held the solution of a singularly mysterious case. Nathan shrank back as he looked down upon the hundreds of upturned faces and hid his own face when he saw a camera leveled at him. He was white and weak, and it was with difficulty that he reached a carriage only a few yards away. The drive to police headquarters occupied scarcely five minutes, but in that time what little nervous energy remained with Nathan ebbed rapidly and when Pemberton square was reached the final collapse came.

The young man's condition seemed so serious that a physician was hastily summoned and remained an hour or two. Nathan revived, but the officers heeded the advice of the doctor and did not attempt any searching inquiries. They are extremely anxious, however, to clear up a number of clouded points regarding the disappearance and death of Miss Geary, and they believe Nathan will be of considerable assistance in this work.

Nathan was held at police headquarters for about two hours, while under treatment by the physician. He was revived sufficiently to take nourishment. It was decided not to question him, but to allow him to obtain all the rest possible in a detention cell. Nathan's condition, however, took an unfavorable turn and he was removed to the city hospital. Two inspectors will remain at the hospital until he gains sufficient strength to leave the institution.

No attempt has been made to obtain bail. The police will not attempt to examine the young man until he is stronger and it is thought the preliminary hearing in court, set for today, will have to be deferred.

None of the Geary family called at police headquarters while Nathan was there.

Comparatively little has been obtained from the mother and sister of the unfortunate woman. Both were examined at some length by Cambridge as well as Boston officers, but little of value was obtained. Until the officers have exhausted Nathan's knowledge regarding the death of Miss Geary, or have wrung from him all that he is willing to disclose, no attempt will be made to look for others who are believed to be involved in the case.

Although the police look upon Nathan as an accessory to the girl's death, the penalty is just as severe as if he were the principal in the case.

McGarr Ends Questioning

Pittsburg, Nov. 2.—Inspector McGarr of the Boston bureau of criminal investigation left for home this morning. Little could be learned as to the result of his two days' questioning of the members of "The Shepherd King" Theatrical company. It is said that Rita Marie and Eleanor Barron, the two chorus girls who accompanied Nathan and Miss Geary to the subway station in Boston on the night of Sept. 9, admitted that they overheard Nathan advise Miss Geary on that occasion to go to Mrs. Dr. Bishop on Tremont street for treatment. McGarr sent a telegram to the Boston authorities immediately after the examination.

Boston, Nov. 2.—The authorities here have been investigating the office of Mrs. Dr. Bishop for several days, but no one responsible for the conduct of the office has been located. Two physicians formerly attached to the office have been missing for some time.

Stock Worth $69,000 Missing

New York, Nov. 2.—Notices have been sent out of the loss of certificates representing 944 shares of Pennsylvania Railroad stock. At the present market price the missing stock is worth $69,000. The circular announcing the loss says that if found it may be sent to the Pinkerton Detective agency's Boston office.

VOTE FOR CHARLES W. BARTLETT FOR GOVERNOR

He stands fairly and squarely upon a platform favoring the placing of HIDES, IRON, COAL, LUMBER, and WOOD PULP on the free list. He is also in favor of RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA AND OTHER COUNTRIES.

READ WHAT GOVERNOR DOUGLAS SAYS ABOUT THE TARIFF, RECIPROCITY AND OTHER ISSUES OF THIS CAMPAIGN.

HON. WILLIAM L. DOUGLAS,
Governor of Massachusetts.

First and foremost, I want to say a word relative to labor legislation. The Republican speakers make the statement that all the labor legislation on the statute books was placed there through the influence of the Republican party. Every labor man in the commonwealth knows that the Democratic party has been the first to advance the labor measures, and that members of our party persistently voted for these measures long before they were adopted by the Republican Legislature. Almost every labor measure that was proposed last year was defeated by a Legislature overwhelmingly Republican. Why were they afraid to allow those labor measures to come to me? Simply because a Democratic Governor has rarely been known to veto labor measures. Why did the Legislature the previous year pass all the labor measures that were introduced and send them to Gov. Bates? It was simply because they expected those measures to be vetoed, which they were. They merely shifted the responsibility from themselves to Gov. Bates. Is not this fact enough to show that the Republican members of the Legislature this year believed that if they did permit the overtime bill and various other labor measures to reach the Governor, he would unquestionably have appended his signature to such measures?

Massachusetts and the Tariff.

For 10 or 12 years the interests of Massachusetts have been injuriously affected by our national tariff law; and our people now demand and will continue to demand, until the law is changed, such a reform in it as will enable us to procure the raw materials used in our manufacturing industries free of duty, that we may compete successfully with other countries in the markets of the world. We cannot compete in those markets merely by building the Panama canal or acquiring possessions in the Pacific ocean or the Caribbean sea, or establishing the "open door" in China. So long as our tariff laws deprive us of the right to buy freely the materials which enter into our manufactures we will be so handicapped that we can do but little business in foreign markets.

Twenty or 30 years ago when our manufacturing establishments were few and small, when our supply of raw material was abundant, near at hand and cheap, and when our home market was poorly supplied with finished products, our manufacturers flourished under and in spite of high tariffs. But recent developments have changed all this. Great manufacturing enterprises have been built up, which cannot be supplied by our local resources. Vast quantities of coal are needed to supply power to operate our machinery. Vast quantities of leather and lumber are needed to supply our shoe factories and our paper mills and furniture factories. New England can now supply but a small part of the raw material needed. For example, we have in Massachusetts alone 645 establishments for the making of shoes. But very little sole leather is made in Massachusetts—indeed, very little leather of any kind. And hence we must buy leather from the leather trust, at whatever price it may fix.

Again, in these 645 factories we must use enormous quantities of coal. But New England produces no coal; therefore we must buy it from the coal trust. We cannot buy either coal or leather abroad, because there is a high tariff on both. The result is that we are obliged to pay 15 per cent. more for our leather than we ought to pay, and nearly $1 a ton more for the coal we use. Such great and unnecessary burdens upon our industries are almost unbearable.

I notice the Republican speakers have made statements attempting to frighten our working people, and warning them of the panic of 1893, saying: "We do not believe you want to go through with another panic like that. We believe that you at that time got all of the reduction in tariff that you wanted." This all sounds very nice to the people who do not know or remember what caused the panic in 1893. The real fact is that the tariff bill, which was passed by Congress in the spring of 1894, did not take effect until nearly a year after the panic began. Therefore, it seems to me that it is folly to say that the panic of 1893 was caused by a reduction of the tariff. If the speakers who are attempting to frighten the people will refer to the history of this country they will find that the reduction of the tariff never produced a panic.

We gather from the speeches of our opponents that the great prosperity of this coutry is due solely to the protective tariff, when, in fact, there are many reasons why this country is prosperous. We have greater resources for the production of gold than any other country, and we have the most fertile agricultural lands. These natural advantages, coupled with the acknowledged ability of our working people, enable us to produce a great deal more than we can consume.

The protective tariff is not solely the reason of our prosperity. This country has been prosperous and will be prosperous in spite of the tariff, although if we could have free raw materials such as hides, coal, iron, lumber and wood pulp, it would place us in a position in Massachusetts where we could reach the markets of the world with our manufactures.

Some gentlemen in their attempt to justify and perpetuate present onerous conditons, are prone to make false comparisons. They assume that since Massachusetts has increased more rapidly than other states in manufacturing during a period of 100 years, or 40 years, or some other very long period covering the development of our great industries, that the same is true of the present and will continue to be the case without reference to changed conditions. Such reasoning is wholly unsound. We know that for 10 years, at least, our manufacturing industries have languished by reason of restrictions imposed upon them by federal legislation. In order to get at the real truth, let us compare conditions as they exist in this state with those existing in other states at this time.

Our Peculiar Position.

The three leading manufacturing states with reference to products of manufactures per capita of population, according to the census of 1900, were Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts. Each man, woman and child of Massachusetts produced a manufacturing product of $369, and an agricultural product of $15. Pennsylvania produced a manufactured product of $33. The total value of the agricultural products in Massachusetts in 1900 was but $42,298,274, while the total gross value of the manufactured product was $1,035,198,989.

Massachusetts, standing seventh in population and fourth in manufacture, sinks to the 31st place in agriculture, while the density of manufactured product per square mile reaches the sum of $125,000. The total gross value of the manufactured product per square mile in New York and Pennsylvania respectively was $45,000 and $40,000. We are not an agricultural state and cannot look to this industry for the compensating relief which agriculture gives to those states where the manufacturing interest is not so well established. In density of manufacturing product we have three times as much on every square mile as the great manufacturing states of Pennsylvania and New York. We may, therefore, justly claim that the revision of the tariff is of greater moment to every citizen of Massachusetts than it is to the citizens of any other state, excepting Rhode Island and Connecticut.

The Democratic platform asks for a definite relief, which will enhance the prosperity of every section of the state, while the Republican platform asks for "present action" in such a confused muddle of words as to leave it uncertain whether the tariff is to be reformed upward or downward, and whether the relief is to come now or at some indefinite future time.

The Republican party of Massachusetts has retreated under the shelter of an ambiguous phrase from the high ground which it occupied last year. Either the leaders of the party were insincere last year or they are insincere this year. What does "present action" mean? Does it mean free hides, free coal, free iron, free wood pulp, free lumber? Does it mean reciprocity with Canada? Does it mean anything that the people of Massachusetts, irrespective of party affiliations, are so generally demanding? Those leaders who talk so vaguely of "present action" are in reality opposing tariff reform. Their action consists in adopting ambiguous phrases to deceive the people; in "standing pat" on the Dingley schedules; and in ringing the alarm bells of the trusts. Such is their action at present; and that is probably all they meant when they put the phrase "present action" into their platform. Compare this paltering and straddling with the plain and direct demands of the Democratic platform!

What We Really Need.

Our platform asserts that a sensible relief may be had, without any disturbance to the business of the country, by placing upon the free list a number of the raw materials demanded by our industries, such as coal, iron, lumber, hides and wood pulp. This is a definite policy stated in definite terms.

Do our people want these raw materials placed upon the free list? Do they think that such action will redound to the interests of Massachusetts labor and to the lasting interests of Massachusetts people? If so, I think they should vote as they think, and thereby give the Democratic ticket such a majority as will challenge the attention of thinking men everywhere. If our people really want free raw materials, they should vote for the men and the party that stand unalterably and unequivocally upon a platform demanding them.

Free Coal.

In my inaugural address last year I recommended a memorial to Congress asking a repeal of the duty on coal. In the hearings before the legislative committee on federal relations I am pleased to say that this recommendation was approved by many of our leading citizens, irrespective of party lines.

It is safe to say that nine-tenths of the people of Massachusetts want free coal. Free coal affects the interests of nearly all of our people and of all our industries. Why not ask the national legislature for that which the prosperity of our state demands?

The answer to this is a general one. It is asserted that the tariff on coal is a national question, and that as patriotic citizens we should suffer cheerfully in order that the greater number of our coal friends in other states may have reasonable protection. But is this so? Will free coal injure the coal interests of Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Illinois? Our coal fields are in the interior of the country. By the operation of our tariff law the manufacturers of New England are placed at the mercy of the great railroad and mining interests of the United States. These great interests can and do dictate the price of coal, to the detriment of all our citizens. In an ordinary year Canada buys from us nearly three times as much coal as we buy from her. American manufacturers prefer American coal, and with free coal from Cape Breton there would be little danger of injury to the coal industry of our country. We should still use American coal, but the railroad combine would lose its power to dictate prices. It is a notorious fact that the leading bituminous coal producers of the South and West are formulating a demand for the removal of the duty on coal between the United States and Canada. The balance of trade in coal would still be with the United States at the ratio of three to one. Our output of coal would be increased rather than reduced. As Canada has for 30 years fixed her coal duty at about the same rate fixed by the United States, it is probable that free coal in our schedules would result in free coal in Canadian schedules. Because of the duty of 67 cents per ton we are at present paying nearly a dollar a ton more for our coal than we ought to pay. This dollar does not help the national government at all, but goes to swell the profits of the coal barons of the country. Free coal, then, would not reduce the revenues of the national government; it would aid every interest in Massachusetts and New England, and would be of far-reaching advantage to the people at large. Only the coal trust would suffer. Good business sense and the highest patriotism unite in the demand for free coal.

Free Hides.

Of course, the duty on hides should come off. It is a tax on industry that benefits a very few people and injures every one who wears boots and shoes, or who is engaged in the manufacture of leather or leather goods.

The United States Leather Company, a corporation doing more than half the sole leather tanning of the country, through its vice-president, Lewis H. Lapham, testified before the industrial commission in 1901 that the tariff on hides was a serious handicap to the business. He also testified "that the tariff on hides increased the price of domestic hides by the amount of the duty." This duty is 15 per cent. As it does not go to the government, it must go to swell the profits of the beef trust.

It is probably true, as Mr. Lapham said, that the duty of 15 per cent. on hides does increase the profits of the leather trust and greatly increase those of the beef trust. It should not be forgotten, however, that the leather trust is protected by a duty of 20 per cent. on leather, and that it in turn holds up the manufacturers of shoes, harness and other leather consuming industries, and charges them all the tariff will permit. If, as reported, the beef trust has now obtained a controlling interest in the leather trust, there will be no more quarrelling as to which trust gets the lion's share of the profits; they will both work together to get every cent possible out of both the duties on hides and leather. The tariff screws are to be applied more mercilessly than before. The proposed change in discounts on sole leather, which adds about 2 cents to the cost of every pair of shoes, indicates what is in store for us, although I am reliably informed that this discount change has been held up until after the election.

If the sole leather trust is enabled to successfully change its plan of discounts so that it will cost my company 2 cents per pair more for sole leather, it will be but a short time until the combinations controlling the other materials that enter into the shoe will alter or amend or rearrange their prices so as to get an increase in price equal to that of the sole leather trust. When that day arrives, and it is not far distant, it will cost my company 6 cents per pair more to manufacture the grade of shoes we produce. Our worst enemies are the tariff and the tariff trusts.

The total value of the hides of cattle imported into the United States for the 12 months ending June 30, 1905, was $14,949,628, while the total of all hides and skins, other than furs, exported for the same period, was $1,051,641. We can produce only about three-fourths of the hides needed for the supply of our home manufacturers of leather, and must annually draw about 25 per centum of our supply from abroad. A tariff tax of $2,500,000 upon this fourth results in an entirely unnecessary and unwarranted increase of about 11 per cent. in the price of all sole leather used by American manufacturers. When we consider that Massachusetts produces but little sole leather, the magnitude of this burden upon our manufacturers and upon our people becomes apparent.

To put $2,250,000 into the treasury of the United States as the result of our duty upon hides, we put about $7,000,000 of unnecessary tariff profit in the hands of the beef and leather trusts. This puts an iniquitous tax upon the sole leather industry of about $10,000,000, and disables that industry in its fight for the markets of the world.

Boot and Shoe Industry Handicapped.

In the boot and shoe industry Massachusetts produces nearly one-half of the factory and custom product of the United States, and more than four times as much as any other state. In the manufacture of boots and shoes the annual product of Massachusetts is more than $150,000,000, while the entire annual product of the United States is $261,000,000. New York, the nearest competitor of Massachusetts, produces but $35,000,000. A tax of $2,250,000 upon the hides imported—involving a subsidy to the beef trust of about $7,000,000 on domestic hides, makes a heavy load for the principal industry of Massachusetts, and, coupled with the duty on leather, a still heavier load upon the consumers of boots and shoes.

Of the total annual value, $1,400,000,000 in manufactured products for the state of Massachusetts, the boot and shoe industry creates a product annually of more than $150,000,000, or about one-ninth of the entire manufactured products of the state. To handicap an industry of this magnitude by an entire unnecessary tax upon its chief raw material is a ruinous policy which the people of the commonwealth should condemn unceasingly until it is corrected. It is not patriotic to fasten a burden of this kind upon the boot and shoe manufacturers of Massachusetts for the exclusive benefit of the beef and leather trusts. But that is what it amounts to. The most careful calculations fail to show that the American producer of cattle received one penny more for his cattle by reason of this duty on hides. The trusts that squeeze the boot and shoe manufacturers apply the screws with the same pertinacity to the cattle raiser; and with insatiable greed drive both to the wall.

We ask for free hides on high patriotic grounds. Such action will not injure the cattle producers; it will help the manufacturer of boots and shoes, and it will help the people at large. If it decreases the profits of two or three obnoxious trusts it will help to give a "square deal" to all.

How It Affects the Consumer.

Every year the factories of our state turn out about 140,000,000 pairs of shoes at a factory cost of something less than $1.20 a pair. Careful estimates show that the average tariff tax on each pair of shoes is about 9 cents, or nearly 7 per cent. of the value of the shoes. Allowing an average of three pairs of shoes per annum, the saving to the 3,100,000 souls of Massachusetts each year would exceed $900,000.

The Democratic platform demands the immediate enactment by Congress of a dual tariff law, having the present tariff for its maximum with liberal reductions in duty rates to nations that will give the most favorable trade opportunities. This means a reciprocal trade with foreign nations, and if made a law, would save the boot and shoe manufacturers of Massachusetts a sum large enough to increase the present output, and to enable them to greatly increase their foreign sales. Not only this, such a policy would give steadier employment to the 60,000 employes now engaged in the manufacture of boots and shoes in Massachusetts. It would also result in either increasing the $35,000,000 now distributed to the workmen as wages, or in increasing the quantity or bettering the quality of the goods which this $35,000,000 will buy.

CHARLES W. BARTLETT,
Candidate for Governor.

As a manufacturer I ask for a revised tariff. I would gladly give up the duty of 25 per cent. on shoes for free raw materials. I will go farther than this, and say that I would exchange the duty on shoes for free hides and free sole leather. If the handicap of taxed leather were taken away, I could manufacture shoes as cheaply as any foreign manufacturer and could safely meet the competition of the world. We have the most approved mechanical appliances; we have the advantage of the economical division of labor, and our workmen are equal to any in the world. We are hurt, however, by the high cost of the materials that enter into our product. This increased cost is not a natural cost. It is artificial and unjust. It benefits no worthy industry. It fosters gigantic combinations of capital, injures labor, and destroys foreign trade. Give our manufacturers free raw materials and they will carry Massachusetts goods into every market of the world.

Nor am I the only boot and shoe man who desires a change. In 1903, 311 out of 375 important boot and shoe manufacturers in New England offered to give up the duty on shoes for free hides. I do not believe that this sentiment has changed.

That there is a demand for changes in the tariff in other localities as well as in Massachusetts is notorious. The Chicago conference of last August showed that the Millers' National Federation and the Farmers' National Congress demanded relief. Great commercial bodies from all parts of the Union have added their strength to the call for a change. The Stock Raising Associations of the Middle West are also in line with the tariff reformers of the nation.

But great as are the evils of the present schedules to other sections of our country, still greater are they to Massachusetts. The demands of other sections are instinctive. They show the magnitude and wide extent of an admitted evil calling for relief. But tariff reform in Massachusetts is more; it is vital; it goes to the roots of our prosperity; and we are warranted in demanding immediate relief.

The Shoe Manufacturers' Association of the United States have requested me—and I have consented—to act as chairman of a committee, representing this great industry, to go to Washington some time during the month of November and present our appeal to President Roosevelt, urging him to bring before Congress our request for the removal of the 15 per cent. duty on hides. If the voters of this commonwealth on the 7th day of November will cast a plurality of their ballots for Charles W. Bartlett and his associates on the ticket, they will assist this committee greatly in its work and will give the President courage to make a strong appeal to Congress, and Congress, realizing that Massachusetts has spoken in no uncertain way on this great question, will be compelled to take some action that will assist in the preservation of this commonwealth's greatest industry.

This question of free raw materials and the revision of the tariff is not a question of politics or party. It is a principle of business, and should be looked at as a business proposition. If you vote to elect the whole Republican ticket, you simply notify Congress and the administration at Washington that the people of Massachusetts and our manufacturing industries are satisfied with present conditions, and are content to allow the trusts to fatten off our people, while our industries either languish or move away.

Reciprocity with Canada.

Speaking of reciprocity with Canada—if we could sell our shoes in the Dominion free of duty, from my experience with the trade I have had there—I could easily add another factory to the three large factories my company now has under operation, which would employ certainly one thousand men and women with a payroll of about $750,000 a year. If, even having reciprocity with Canada alone I could accomplish that, how much more could I accomplish if I and my fellow shoe manufacturers could have reciprocity with all nations of the world, which we are entitled to—and what is true of the shoe business would be equally true of all other manufactures in the commonwealth.

A Good Word for Bartlett.

A word about our candidate for Governor, Charles W. Bartlett. He is capable, honest, fearless, sincere, independent and conservative. If he is elected Governor he will be Governor of the whole people—he will not be controlled by any political machine, but his first thought on any and every question that is brought to his attention will be—Is it right? Is it in the interests of the whole people?

Just now the eyes of the nation are centred upon President Roosevelt, who stands for a "square deal" in the interests of the people. He is earnest; he is fearless. He stands for something, and the people are with him. There is Folk of Missouri, La Follette of Wisconsin, Weaver of Philadelphia and Jerome of New York. Each and every one of them stand for something. Each and every one is doing his best to represent the interests of the people. They are not all Democrats, but they are representing democratic principles, and if you elect Charles W. Bartlett, you will add another to this list who will work in the interests of the people. What has been demonstrated in the past few years is that the people want men who administer the affairs of government to represent something, to do something, to stand for something; men who are not controlled by a machine. The people want men for public office who are not merely "good fellows." They are tired of machines and "good fellows." They want men who stand for vital principles, and if you elect Charles W. Bartlett, you will add another to the list of such men.

A vote for Charles W. Bartlett for Governor is a vote to preserve the industries of Massachusetts without taking away a single thing of value to other states

STRIKE IS ELIMINATED

Strong Sentiment Among the Weavers to Quit Work, but They Could Not Muster Two Thirds Necessary to Call Strike

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 2.—Four of the five unions represented in the Textile council met last night to consider the question of authorizing a strike in 75 of the print cloth mills of the city, and in three out of four of the organizations the sentiment was so overwhelming against a cessation of work that industrial peace in Fall River is assured for many months.

The recent compromise agreement which was arranged by the Manufacturers' association and the Textile council was accepted by all the unions except the Weavers' union. The weavers voted to reject the new arrangement, and on the question of striking, voted in the affirmative, 445 to 298. To order a strike a two-thirds vote is necessary under the union rules and the vote is, therefore, in favor of continuing work. In the other unions, the strike sentiment was so insignificant that a rollcall was not taken.

The strong strike sentiment in the Weavers' union is attributed to general dissatisfaction which has been prevalent in the weaving rooms of the mills for a long time. Outside of the direct wage issue, the weavers demand shorter cuts, shorter bobbins, a less number of looms per weaver, and other reforms. It is thought that the dissatisfied operatives will accept the new agreement without causing serious difficulty.

The agreement provides for an advance in the price of weaving from 17.32 cents per cut to 18 cents, an increase of about 4 percent.

The wages of operatives other than weavers are also increased about 4 percent. In addition, all the employes are to receive a profit-sharing dividend of 1 percent when the margin between the cost of cotton and the price of cloth reaches 72½ cents, and 1 percent for each cent added to the margin until the latter shall reach 85 cents. At this time the margin is in the vicinity of 77, and the total increase in wages amounts to about 9 percent.

Under the plan first proposed by the mill owners a straight advance of 5 percent was offered, but the profit-sharing arrangement was not to go into effect until the margin of profit reached 75.

Secretary O'Donnell of the Spinners' union states that the agreement as to the wage advance will expire on Oct. 1, 1906, but it is his opinion that the question of margins can be reopened at any time. The whole subject, however, will be formally ratified in writing this afternoon, when representatives of each side will meet and perfect the final details.

World's Adding Record Broken

New York, Nov. 2.—Miss May Maher of Chicago won the adding machine contest at the National Business Men's show last night and broke the world's adding record by getting the total of 500 department store checks in four minutes and 19 seconds. Miss Barclay was formerly the champion adder of the world. Miss Mather is employed in the general office of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad.

Sensational Court Episode

St. Louis, Nov. 2.—Joseph W. Gray, on trial for murder, suddenly attacked Dr. H. J. Schenck, who was on the witness stand, shook off four deputy sheriffs and then attacked a member of the jury. All this time he kept reviling the court. He was overpowered, after having fought all over the courtroom. The jury found the defendant insane. He will be sent to an insane asylum.

Strikers Sued For $50,000 Damages

Chicago, Nov. 2.—The sympathetic strike is attacked in a suit for damages for $50,000 filed against the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers. The Oscar Daniels Iron Works company is the plaintiff. The complainants declare that since the strike was ordered it has been impossible to secure non-union mechanics to take up the work.

Thirty-Five Thousand In Parade

New York, Nov. 2.—One of the greatest political parades ever seen in this city and an enthusiastic ratification meeting in Tammany Hall last night marked the climax of the Democratic municipal campaign. Mayor McClellan reviewed the procession, in which 35,000 men marched with banners and torches.

Big Ditch Is Flooded

Panama, Nov. 2.—Heavy rains have filled the Culebra cut with water to the extent of stopping the work of the steam shovels at the Cucaracha end. To make up for the time lost during the rainy season, Chief Engineer Stevens will in the dry season employ a double force of men.

Stop and Think!

DO NOT BE MISLED BY FALSE PROPHETS.

Pres. Roosevelt on Political Integrity.

Above all we should treat with a peculiarly contemptuous abhorrence the man who, in a spirit of sheer cynicism, debauches either our business life or our political life.—President Roosevelt at Atlanta, Ga., Friday, Oct. 20, 1905.

THE LATE GOV. RUSSELL, DEMOCRAT ON Henry M. Whitney's Methods.

"If I had been Governor of this Commonwealth, I would under the circumstances disclosed by the Investigation, have vetoed that bill (the Henry M. Whitney West End Bill) as quickly as I could have put pen to paper. For I hold that it is far more important to guard sacredly the purity of legislation and to rebuke the lobby than that any measure of merit should be hastened in its passage. I hold that one of the highest duties of the Governor of the Commonwealth is to protect its fair name from legislative scandal and to protect the people from the improper control of legislation by secret influences."

THE SUPREME COURT OF MASS. ON Henry M. Whitney's Methods.

"The practice of procuring members of the Legislature to act under the influence of what they have eaten and drunk at houses of entertainment tends to render those of them who yield to such influences wholly unfit to act in such cases. They are disqualified from acting fairly toward interested parties or toward the public. The tendency and object of these influences are to obtain by corruption what it is supposed cannot be obtained fairly." (6 Allen, 159.)

HENRY M. WHITNEY SAYS:

"I freely admit giving the dinners and making use of the lobby. * * *"

Killed In Students' Initiation

Mount Vernon, O., Nov. 2.—Prosecuting Attorney Stillwell visited Kenyon college in connection with his investigation into the death of Stuart L. Pierson, who was killed while being initiated into a college fraternity. A number of students were examined and it is said told very conflicting stories. More students will be examined before the grand jury convenes on Nov. 13.

No United States Hostility

Havana, Nov. 2.—The Agrarian league has given out a lengthy statement strongly favoring the ratification of the Anglo-Cuban commercial treaty, disagreeing entirely with the opposition of other business organizations to the treaty, and concluding with the statement that the United States has not given any proof of any hostility toward the treaty.

Hanged Herself to Bedpost

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Henry J. Evans, whose husband is a director of the National Biscuit company and in several Chicago banks, committed suicide last night by hanging herself to a bedpost. Mrs. Evans had been in poor health and worry over her condition is believed to have unsettled her mind.

Runaway Landed In Gotham

New York, Nov. 2.—Daniel Megan of Boston, aged 15, was taken in charge last night by the Children's society. He said he ran away from home several weeks ago with three other lads, from whom he became separated in Providence, after which he started for New York, arriving here four days ago.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Rear Admiral Dickins, commanding the coast defense squadron, expects to have the vessels of his command ready for the winter work by Nov. 25.

By the formal transfer of the ownership of the Chicago National League Baseball club, James A. Hart retires from active participation in professional baseball and is succeeded by Charles W. Murphy of Chicago.

W. H. Truesdale and J. W. Auchincloss of the Mutual Life Insurance company's investigating committee announce that the third member of the committee has not yet been selected.

Edward I. Kilborn, 34 years old, who has been engaged in rebuilding the Wallingford, Vt., town hall, fell from the roof while inspecting the work and was instantly killed.

A POLITICAL JOLT

Mayor of Boston Proposes to Investigate Big Contracts

Boston, Nov. 2.—District Attorney French of Norfolk and Plymouth counties has been asked by Acting Mayor Whelton to investigate the contracts for the construction of a sewer in the fenway. It is charged by a local political association that the sewer could have been constructed for $500,000, but that the cost to the city has already reached $1,052,434.93. Five contractors were engaged in the work.

The report that the fenway contract was to be investigated created great excitement among the politicians and the contractors. Several startling rumors were in circulation regarding the motive of the investigation.

It is conceded that Martin Lomasney, a power in local politics, is behind the proposed investigation, and it was even hinted that Lomasney had joined forces with the Good Government association in order that his protege, E. J. Donovan, might be elected mayor. Then again, Harry Nawn, Simon J. Donovan and J. B. Graham are all with John F. Fitzgerald for mayor, and they held the biggest contracts in the fenway.

No more sensational move has been sprung upon the politicians in years. They attribute it to the fact that the organization has day by day been going over to John F. Fitzgerald, and to stem the tide and transfer the fight into the hands of the people this move has been made.

Harvard Will Play With Pennsy

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 2.—Chairman White of the Harvard athletic committee officially denies that Harvard has considered the cancelling of the football game with Pennsylvania in case the latter institution insists on playing Lamson, the big guard. He says that Captain Hurley was right in protesting Lamson, but that Harvard will abide by the decision of the arbitration committee made up of a Harvard and a Pennsylvania man and a third man to be chosen.

Dealt With National Issues

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 2.—The only appearance of Governor Douglas on the Democratic stump during the present campaign was made last night at a dinner in this city, which was attended by representatives of Hampden and Hampshire counties. Governor Douglas was accompanied by General Bartlett, the Democratic candidate for governor, and both speakers dealt entirely with national issues, the tariff and reciprocity.

No Indication of Foul Play

South Hampton, N. H., Nov. 2.—That there is positively no reason to believe that the death of Constable J. W. Orr, whose body was found on the Powwow river bank here, was due to foul play, is the verdict of the county authorities, who announce that Orr had fallen from his carriage and that death was accidental.

Disagreement of Leete Jury

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 2.—A disagreement was reported last night by the jury in the case of Edward H. Leete, motorman on the Worcester and Southbridge street railway, charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Grace Nelson at Hammerock curve in Charlton Sept. 5.

Wanted For Triple Murder

Middletown, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Assistant District Attorney Rogers announces that sufficient evidence has been secured to convict Charles H. Rogers of this city of the murders of Fred and Willis Olney and Alice Ingerick, and the murderous assault on Mrs. Georgia Ingerick, mother of the girl. There is a suspicion that Rogers committed suicide soon after he disappeared, but many believe that he is in hiding in the woods not many miles from here.

Fire Quenched With Vinegar

Albany, Nov. 2.—Fire broke out in the pump house of the barrel factory of Austin Bros. at South Bethlehem, but the water supply soon gave out. A large quantity of vinegar was stored nearby. The barrels were smashed in and 500 gallons of the liquid dipped out and passed to the fire fighters by bucketfuls. Three small buildings were destroyed, but the main factory was saved.

Committed Two Murders

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 2.—Isham Edwards, who will be hanged tomorrow for the murder last September of N. W. Eppes, has confessed to another murder perpetrated about three months earlier. The victim was a negro woman. Edwards went to her home the next day and acted as one of the pall bearers and took part in the singing and praying at the funeral.

Fatal Automobile Wreck

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—James H. A. Brooks, a manufacturer of this city, was killed, M. G. Price, a business associate, was seriously injured, and their wives were painfully hurt in an automobile accident near Absecon, N. J., caused by a tire slipping off one of the rear wheels of the automobile while at high speed. Brooks was operating the machine.

Strike Against New Foreman

Havana, Nov. 2.—Nearly 500 employes of one of the factories belonging to the American Tobacco company have struck on account of dissatisfaction with a new foreman. The cigarmakers say they will endeavor to bring about strikes in other factories.

At Least Four Hunters Killed

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—The hunting season for rabbits in Pennsylvania opened yesterday and reports from the eastern part of the state show that at least four men have been accidentally killed and an unknown number injured.

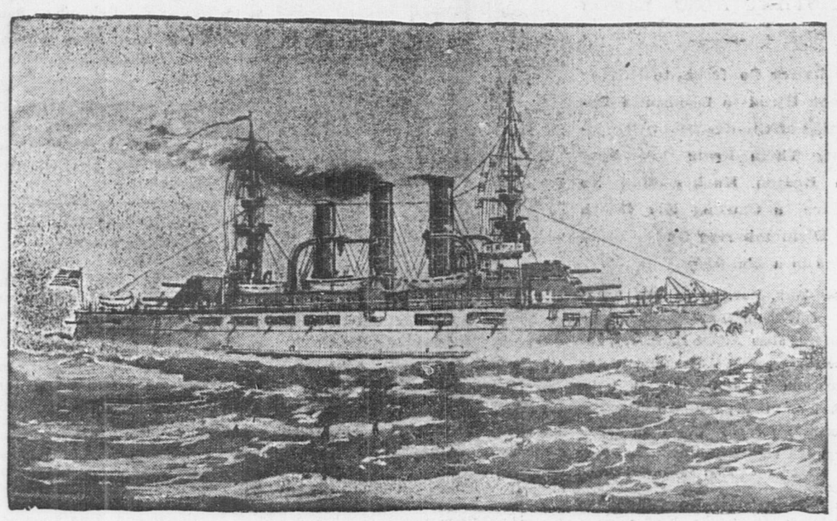
Our Battleship a Flyer.



Rockland, Me., Nov. 3.—A new speed record for American battleships was established by the Rhode Island on her official standardization trial trip over the measured mile course off Owl's Head, during which she covered one mile at a rate of 19.33 knots an hour. Another mile was made in 19.27, while the mean for the 12 runs over the course was 18.93 knots an hour.

The contract of the builders, the Fore River Shipbuilding company, called for a speed of 19 knots, and the showing made by the vessel, which is the largest American battleship in readiness for service, was most satisfactory, not only to the trial board, but to her builders.

It was demonstrated by the trial that 125.75 revolutions would give the Rhode Island her contract speed of 19 knots, and as something over 126 revolutions were attained during the runs, it is expected that in the four-hour endurance test, which will be made in the run back to Boston, the contract speed will be reached without difficulty.

The trial was made under fairly good conditions, the sea being quite smooth, although a stiff breeze from the northwest blew diagonally across the course, which runs about north and south.

With her propellers making 120 revolutions a minute, the warship made the first mile in 18.42. The speed was gradually increased until, at the fourth trial, with 126 revolutions, a speed of 19.33 knots an hour, the maximum, was attained. Eight other runs followed, several of which were over 19 knots. There was very little vibration and the turns were made easily. The condenser which bothered the engine room gang during the past few days gave no trouble; in fact everything worked with great smoothness.

Rear Admiral Bowles, retired, the president of the Fore River company, was on board. F. O. Wellington was in charge of the ship, while F. E. Edwards looked after the engine room.

The trial board expressed themselves as being pleased with the Owl's Head course and stated that four other battleships now nearing completion would be sent over the same course during the next three months. The Virginia will be tried on Nov. 18, Louisiana on Nov. 28, the New Jersey in December and the Connecticut in January.

The Board of Health has appointed John Hall, Joseph W. Stancomb and Elmer E. Paine as undertakers.

Rebecca's Triumph

Presented by Members of Daughters of St George

"Rebecca's Triumph," a drama in three acts was successfully presented at Hancock hall Thursday evening by members of the Daughters of St. George as their annual entertainment. There were no men in the cast, in fact no male parts as will be seen by the cast below:

Mrs. Rokeman, a wealthy lady, Mrs. Nellie W. Prout
Mrs. Delaine, a widow, Mrs. Manhire
Rebecca, a foundling, Miss Alice M. Deacon
Clarissa Codman, a spinster, Mrs Mary V. Smith
Kate Connor, an Irish girl, Mrs. Lizzie Johnston
Gyp, a colored girl, Miss Lauretta E. Williams
Meg, a vagrant, Mrs. Mary Chapple
Members of Cooking Club,—Mrs. Ellen R. Prout, Mrs. Bessie E. Oswald, Miss Mary Clark, Miss Florence J. Jones, Miss Evelyn T. Jones, Mrs. Emma J. Newcomb, Miss Florence L. Cole, Miss Annie W. Grant and Mrs. Mary McDonald.

The time of the play was the present, on three consecutive days in summer, act one taking place in Mrs. Delaine's kitchen, act two was a picnic in the grove, and act three in the parlor of Mrs. Rokeman's home.

Kate Connor and Gyp added life to the play and provoked much merriment. Both could not read, but the former was willing to acknowledge it, while the latter would not. The letters received by Kate read quite differently whether read by a friend or by Gyp.

The more difficult part of Meg, the crazy vagrant before identified as the sister of Mrs. Rokeman was well taken by Mrs. Chapple.

The rig and actions of the spinster was amusing, and Mrs. Rokeman and Mrs. Delaine carried their parts well. Rebecca who first appeared as a foundling, blossomed into a lovely girl of eighteen in the last act when she found her mother and aunt, and triumphed in reconciling the two.

Miss Mamie Kennedy was accompanist for the choruses. Music between the acts and for the dancing which followed was by Thompson's orchestra.

Master Relected

At Annual Meeting of Rural Lodge Of Masons.

The annual communication of Rural lodge of Masons was held Thursday evening and was largely attended by members. The new and commodious apartments have given the lodge a great impetus of late, and although the expenses have increased for rent, light and hospitality, Treasurer Jones reported all bills paid and a larger sum in the treasury than a year ago.

Secretary Simmons also reported a large net increase in membership, which is now 250.

All the elective officers were reelected with the exception of Frederick L. Jones as treasurer, who found it necessary to decline a reelection because of private business. The officers are:

JOSEPH P. PROUT.

Worshipful Master,—Joseph P. Prout.
Senior Warden,—Hartley L. White of Braintree.
Junior Warden,—Charles Sampson.
Treasurer,—Alexander Falconer.
Secretary,—Walter E. Simmons.

A Foreigner by Mail.

A new use has been discovered for the postal system. A foreigner arrived in Lynn this week unable to speak a word of English, but pinned to his coat was a tag bearing the number of a box in the post office. Engaging a hackman by signs, and pointing to his tag, the Jehu understood that he was to take the man to the post office. The box is rented by an Armenian society, a member of which soon appeared and was given his "mail," which this time was, sure enough, a male, and the recent arrival was made happy by the sound of a familiar language, and received what further directions he required. It was a great scheme and it worked like a charm. —Lynn Item.

Thompson And Johnson Nominated

As Candidates For Republican Nomination As Mayor of City

Republican and Democratic nomination papers of candidates to be voted for at the Municipal caucuses Nov. 14 were opened Thursday. The Democratic papers at the residence of the secretary A. J. LeCroix at 5 o'clock, and the Republican papers at headquarters at 8 o'clock.

The Democrats filed papers in two wards only, namely Four and Six, and but one of these was complete. No papers were filed for Mayor or School Committee at large, and but one paper for Councilman at large. It was announced that vacancies would be filled at a meeting of the City Committee tonight.

The Republicans filed full sets of papers in every ward, and there are contests for Councilmen-at-large and for Ward Councilmen in several wards.

Two candidates are in the field for Mayor, namely, James Thompson, the present Mayor, and Benjamin Johnson, an ex-Councilman of Ward Two, but now a resident of Ward One.

Six separate papers, containing 382 signatures, were filed for Mayor Thompson, and four papers containing 168 names for Mr. Johnson.

Among the Councilmen-at-large are four of the present council and two new names. Messrs. Arthur W. Loud and William G. Gassett are not candidates for reelection.

There is but one candidate for School Committee at large, a new man for the place of James H. Churchill.

For School Committee from the Wards new men are mentioned in both Wards Four and Six.

Ward One has an entirely new set of candidates for Ward Councilmen, four papers being filed.

In Ward Two Councilman Hynes. is not a candidate and there is one new name.

In Ward Three Councilman Spargo is the only member of the present council seeking nomination and there are five new names. Mr. Piper runs at large and Mr. Savage retires voluntarily.

Ward Four has an entirely new set of candidates but the Democrats are usually successful in this ward.

In Ward Five, Councilmen Nichols and Polk are again candidates, but Councilman Chamberlin will move out of town and one new man will be necessary.

In Ward Six four names are filed, Councilman Sawyer being the only member of the present Council. Mr. Gearwar did not care to return.

From the names filed it is evident that a majority of the council of 1906 will be new men.

The nominations of both parties follow:

REPUBLICAN.

For Mayor,—James Thompson and Benjamin Johnson.

For School Committee-at-Large,—Arthur W. Newcomb.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

It is very evident since the nomination papers were opened that there will be many changes in the City Council, and also in the School Committee. Rather too many, perhaps, for the good of the city, but there has been a great clamor for a change.

The Democratic orators, finding that the people will not believe that conditions here in Massachusetts are as bad as they have been painted by them and by their newspaper organs, now admit freely on the stump, as Mr. Whitney did the other evening, that conditions are prosperous, but cannot long remain so. This has been the cry every time the Democratic party sought a state or national election. Everything is always going to the dogs, with the people on that side, but in the face of their dire predictions the business of the state keeps right on improving.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ It, no doubt, seems perfectly justifiable to speak of the perpetrator of the crime that cost Susanna Geary her life, as the murderer, but it is to be noted that he or she is not a murderer in the sight of the law and that for the offense which cost the girl her life the maximum sentence can be but twenty years' imprisonment, and more often the sentence has been far less. The butchery which followed death, in an effort to conceal the evidence of the crime, has added to its horror in this instance, but the fact is that the present statute against such work is entirely inadequate, in its provision for sentence and in its prohibition of such operations.—Haverhill Gazette.

ARRESTS IN SUIT CASE MYSTERY

Long Sought For Doctor Caught by New York Police

ASSISTANT ALSO TAKEN

The Latter Confesses to Having Been Hired to Dispose of Remains of Chorus Girl by Dropping Them From Ferryboat In Boston Harbor--Had No Share In Causing Her Death or Dismembering Body--Head Was in a Handbag

New York, Nov. 3.—In the arrest here of William Howard and Louis Crawford, alias Albert H. Emory, the police declare that the solution of the Boston suit case mystery will be reached and that the person primarily responsible for the death of Miss Geary, the chorus girl of "The Shepherd King" company, soon will be in the toils.

As soon as Howard and Crawford were taken to police headquarters Howard broke down and made an alleged confession. According to the prisoner's sworn statement, as related by the police, Howard, who has an alias of Hunt, is 36 years old and an engineer by occupation. He has known Crawford for more than three years. Crawford has been employed at various times by patent medicine concerns throughout the United States, but for some time past has been engaged in managing what the police say is a lying-in hospital conducted by his mother-in-law, Dr. Jane Bishop, on Tremont street, Boston.

On the morning of Sept. 19 last, two days before the dismembered body of Miss Geary was found, Howard called at Dr. Bishop's place to see Crawford. Howard said he needed money badly at the time and when Crawford suggested that he was in a position to get him a good fee, he jumped at the chance.

"I've got a chance to let you make a good piece of money," Crawford is alleged to have said to Howard; "only you want to be mighty careful and keep your mouth shut. One of our patients is dead and we have got to get rid of the body; we've got to get rid of it by all means and without delay."

Then he went on to tell Howard, according to the confession, that a girl had died from the effects of an operation. He explained in detail what was required—to remove the remains to some spot where they would not be discovered for some time.

"How much is there in it?" asked Howard.

"One hundred dollars," answered Crawford, and immediately, Howard says, they closed the deal and, according to appointment, met at the lying-in hospital on the following morning. Crawford kept Howard there all that day and when night came the two made ready to start.

Crawford handed Howard a small hand satchel, the latter says, while Crawford himself carried a suit case. Howard was told what was in the bag and the satchel, but was assured that no suspicion would be created. Then they started for the East Boston ferry at the foot of State street and on the way Crawford explained that they would throw the body into the harbor at the first opportunity. When they boarded the ferryboat, however, there were more people going to East Boston than they had expected, Howard says, and no favorable opportunity presented itself for them to throw the satchel and the suit case overboard.

When they reached East Boston they went ashore and to divert suspicion boarded a trolley car and rode as far as Orient Heights and returned. Upon reaching the ferrry house there were few people in the vicinity and when the craft was well out in the stream Crawford said "let her go" and Howard dropped the satchel which contained the head of the dead girl, while Crawford dropped over the stern the suit case containing the limbs.

Howard thought the job done, but Crawford then told him that there was another portion of the body yet to be disposed of, and straightway they went to the Tremont street hospital and got another suit case, one much heavier than that carried by Crawford on the first trip. However, Howard obeyed instructions, took up the case and walked with Crawford as far as Tremont and Bolyston streets. There Crawford hailed a cab and ordered that they be driven to the Chelsea ferry and the driver conveyed them to their destination.

Upon boarding the Chelsea ferryboat they remained at the stern and when nobody was looking threw the suit case into the river. They went ashore at Chelsea and returned to Boston by trolley. Howard left Crawford at the Dudley street terminal, Howard going to his home. Before he left, Howard got $60, he says, Crawford telling him to call the following morning when he would get the remainder of the sum promised. Howard did as he was instructed, and the next day says he got $30, Crawford holding out $10 and saying that they had'nt taken in much at the hospital.

Two days later Howard was startled when he heard newsboys calling out about the gruesome find of a dismembered body in a suit case and immediately went to the hospital and told Crawford that he was scared and wanted to leave town. Crawford gave him some more money, he says, and told him that he intended to get out too, and that he would accompany him to New York. So the following morning, Sept. 22, they boarded a train and came to New York.

Howard absolutely denies that he knows who performed the criminal operation upon the chorus girl which brought about her death, or who dismembered the body.

Shortly afterward the police of this city received a message from the Boston authorities, asking them to look out for Crawford, who it was believed could throw some light on the mystery. It was by constantly watching the New York theatrical agencies that the two men now in custody were located.

When Crawford was searched at police found on him an envelope addressed to Miss May Tennien, 185 Moody street, Waltham, Mass., in which were letters that the police declare have an important bearing on the man's case. Crawford absolutely refused to say one word, although put through the third degree.

IMPORTANT WITNESSES

Men Under Arrest Will Be Confronted by Bostonians

Boston, Nov. 3.—With three men under arrest, one of whom is said to have made a confession, and four important witnesses on their way to New York to confront two of the men in custody, the local authorities believe that they are within a measurable distance of a final solution of the dress suit case tragedy and the mystery surrounding the death of Miss Susanna Geary as the result of a criminal operation.

The men in custody are Morris Nathan, to whom the girl was engaged, who was brought back from Pittsburg in a state of collapse; Dr. Lewis W. Crawford of this city, a son-in-law of "Mrs. Dr. Bishop," who formerly conducted an office on Tremont street, and a man calling himself William Howard.

Crawford and Howard were arrested in New York late yesterday and one of them is said to have confessed to throwing the suit cases into the harbor.

The four witnesses who started for New York last night in charge of Chief Inspector Watts and Superintendent Pierce were Joseph Berkman and his partner, Louis Vilensky, proprietors of the Shawmut Loan company, Meyer Rubin, another pawnbroker, and Timothy Howard, a hack driver. Berkman and Rubin claimed to have sold the suit cases in which the dismembered parts of the body were placed and thrown into the harbor, while Howard, the hackman, drove two men who carried two heavy suit cases to the Chelsea ferry. The police believe that the witnesses will be able to identify Crawford and Howard as the men who bought the suit cases and carried them to the ferry.

The office of "Mrs. Dr. Bishop," with which Crawford is said to have been connected, is situated on Tremont street, in the centre of the theatrical district. It was searched thoroughly by the police, but little of value was found.

The police have been searching for Crawford ever since the arrest of Nathan in Pittsburg last Sunday night. He has been missing from his office here and it was not until yesterday that he was located in New York by Detective Sergeant O'Brien of that city.

At the same time a man giving his name as William Howard, but who is believed to be another physician, was taken into custody and is said to have confessed to throwing the suit cases and a hand satchel, in which portions of the girl's body were concealed, into the upper harbor. Two suit cases, in which were found various parts of the body, with the exception of the head, were discovered at different times floating in the harbor, one of them near Winthrop and the other at the mouth of the Charles river. The head has not yet been recovered.

Nathan, who was in such a weakened condition, hysterically and mentally, upon his arrival Wednesday from Pittsburg that he was taken to the city hospital for treatment, shows signs of improvement today. The police are anxious for him to regain his strength sufficiently to answer a number of questions regarding the case. No effort has been made to take him to court for arraignment. A ring, which was identified as belonging to Miss Geary, has been found in a loan company, where it was pawned by a friend of Nathan's.

Miss Tennien Not In Waltham

Waltham, Mass., Nov. 3.—May Tennien of this city, whose name was found on an envelope in Crawford's pocket, is a relative of Dr. Jane Bishop, and is, therefore, a relative of Crawford's wife. Miss Tennien has not been in this city recently, so far as can be learned. The Tennien family consists of the mother and two daughters. The second daughter, Katherine, who is a vocal music teacher, is also out of town.

No Official Report of Massacre

Washington, Nov. 3.—The state department has so far received no official notice of the reported killing of five American missionaries at Lien Chow, China. It is believed that the nearest consul likely to hear of this tragedy is at Canton, about a week's journey from the place where the murders occurred.

Newfoundland Fishermen Held Up

St. Johns, Nov. 3.—Steamer Active, carrying eight small boatloads of local fishermen, sailed from Bay of Islands with the intention of proceeding outside the three-mile limit and there transferring the fishermen to American fishing vessels, on which they would ship as members of the crews. Cruiser Fiona chased the Active and threatened her with seizure if she went beyond the three-mile limit without clearance papers. The Active thereupon returned. The customs authorities refuse to grant clearance papers to the steamer except for a bonafide voyage.

President and King Toasted

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 3.—Glasses clinked with a ring of good fellowship, as the healths of king and president were drunk by their officers at the dinner of Admiral Evans on board the Mayflower last night to Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg and the officers of his squadron. The prince proposed the health of President Roosevelt and Admiral Evans the health of King Edward. The dinner was the concluding feature of the second day of Prince Louis' visit to America.

Letter Carriers Want More Pay

Washington, Nov. 3.—A committee representing the letter carriers of the United States waited upon Postmaster General Cortelyou and presented a memorial urging increased pay for carriers, calling attention to the fact that there has been no change in the payment of salaries for more than 40 years. Cortelyou told the committee that he would give the memorial his fullest consideration.

Magnolia Not to Blame

Washington, Nov. 3.—The lighthouse board has received a report from its officers aboard the Magnolia at the time she collided with the fruit steamer Esparta while coming from New Orleans with President Roosevelt on board. All blame for the accident is placed on the Esparta. The collision will be investigated by the supervising inspector of steam vessels.

Several street car lines were temporarily shut off from electric power, while many buildings were for a time deprived of electricity for illumination and for elevator power. The cause of the explosion has not been ascertained.

Awaiting Coroner's Verdict

St. John, Nov. 2.—Pending the result of the coroner's inquest into the death of Charles O'Regan in a sparring match here, his opponent, Fred Northrup, who is held on a charge of manslaughter, will not be brought into court until Friday. The others arrested in the ring have had their bail of $200 renewed until Friday.

Killed Himself In Public

New York, Nov. 2.—A man said to be Joseph Carpenter of Grand Rapids, Mich., a traveling salesman for a furniture company, shot and killed himself in the office of the Rock Island railroad here. Several persons were in the office and the shooting caused so much excitement that the office had to be closed temporarily.

Woman Crushed to Death

Danville, O., Nov. 2.—Mrs. Mary E. Metz, aged 70, was instantly killed and her son, Clifford, was fatally injured by a tree, which was being cut down by axemen, falling upon them. They were on their way home in a buggy and as they reached a turn in the road the tree fell and crushed them.

WANT A REPUBLIC

Russian Revolutionists Continue Their Agitation

QUIETER AT THE CAPITAL

Disturbances In Other Parts of Empire Are as Bad as Ever--Czar's Manifesto Smacks of Old Bureaucratic Regime

London, Nov. 3.—Dispatches from Russia show that the abdication of the autocracy, in the granting of a constitution for the empire, has not resulted in checking the hostile demonstrations against the government. Of course some of the rioting and bloodshed that is taking place bears no relation to the agitation for reform, but is the work of elements that have used the present crisis to further their own ends, such as the anti-Jewish riots for instance.

But a considerable part of the turbulence is due to the revolutionary leaders who are now demanding the formation of a republic. Violent agitation for a republic will be met by brute force on the part of the government. Witte has retained Trepoff in power for the purpose of repressing further radical demonstrations. Today the prospects of the country quieting down are brighter. The strike in the capital has been called off, and the revolutionists seem to realize that they have accomplished all possible for the present.

While the situation is better in St. Petersburg, frightful scenes continue to be enacted in other parts of the empire, especially in Odessa and Warsaw.

The details of the creation of a cabinet under the imperial manifesto granting a constitution, as given out, have already aroused criticism as being extremely complicated and smacking of the bureaucratic regime. It is pointed out by the critics that even when the cabinet is unanimous, the premier must go to the czar to receive instructions, thus leaving the final authority in the hands of the sovereign. The exemption of all questions affecting the imperial court and domains, the army and navy and foreign affairs from the authority of the cabinet also has aroused hostile comment.

Killing Jews at Odessa

Odessa, Nov. 3.—The massacre of Jews continues. They are being hunted down in the streets and killed and beaten, while their shops are given over to pillage. The streets are in possession of a wild, disorderly mob of roughs. Several bombs have been thrown.

Bloodshed at Helsingfors

Helsingfors, Nov. 3.—The crisis here continues. About 4000 volunteers have been enrolled and the hotels transformed into hospitals under volunteer Red Cross detachments. The excitement is high and there has been much bloodshed.

Jewish Establishments Sacked

Rostoff, Nov. 3.—During the night the stevedores and rough element of the river men began the work of plunder, sparing, however, the houses of Christians. All the rich Jewish establishments were sacked.

Jews Hiding From Workmen

Kherson, Nov. 3.—Workmen carrying the czar's portrait attacked the Jewish shops and plundered the market. The governor threatened, but did nothing. The Jews are in hiding.

Vienna Has a Riot

Vienna, Nov. 3.—Grave disorders, in which about 80 persons were injured, occurred last night as the result of a great Socialist meeting in behalf of universal suffrage. The orators used fiery language, declaring that millions of workers were ready to follow the Russian example. It is alleged that the Socialists stoned the police, compelling them to draw their swords, and it is said that the police acted with brutal violence.

Stands as Independent Nominee

New York, Nov. 3.—The appellate division of the New York state supreme court has handed down a decision refusing to grant an application for a mandamus to compel the New York city board of elections to place the name of W. T. Jerome on the official ballot as a nominee of the Republican party for district attorney. Jerome's name will be put on the ballot as an independent nominee.

China For the Chinese

London, Nov. 3.—The Daily Telegraph's Shanghai correspondent says: "The Chinese government is encouraged by the Japanese success and is adopting a stone wall policy against foreign enterprise, flatly refusing new mining and railway concessions, and cancelling old concessions by purchase or otherwise."

Jamaicans See Something New

Kingston, Ja., Nov. 3.—The first baseball match ever played in Jamaica took place here between teams from the United States cruisers Denver and Yankee. The game, which was won by the Yankee's team, was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic crowd.

Lost Voice Through Great Fall

New York, Nov. 3.—Erasmo Nardella, a laborer, fell 70 feet from the fifth story of a building here and escaped all other injury than the absolute loss of his voice. It is supposed his vocal cords were paralyzed by the shock of the fall.

ASK FOR INJUNCTION

Arcanumites Seek Aid of Attorney General of Bay State

Boston, Nov. 3.—Attorney General Parker of Massachusetts has been asked to petition the supreme court for an injunction restraining the supreme council of the Royal Arcanum from enforcing the assessment rates adopted at the convention last April and ratified in August.

Those who are acting in the matter include residents of New York, Detroit, Paterson, N. J., and Providence, as well as several Massachusetts members. Their request was transmitted to the attorney general by Insurance Commissioner Cutting. Attorney General Parker says:

"The matter is before the attorney general's department, but no decision has as yet been reached. The papers are being given careful consideration and it cannot be stated at this time how long this will take. The work is being done as expeditiously as possible because of the importance of the case."

The question was brought before the Massachusetts officials because the Royal Arcanum was organized in this state in 1877, a charter having been granted on Nov. 5 of that year. The petitioning members contend that the action of the supreme council in adopting the new rates is unreasonable, unnecessary, inequitable, unjust and illegal, and for these reasons inoperative and void. They further submit that they have not assented to change in the bylaws adopted last April, and that the passing of these laws was beyond the powers of the supreme council and for this reason not binding.

A Series of Misfortunes

Boston, Nov. 3.—Dr. Frank L. Purdy of Brookline and his wife narrowly escaped death in an automobile accident in this city last night. Their automobile was caught between two electric cars, between which it was endeavoring to make its way, and one of the cars and the automobile were considerably damaged. The Purdys and Miss E. D. Jaynes, who accompanied them, were cut by glass and severely shaken up. Dr. and Mrs. Purdy had their automobile wrecked recently. Later their home was robbed by burglars and two days ago a fire started on their premises which threatened their residence for a time.

An Immigration Arrest

Boston, Nov. 3.—Immigration officials here arrested Francisco Gonzalio on a charge of perjury committed, it is alleged, in endeavoring to obtain the release of a relative on steamer Romania, from Naples. The prisoner represented himself, it is said, to be one Michael J. Hudson of county Cork, Ire., and presented naturalization papers made out in that name. It is claimed that Gonzalio admitted he was an Italian, and that he found the papers bearing Hudson's name.

Third Attempt at Train Wrecking

Wakefield, Mass., Nov. 3.—Barely two minutes before an express train was due from Boston, section men on the Boston and Maine railroad discovered a fish-plate lodged in a frog connecting the main line with a siding near here. Had the train passed over the obstruction it undoubtedly would have been derailed and pitched down an embankment. Two previous attempts were made in the same vicinity recently and as nearly came being successful.

Shooting Was Accidental

Wiscasset, Me., Nov. 3.—Arthur McFarland of Boston, aged 15, was acquitted of the charge of manslaughter by the jury of the supreme court. When the verdict was pronounced the boy's father fainted. Young McFarland shot Dr. George H. Woodside of Bristol in the right temple while playing with a revolver in the street. The defense was that the shooting was purely accidental.

Fell 135 Feet to Death

Boston, Nov. 3.—Falling a distance of 135 feet to the ground, from the top of the new Christian Science building on Falmouth street, Peter Peterson, a carpenter, was instantly killed. While at work on top of the building it is supposed he either became dizzy or made a misstep. He struck on his head on the pavement.

Boston, Nov. 3.—Aubrey L. Rice, charged with the larceny of $4000 from the Puritan Trust company of this city by securing loans on alleged worthless stock certificates, was brought before Justice Bennett, but as he was unprepared for a hearing, the case was continued until Nov. 15, Rice being held in $8000 bail.

Coal Went to the Bottom

New London, Conn., Nov. 3.—The coal-laden scow R. J. Wilson, one of three barges bound for this port in tow of a tug, foundered in Long Island sound. The tow was broken up by heavy seas. The tug recaptured the other two barges and saved the men on board the Wilson.

Engineer Killed on Track

Boston, Nov. 3.—While returning from putting up his engine in the South Boston yard of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad last evening, Marshall E. Robbins, an engineer, was struck by a train and instantly killed.

Universal Suffrage For Austria

Vienna, Nov. 3.—It is stated that Emperor Francis Joseph has decided to grant universal suffrage to Austria and has instructed the premier to draft a measure on a comprehensive basis. The decision is attributed to the emperor's desire to satisfy the socialists and to at the same time impress the Hungarian coalition.

LETTER FROM MOTHER

It Betrayed Whereabouts of an Alleged Blackmailer

Boston, Nov. 3.—George Bentley, 23, of Huntington, L. I., who is suspected of being a member of the "Black Hand" gang which has terrorized wealthy residents of Huntington and vicinity by sending them blackmailing letters, was arrested at 92 Bowdoin street by Postoffice Inspector Snow.

Two weeks ago the New York postoffice inspectors secured evidence said to implicate Bentley with the "Black Hand." Before they could arrest him, however, he disappeared. The Boston inspectors were notified and when a registered letter arrived for a George Bentley from Huntington, Snow accompanied the carrier, who delivered the letter.

As soon as Bentley signed for it he was placed under arrest. "I suppose you want me for blackmail," were the first words he is alleged to have declared. The letter was from his mother, who was sending him money to keep in hiding. She is said to be wealthy.

Before Commissioner Fiske, Bentley pleaded guilty to a charge of using the mails for "a scheme or artifice to defraud," and expressed his willingness to go to New York without extradition papers.

He is said to have given important clues to Inspector Snow regarding the other members of the gang, and their arrest in New York is expected.

Disappointed Lover Stops Wedding

New York, Nov. 3.—Surrounded by a gay wedding party and leaning on the arm of her intended husband, Marguerite Aulitte, an Italian bride-elect, was terribly slashed about the face with a razor in the hands of Angelo Pastora, a disappointed lover, as the party was entering the city hall for the wedding ceremony. Before Rocco Tenare, the fiance of Miss Aulitte, could reach Pastora, he fled across city hall park. He was finally overtaken and disarmed by a policeman. The bride fainted and was sent to a hospital. The wedding was postponed.

Considered Rate Legislation

Washington, Nov. 3.—The question of railroad rate legislation was considered at length at the White House at a conference between the president and Senators Cullom and Dolliver, two of the men who are expected to lead the administration's fight in the approaching session of congress. The president outlined the measure he desires to have the congress enact, but neither of his conferees would discuss this beyond saying that in the president's expressions there are no particular modifications of the ideas that he has already put before the public.

New Trade Agreement Ready

Washington, Nov. 3.—Ambassador Sternburg of Germany, who has been in Europe for several months, returned to Washington last evening. He brought with him the invitation of the German government for the negotiation of a new trade agreement between the United States and Germany to replace the existing commercial arrangement, which expires early next spring. He will present this invitation to Secretary Root at the earliest opportunity.

Conflicting Proclamations

Christiana, Nov. 3.—The government has issued a proclamation recommending the people to vote at the forthcoming referendum for a monarchial form of government, based on the British and Italian constitutions. The Radicals and Socialists also issued a proclamation, recommending a republic. Another proclamation was issued by prominent Liberals, asking the people to support the proposition of the government.

Whaling Fleet Will Suffer

San Francisco, Nov. 3.—Whaling vessels Monterey and Alice Knowles have arrived from Hokodate, Japan. They confirm the news that the greater part of the Arctic whaling fleet has been caught in the ice and that the imprisoned men will probably suffer for want of provisions. Captain Foley of the Monterey says that the government should make an effort to reach the imprisoned whalers.

Cowles to Be Roosevelt's Aide

Washington, Nov. 3.—The navy department will detach Captain Cowles from command of the battleship Missouri Nov. 20. Cowles will come to Washington upon relinquishing his command and act as naval aide to the president. Cowles is a brother-in-law of the president.

Another Cruiser For Japan

Seoul, Nov. 3.—The former Russian cruiser Variag, which was sunk by the Japanese and afterward raised, has been repaired. She will proceed to Yokosuka to receive her armament. Several trials of the vessel have been highly successful.

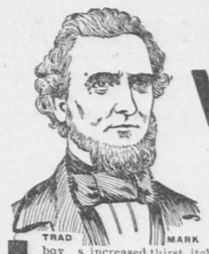
NEWS IN BRIEF

Thousands of people witnessed the unveiling at Somerset, O., of the monument to General Phil Sheridan, the Federal cavalry leader.

A new steamboat line for freight and passengers between Providence and Fall River will shortly go into operation in competition with the boats of two other companies.

Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture has appointed a committee of three on the personnel of the department. It will be the duty of this committee to inquire into all reports of wrongdoings of employes and the character of the work performed.

The blueberry canning factory at Island Pond, Vt., has been closed for the season. Over 300,000 gallon cans were put up, for which 1,500,000 pounds of new blueberries were required.



UNSUSPECTED WORMS

are the cause of numerous little things that go wrong with children. When they are sick you rarely think their sickness is caused by worms. They are rarely treated for worms. Yet worms are the cause either directly or indirectly of over 75 per cent. of the ailments of children. They are also frequent cause of illness in adults. The familiar symptoms of worms are disturbed health, deranged stomach, furred tongue, variable appetite and bowels, increased thirst, itching of nostrils, indolence, malaria, irritability, disturbed sleep, grinding of teeth, slow fever and often in children, convulsions—is the only safe, sure, entirely vegetable worm remedy ever compounded. It not only expels worms but all waste matter, leaving the blood rich and pure and the whole system strong and healthy. Known and used successfully for three generations. This testimonial came with an order for more Elixir.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

UNION, ME., March 27, 1905.

DR. J. F. TRUE, Auburn, Me.:

. . . . My youngest son shows symptoms of having worms, and I know that your worm medicine will give prompt relief. My oldest son now a sea captain, was, when a boy, sickly and in poor health. We gave him your Elixir and he grew and thrived on it. We believe it saved his life.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

A reward is offered for a lost trunk.

The last day of November will be Thanksgiving day.

The afternoons will be but twenty-five minutes shorter.

The City Council Committee on Streets will meet tonight.

A new roof is being built on the annealing plant at the shipyard.

Rev. Alfred R. Atwood preached his farewell sermon at the Cotuit Congregational church last Sunday.

The destroyers Lawrence and Macdonough, built at the Fore River work, have been assigned to the North Atlantic fleet.

Mrs. Barr and son have moved from South street to Washington street, where they will occupy a suite in the Thayer block.

Adams Academy is playing the Milton High football team this afternoon, and Quincy High will meet Milton High next Friday.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Washington Street Congregational church has been holding a rummage sale in the rooms of the hose house.

Chief of Police William McNeal of Winthrop was the guest on Sunday of Councilman Eugene R. Stone of this city. Chief McNeal has been active in the suit case murder.

Elmer W. Baker's Saturday night socials are increasing in size. Tomorrow night's will probably be the best attended. Quincy Music hall has been decorated for the occasion.

The Lord's supper will be celebrated Sunday morning at Bethany Congregational church. At the evening service Dr. Cooper and a choir of children from the Home for Little Wanderers will take part in the service.

Much of the success of the Quincy High school football team this season is due to the coaching of H. F. Miller, Jr., of Harvard college, a graduate of the school. He is greatly interested in the team. This week Mr. Miller is on the Harvard team in its cross country match with Princeton.

The first meeting of The Kitnalta Club was held at the home of Miss Maud Gray, Botolph street, on Thursday evening. Prizes were won at whist by Miss Florence Buxton and Miss Laura Hall, first; Miss Mabeth Fish and Miss Addie May Ruggles, second; Consolation by Miss Gertrude Warren. The next meeting will be with Miss Ruggles on November 16th.

A surprise party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Tilton of Rawson road, on Thursday evening by their railroad friends. After a dainty supper the guests were entertained by games and by good talent. Among those present were Conductors George Orcut, C. C. Reed, F. M. Buzzell and families, Engineer Rand and friends and ex-roadmaster H. E. Bryant and wife.

Brilliant Speaker.

Col. Sidney O. Bigney, the Republican candidate for Councillor in this district, is much sought as a speaker and everywhere makes a hit. Tuesday evening he spoke in Mansfield; on Wednesday evening in five different places in Boston with Guild and Draper; on Thursday evening in two halls in Boston with Lodge and Guild. Tonight he speaks at Fall River with Lodge, Guild and Murray. Saturday night he will attend the grand Tremont Temple rally and on Monday will preside at a grand rally in his home town of Attleboro.

Dory Association Dinner.

The annual dinner of the American Dory Racing Association was held Thursday evening at the Quincy house, Boston. Among the speakers were: Harry Skeffington, the newly appointed Harbor and Land Commissioner, and Commodore F. F. Crane of the Quincy Yacht club.

Cossacks Attacked Peaceful Crowd

Poltava, Nov. 2.—Cossacks dispersed a peaceful crowd which, with the authority of the chief of police, had assembled to witness the liberation of political prisoners. Some were killed and an immense number seriously wounded, many fatally. A terrible panic prevailed.

Probable Murder and Suicide

New York, Nov. 1.—A man and woman whose identity the police are endeavoring to establish were found dead last night in a hotel in Lexington avenue. The room was full of gas and all the crevices of the doors and windows were stuffed with paper. The woman's jaw was broken and her body was covered with recently inflicted bruises, and the police are disposed to believe that she was killed by the man, who afterwards committed suicide by turning on the gas.

Murderous Seamen Indicted

Wilmington, N. C., Nov. 2.—The grand jury here returned true bills for mutiny and murder against Arthur Adams and Robert Sawyer, two of the three sailors from the schooner Harry A. Berwind, aboard which the murder of Captain Rumill and four members of the crew occurred. A true bill against Henry Scott, against whom Adams and Sawyer have turned state's evidence, has not yet been found.

Autopsy Revealed Poison In Salts

Fort Fairfield, Me., Nov. 1.—An autopsy by three physicians upon the body of Pearl Barnes, aged 14, who died at Sprague's Mills while suffering great agony, revealed the fact that she had taken a teaspoon of epsom salts containing strychnine. The liver, stomach and kidneys, together with an ounce of salts, were taken to Bowdoin Medical school for examination. It is considered possible that an arrest may be made.

—Mabel (studying her lesson)—"Papa, what is the definition of volubility?" Mabel's father—"My child, volubility is a distinguishing feature of your mother when, on account of urgent business affairs, I don't happen to reach home until after 2 A. M."

—The English seem to recognize and enjoy their reputation for stolidity and tacturnity. The London Globe quotes an American asking a waiter in a restaurant:—"Doesn't any one ever laugh here?" "Yes, sir," replied the waiter. "Sometimes we have complaints about it."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Ethel Merritt

At the Top With Big Lead The Conductor Increases Lead

There were bundles of votes received today for Miss Ethel Merritt, who becomes the new leader in the ladies' list in the Scholarship contest. Miss Peterson is second with lead of 42 votes. Other increases in votes will be noted.

Clerk Cash made a feeble rally today, but Conductor Johnson did better, and has increased his lead to just 200. Several candidates have larger votes.

It is again necessary to remind those sending coupons that it is necessary that the name of the candidates should appear on every coupon.

Second prizes were announced by advertisement Saturday and were valuable enough in themselves to awaken a new interest. A good suit or an overcoat for the second one in the Men's list, and a stylish suit or cloak for the second one in the Ladies' list. Other prizes are also to be announced. Old papers with coupons may be obtained at the Daily Ledger office and of the news agents.

Winners in the contest who do not care to select a $100 scholarship may select two studies where the cost is $50. A postal to Mr. U. C. Benoit, 26 Foster street, will bring information relative to the courses offered by the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., which are adapted to all needs, including foreign languages by the aid of the phonograph, civil, mechanical, electrical, steam or mining engineering, drafting, architecture, bookkeeping, stenography, civil service examinations, commercial law, illustrating, designing, building inspecting, chemistry, assaying, etc., etc.

Votes should reach the office at 9 A. M., to be counted that day, and it may soon be necessary to put this hour earlier, as the vote increases.

The standing to date is:

Hallowe'en Party.

The D. L. K. club of the Woodward Institute gave a Hallowe'en party to a number of their friends, at the home of the president, Miss Miriam A. Rhodes, North Central avenue, Wollaston, Tuesday evening.

The guests were met at the car by the young ladies of the club arrayed as ghosts, and escorted to the house where the evening was pleasantly spent playing games and bobbing for apples.

One of the features of the evening was the mystery cake, in which were hidden a ring, thimble, coin, button, and a key, which were won as follows: Miss Helen Baker, the ring; Miss Anna Whitacre, the thimble; Miss Helen M. Lincoln, the coin; Miss Miriam A. Rhodes, the button and Miss Anastasia Lavelle, the key.

Refreshments consisting of sandwiches, ice cream, cake and candy were served The party adjourned at eleven thirty, each one declaring that he had had a grand good time.

Among those present were: Miss Miriam A. Rhodes, Miss Maud E. Reed, Miss Helen L. Baker, Miss Amy Rhodes, Miss Leah L. Hennigan, Miss Gladys R. Pinel, Miss Anastasia Lavelle, Miss Mabel E. Lovejoy, Miss Annie Harding, Miss Esther U. Sidelinger, Miss Helen M. Lincoln, Miss Helen A. Sherburne, Miss Lillian Hoxie, Miss Anna Whitacre and Miss Lydia Hennigar.

Messrs. Harold Taylor, George Doyle, John E. Girlie, Robert Williams, Harry Oliver, James Costello, Hutcheon Mitchell, Clifford Bean, Myron B. Small, Alfred K. Small, Jr., Samuel Melville, Robert Mitchell, Jr., and William Nicolls.

Secret Police Inciting Mobs

Odessa, Nov. 2.—There was firing all night in the outskirts of the town, resulting in the killing or wounding of hundreds of persons. Mobs composed of thousands took possession of the principal streets and it is feared that everything has been looted. All the stores are closed and business is completely suspended. Extreme tension prevails. The greatest animosity is displayed against the Jews and it is reported that the secret police are inciting the mobs.

Soldiers Among the Killed

Sebastopol, Nov. 2.—While a crowd of demonstrants were gathered in front of the prison, demanding the release of political prisoners, the gates of the prison were suddenly opened by the troops, who fired several volleys. The crowd fled in panic, leaving many dead and wounded. Among the killed were several soldiers.

TODAY'S COURT.

Thomas P. Hand was fined $10 for drunkenness at Randolph.

Luigi Pizzala was arraigned for larceny at Braintree. Case continued until next Monday.

Patrick Loughlin and Newton F. Ownston were fined $15 each for larceny of coal from the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. at Braintree.

REVOLT IN RUSSIA

Mob Spirit Rife In Several Parts of the Empire

MANY HUNDREDS KILLED

Agitators Trying to Precipitate Catastrope From Which Socialistic Republic Will Emerge --Witte Striving to Meet Objections Against New Regime

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—Though Wednesday passed in comparative quiet in St. Petersburg and Moscow, a flood of dispatches from all parts of the empire report disorders in many cities, with a heavy total of dead or wounded. The people, while celebrating their new-found freedom, were in many instances set upon by Cossacks and police, while in other localities the spirit of mob violence broke forth and the lower elements of the population gave themselves up to pillage and destruction.

The most serious disorders apparently occurred at Odessa, where hundreds of persons are reported to have been killed or wounded, and where the rioting is momentarily expected to flare out into a repetition of the slaughter of last July, and at Kazan, where a three days' reign of terror was ended only by the retirement of all Cossacks to their barracks.

A deplorable feature of the news from the interior is that anti-Jewish uprisings have occurred in many places, especially in south Russia, where the populace vented its hatred of the Jews by sacking their stores and clubbing the members of the race, in some cases resorting to the torch.

The attacks on the crowds are reported to be in most cases the work of Cossacks, who many times were apparently let loose upon the people without direction or authority.

In St. Petersburg General Trepoff, in accordance with his announcement of Tuesday night, prevented the resumption of revolutionary demonstrations by having the crowds dispersed whenever and wherever they gathered. Kazan place and the Nevsky Prospect were several times cleared by Cossacks and police, and the crowds were driven from the vicinity of the university with whips and the flats of sabres. Trepoff was aided by the weather, which was cold and rainy and which kept many people off the streets.

Count Witte's task in securing a fair trial for the new experiment in constitutionalism is a most difficult one. He is disappointed at not securing the support of the Liberals, on whose cooperation he counted. Many of these are holding aloof and seem rather to enjoy the predicament in which the new premier finds himself.

Meanwhile the Socialists and revolutionaries who believe they have the government stampeded are bending every effort to keep the movement going and to precipitate a catastrophe from which they hope a Socialistic republic will emerge. This is a consummation as little to be desired by the majority of the Liberals, especially the Zemstovists, as by the government itself, and therein lies the chief hope that the force gathering under the banner of Witte is sufficiently strong to make headway against the revolutionary movement and the spirit of unrest throughout the country.

Count Witte is doing his utmost to meet the chief objections against the new regime. In addition to the promised amnesty for political prisoners, liberty of the press has been granted, Witte offering to a deputation of editors who called on him to demand the abolition of the censorship regulation the explanation that, in the hurry of writing the manifesto, the words "liberty of the press" were inadvertently omitted and that the omission had not been noticed until the complaint was made. The Official Gazette formally announces that the term "liberty of speech" is to be interpreted as including the press.

Against the demand for the removal of Trepoff, Witte, however, is inflexible. He informed a delegation from the strike committee which called on him to demand the release of their imprisoned comrades and the removal of Trepoff that it would be madness for him to dismiss the only man capable of maintaining order in the city at the present juncture.

No newspapers were issued today and probably not until Friday at noon. The printers have determined to work only for the journals which refused to submit themselves to the censorship regulations. The Publishers' association have met this determination by resolving to disregard hereafter all circulars issued by the censor and to print what they please. The only papers now appearing are the official publications and The Workmen's Gazette, which today contains an article attacking Witte and Trepoff, calling the former by the name of "Sly Fox," and the latter by the designation of "The Ravenous Wolf."

Mobs and Troops In Conflict

Warsaw, Nov. 2.—Twenty persons were killed and upward of 100 wounded in encounters last night between the mobs and the troops. At 10 o'clock a crowd gathered before the town hall and demanded the release of political prisoners. The chief of police liberated 800 who had been arrested during the last few days, but refused to release 12 who were arrested by order of the central government. The crowd then commenced to smash the doors and windows of the town hall, whereupon a force of hussars and Cossacks with a battery of artillery galloped on the scene. The hussars charged the mobs, killing 16 persons and wounding 73. Later there was an encounter between infantry and a mob in the Bank square, when the troops fired into the crowd, killing four and wounding 30.

Conflict Anticipated In Finland

Helsingfors, Nov. 2.—All the official buildings fly the red flag and the Finnish national ensign. The police department is in the hands of the national guard, part of which has been armed by the Russian authorities. Thousands of reinforcements are reported to be marching from Thusby camp, 15 miles away. Up to the present all is quiet and order prevails, but a conflict is not impossible.

The movement for freedom is spreading throughout Finland. The strike continues, there are no newspapers published and the high prices of meat still prevail. Telegraphic communication is interrupted with all railroad stations in Finland and also with several towns.

One little ray of sunshine
To glis en in our path
Will make the weary journey
Reduced by more than half.
A kind y word of welcome,
A greeting with a smile,
Will help the weary traveler
For many a cheerless mile.
Then you who dwell in sun-hine.
Don't keep it all within,
That which we have not done before
'Tis time we should begin.
There are shut ins all around you,
Who love the sunlight sweet.
You have enough and some to spare,
Just brighten their retreat.

Boston Schooner Struck Rock

Salem, Mass., Nov. 4.—Ashore on Half-Tide rock in Salem harbor, the schooner Ruth Robinson of Boston is likely to prove a total loss. The vessel put in here to weather a gale outside. On leaving the harbor some trouble with the rudder resulted in the vessel going onto the rock.

Freight Wreck and Fire

Athol, Mass., Nov. 4.—Two freight trains figured in a rear-end collision 1½ miles east of Athol this morning. Fifteen cars were thrown from the track and the wreckage caught fire from the rear locomotive. No one was injured.

Recalcitrant Witnesses

Washington, Nov. 4.—President Robbins of the Armour car lines and Traffic Manager Sproule of the Southern Pacific railroad declined to answer questions put to them by the interstate commerce commission in the private car line inquiry, both acting under instructions of their counsel. No action was taken regarding the declinations.

Rotten Plant Closed Up

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Probably the largest plant in the United States for the production of obscene photographs has been discovered in Chicago and its business has been broken up by the police. The proprietor, Thomas Collins, was sent to sail in default of $3000 bail, while 120,000 obscene photographs and negatives were seized.

Loyal to Governor Wright

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

Suit Case Mystery Will Be Speedily Solved

A DOCTOR UNDER ARREST

Thought to Be the Man Who Dismembered the Body of Susan Geary--Begins to Look a Little Darker For Nathan

Boston, Nov. 4.—A brief conversation by long distance telephone and the scene of developments in the famous suit case mystery shifted from New York back to Boston. As a result of the brief talk between Chief Inspector Watts of the Boston bureau of criminal investigation, who is now in New York, and Detective Captain Dugan at police headquarters here, Dr. Percy D. McLeod, a reputable physician of the Back Bay district, was arrested on the charge of performing an illegal operation on Susan Geary, the Cambridge girl whose dismembered body was found in two suit cases in the waters of Boston harbor.

Since a week ago last night, when the second suit case containing the limbs and the three rings which resulted in identification was found, developments have come thick and fast. While the authorities admit that other arrests may be expected soon, they say the case is practically completed and that it no longer remains a mystery.

Through the confessions of Crawford and Howard, the two men arrested in New York, the authorities received evidence which, in their opinion, warranted the arrest of McLeod. It is alleged that McLeod was called into the case after the first operation was performed in a Tremont street office, and that he performed a second operation of a desperate nature in a vain attempt to save the life of the young woman. Miss Geary failing to recover, it is alleged that McLeod, in an effort to conceal the crime, dismembered the body. These dismembered parts were placed in two dress suit cases and a small bag and, according to the confessions of Crawford and Howard, dropped by them into the harbor.

So far the head, which was placed in a small bag weighted with shot, has not been found, but inasmuch as the police have been told approximately where it was dropped overboard it is believed that it will soon be recovered, thereby establishing beyond question the identity of the victim. The police boat Watchman dragged the harbor bottom along the path of the North ferry to East Boston, but the search thus far has been fruitless.

Morris Nathan, the lover of the dead girl, who was arrested in Pittsburg last Sunday night and brought to this city in a state of collapse, is gradually recovering at the city hospital, where he was taken on his arrival here, but is not yet in a condition to be brought into court. Nathan will probably be arraigned on Monday.

While at first the police were of the opinion that Nathan was not directly connected with the case, they now say that Nathan conducted the negotiations with the proprietors of the Tremont street establishment, the place with which Crawford was connected, and that he was fully aware of the result of the operation upon the Geary girl.

The police are directing their energies toward locating another member of the band of alleged malpractitioners. While no statement is forthcoming that an arrest will be made immediately, it is said that there will be other arrests in connection with the case.

Following the arrest of McLeod, Captain Dugan sent out inspectors in search of a woman who is said to have been a nurse in the house where Miss Geary died. It is claimed that she was present at the second operation, alleged to have been performed by McLeod, and knows the relations the doctor bore to the office where the dead girl underwent the original operation.

The police say that this nurse is the only person believed to have been involved in the operation and dismemberment who has not been apprehended. This woman disappeared after the first suit case was found and efforts made to locate her were unavailing nor could anything be gleaned regarding the course of her flight.

Date of Miss Geary's Death

New York, Nov. 4.—Susan Geary, victim of the dress suit case tragedy, died at 3 o'clock in the morning of Sept. 19 at a house on Winthrop street, Roxbury. "I am a Catholic. Pray for me!" These were her last words. As she spoke them she drew her last breath.

The facts concerning the commission of the famous suit case were drawn from Louis Crawford and William Howard under the examination of Chief Watts, Superintendent Pierce, Inspectors O'Brien and McCauley of New York.

From beginning to end the whole story of the crime was wrung from these two men and so revolting were the details that even the officers were horrified, and Watts was moved to make the statement "that of all cold-blooded, carefully planned, diabolical deeds, this case exceeds all in their experience."

The full story of the affair is yet to be made public. Many features are suppressed because one of the guilty ones is still at liberty.

Alleged Blackmailer Tried to Save Family From Disgrace

Boston, Nov. 4.—Bentley Gerard, 23 years old, scion of the wealthy Gerard family of New York and Huntington, L. I., who was arrested here by Postoffice Insbpector Snow, charged with sending blackmailing letters to wealthy residents of Huntington, left last night for New York in charge of Deputy Marshals Ruhl and Truhart and Postoffice Inspector Meyers.

When Gerard was arrested he gave the name of George Bentley, hoping to shield his family from disgrace. Gerard is a descendant of the founder of the Hotel Gerard in New York. His mother at present owns the property and has also a fine country estate at Huntington. Young Gerard is well educated and moved in good society.

Inspector Meyers thinks that through Bohemian living and excessive cigaret smoking the young man fell an easy prey to stronger minds. Yesterday Gerard withdrew his plea of guilty and pleaded not guilty. He consented to go to New York, however, without extradition papers.

Prince Louis at White House

Washington, Nov. 4.—Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg was received by the President and Mrs. Roosevelt yesterday afternoon. The prince was the bearer of a personal message of good will from King Edward to President Roosevelt. The presentation by Ambassador Durand was made the occasion for a brilliant reception. Last night Mr. and Mrs. Durand gave a state dinner to the prince, followed by a large reception and ball. Save for the absence of military honors, Prince Louis' entry to the capital was invested with as much ceremony as that with which Prince Henry of Prussia was greeted.

Pensions to "Perfect Record"

Washington, Nov. 4.—According to Commissioner of Pensions Warner the application of a millionaire for a pension has been favorably passed upon. He did not want the pension on account of the money it carried with it, but simply to perfect his record of honorable service in the Civil war. This view of the age disability order is being taken by many well-to-do veterans who would not otherwise apply for pensions.

Consular Career Cut Short

Washington, Nov. 4.—A cablegram from Secretary Root, sent by direction of the president, has cut short the official life of W. P. Smythe as American consul at Burslem, Eng. Smythe had been negligent in the discharge of his duty, had failed to obey the department regulations as to the filing of his accounts, and had unduly delayed the deposit of public moneys. He was appointed from Missouri last June.

Getting Printers From England

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 4.—The Canadian Typothetae has begun to import printers from England to break the printers' strike, the employers being unable to get printers in Canada to take the place of the strikers. Fifty-five men have left London for Canada. A member of the typothetae states that every week printers will be sent out from England until the required number is secured.

Fire In Chicago Theatre

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Fire in the engine room of the Alhambra theatre last night, starting 30 minutes after the audience had been dismissed, created a panic among the guests of the Alhambra hotel, which occupies the second and third floors of the theatre building. Several persons ran to the street in their night clothes, but nobody was injured. The damage was $10,000.

High Prices For Cranberries

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Owing to the alleged failure of the Cape Cod cranberry crop, the price of the berries here ranges from $10 to $11 a barrel, compared with $6 to $7.50 the corresponding day a year ago. A further rise to possibly $15 a barrel within a short time is predicted by dealers here.

Revenge For Brother's Death

Franklin, Ga., Nov. 4.—Max Wilson, a farmer, was shot and killed by a negro, Richard Hardy, while in his field picking cotton. Revenge is the alleged motive for the crime, Wilson having killed Hardy's brother in self-defense several months ago. A posse and bloodhounds are after the negro.

Death Rather Than Blindness

New York, Nov. 4.—William Welsh, upon becoming suddenly blind, ran to the Hudson river and drowned himself. Welsh was an Englishman who had spent several months in this country, living in the cheapest New York hotels in order to save money for the treatment of his eyes.

Mule the Only Sufferer

St. Louis, Nov. 4.—Running 25 miles an hour, a Missouri Pacific passenger train demolished a wagon containing 3000 pounds of dynamite at the Spring avenue crossing, killing a mule attached to the vehicle. The dynamite did not explode.

Killed In Football Game

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Vernon Wise, 17 years old, was killed in a football game between two high school teams. Wise tackled another player and his head was beneath the other boy when they came to the ground.

A Treasure From the South Seas

By HOWARD FIELDING

Copyright, 1905, by Charles W. Hooke

"MR. TERRY would like to see you, sir," said the office boy, and then, perceiving that the name conveyed no meaning to his chief, he added: "'Tinker' Terry. That's what he says. 'Tell Mr Austin it's the 'Tinker.'"

Austin blinked at the boy with the manner of one who is waking from a dream, and, in fact, he had been recalled from thoughts scarce nearer to reality than dreamland is.

"Tinker Terry is dead," said he slowly. "He was drowned two years ago last April in the middle of the Pacific ocean."

"He looks it, sir," responded the boy, with a timid grin.

"Send him in," said Austin.

Presently there appeared at the door of the private office a man who had indeed been drowned. Fathoms deep had he gone down amid the whirlpools of this world, and the engulfing billows had sung in his ears.

He was short of stature and of a starved leanness; his worn, shiny black clothes hung in folds and drooped as if they were wet; a weather beaten hat was in his hand, and the hair of his head was sleek on top, like a swimmer's, falling over his ears in streaks of black and gray, though the man was under thirty.

He closed the door hastily behind him and, without waiting for a welcome, drew a chair up to Austin's desk and began to pour forth a wild "Odyssey" of the south seas. He had a fiery gift of narrative style, and Austin's natural dread of what are called "hard luck stories" vanished in the inside of one minute. His interest took hold upon the tale; he followed it with eagerness, even with envy, for there lurked in him a great unsatisfied appetite for adventure.

"But what was the object of all this?" he demanded when Terry paused. "What the deuce were you after out there? Why were you so anxious to reach this island of—what do you call it?"

"Halenui," said Terry. "That's its name. And now I'll show you what I was after."

He drew from his pocket a little metal box which had once contained wax matches, but was now full of irregular fragments of a yellowish white substance like the dried root of some plant.

"This is my treasure," said he. "I faced fifty deaths to get it, and, by jingo, I succeeded. There's a ton of it stored in San Francisco in my name."

"A ton of it!" gasped Austin.

"Oh, I can get as much more as we need," said Terry. "I've made all the arrangements."

"But what's it for? What can you do with it?"

Terry nervously selected a bit of the root and put it into his mouth, and throughout the subsequent conversation he chewed it as if it were his soul's sustenance. But he did not delay to answer Austin's question. Between them on the leaf of the desk he laid a book which had once been a handsome product of the printer's art, but was now battered and torn and shrunken with many wettings. Austin recognized it for a volume of south sea sketches by an author so illustrious that his name must be suppressed in this affair. Terry opened the book at a place where a leaf was folded and pointed to a passage that ran as follows:

"It is not in the nature of this world's governance that an isle should be so blessed as Halenui above all its fellows and not have an appropriate curse to balance the account. This little land of plenty in the barren sea is no safe residence for strangers. It is the ancestral home and present headquarters of the plague of rheumatism, and, though you shall have found yourself immune in every other corner of the earth, here the invisible rack of torture waits for you, and within one week you shall be stretched upon it howling. The natives indeed protect themselves by the use of a simple root which grows in vast abundance somewhere in the interior. Its secret is preserved from visitors and from resident whites as well. These must buy from the chief, whose charge is moderate, considering the possibilities of extortion which lie in such a monopoly. As for the virtues of the remedy I can testify from personal experience. An hour suffices for the cure, and a handful of the root will guarantee immunity from pain for many weeks. The natives call it kanitu, a coined word replacing an older name now out of use."

Terry had been following Austin's eyes from line to line of the paragraph, and at the precise moment when the end was reached he cried:

"What do you think of that? Did you ever hear of such an indorsement? How has this jewel lain so long buried? Man, do you realize the worth of it?"

Austin closed the book and for some seconds contemplated the author's name, half effaced, upon the cover.

"I love this man like a brother," said he, "yet he was no physician."

"Physician be hanged!" exclaimed Terry impatiently. "I'd rather have the patient's word than the doctor's any day. He says he was cured. That's what the public wants to know."

"Do you mean to say that you're going to try to put this stuff on the market?"

"Am I?" rejoined Terry in a sort of subdued shriek as he sprang to his feet. "Man, do you fancy that I like to be poor? Is this my taste in the matter of attire? Ha, ha! And, besides," he added, with a change of tone pathetic and absurd—"besides, I am in love."

Austin drew a deep breath and seemed about to say something serious. Then he checked the utterance and began to laugh silently and with increasing enjoyment. Terry sat down, but was too nervous to sit still.

"What's the joke?" he demanded when he could restrain himself no longer.

"I'm in love, too," responded Austin. "And her father has the rheumatism. Marvelous coincidence!"

Terry's eyes blazed.

"You give him some of this," said he. "If the man has any gratitude"—

"It's not a question of gratitude," interrupted Austin. "It's a matter of propriety. My pecuniary situation does not warrant me in falling in love with a young lady who has been favored with all the advantages of wealth. I am generally supposed to be a sharer in this fairly prosperous business, but the fact is that I am only the salaried manager on a yearly contract. I haven't $10,000 of my own in the world; so there's the end of it."

"You put your $10,000 into kanitu," said Terry, with dire earnestness, "and you'll have a fortune within two years."

He supported this assertion with the most moving arguments, but Austin was obdurate. He would not risk his $10,000 on kanitu, nor would he consent to experiment with that remedy in the case of the gentleman whom he dreamed of calling father-in-law. This latter refusal Terry seemed to take harder than the other, and he said it was downright heartless of Austin to deprive a sufferer of his only earthly hope.

"Just tell me who he is and give me his address," pleaded Terry, "and I'll make a new man of him."

"Not for gold and precious stones," said Austin. And at this Terry abruptly took his leave after heroically declining a loan of money.

In the evening of the second day thereafter Austin called at the home of the queen of his heart and upon being shown into the drawing room found himself alone with her father, Mr. Douglass Harland, who was pacing the floor and chewing as if for a wager.

"How are you, Austin?" he cried, with amazing cordiality. "Glad to see you. How's your friend, Mr. Terry?"

Austin paused, speechless, and his gaze was so intent upon Harland's jaw that it sufficed for a question.

"Yes; that's it," said Harland—"kanitu. By George, sir, this stuff is heaven's best gift to man!"

"You don't really believe that it's done you any good?"

"Believe!" cried Harland, and he tossed his arms high. "If I'd done that yesterday morning," he added, "the pain would have killed me. My dear fellow, I'm going to chew this stuff all the time. I'm going to learn to chew it in my sleep. You did me a good turn when you sent Terry to my office. He's"—

"When I did what?"

"He's a bright fellow in his way," continued Harland, not noting the interruption. "He's got a good thing, and he knows how to push it. Of course I understand your position. Terry said that you couldn't go in deeper than $10,000 and that you didn't think it was enough. Your view of the matter, as Terry disclosed it to me, showed sound business sense. It gave me a very favorable impression of your judgment. As you told him, the game ought to be pushed hard at the start."

"I never authorized Terry"—

"Certainly not," said Harland hastily. "You never authorized him to tell me all this, but you know the man. He's honest and simple hearted as a child. He just babbled the whole story right out. He said that you saw the merit of the thing as clear as possible and that it was wholly a question of capital with you."

"But I didn't say"—

"Wait," said Harland, with an appropriate gesture which seemed to give him positive delight because it didn't hurt him. "Just grant me the floor, for I've got only one minute. Mrs. Harland and I are going out, and the carriage is at the door. This is what I want to say: Of course this kanitu business isn't big enough for me to give it my personal attention, but if you want to drop in your little ten thousand and run the thing I'll put up the balance of the capital, whatever we may figure out that it ought to be. We'll talk that over tomorrow. Goodby for the present."

And he shook hands vigorously and skipped away as lightly as a boy. Austin remained in a dazed condition, from which he was unable to emerge even in the presence of Celia Harland.

In his apartments, however, and under the calming influence of good tobacco he was able to analyze the situation, and he behld it in three branches:

First.—Terry is the son of the father of lies, but he meant to do me a kindness. Shall I betray him and wreck his hopes?

Second.—Mr. Harland has been stricken with the fortunate delusion that I am a good business man—the only kind of man he likes or understands. If I tell him the facts and reject this scheme he will think I am a donkey. Can I risk that?

Third.—Mr. Harland has looked into this game, and he believes that it will win. His opinion is worth two of mine. To go into this with him and prove my ability under his eyes and drive this enterprise to success is the short road to heaven on earth for me. Shall I ever have such another chance?

No one will be in doubt about the decision which Austin made from the facts of the case as stated under those three headings. Within a week the partnership was formed, the money banked, the game begun. Within a month there were indications of success. Terry's advertising matter had begun to appear and to excite phenomenal interest. Within a year a flourishing business had been built up. And one evening in his bachelor quarters Austin announced his engagement and accepted the cordial congratulations of his friend Terry, now changed almost beyond recognition and clothed to the edge of fashion.

"I tell you, my son," said Terry, "there's no limit to a brave man's hopes in this big world. 'Nil desperandum'—there's the only motto. And if any man has a right to bear it I have. You've never realized, you've never understood, what I went through. Two years—two years, by jingo—I struggled to reach that rascally island and never saw it. No, sir; I was never within 500 miles of it."

"Never?"

"Certainly not. At the end of all that cruising I landed in San Francisco with only a sailor's wages in my pocket and my hopes no nearer than they had been at the start. What did I do? Despair? Not much! I could not get this confounded kanitu. Very well. I said to myself that I would not be beaten. I made the stuff."

"Made it!"

"Yes, sir. Listen to me. Ten years ago there'd been a great rheumatism cure on the market, but it failed because the proprietors didn't know how to advertise. Now, I knew how to advertise, but I hadn't any cure. Very good. I raised a hundred dollars—begged it—and bought the formula of Hawkins' Old Home Remedy, the best thing that ever was. I experimented with a kind of snakeroot and discovered that a little stick of it the size of a cigarette would soak up near a tablespoonful of the Old Home Remedy and that the stuff worked better taken that way than out of the spoon. By jingo, it knocked rheumatism silly!"

Austin strode across the room and caught Terry by the shoulder with a grip that nearly broke his bones.

"Do you mean to tell me that I have bunkoed both the public and Douglass Harland?"

"Bunkoed!" cried Terry. "Why, man, you're a public benefactor. From first to last, have we heard of a single case where our remedy has failed? No, sir, we haven't."

"But, Mr. Harland? How can I tell him? I have cheated him. I have stolen his daughter. I"—

"My dear fellow, Mr. Harland knows all about it—has known from the start. I had to tell him or he wouldn't come in. 'If you've got to depend upon a cannibal chief for these goods,' said he in our first interview, 'you'll get stuck. Your supply is beyond your control. It's a fatal weakness.' Then I told him the truth. 'That's all right,' said he, 'but don't mention it to Austin. He's got one of those New England consciences. They don't prevent men from going into games like this, but they make them uncomfortable. He'll do better work if he doesn't know.' So I've kept mum."

He drew himself up to his full height of five feet four inches and tapped himself proudly upon the bosom of his immaculate dress shirt. Austin sank into a chair, covered his face with his hands and laughed.

American Surety Company of New York

is the largest Company in the world whose sole business it is to furnish Suretyship Bonds.

It does not engage in bank or trust business, but limits all its operations to the broad field of Suretyship.

This limitation, with its large capital of $2,500,000, makes its signature on a bond far stronger than any personal security that can be offered.

The fact that the American Bankers' Association have selected this Company as the sole guarantor of the money orders now being issued on their form, shows its standing with the leading financiers of the country.

When required to give security, whether fidelity bond, court, contract or probate bond, or any kind of security whatever, apply to

As Goes Quincy So Goes the State

Has Been True At All the State Elections For Fifteen Years

Will Quincy go Republican or Democratic on Tuesday next!

There does not appear to be much doubt about it this year. Although the city went Democratic last November by over 500 plurality, it is expected to swing back to 500 for the Republican candidate for Governor.

If Quincy goes Republican, so will Massachusetts, for it has been true, for fifteen years, that "As goes Quincy so goes the State and Nation." When William E. Russell was elected in 1890, 1891 and 1892, Quincy gave him majorities.

Likewise from 1893 to 1903 inclusive, Quincy gave Republican majorities and Messrs. Greenhalge, Wolcott, Crane and Bates were elected.

When last year it was decided to change the politics of the State's executive, Quincy gave Mr. Douglas a majority and he triumphed.

The vote for fifteen years has been as follows:

Year.	Republican Candidate.	Vote.	Democratic Candidate.	Vote.
1890	Brackett,	859	†Russell,	1095
1891	Allen,	1190	†Russell,	1373
1892	Haile,	1376	†Russell,	1546
1893	†Greenhalge,	1544	Russell,	1428
1894	†Greenhalge,	1779	Russell,	1161
1895	†Greenhalge,	1822	Williams,	1030
1896	†Wolcott,	2279	Williams,	791
1897	†Wolcott,	1444	Williams,	502
1898	†Wolcott,	1976	Bruce,	995
1899	†Crane,	1628	Paine,	948
1900	†Crane,	2249	Paine,	1153
1901	†Crane,	1943	Quincy,	961
1902	†Bates,	1926	Gaston,	1416
1903	†Bates,	1877	Gaston,	1387
1904	Bates,	1724	†Douglas,	2289

†Elected.

Candidate Hultman Young But Experienced

One of the most promising candidates for Representative at the State election next Tuesday is Eugene C. Hultman of Quincy Point. Mr. Hultman was the leading candidate at the Republican caucuses when the nominations were made. While not a novice in political affairs he represents the younger element which is fast coming to the front. Young blood is what the people are crying for today and to such he answers every requirement.

Although a young man he has had a large and varied experience and is eminently qualified for the position. He has always taken an active interest in local political affairs, having served in the City Council, and several years on the Republican ward and city committee, also as warden at elections. He has been an energetic worker in many ways for the success of his party.

Mr. Hultman, who was born in Boston, July 13, 1875, is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His preparatory schooling was obtained in Quincy, where he has resided since early youth, at the public schools, the Adams Academy, and Thayer Academy in Braintree. He graduated from Technology '96 and has filled a number of important engineering positions since that time. Among them were positions with the State Board of Health in the dredging of the Sudbury river, with the federal governments typographical survey in the Adirondacks, and as assistant chief engineer with Barbour-Stockwell Co. He is consulting engineer for the West End street railway and a number of other important enterprises. He is also president of the Vale Mills. When the Fitchburg Railroad was leased to the Boston & Maine he was given full charge of auditing its business.

As a man of education, of business experience and of party loyalty he is eminently qualified for the position. His activities are not confined to business and political affairs, for he finds time to be secretary of the Technology league to oppose the merger between Harvard and his alma mater, whose individuality he would see preserved, and is a member of the Technology club, the Boston Society of Civil Engineers, the Granite City club, the Norfolk club and other social organizations. He is also a 32d degree Mason, Knight Templar, and Shriner. He is also an athlete being president of the fencing club of the Boston Y. M. C. A.

George H. Wilson To Go on Ticket

The Democratic City Committee held a largely attended meeting last evening, at which time the committee placed George H. Wilson in nomination for Mayor. The other vacancies in the ticket will be filled between now and Monday.

Mr. Wilson has twice been a candidate of the Democrats for Mayor of the city. In 1902 the vote was:

C. M. Bryant	2053
G. H. Wilson	1821
W. T. Richards	283

In 1903 the vote was:

C. M. Bryant	2152
G. H. Wilson	1860
C. H. Sargent	135

Brigade Boys Defeated

The Wollaston Parks defeated the Wollaston Brigade in football yesterday by a score of 19-0. In spite of the excellent rushes made by Colgan the Brigades were unable to score, while the Parks broke the line continually and were seldom held for downs. The Fowler brothers played fine football and made great gains for the Parks.

The line up:

Ward Two Shows Biggest Gain Hospital Week Of 91 Per Cent.

Though there may be a few dollars more, the returns from Hospital Week are practically complete, and including the generous gift of the Granite Manufactures' Association, the total is $5002.85.

Every ward in the city shows a marked gain as compared with last year, Ward Two leading with over 91 per cent gain and Ward Five coming next with over 65 per cent.

The Hospital Week Committee wish to express their heartiest thanks for the splendid response our citizens have made. Though only gifts of $1 or more have been acknowledged in the paper, all gifts have been most welcome for as has been said—"The Hospital Week Committee recognize that a contribution of ten cents may really be a more generous gift than a contribution of $10." John F. Merrill of Butler road is having his house painted. The color has been changed to green with cream white trimmings and when completed will present a very attractive appearance.

That return money scheme inaugurated over a year ago by George W. Jones, does not lose interest, and buyers watch his advertisements to see when the refund is to be. It is a bright idea and a trade getter.

The Unity circle of King's daughters are to give an entertainment on Wednesday next in the chapel of Bethany church. Good talent, faithful work and frequent rehearsals bespeak a good entertainment.

Twenty seven delegates with their pastor Rev. Mr. Hunt, represented the Wollaston Unitarian church at the Norfolk conference, at Milton on Wednesday. F. E. Parlin of Quincy, was again elected President of the conference.

Mrs. John F. Hunt of Bigelow street, organist at All Souls church, Braintree, is to render the following selections at the half hour organ recital which she gives in the church tomorrow evening, after the evening service:

"Pilgrims' Chorus" from Tannhauser,	Wagner
"Largo"	Handel
"The Holy Night" (Noel)	Dudley Buck
"The Lost Chord"	Sullivan
"Gloria from 12th Mass"	Mozart

AMONG THE WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Hereafter the club department will appear in the Wednesday instead of the Saturday Ledger, as the rush of other news and the printing of several papers at the end of the week makes it impossible for the editor to do justice to the subject. Presidents or Secretaries of clubs, auxiliaries, alliances, guilds, leagues, patriotic or church societies, are invited to cooperate by sending matter pertaining to their organization, which will be of interest to their members or the public. If mailed to the club editor not later than Tuesday noon it will receive prompt attention.—Eds.

The Nov. 28th meeting of the Quincy Women's club is to be held in the evening at Bethany chapel under the auspices of the Civic Betterment committee. It will be a lecture by Mr. Kirkland, head of the Gypsy Moth commission, and will be illustrated by the stereopticon. Quincy people should be interested in the moth and secure guest tickets for the lecture from members of the club, five hundred being issued for the lecture.

Bacon-Richards Wedding

Union church was the scene of a gay, and brilliant wedding on Tuesday evening, October 31, when Miss Louise Wolcott Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus J. Richards of Weymouth, was wedded to Charles Fullerton Bacon of Providence, R. I.

As the guests assembled, and were ushered to their places musical selections were rendered by Mr. J. H Gutterson who presided at the organ.

The beautiful decorations of palms and potted plants with masses of white chrysanthemums quite concealed the pulpit and choir rail. Garlands of laurel adorned the pillars at either end of the church. Bunches of green laurel, and white chrysanthemums artistically designated the pews which were occupied by the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. The effect beneath the brilliant electric light was most pleasing and attractive.

Promptly at eight as the strains of the bridal march from Lohengrin were heard the ushers arranged the long white satin ribbons to form a lover's lane within which the bridal party marched to the altar. First came the eight ushers, then the maid of honor Miss Annie E. Richards, a sister of the bride gowned in white with inserts of cream lace. Then the bride leaning on her father's arm, arrayed in spotless, white with tulle veil, and orange blossoms, carrying a bunch of lilies of the valley.

They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and best man, Mr. Will Churchill of Boston. The Rev. Mr. Cochrane performed the ceremony. All stood during the solemnization of vows that united the two young lives. The service was impressive, and two rings were used as symbols of plighted vows. Mr. Richards gave his daughter away. The bride was saluted by her husband, and pastor ere the bridal party left the altar.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was given as the united pair marched from the auditorium followed by their attendants. A grand reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the residence of the bride's parents on Commercial street, Weymouth. Here decorations of chrysanthemum and green laurel were disposed about the hall and rooms. The stair-rail and newel post were garlanded with the same. Mr. and Mrs. Bacon received the congratulations of their relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Richards received the guests with Mr. andMrs. Bacon. A fine supper of salads, paties, cakes, ices and sherbet were served to all in the dining-room. Beautiful and costly gifts of silver, cut glass and dainty bric-a-brac testified to the loving wishes of hosts of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Bacon left for a wedding journey. They will then be at home at Edgewood, Providence, R. I.

Among those present at the wedding party given by Mr. A. J. Richards to his daughter Louise W. and Charles F. Bacon were Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Crane, Mrs. F. O. Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. A. Granville Bowditch, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Watson, Miss Anna Hayward, Miss Lucy Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Loud, Judge and Mrs. A. E. Avery, Miss Emma L. Stetson, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Field, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hobart, East Braintree; Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Keating, Braintree; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Drinkwater, East Weymouth.

The First church in Boston will commemorate the 275th anniversary of its founding by services on Sunday, November 5th. At the morning service Rev. Samuel A. Eliot will have charge and Rev. James Eells will give an historical address. In the evening at 7.30 there will be four commemorative addresses by Hon. John D. Long, Rev. James DeNormandie, Rev. John Cuckson and Prof. W. W. Fenn.

☞A. R. Stover's grand Revival of the great Temperance Drama will be given at Hancock Hall, next Monday evening, Nov. 6.

Blue Hill Suicide

Unknown Boy Of Eighteen Identified at Eugene C. Cox

The body of a boy found in the Blue Hills Reservation yesterday afternoon was positively identified this morning as that of Eugene C. Cox, aged 16 years, of 80 Cotting street, Medford.

The identification was made by a brother who came to Quincy.

The brother said that Eugene left his home on the morning of October 25 for Charlestown, where he was employed in a gentlemen's furnishing store. He did not report for work, bowever, and nothing had been heard from him since that time.

It is thought that the boy had been wandering about since that time and becoming despondent ended his own life.

The body was discovered by Inspector Enwright of the Gypsy Moth commission at the Blue Hills Reservation while going through the woods off Forest street within the Quincy lines.

The body lay under a clump of bushes on his stomach and the indications were that he had died in great agony. Near the body was a box that had contained rough on rats.

Aside from the marks on the clothing there was nothing to lead to the identity of the body, no money or papers being found in the pockets.

As soon as Inspector Enwight discovered the body he notified the Metropolitan police and a guard was placed over it until the arrival of Medical Examiner Jones.

Dr. Jones upon examintng the body found a small red spot under each eye where the blood had settled. Beyond this there were no wounds or marks of discolorations. Dr. Jones said the boy had probably been dead three or four days. It was moved to Hall's undertaking rooms.

The police made inquiries of the police of Boston and surrounding towns but without success.

Learning that Harry, son of Torsten Anderson of 200 School street, had been missing since Wednesday, when he decamped with $30 of his mother's money, Sergt. Barry notified them and a brother accompanied him to the morgue. As soon as he saw the body he said it was not his brother.

The Whole Ticket Endorsed.

The Scandinavian Republican club at a well attended meeting in Plumer's hall (200 members being present), endorsed candidates Hultman and Sandberg for the Legislature. The gentlemen were the invited guests of the evening. Speeches were made by them and a number of others, all favoring the full support of the entire Republican ticket, particularly the local Representatives to the General Court, Eugene C. Hultman and Edward J. Sandberg, also the candidate for County Commissioner J. F. Merrill. The meeting concluded refreshments, coffee, cake, etc. The next meeting of the club will be held in Plumer's hall Nov. 13, for consideration of candidates for the city caucuses.

Saville Street Crossing Case

The cases of Sina Gustafson, and J. F. Johnson administrator of estate of Julius Johnson, against the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., are on trial at the superior court at Dedham. The Gustafson girl sues to recover $50,000 for personal injuries sustained, and Johnson sues for $30,000.

Both were the victims of the accident at the Saville street railroad crossing Feb. 2, 1905. They stood on the outward track of the crossing waiting for an inward freight to pass, when they were struck by the 11.27 P. M. outward train.

Both were thrown some distance and received painful injuries. Johnson died the next day at the City Hospital. The Gustafson girl was obliged to submit to an amputation of her leg and her life was dispared of for some time. She however lived.

The plaintiffs claim that the accident was due to the negligence of the railroads servants or agents, in not giving signals required by law.

The jury came to Quincy Friday on a view.

Asa P. French and George W. Abele, Jr., appeared for the plaintiffs, and Choate, Hall & Stewart and Farnham for the defendants.

BRAINTREE.

In the First Congregational church Wednesday evening, Nov. 1, a strictly high class concert of vocal and instrumental music was given. The audience was large and quite enthusiastic.

Tomorrow night, Sunday Nov. 5, Mr. Howard will again be with us, to give his beautiful scenes of Niagara, St. Lawrence, and Sagunay river. In all one hundred and twenty-five colored views. Every one invited to the South Congregational church at 7 P. M.

Miss Lizzie Krohn of Tremont street celebrated her sixth birthday Wednesday by entertaining a number of her little friends and playmates from four to six o'clock. Dainty refreshments were served.

Thursday afternoon there will be the regular meeting of the King's Daughters, with Mrs. T. Herbert Annis of Central street. At that time the results of the fair, can be definitely announced.

The Women's Alliance will hold a regular meeting in the church parlor on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 8, at 2.30, Rev. Charles E. Park of Hingham will give the address, after which tea will be served.

A limited partnership has been formed under the firm name of Barry, Thayer & Co., cotton brokers and commission merchants, of which Frank H. Dearing of Braintree is one of the general partners.

Mr. O. E. Metcalf, plumber, has the contract to install a hot water heating ystem at the home of Julius Heurlin, proprietor of the Blue Hill nursery.

Miss Louise Burleigh and Miss Ethel Wales entertained their class of Thayer academy at the former's home Tuesday evening. Games in keeping with Hallowe'en festivities were enjoyed.

There will be course of Sunday evening meetings at the South Congregational church commencing Nov. 12, to which the citizens are especially invited.

Rev. A. E. Kirke with Mrs. Kirke and little daughter Phylis, left Monday for the West. Mr. Kirke is to conduct a series of evangelistic services in Texas while Mrs. Kirke and the baby are to be guests of Mrs. Kirke's parents in Baldwin, Kansas. They will probably return to Braintree the last of November.

Enjoyable Party.

A few friends of Miss Bertha Reed were invited by her to spend the evening at her home last night. All seemed to enjoy themselves playing games, telling fortunes and singing. The house was decorated with autumn leaves and jack-o-lanterns. After all were seated at the table for lunch, Miss Alice Findlay in a few chosen words presented in behalf of the friends present, a handsome gold ring. Miss Bertha was taken by surprise and could hardly find words to thank them.

Those present were: Miss Julia Thomas, Miss Mildred Thomas, Miss Alice Findlay, Miss Florence Pratt, Miss Bessie Pratt, Miss Carrie Boll, Miss Lizzie Dickie, Miss Bertha Reed, Miss Alma Reed and Messrs. Chester Brown, Charles Hart, Bert Smith, Walter Troup, Albert Coffin, Ralph Merritt and Walter Scoffino.

Brookline Board of Health.

Mr. Louis Keiffer appeared before the Board and made complaint of stable of M. J. O'Hearn on Davis avenue. This matter was referred to the Sanitary Agent for examination and report.

Report was received from the Sanitary Agent to the effect that the unsanitary conditions complained of by Mary O'Connor on Fay place have been corrected.

It was voted to revoke permit granted to David Crory May 22, 1899, to keep more than four horses in stable on Oak street.

Samuel Ruff was given leave to withdraw on his petition for permit to keep more than four horses in stable on premises 79 Washington street.

Report was received from Mr. Craig and Mr. Duffley in regard to the unsanitary conditions at this stable and the clerk was directed to transmit a copy of same to the Jordan estate and request that the recommendations contained therein be complied.—Brookline Chronicle.

Would Give Others a Chance.

Since the Republican nomination papers were opened Thursday there have been many inquiries among the citizens of Ward One why Councilman Adams did not file his papers. Councilman Adams did not file his papers for two reasons, he says. First, because his law practice demands much of his attention, and again because he has already served five full years and believes that if there are others who desire to go to the City Council they should be given the opportunity.

Prize Speaking.

The annual Prize Speaking Contest in the interests of No-License will be held in Faxon hall, Monday evening, December 4, 1905. Three prizes will be offered, the first being ten dollars in gold given by the Quincy Women's Christian Temperance Union. The Speakers on the occasion will be the first ten boys, from twelve to fifteen years of age, who apply in person to Miss Eva M. Brown, No. 18 Washington street, Quincy.

Senator Nevins and Labor.

At the last regular meeting of the Quincy Central Labor Union, held in Wilson's hall Thursday evening, Nov. 2d, resolutions were passed condemning the attitude of Senator Nevins on the several labor bills that came up at the last session, and ask that organized labor and their friends refrain from voting for him.

CARD OF THANKS.

We would return our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for the flowers and other kindnesses shown to us during the sickness and death of our son.

NEEDS TINKERING

The Rhode Island Not In Shape to Make Required Speed

Boston, Nov. 4.—The four hours' endurance run of the battleship Rhode Island, which successfully passed the official standardization tests off Rockland, Me., was abandoned after a brief run on the way from Monhegan island to Boston light. The battleship arrived off Boston light late last night.

The leaking condenser caused more trouble and after the ship had got well under way on her endurance run a quantity of salt water found its way into the boilers. The salt water, instead of being converted into steam, turned to foam.

The standardization tests showed that an average of 125.75 revolutions of the propellers a minute was necessary to give the required contract speed of 19 knots an hour. On the endurance run the maximum speed attained by the propellors was 124.1 revolutions a minute. When it was seen that the required speed could not be made the trip was abandoned. The next official endurance trial will be held in about 10 days, the exact date not yet having been determined.

Officers of the trial board say that when the Rhode Island's condensers are repaired and a few other minor repairs effected the battleship will undoubtedly exceed her contract speed requirements.

Responsible For Loss of Life

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 4.—Found guilty of manslaughter because his carelessness resulted in a collision between a work train and a freight train at Fitchburg, three men being killed, George E. Powers of Fitchburg was sentenced to 18 months in the house of correction. Powers was conductor of the work train, and the evidence showed that he was guilty of gross negligence. The men who lost their lives in the collision were the engineers of both trains and the brakeman of the freight train.

Danger In Overcrowded Cars

Burlington, Vt., Nov. 4.—Chairman Smith of the state board of railroad commissioners, at a meeting of the board held here to investigate the accident on the Military Post street railway, when 30 persons were injured, severely scored the street railroad company for overcrowding its cars. The presence of leaves on the track made the rails so slippery that the car could not be checked. It developed that one of the cars was so crowded that four passengers were obliged to ride on the tender.

Young Fishermen In Hard Luck

Boston, Nov. 4.—Driven to sea before a heavy gale, their frail sailboat nearly swamped by every wave, without food and suffering from exhaustion, three amateur fishermen, J. H. Green and Thomas G. Stoddard of Revere, and Frederick Newcomb of Malden, narrowly escaped with their lives, and after two days and two nights at the mercy of the storm were rescued by a power fisherman. All three were nearly overcome with exposure, exhaustion and lack of food.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Revolutionists Continue Their Excesses In Russia

THOUSAND PEOPLE SLAIN

Ten Thousand Reported Seriously Wounded In Twenty-Four Hours--Jewish Quarters of Many Cities Given Over to Plunder, Rapine and Murder

London, Nov. 4.—All Russian dispatches still are suffering considerable telegraphic delay. The text of the amnesty ukase has not yet been published. It is expected that it will be today, but possibly its publication may be postponed until Sunday. All dispatches received here go to confirm the continued seriousness of the situation throughout Russia, especially the anti-Jewish excesses.

The Daily Mail's Odessa correspondent reports that Kishineff has been absolutely destroyed by fire. He says that the three suburbs of Odessa, Persassyp, Zastava and Moldavanka, have been completely devastated.

The Kieff correspondent of the same paper says that the British consulate has been riddled with bullets. The situation there, he adds, however, is improving, but during the riots bands of rowdies stopped everybody in carriage or afoot and compelled all to prove they were not Jews before permitting them to go on. Women's dresses were torn open to discover if they were wearing crosses. The British consul was stopped by soldiers with levelled rifles, who, however, was released, but permitted the mob to wreck the house of a wealthy Jew. Nearly all the houses and shops display ikons and other Christian emblams.

The Daily Telegraph's Odessa correspondent also reports Kishineff in flames.

A dispatch to The Daily Mail from St. Petersburg reports the discovery of a plot to massacre the Jews in that city. It is semi-officially calculated, says the correspondent, that at least 1000 persons have been killed and 10,000 seriously wounded in the leading 50 provincial towns of Russia in the last 24 hours and the death roll is still mounting.

A Kieff dispatch, under date of Nov. 3, says: "The Jewish quarter has been given over to plunder, rapine and murder ever since the czar announced the granting of a constitution. The warehouses were looted and people robbed; incendiarism was indulged in, and many were killed. Acting Governor Karass again promised Jewish merchants that immediate and strong measures would be taken for their protection, but the pillage assumed colossal proportions and the police and military stood absolutely impassive, only firing upon persons who defended themselves against looters and on houses where Jews had fired on their assailants. While almost all the Jewish houses were laid in ruins, Christian establishments were untouched. Thousands of families have been ruined and the Theatre of Anatomy is filled with corpses."

Terrible Situation at Odessa

Odessa, Nov. 4.—The peaceful population of this city is practically under a state of siege. Even the markets and restaurants are closed and it is impossible to get bread or meat. The mob yesterday pillaged a number of Jewish shops and among others the biggest wholesale grocery. The rioters also burned three factories and killed a physician and two assistants who were dressing wounds.

Last evening the rioters pillaged the biggest drygoods store in the city. The loss in this case is estimated at $175,000. A hardware store was also looted, involving a loss of $100,000. In addition, 12 fur stores were sacked. The consulates and hotels are guarded by troops.

Three railway stations have been burned between Odessa and Shmerinka, and the postal service has been suspended. Collisions between armed forces continued until late at night. Friday's casualties are believed to have numbered about 500.

Army Will Overthrow Throne

Warsaw, Nov. 4.—At a Socialist mass meeting here, two infantry soldiers in full uniform delivered revolutionary speeches, assuring their hearers that the revolutionary propaganda was growing in the army and that the time was not far remote when the army would join in a revolution to overthrow a despotic throne. Encounters between the troops and mobs continue in some places. A number of persons have been wounded.

Jews Robbed and Beaten

Yuzhakova, Nov. 4.—A demonstration of social democrats who were singing revolutionary songs was attacked by a mob of "loyalists," who later sacked the Jewish shops and beat the Jews.

"Black Hundred" In Evidence

Smolensk, Nov. 4.—The "Black Hundred," a term applied to the lowest class without any special political views, are attacking the Jews here and the business people are appealing to the police to restore order.

Widow Baumann's Vow

Moscow, Nov. 4.—The funeral of the reformer Nicolas Baumann, which began Thursday and was attended by thousands of persons carrying red flags and wearing ribbons, was concluded yesterday. It was one of the greatest political demonstrations ever seen in Russia and it was a dramatic moment when the widow stepped to the graveside and addressed the great throng, vowing to take vengeance for her murdered husband.

Mob Opened Prison Doors

Poltava, Nov. 4.—The revolutionists, not satisfied with the action of the governor in releasing some of the political prisoners, stormed the prison yesterday. The police made an ineffectual attempt to beat them off, wounding 38 persons, but the mob effected an entrance and threw open the doors.

Jewish Quarter Obliterated

Rostoff-on-Don, Nov. 4.—This city presents a scene of desolation. Of the Jewish quarter only smoking ruins remain. In other sections stores are still burning. The Jews are seeking refuge where they can. The mob outrages continue. Shots are constantly heard.

MUST VACATE HIS CHAIR

Professor Mitchell May Have to Answer Heresy Charge

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—The board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church will inform the trustees of the Boston university school of theology that the plea of the trustees for the retention of Professor Hinckley G. Mitchell in the chair of Old Testament criticism in that school cannot be granted.

This decision on the part of the bishops was taken after they heard intercession for Mitchell by President Huntington, Dean Warren and Secretary Phillips of the board of trustees of the Boston school. The vote of the bishops was unanimous against the continuance of Mitchell in his chair.

Evidence of four students and Mitchell's book, "The World Before Abraham," formed the basis of his condemnation. It is said that a heresy trial in Mitchell's conference—that of northern New York—may result now, and it is further said that the logical sequence of the ousting of the Boston higher critic is that Professor Terry of Northwestern university at Evanston, Ills., who has written a book on "The Shortcomings of Jesus," is likely to hear from the board of bishops.

Became a Free Sovereign

New York, Nov. 4.—Plain John Merkowitsch, as he was known here for nearly 60 years, during which time he followed the trade of a furrier, is dead and will be buried here under his long-abandoned title of Prince John of Belgrade. When 15 years old John quarreled with his father and came to this country. He wrote home that nobility was no longer a matter of concern to him in a free country, where all men were sovereigns. Since then he held no communication with his noble relatives until his first cousin ascended the throne of Servia, when he sent his congratulations as a kinsman.

Libel Charge Not Sustained

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—Rudolph Blankenburg, nominee for city commissioner on the reform ticket in this city, who was given a hearing on the charge of criminal libel preferred by Felix Isman, a real estate broker, was discharged from custody by Magistrate Eisenbrown. The magistrate said that the statements complained of were made orally by Blankenburg and not written or printed by him; therefore, under the law on which the charges were brought, the defandant's statements did not constitute a libel.

Missionaries Were Over-Zealous

London, Nov. 4.—A dispatch to The Daily Express from Hong Kong says that the Lienchau massacre was due to the unhappy action of Mrs. Machle, who, on the refusal of some of the members of a native procession to desist from worshipping the idols they carried, seized the idols and declined to restore them to the owners. Thereupon the infuriated processionists surrounded and destroyed the mission and assaulted the inmates. They then murdered them and threw their bodies into the river.

Arctic Whalers Are Safe

Seattle, Nov. 4.—Owners of whaling vessels now in the Arctic ocean declare that, despite talk of a proposed relief expedition, neither their vessels nor their men are in the slightest danger. They say provisions can readily be taken to them.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The agitation in favor of association football has reached Princeton university and those interested in forming a team have decided to organize such a team immediately.

Arthur F. Bowers, formerly city editor of the New York Tribune, died from paralysis at his home in that city. He was a son of Rev. Dr. C. N. Bowers, a Baptist clergyman of Clinton, Mass.

"Charley" Johnson, a Brooklyn sporting man, who acted as financial backer for noted heavyweight fighters, died of acute Bright's disease at his home in Brooklyn.

Fire in the kiln-drying plant of the New England Fuel company, Worcester, Mass., did $8000 to $10,000 damage. The blaze started in the boiler room and was of doubtful origin.

Mrs. Catherine Gorton, 73 years old, a widow, was burned to death in her home at Warwick, R. I. She was burning brush in the yard and her clothing caught fire.

The round-house of the Rutland railroad at Burlington, Vt., was destroyed by fire, causing a loss to the railroad company of $7000.

Farmer Supposed to Have Been Implicated In Them

STAIN--CROMWELL CASE

Man Upon Whose Evidence They Were Convicted Again In the Public Eye, Claiming to Have Knowledge of Breaks

Skowhegan, Me., Nov. 4.—What the authorities consider as an important arrest was made late late yesterday in the town of Stark, where Daniel Taylor, a farmer, was taken into custody on a charge of robbing the postoffice at Shawmut last Saturday morning.

By the arrest of Taylor the officials hope to clear up a number of mysterious robberies which have occurred in this state. The arrest of Taylor also recalls the celebrated case of David L. Stain and Oliver Cromwell, who were convicted of the murder of John W. Barron, cashier of the Dexter savings bank, and for the robbery of that institution in 1878.

An important witness for the government in the Taylor case is Charles Stain, son of David L. Stain. It was upon evidence furnished by Charles Stain 10 years after the Dexter murder that his father and Cromwell, his brother-in-law, were convicted. Charles Stain claimed that he drove the team in which his father and Cromwell made their alleged trip to Dexter. Later it developed that the elder Stain and Cromwell had been convicted on questionable evidence and they were pardoned from the state prison.

Charles Stain has furnished certain information to the authorities concerning alleged breaks committed by Taylor and others. The officers, however, are not depending upon his stories, but have obtained evidence elsewhere, which, it is alleged, implicates Taylor and two other men. The arrest of the latter two is expected today.

Taylor was arrested by Deputy Marshall Haskell and Postoffice Inspector Robinson. The men who entered the Shawmut postoffice obtained $400, and through carelessness set fire to the building and destroyed property valued at $8500.

Taylor claims that he can prove an alibi, although he admits that he was absent from home three days last week. The state authorities are investigating the movements of Taylor and two others in the hope of learning who robbed the Phillips National bank on Oct. 21, a week previous to the Shawmut burglary, and by which over $700 was obtained.

Stain has informed the officers of an alleged plot to rob the Shawmut Manufacturing company. Stain said he was asked to assist in the proposed robbery, but feigned illness. He claimed that he was informed later that the plan to rob the Shawmut company had been changed, and that it was decided to make a break in another place. On the same night the Phillips bank was robbed.

Half a dozen officers are working on the case and further developments are expected.

Warships Going to Venezuela

Fort De France, Martinique, Nov. 4.—The French armored cruiser Desaix has arrived here and is now coaling. There are two other French cruisers here, the Troude and the Jurien de la Graviere.

A dispatch from Paris Oct. 16 said that the departure of the Desaix for Martinique inaugurated the proposition for dealing with the Venezuelan question with a strong hand if President Castro persisted in his course against France.

Fresh Trouble Over Fisheries

St. Johns, Nov. 4.—Thirty Newfoundland fishermen shipped aboard the American herring schooner Gossip at the mouth of Bay of Islands yesterday as members of her crew to assist in catching herring. They assert that they boarded her outside the three-mile limit, but the colonial authorities deny that and will prosecute them and may seize the vessel.

Retail Business Improved

New York, Nov. 4.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that cooler weather in most sections of the country has stimulated retail demand for seasonable merchandise, improving the tone of business where there had been more or less irregularity, but reports are still somewhat mixed as to collections.

Nothing For the Public

Washington, Nov. 4.—President Roosevelt and his cabinet conferred for more than two hours at the executive office and at the conclusion it was announced that no matters under consideration had been brought to a final head and therefore could not be given to the public.

Vote for Charles W. Bartlett for Governor

He stands fairly and squarely upon a platform favoring the placing of HIDES, IRON, COAL, LUMBER, and WOOD PULP on the free list. He is also in favor of RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA AND OTHER COUNTRIES.

READ WHAT GOVERNOR DOUGLAS SAYS ABOUT THE TARIFF, RECIPROCITY AND OTHER ISSUES OF THIS CAMPAIGN.

HON. WILLIAM L. DOUGLAS,
Governor of Massachusetts.

First and foremost, I want to say a word relative to labor legislation. The Republican speakers make the statement that all the labor legislation on the statute books was placed there through the influence of the Republican party. Every labor man in the commonwealth knows that the Democratic party has been the first to advance the labor measures, and that members of our party persistently voted for these measures long before they were adopted by the Republican Legislature. Almost every labor measure that was proposed last year was defeated by a Legislature overwhelmingly Republican. Why were they afraid to allow those labor measures to come to me? Simply because a Democratic Governor has rarely been known to veto labor measures. Why did the Legislature the previous year pass all the labor measures that were introduced and send them to Gov. Bates? It was simply because they expected those measures to be vetoed, which they were. They merely shifted the responsibility from themselves to Gov. Bates. Is not this fact enough to show that the Republican members of the Legislature this year believed that if they did permit the overtime bill and various other labor measures to reach the Governor, he would unquestionably have appended his signature to such measures?

Massachusetts and the Tariff.

For 10 or 12 years the interests of Massachusetts have been injuriously affected by our national tariff law; and our people now demand and will continue to demand, until the law is changed, such a reform in it as will enable us to procure the raw materials used in our manufacturing industries free of duty, that we may compete successfully with other countries in the markets of the world. We cannot compete in those markets merely by building the Panama canal or acquiring possessions in the Pacific ocean or the Caribbean sea, or establishing the "open door" in China. So long as our tariff laws deprive us of the right to buy freely the materials which enter into our manufactures we will be so handicapped that we can do but little business in foreign markets.

Twenty or 30 years ago when our manufacturing establishments were few and small, when our supply of raw material was abundant, near at hand and cheap, and when our home market was poorly supplied with finished products, our manufacturers flourished under and in spite of high tariffs. But recent developments have changed all this. Great manufacturing enterprises have been built up, which cannot be supplied by our local resources. Vast quantities of coal are needed to supply power to operate our machinery. Vast quantities of leather and lumber are needed to supply our shoe factories and our paper mills and furniture factories. New England can now supply but a small part of the raw material needed. For example, we have in Massachusetts alone 645 establishments for the making of shoes. But very little sole leather is made in Massachusetts—indeed, very little leather of any kind. And hence we must buy leather from the leather trust, at whatever price it may fix.

Again, in these 645 factories we must use enormous quantities of coal. But New England produces no coal; therefore we must buy it from the coal trust. We cannot buy either coal or leather abroad, because there is a high tariff on both. The result is that we are obliged to pay 15 per cent. more for our leather than we ought to pay, and nearly $1 a ton more for the coal we use. Such great and unnecessary burdens upon our industries are almost unbearable.

I notice the Republican speakers have made statements attempting to frighten our working people, and warning them of the panic of 1893, saying: "We do not believe you want to go through with another panic like that. We believe that you at that time got all of the reduction in tariff that you wanted." This all sounds very nice to the people who do not know or remember what caused the panic in 1893. The real fact is that the tariff bill, which was passed by Congress in the spring of 1894, did not take effect until nearly a year after the panic began. Therefore, it seems to me that it is folly to say that the panic of 1893 was caused by a reduction of the tariff. If the speakers who are attempting to frighten the people will refer to the history of this country they will find that the reduction of the tariff never produced a panic.

We gather from the speeches of our opponents that the great prosperity of this country is due solely to the protective tariff, when, in fact, there are many reasons why this country is prosperous. We have greater resources for the production of gold than any other country, and we have the most fertile agricultural lands. These natural advantages, coupled with the acknowledged ability of our working people, enable us to produce a great deal more than we can assume.

The protective tariff is not solely the reason of our prosperity. This country has been prosperous and will be prosperous in spite of the tariff, although if we could have free raw materials such as hides, coal, iron, lumber and wood pulp, it would place us in a position in Massachusetts where we could reach the markets of the world with our manufactures.

Some gentlemen in their attempt to justify and perpetuate present onerous conditions, are prone to make false comparisons. They assume that since Massachusetts has increased more rapidly than other states in manufacturing during a period of 100 years, or 40 years, or some other very long period covering the development of our great industries, that the same is true of the present and will continue to be the case without reference to changed conditions. Such reasoning is wholly unsound. We know that for 10 years, at least, our manufacturing industries have languished by reason of restrictions imposed upon them by federal legislation. In order to get at the real truth, let us compare conditions as they exist in this state with those existing in other states at this time.

Our Peculiar Position.

The three leading manufacturing states with reference to products of manufactures per capita of population, according to the census of 1900, were Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts. Each man, woman and child of Massachusetts produced a manufacturing product of $369, and an agricultural product of $15. Pennsylvania produced a manufactured product of $33. The total value of the agricultural products in Massachusetts in 1900 was but $42,298,274, while the total gross value of the manufactured product was $1,035,198,989.

Massachusetts, standing seventh in population and fourth in manufacture, sinks to the 31st place in agriculture, while the density of manufactured product per square mile reaches the sum of $125,000. The total gross value of the manufactured product per square mile in New York and Pennsylvania respectively was $45,000 and $40,000. We are not an agricultural state and cannot look to this industry for the compensating relief which agriculture gives to those states where the manufacturing interest is not so well established. In density of manufacturing product we have three times as much on every square mile as the great manufacturing states of Pennsylvania and New York. We may, therefore, justly claim that the revision of the tariff is of greater moment to every citizen of Massachusetts than it is to the citizens of any other state, excepting Rhode Island and Connecticut.

The Democratic platform asks for a definite relief, which will enhance the prosperity of every section of the state, while the Republican platform asks for "present action" in such a confused muddle of words as to leave it uncertain whether the tariff is to be reformed upward or downward, and whether the relief is to come now or at some indefinite future time.

The Republican party of Massachusetts has retreated under the shelter of an ambiguous phrase from the high ground which it occupied last year. Either the leaders of the party were insincere last year or they are insincere this year. What does "present action" mean? Does it mean free hides, free coal, free iron, free wood pulp, free lumber? Does it mean reciprocity with Canada? Does it mean anything that the people of Massachusetts, irrespective of party affiliations, are so generally demanding? Those leaders who talk so vaguely of "present action" are in reality opposing tariff reform. Their action consists in adopting ambiguous phrases to deceive the people; in "standing pat" on the Dingley schedules; and in ringing the alarm bells of the trusts. Such is their action at present; and that is probably all they meant when they put the phrase "present action" into their platform. Compare this paltering and straddling with the plain and direct demands of the Democratic platform!

What We Really Need.

Our platform asserts that a sensible relief may be had, without any disturbance to the business of the country, by placing upon the free list a number of the raw materials demanded by our industries, such as coal, iron, lumber, hides and wood pulp. This is a definite policy stated in definite terms.

Do our people want these raw materials placed upon the free list? Do they think that such action will redound to the interests of Massachusetts labor and to the lasting interests of Massachusetts people? If so, I think they should vote as they think, and thereby give the Democratic ticket such a majority as will challenge the attention of thinking men everywhere. If our people really want free raw materials, they should vote for the men and the party that stand unalterably and unequivocally upon a platform demanding them.

Free Coal.

In my inaugural address last year I recommended a memorial to Congress asking a repeal of the duty on coal. In the hearings before the legislative committee on federal relations I am pleased to say that this recommendation was approved by many of our leading citizens, irrespective of party lines.

It is safe to say that nine-tenths of the people of Massachusetts want free coal. Free coal affects the interests of nearly all of our people and of all our industries. Why not ask the national legislature for that which the prosperity of our state demands?

The answer to this is a general one. It is asserted that the tariff on coal is a national question, and that as patriotic citizens we should suffer cheerfully in order that the greater number of our coal friends in other states may have reasonable protection. But is this so? Will free coal injure the coal interests of Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Illinois? Our coal fields are in the interior of the country. By the operation of our tariff law the manufacturers of New England are placed at the mercy of the great railroad and mining interests of the United States. These great interests can and do dictate the price of coal, to the detriment of all our citizens. In an ordinary year Canada buys from us nearly three times as much coal as we buy from her. American manufacturers prefer American coal, and with free coal from Cape Breton there would be little danger of injury to the coal industry of our country. We should still use American coal, but the railroad combine would lose its power to dictate prices. It is a notorious fact that the leading bituminous coal producers of the South and West are formulating a demand for the removal of the duty on coal between the United States and Canada. The balance of trade in coal would still be with the United States at the ratio of three to one. Our output of coal would be increased rather than reduced. As Canada has for 30 years fixed her coal duty at about the same rate fixed by the United States, it is probable that free coal in our schedules would result in free coal in Canadian schedules. Because of the duty of 67 cents per ton we are at present paying nearly a dollar a ton more for our coal than we ought to pay. This dollar does not help the national government at all, but goes to swell the profits of the coal barons of the country. Free coal, then, would not reduce the revenues of the national government; it would aid every interest in Massachusetts and New England, and would be of far-reaching advantage to the people at large. Only the coal trust would suffer. Good business sense and the highest patriotism unite in the demand for free coal.

Free Hides.

Of course, the duty on hides should come off. It is a tax on industry that benefits a very few people and injures every one who wears boots and shoes, or who is engaged in the manufacture of leather or leather goods.

The United States Leather Company, a corporation doing more than half the sole leather tanning of the country, through its vice-president, Lewis H. Lapham, testified before the industrial commission in 1901 that the tariff on hides was a serious handicap to the business. He also testified "that the tariff on hides increased the price of domestic hides by the amount of the duty." This duty is 15 per cent. As it does not go to the government, it must go to swell the profits of the beef trust.

It is probably true, as Mr. Lapham said, that the duty of 15 per cent. on hides does increase the profits of the leather trust and greatly increase those of the beef trust. It should not be forgotten, however, that the leather trust is protected by a duty of 20 per cent. on leather, and that it in turn holds up the manufacturers or shoes, harness and other leather consuming industries, and charges them all the tariff will permit. If, as reported, the beef trust has now obtained a controlling interest in the leather trust, there will be no more quarrelling as to which trust gets the lion's share of the profits; they will both work together to get every cent possible out of both the duties on hides and leather. The tariff screws are to be applied more mercilessly than before. The proposed change in discounts on sole leather, which adds about 2 cents to the cost of every pair of shoes, indicates what is in store for us, although I am reliably informed that this discount change has been held up until after the election.

If the sole leather trust is enabled to successfully change its plan of discounts so that it will cost my company 2 cents per pair more for sole leather, it will be but a short time until the combinations controlling the the other materials that enter into the shoe will alter or amend or rearrange their prices so as to get an increase in price equal to that of the sole leather trust. When that day arrives, and it is not far distant, it will cost my company 6 cents per pair more to manufacture the grade of shoes we produce. Our worst enemies are the tariff and the tariff trusts.

The total value of the hides of cattle imported into the United States for the 12 months ending June 30, 1905, was $14,949,628, while the total of all hides and skins, other than furs, exported for the same period, was $1,051,641. We can produce only about three-fourths of the hides needed for the supply of our home manufacturers of leather, and must annually draw about 25 per centum of our supply from abroad. A tariff tax of $2,500,000 upon this fourth results in an intirely unnecessary and unwarranted increase of about 11 per cent. in the price of all sole leather used by American manufacturers. When we consider that Massachusetts produces but little sole leather, the magnitude of this burden upon our manufacturers and upon our people becomes apparent.

To put $2,250,000 into the treasury of the United States as the result of our duty upon hides, we put about $7,000,000 of unnecessary tariff profit in the hands of the beef and leather trusts. This puts an iniquitous tax upon the sole leather industry of about $10,000,000, and disables that industry in its fight for the markets of the world.

Boot and Shoe Industry Handicapped.

In the boot and shoe industry Massachusetts produces nearly one-half of the factory and custom product of the United States, and more than four times as much as any other state. In the manufacture of boots and shoes the annual product of Massachusetts is more than $150,000,000, while the entire annual product of the United States is $261,000,000. New York, the nearest competitor of Massachusetts, produces but $35,000,000. A tax of $2,250,000 upon the hides imported—involving a subsidy to the beef trust of about $7,000,000 on domestic hides, makes a heavy load for the principal industry of Massachusetts, and, coupled with the duty on leather, a still heavier load upon the consumers of boots and shoes.

Of the total annual value, $1,400,000,000 in manufactured products for the state of Massachusetts, the boot and shoe industry creates a product annually of more than $150,000,000, or about one-ninth of the entire manufactured products of the state. To handicap an industry of this magnitude by an entire unnecessary tax upon its chief raw material is a ruinous policy which the people of the commonwealth should condemn unceasingly until it is corrected. It is not patriotic to fasten a burden of this kind upon the boot and shoe manufacturers of Massachusetts for the exclusive benefit of the beef and leather trusts. But that is what it amounts to. The most careful calculations fail to show that the American producer of cattle received one penny more for his cattle by reason of this duty on hides. The trusts that squeeze the boot and shoe manufacturers apply the screws with the same pertinacity to the cattle raiser; and with insatiable greed drive both to the wall.

We ask for free hides on high patriotic grounds. Such action will not injure the cattle producers; it will help the manufacturer of boots and shoes, and it will help the people at large. If it decreases the profits of two or three obnoxious trusts it will help to give a "square deal" to all.

How It Affects the Consumer.

Every year the factories of our state turn out about 140,000,000 pairs of shoes at a factory cost of something less than $1.20 a pair. Careful estimates show that the average tariff tax on each pair of shoes is about 9 cents, or nearly 7 per cent. of the value of the shoes. Allowing an average of three pairs of shoes per annum, the saving to the 3,100,000 souls of Massachusetts each year would exceed $900,000.

The Democratic platform demands the immediate enactment by Congress of a dual tariff law, having the present tariff for its maximum with liberal reductions in duty rates to nations that will give the most favorable trade opportunities. This means a reciprocal trade with foreign nations, and if made a law, would save the boot and shoe manufacturers of Massachusetts a sum large enough to increase the present output, and to enable them to greatly increase their foreign sales. Not only this, such a policy would give steadier employment to the 60,000 employes now engaged in the manufacture of boots and shoes in Massachusetts. It would also result in either increasing the $35,000,000 now distributed to the workmen as wages, or in increasing the quantity or betting the quality of the goods which this $35,000,000 will buy.

CHARLES W. BARTLETT,
Candidate for Governor.

As a manufacturer I ask for a revised tariff. I would gladly give up the duty of 25 per cent. on shoes for free raw materials. I will go farther than this, and say that I would exchange the duty on shoes for free hides and free sole leather. If the handicap of taxed leather were taken away, I could manufacture shoes as cheaply as any foreign manufacturer and could safely meet the competition of the world. We have the most approved mechanical appliances; we have the advantage of the economical division of labor, and our workmen are equal to any in the world. We are hurt, however, by the high cost of the materials that enter into our product. This increased cost is not a natural cost. It is artificial and unjust. It benefits no worthy industry. It fosters gigantic combinations of capital, injures labor, and destroys foreign trade. Give our manufacturers free raw materials and they will carry Massachusetts goods into every market of the world.

Nor am I the only boot and shoe man who desires a change. In 1903, 311 out of 375 important boot and shoe manufacturers in New England offered to give up the duty on shoes for free hides. I do not believe that this sentiment has changed.

That there is a demand for changes in the tariff in other localities as well as in Massachusetts is notorious. The Chicago conference of last August showed that the Millers' National Federation and the Farmers' National Congress demanded relief. Great commercial bodies from all parts of the Union have added their strength to the call for a change. The Stock Raising Associations of the Middle West are also in line with the tariff reformers of the nation.

But great as are the evils of the present schedules to other sections of our country, still greater are they to Massachusetts. The demands of other sections are instinctive. They show the magnitude and wide extent of an admitted evil calling for relief. But tariff reform in Massachusetts is more; it is vital; it goes to the roots of our prosperity; and we are warranted in demanding immediate relief.

The Shoe Manufacturers' Association of the United States have requested me—and I have consented—to act as chairman of a committee, representing this great industry, to go to Washington some time during the month of November and present our appeal to President Roosevelt, urging him to bring before Congress our request for the removal of the 15 per cent. duty on hides. If the voters of this commonwealth on the 7th day of November will cast a plurality of their ballots for Charles W. Bartlett and his associates on the ticket, they will assist this committee greatly in its work and will give the President courage to make a strong appeal to Congress, and Congress, realizing that Massachusetts has spoken in no uncertain way on this great question, will be compelled to take some action that will assist in the preservation of this commonwealth's greatest industry.

This question of free raw materials and the revision of the tariff is not a question of politics or party. It is a principle of business, and should be looked at as a business proposition. If you vote to elect the whole Republican ticket, you simply notify Congress and the administration at Washington that the people of Massachusetts and our manufacturing industries are satisfied with present conditions, and are content to allow the trusts to fatten off our people, while our industries either languish or move away.

Reciprocity with Canada.

Speaking of reciprocity with Canada—if we could sell our shoes in the Dominion free of duty, from my experience with the trade I have had there—I could easily add another factory to the three large factories my company now has under operation, which would employ certainly one thousand men and women with a payroll of about $750,000 a year. If, even having reciprocity with Canada alone I could accomplish that, how much more could I accomplish if I and my fellow shoe manufacturers could have reciprocity with all nations of the world, which we are entitled to—and what is true of the shoe business would be equally true of all other manufactures in the commonwealth.

A Good Word for Bartlett.

A word about our candidate for Governor, Charles W. Bartlett. He is capable, honest, fearless, sincere, independent and conservative. If he is elected Governor he will be Governor of the whole people—he will not be controlled by any political machine, but his first thought on any and every question that is brought to his attention will be—is it right? Is it in the interests of the whole people?

Just now the eyes of the nation are centred upon President Roosevelt, who stands for a "square deal" in the interests of the people. He is earnest; he is fearless. He stands for something, and the people are with him. There is Folk of Missouri, La Follette of Wisconsin, Weaver of Philadelphia and Jerome of New York. Each and every one of them stand for something. Each and every one is doing his best to represent the interests of the people. They are not all Democrats, but they are representing democratic principles, and if you elect Charles W. Bartlett, you will add another to this list who will work in the interests of the people. What has been demonstrated in the past few years is that the people want men who administer the affairs of government to represent something, to do something, to stand for something; men who are not controlled by a machine. The people want men for public office who are not merely "good fellows." They are tired of machines and "good fellows." They want men who stand for vital principles, and if you elect Charles W. Bartlett, you will add another to the list of such men.

A vote for Charles W. Bartlett for Governor is a vote to preserve the industries of Massachusetts without taking away a single thing of value to other states

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

A three column illustrated story today.

Just eighteen more days for the Scholarship coupon.

The mails yesterday and today were full of political literature.

The Daily Ledger voting contest is about as interesting as the other elections.

The two days' fair of Quincy chapter of the Eastern Star will open in Greenleaf hall Nov. 16.

Baptism will conclude the evening service at the Calvary Baptist church on Franklin street on Sunday.

A number from Quincy will witness the football game between Harvard and the Indians at Cambridge this afternoon if played.

Among the sporting fraternity the the betting is even as to whether Mayor Thompson or Benjamin Johnson will win at the Municipal caucuses.

Dr. Raymond Burke and Charles A. Howland, Jr., returned Friday from a gunning trip in Canada. They report having had exceptionally good luck.

At a meeting of the Ward Three Independent club held in Cahill's hall Friday night it was voted to endorse Elcock and Sandberg for the legislature.

Two Fore River men are among the Republican nominees for the City Council, namely Madison M. Cannon of Ward One and Herman W. Gross of Ward Two.

A special meeting of the Bethany Church Brotherhood will be held Tuesday evening at 7.45. Important business will be considered and the president urges every member to try and be present.

The large tract of land on Spear street owned by Mrs. E. Granville Pratt, has been suggested as a good site for the Coddington school. The land with the vacant lots back of it runs through to Newcomb street.

Miss Emma King, teacher in the Quincy school, has accepted a position in Chelsea and will make her residence there during the school term. Miss King will be missed in Atlantic.

The scientific enthusiast who daily flies a kite on the Atlantic beach found the wind too strong for him Wednesday afternoon, for it whisked away his treasure before he was aware of it. For once he found out just how powerful the wind could be.

The trees at Mount Wollaston farm and Merrymount park are still very beautiful in their color effect, some of the oak trees being covered with bright leaves. It was an unusual sight Friday morning to see the banks of Blacks creek covered with white frost and ice, while just beyond was green meadow grass and trees bright with autumn tints.

Nina Bates

Becomes Leader In Ladies' List Engineer Johnson Moves up One

A big bundle of votes today for Miss Nina Bates jumps her from fourth place to the top of the ladies' list in the Scholarship contest. There was a good gain for Miss Hattie A. Tilton, of Atlantic, and increases for others.

Engineer Johnson made the largest gain in the men's list, and now is within tooting distance of Conductor Johnson and Clerk Cash. Fred S. Sheppard has made a large gain. Arthur J. O'Neil, a new candidate, is running better than he may for the Council. Friends of Galen V. Bowditch have also entered him as a rival to Mr. O'Neil, hoping to secure the second prize of an overcoat.

Watch for the bargain days next week.

It is again necessary to remind those sending coupons that it is necessary that the name of the candidates should appear on every coupon.

Second prizes were announced by advertisement Saturday and were valuable enough in themselves to awaken a new interest. A good suit or an overcoat for the second one in the Men's list, and a stylish suit or cloak for the second one in the Ladies' list. Other prizes are also to be announced. Old papers with coupons may be obtained at the Daily Ledger office and of the news agents.

Winners in the contest who do not care to select a $100 scholarship may select two studies where the cost is $50. A postal to Mr. U. C. Benoit, 26 Foster street, will bring information relative to the courses offered by the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., which are adapted to all needs, including foreign languages by the aid of the phonograph, civil, mechanical, electrical, steam or mining engineering, drafting, architecture, bookkeeping, stenography, civil service examinations, commercial law, illustrating, designing, building inspecting, chemistry, assaying, etc., etc.

Votes should reach the office at 9 A. M., to be counted that day, and it may soon be necessary to put this hour earlier, as the vote increases.

The standing to date is:

EMPIRE THEATRE.

Manager Morison announces a dramatic novelty at the Empire theatre next week in the first production in Boston of the English melodrama by Walter Howard "Two Little Sailor Boys." It was brought out in New York last season and proved well suited to American audiences. The action of the play passes on the Devonshire coast of England and it is arranged in four acts and nine scenes. The principal characters are two young sailor lads whose lives have been a series of misfortunes brought about largely by the evil doings of a woman whose past is unknown to her husband and the author has contrived a series of scenes and situations which maintain an intense interest in the development of the plot from the beginning of the play to the end. The two sailor lads will be played by Adelaide Manola and Mary Sanders while the evil genius of the play will be taken by Gertrude Berkeley.

PARK THEATRE.

"The Lion and the Mouse" which now holds the stage at the Park Theatre, Boston, has proved the greatest dramatic success that the New England stage has known in a long time. It deals with one of the money kings of the country, a type of the financiers who manipulate the destinies of the nation, and made him one of the central figures of the plot, stern in his attitude to all, even to his wife and children, and relentless towards his enemies. The other vital element is a young and beautiful daughter, of the judge who is being driven to the wall with impeachment and disgrace as the result of the righteous decision against the trusts. To save his honor and his life, the daughter enlists her services against this relentless financial giant, and the plot reveals the struggle of two keen brains for the mastery. The lion is "Ready Money" Ryder, as the banking world nicknames him, while the brilliant, presevering daughter is the mouse, carrying out the allusion from Aesop's well-known fable. Two acts are fairly dominated by the intensely absorbing scenes between these two characters and to present them properly requires the services of actors of the greatest dramatic effectiveness and artistic temperament. It would have been impossible to select more brilliant exponents for these trying roles than Grace Elliston and Edmund Breese.

CHARITIES.

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

Rev. John Snyder's play, "As Ye Sow," which Messrs. W. A. Brady and Joseph R. Grismer have produced so splendidly at the Majestic completes its first month in Boston this week and a remarkable month of crowded houses it has proven. The second month is announced to begin next Monday, and seats are now on sale and in great demand for performances several weeks ahead. The out of town patronage for this drama of Cape Cod life is so great that arrangements have been made for special trains to run from Boston to the principal centres after the evening performances so patrons may return home immediately after the performance. "As Ye Sow" tell a good human story in a hearty way, as though the clergyman who wrote it enjoyed writing it with his whole soul. The story is full of pathos, sentiment with plenty of comedy for after all that is what an audience likes to have combined with its theatrical entertainment.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

The managers at Keith's have certainly outdone themselves in the matter of their vaudeville program announced for the week of Nov. 6. The two greatest European acts in their line ever seen in this country will be included on the bill and the program will be a notable one in every particular. The Augoust Family, claimed to be the highest salaried European organization visiting this country, will give an amusing and skilful exhibition of juggling with which they scored a big hit at this theatre about four years ago, and the Seven Allisons, a family of marvelous acrobats, will execute the most amusing feats imaginable in their line. In the kinetograph will be shown the newest and most up-to-date motion pictures.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

William Gillette's play of the Civil war, "Secret Service," is one of the most stirring dramas dealing with that crucical period in American history. It comes to the Castle Spuare theatre next week, and its representation of the scenes of actual warfare, of the exciting moments in a spy's life, and of the softer emotions of love and human sympathy, will be as moving and convincing as they were when the play was first produced some eight years ago. "Secret Service" has always pleased Castle Square patrons, and its return for a brief engagement of only one week will therefore be more than welcome. The play will be carefully staged at the Castle Square, the audience being given glimpses of life in the South as it actually was during the Civil war period. The leading parts will be played by John Craig and Florence Kahn. It will be followed a week from Monday by "The Sword of the King."

Saint Magarets Guild.

The members of Saint Margarets Guild of Christ church have had two very enjoyable evenings this week. On Monday evening they entertained twenty of the choir boys with Hallowe'en games and refreshments and a good time was enjoyed by all. On Friday evening Miss Frances Lee of Milton spoke very informally before the Guild on the symbolism of the early thirteenth century as illustrated in the Notre Dame Cathedral. She showed many beautiful photographs and drawings of the cathedral and these combined with her very charming and entertaining manne made the talk one to be long remembered by all who were fortunate enough to hear it.

Junior Bowling League.

The boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will soon boast of several teams of juvenile bowlers that will be able to run up scores as high as any of the men's teams. Yesterday was held a tournament to decide the best bowlers, in order to select the captains of the different teams which will make up the Junior Bowling League of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. Fore Rivers Win Quincys Defeated

The Fore Rivers continue their victorious march in the Merrimac Valley football league, conquering over every team they meet. Saturday at Lawrence they shut out the Merrimacks to the tune of 5 to 0. The goals were made by Forsythe (2), McDonald, McGregor and Lewis. The referee was Mr. Connors of Andover, and the linesmen, Lyons for Fore River, and Parrows for Merrimack. Forty minute halves were played.

The Quincys played the Boston Rovers on the Keyes street grounds at Jamaica Plain and were defeated 1 to 0. Only fifteen minutes of the second half were played because of darkness. McGaffin of the Rovers scored the only goal. The referee was Mr. Morse of Lawrence, and the linesmen, McAndrews for Quincy, and Little for the Rovers.

At Lynn, the Lynn team defeated the Methuens 3 to 0.

League Standing.

The standing of the Merrimac Valley league is given below. Fore River of Quincy has now a big lead, and, with only six more games for each club, stands a good chance of winning the Grant cup and the championship.

Club.	Games played.	Games won.	Games lost.	Games drawn.	Goals for.	Goals against.	Points.
Fore River,	8	8	0	0	28	3	16
Andover,	8	5	1	2	29	7	12
Lynn,	8	5	2	1	14	11	11
Boston Rovers,	8	4	2	2	17	15	10
Merrimac,	8	2	6	0	9	24	4
Lawrence,	8	2	6	0	5	35	4
Quincy,	7	2	5	0	15	12	4
Methuen,	7	0	6	1	5	15	1

Two points for a win, one point for a draw.

Score—St. Marys Second 38 Battery H. Second 4. Goals from floor—McLaughlin 3, Buckley 2, Henry 6, Duggan 7, Burke, Harris. Goals on fouls—Leavey 2. Time—20-minute halves.

Hampton Meeting.

There is to be a "Hampton meeting" at Bethany church the evening of the fifteenth at which the quartette will sing a number of plantation melodies and two of the graduates, Indian and colored, will tell about what Hampton has done for them, and what they have accomplished. The talks will be very interesting and of course the singing will be different from what one usually has the chance to hear. Mr. Doxon, the Indian, spoke at a number of meetings last summer and there were large audiences at Bar Harbor and other places. Many of Hampton's northern friends wanted him to come up again and tell some of their friends more of his life. He has had some really unusual experiences and has a unique, frank way of telling about them. Dr. Frissell may also come.

The Committee's Ticket.

The Democratic City Committee have placed the following gentlemen in nomination for the caucuses:

Councilmen-at-large, — Patrick W. Driscoll, Ward Three; Robert J. Teasdale, Ward Four; Clinton Jones, Ward Five, and Robert J. Clifford, Ward Six.

For School Committee-at-large the name of Dr. John H. Ash has been placed in nomination.

Republican Majorities

Expected for Candidates From Top to Bottom of Ticket

The election of tomorrow has not called forth much enthusiasm in Quincy. The indications now are that the election so far as this city is concerned will be a quiet one. A large vote will be cast but probably not a record breaker as no great effort has been made to get out every voter.

The local interest in the election is centered in County Commissioner and Representatives to the General Court. It is almost certain that Hon. John F. Merrill will be elected to succeed Marshall P. Wright as County Commissioner, so that the real contest will be over the election of Representatives.

Four names will appear on the official ballot for this office two of whom are to be elected. The Republican candidates are Messrs. Hultman and Sandberg. The Democrats and Socialists have each nominated but one candidate. James H. Elcock is the Democratic candidate and Levi H. Turner the Socialist.

The general impression among the voters is that the Republicans will elect both of their candidates. Mr. Elcock and his friends, however, believe that he has more than a fighting chance to be one of the winners. It is claimed that the united strength of the Democratic party with what Republican votes he will receive will elect him. On the other hand the Republicans are urging voters to vote for both the caucus nominees and if they do there is no question but what both Hultman and Sandberg will be elected.

But little has been done by either of the parties to enthuse the voters over the head of the ticket, it evidently being taken for granted that Quincy will go Republican.

Candidate Turner has made an aggressive campaign and has made many speeches during the past few weeks, but so far as can be learned from observation he has made but few if any new converts.

When the voter enters the polling booth on Tuesday he will be handed the official ballot and will retire to one of the booths where he can study the ballot and mark it as he sees fit. If he votes the complete ticket he will be obliged to make his cross eleven times, the Representative space being the only one which requires two crosses.

Church 275 Years Old.

Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, D. D., presided at the 275th anniversary of the First church of Boston on Sunday and Prof. W. W. Fenn, Rev. James DeNormandie and Rev. Mr. Eells, a former pastor took part. The last named spoke historically. He said the church has had a noble list of ministers and many of its members have distinguished themselves in the higher walks of life. The mention of Nathaniel L. Frothingham, John Quincy Adams, Charles Francis Adams, representative at the brilliant court of St. James; Emerson, Prescott, Bancroft, Dudley, and a score of others testified, he said, to the adjustment of the new thought in their success on the part of the living.

Board of Health Seek Injunction

The Board of Health appeared before the superior court in Boston this morning to prosecute its petition for an injunction to restrain the Newell & Snowling Construction Co. from occupying a stable on the Atlantic shore.

It is claimed that the company, without permission of the Board of Health, built a large stable at the foot of Aphthrop street and are occupying it. As soonas the fact reached Board of Health it immediately made application for an injuction.

The hearing was for a temporary injunction. Counsel for the construction company was not ready to go on, and the matter was continued until Wednesday, when the argument will be on granting a permanent injunction.

Kinna---Crooker Wedding.

A quiet marriage was performed at the Congregationalist parsonage, Holbrook, by Rev. J. O. Paisley, Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, the contracting parties being Mabel Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Crooker and James T. Kinna of Quincy. The bride is quite prominent socially in Holbrook, and is a member of the Jolly Dozen Whist club. She was dressed in cream white lace over white silk and carried bride roses. The bride was attended by her sister Georgie, as bridesmaid, who wore pale blue silk with trimmings of valenciennes lace. Frank E. Kinna, a brother of the groom, acted as best man.

A wedding breakfast was served by the bride's mother to the members of both families. The happy couple went to Boston on a late train stopping at the Hotel Touraine from which place they proceeded on their honeymoon trip to New York state.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinna will reside in Manchester, N. H., where the groom is employed and will be at home to friends after Nov. 14.

Johnson--Johnson Wedding

Mr. Peter Johnson and Miss Teckla E. Johnson were married on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at their new home at No. 62 Cranch street by Rev. John A. Bernhard, pastor of the Lutheran church.

The bride was prettily gowned in white. There were two bridesmaids, Miss Ida Bjorklund and Miss Annie E. Johnson, the latter a sister of the bride. Charles Anderson and Juno Peterson acted as best men.

A reception followed the ceremony, which was attended by a large number of friends who wished them happiness and success.

Buggy Burned.

Joseph Goldstine, of 7 Clarke street, rushed into the police station Sunday evening and notified Sergt. Barry that boys had set fire to his buggy and it was burning up. When asked why he did not put the fire out he replied that if he had done so he could not get paid for it.

It seems that late Sunday afternoon he drove home, and while he was stabling his horse some boys poured oil over the buggy and set fire to it. Instead of trying to extinguish the flames he ran to the police station and notified them. The buggy was destroyed.

Individual Cups.

At the West Quincy Methodist Episcopal church yesterday the pastor announced that there had been presented to the church individual cups for the communion, linen set for the table, and mahogany collection plates; these were used for the first time at this service. There were baptized two, and three received on probation, one into full membership, and one by letter.

Several Reports For the Council

There is considerable business to come before tonight's meeting of the City Council.

The special committee on Municipal Gas will report an order for a public hearing on the petition of Levi H. Turner and others.

The Committee on Streets will report on the petition to obtain a reduction in the price charged for electric lights; on the petition to accept Beacon street; and on the petition of the N. E. T. & T. Co. for a location for poles on Sea street.

The Committee on Ordinances will report on the order appropriating $1000 additional for the support of schools.

The Finance Committee will report on the order appropriating $113,000 for enlarging the High school, and upon several other matters which were referred to them.

Public hearings will be held on the petitions of the N. E. T. & T. Co. and Q. E. L. & P. Co. for attachments and locations for poles and on the petition to extend Dimmock street from Goffe street to Glendale road.

In the calendar are the orders granting the N. E. T. & T. Co. attachments and the Q. E. L. & P. Co. a location for poles.

A Self-Made Business Man

Mr. Edward J. Sandberg, one of the Republican candidates for representative, is a self made business man. He is a native of Sweden and received a good education in the schools of that country. When he came to America he took up his residence in Quincy, and has made one of our most highly respected citizens. He has a genial disposition which with his natural affable manner has won for him a host of friends. He became actively interested in politics soon after residing in this city and it did not take long for him to become one of the leading party workers, and has always stood by the nominees of the Republican party for which he deserves a recognition. It is hoped that the party will not give him a throw down after winning the nomination, which has been the case two previous years when he was nominated by the highest vote.

It has been remarked for years that we needed more of our business men in the legislative branch of our government. Mr. Sandberg properly fills that requirement as he is a most successful business man. The work in nearly every legislative body is actually done in the rooms of the committees and here Mr. Sandberg will be exceptionally strong. Any man with his disposition can not help securing the good will of his fellow associates.

Mr. Sandberg as a representative will do honor to the city as well as to the Republicans who gave him the nomination. He has served as a member of the Ward and City committee for several years, also as special police officer, and is a member of the Lutheran church, president of the Board of Trade of Quincy, member of Mount Wollaston lodge, I. O. O. F.; Manet Encampment, Geo. L. Gill Rebekah lodge and Canton Shawmut, No. 1, of Boston.

When you vote tomorrow be sure and vote for Edward J. Sandberg for Representative.

Peter Hynes Club.

A meeting of the Peter Hynes political and social club of 1904, was held at Riverside club room Friday evening for the purpose of reorganizing and enrolling members. Fifty-seven were present. The business of the evening was the election of officers for the coming year, and a social time. The aim of the club is to be politically independent and for good government. John Moran was elected permanent chairman, and Thomas Flood secretary.

The first regular meeting will be held this evening at the club room, at which time the club will be pleased to meet all who have an interest in the work and desire to be enrolled as members.

The evening was pleasantly enjoyed. Mr. Hynes was kindly thanked and given three cheers, for his generosity in defraying the expense of the evening.

☞ Good tickets for the King's Daughters play, "The Chaperon," for Wednesday night may still be obtained at the store of Miss Hubbard or of members.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

All talk to the contrary, the Republicans are well united this year on their two candidates for the Legislature,—Eugene C. Hultman and Edward J. Sandberg. By voting for the two both will be elected by good majorities.

There are only two Congressional districts in Massachusetts without rural free delivery routes, the tenth and the eleventh. The reason there are none in this district is, because we are not rural. There are in the State 242 routes; in Maine, 406; in New Hampshire, 192; in Vermont, 271; in Connecticut, 233 and in Rhode Island, 27.

Leaving aside the political aspect of the case it may be said with truth that it is a very remarkable document that is printed elsewhere in this paper, in the shape of a testimonial from the employes of Eben S. Draper, the Republican candidate for lieutenant-governor. These men embrace all nationalities and are working under the beneficent influences that the Draper family has established at Hopedale. It is pleasant to note such cordial relations between employer and employed, and to see that there is an interest on the part of the latter to have honors come to the man who has done much for them. Such a thing is pleasant to record, and may be done in all fairness without regard to the campaign questions involved.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ A woman thinks she could manage other women's husbands better than they. Sometimes she thinks they are not worth the trouble, but she knows that she could do it.—Overland Monthly.

☞ If the detective force of the regular police agencies had gone to work as systematically to unveil the suit case mystery as did the newspaper men the discoveries might have been made somewhat earlier. The reporters do not wait for a reward, but with their trained powers of observation, deduction and discovery, go ahead with the incentive of a scoop" before them, and success gives them immense prestige, and places the paper high in the popular estimation. The newspapers of the large cities always stand ready to spend money freely for the detection of crime for its news value, and if the regular detective force had as free a hand and as competent assistants there might be fewer crime mysteries. Publicity is a great aid to the discovery of crime. The police of old did not belive this, but they are coming to it, forced by what has been done in celebrated cases. The end of the Geary case has not been reached, but for the beginning of the discoveries the press must have the credit.—Lynn Item.

HEAD RECOVERED

Identification of Suit Case Victim Now Complete

MARY DEAN IS MISSING

Said to Have Had Charge of House In Which Miss Geary Died--McLeod Gets $20,000 Bail and Is Released

Boston, Nov. 6.—With the recovery from the bottom of the harbor of a leather bag containing a head, believed to be that of Miss Susanna A. Geary, the suit case victim, and a message from New York that one of the men under arrest there had thrown the blame of the primary operation performed on the girl onto a woman and one of the men now in custody, the local police feel that they have well in hand the major details of what for weeks has been a very baffling case.

The police intimate that they have evidence to show that other similar cases have taken place in this city and that bodies of several of the victims have been disposed of secretly.

When asked concerning the alleged confessions of Louis W. Crawford and William Howard, the New York prisoners, Chief Watts of the Boston bureau of criminal investigation said:

"All I will say is that the confession of these two men is the most startling and sensational story I have ever heard. I do not like to think of it. It is a terrible story and the most remarkable tale I, in all my years of police service, ever heard of. I believe that both men have told the whole truth, for never before in my life have I ever heard the confession of a criminal so complete in detail and vivid in its description. If it is ever given in its entirety to the public, and I hardly think it will be unless it comes out at the trial, the effect upon the people will be stunning."

The head completes the entire body of the girl. The trunk of the body, which gave the first intimation of the crime, was found on Sept. 21 in a suit case floating near the Winthrop Yacht club, three miles below the city. Another suit case containing the limbs was discovered at the mouth of the Charles river, a quarter of a mile above the ferry, on Oct. 27. The leather bag in which the head had been placed, together with 30 pounds of loose shot, did not move apparently from the place where it sank.

The bag with its grewsome contents was taken to a Howard street undertaking establishment and will be viewed by Medical Examiner Harris. The head is in a good state of preservation and it is believed by the police that it will be readily recognized as that of Miss Geary, thereby confirming the identification.

The recovery of the head was through the efforts of a diver employed by a local newspaper. Ever since the alleged confessions of Crawford and Howard the police boats have been dragging the harbor in the vicinity of the East Boston ferries. Yesterday their search was continued, beginning at 9 o'clock and ending about 5, with the usual result. The newspaper boat, however, kept on after sunset, the work being conducted by moonlight, and about 6 o'clock its efforts were rewarded by the finding of a bag about 100 yards off the South ferry dock on the East Boston side.

The bag was of leather, somewhat larger than a satchel, being about two feet in length, a foot wide and 18 inches in height. When opened, the head of a woman was found wrapped in a piece of black cloth and also a piece of oil cloth such as a surgeon uses, and similar to that in which was wrapped the torso of the woman and the limbs.

The police are continuing the search for Mary S. Dean, who is said to have had charge of the Roxbury home in which Miss Geary died after being removed from the Tremont street resort. It is believed that Mrs. Dean left the city as soon as she learned of the arrest of Crawford and Howard. Crawford and Howard will probably remain in New York for several days until the necessary papers are approved by Governor Higgins.

Dr. Percy D. McLeod, under arrest in connection with the Geary case, spent only one night in the city prison. Bonds to the amount of $20,000 were furnished, and the young physician charged with abortion, the man whom Howard and Crawford assert performed a second operation upon Miss Geary and dismembered the body, was released.

This high bail was exacted by Judge Burke at the request of District Attorney Sughrue, who felt that the charge was so serious that every precaution should be taken to assure the attendance of the defendant in court.

Apparently placid and seemingly unconcerned, Dr. McLeod was arraigned before Judge Burke in the municipal court. He pleaded not guilty, and at the request of Captain Dugan a continuance was granted until Nov. 10.

Asked if there was anything he wished to say to the public in view of the prominence he had been given in the confessions of Howard and Crawford, Dr. McLeod said with a smile: "No, thank you, there is nothing that I care to say. My counsel has advised me not to discuss the case with anyone, and inasmuch as he is acting in my interest I think I should respect his judgment. I have no doubt that anything he thinks ought to be said he will say."

The forthcoming minstrel show by the young people of First church reminds us of one of the jokes at a former show. It was to the effect that an automobile was running wild and it was suggested to run it into something that was of no account so they steered for the Board of Health, who were not hurt as they were already dead. Jokes of this kind will not apply to the present board as they are very much alive.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

A Few Words From the Employes of Draper Company

ABOUT

EBEN S. DRAPER

AND THE TOWN OF HOPEDALE.

A Statement was Prepared by the Draper Company, without the knowledge of Mr. Draper, and presented to him one night about two weeks ago, on his arrival from Boston.

"HON. EBEN S. DRAPER IS--

"A man of large business ability."

"A man of sterling honesty and integrity."

"A man interested in the philanthropy and charity and all measures which tend to improvement and advancement."

"He is Agent of the Draper Company, of Hopedale, Mass., a company which is conspicuous among the employers of laboring men on account of the care and attention given to conditions which prevail at their works, among which are ample and commodious shops and workrooms for the employes, up-to-date appliances for the use and safety of the men, steady and regular work so far as business conditions will permit; fair and honest treatment to all, which conditions make Hopedale a desirable place in which to work."

Bay State Politicians Will Fight Right Up to Polls

RECIPROCITY THE ISSUE

Contest Waged Principally on Second Place on the Ticket--Governor Douglas Gives a Broadside For Democrats

Boston, Nov. 6.—Although in former years state campaigns in Massachusetts have virtually ended on Saturday night preceding election day, the program for this year is an exception to the general rule and the contest will be conducted with vigor up to midnight. While on the surface political affairs were temporarily laid aside Sunday, there was great activity among the state, city, ward and town leaders of the two great parties throughout the commonwealth. Both parties laid the final battle plans of the campaign, the bulk of their energies being directed towards getting out a heavy vote tomorrow.

Ultimate party triumph at the polls is predicted by both Republican and Democratic leaders. The Democrats claim that Charles W. Bartlett, the candidate for governor, will be elected by a small margin, while the Republican campaign managers forecast a substantial plurality for Lieutenant Governor Guild, the party's standard bearer.

The chief interest in the campaign centers in the contest for lieutenant governor. According to Democratic claims, Henry M. Whitney, the Democracy's candidate, will be elected by a wide margin of votes. The Democratic leaders base this claim on the alleged dissatisfaction in the Republican party with Eben S. Draper, the Republican candidate. The campaign has been waged principally over the second place on the ticket, and the chief issue has been reciprocity with Canada. Whitney's campaign has been fought in support of reciprocal trade relations with the dominion, while Draper's views represent those of the high tariff element of the Republicans.

It is generally conceded that the Republican candidates for secretary of state, treasurer, attorney general and auditor will be successful.

The campaign has been vigorously conducted by both parties since the party candidates were nominated in the respective conventions. As in last year's contest, newspaper and billboard advertising have played conspicuous parts. Oratory has not been neglected, however, and the rival candidates for first and second places on the ticket have addressed political gatherings almost every night since the campaign opened.

Monster Sunday Night Rallies

New York, Nov. 6.—Enthusiastic rallies by the Democrats and the Municipal Ownership league at the Hippodrome and at Madison Square Garden, respectively, marked the close of the political campaign last night. An audience of 12,000 filled the garden and more than twice that number surrounded the building clamoring for admission and defying the efforts of 400 policemen to preserve order. It was only after a troop of mounted men had slowly forced the crowd back that Madison avenue in front of the garden was cleared.

Similar scenes occurred outside the Hippodrome, where, after the building had been packed to its fullest capacity and the doors closed, a mob of more than 10,000 filled the adjacent street and fought desperately to enter the building. The police were again and again forced back, but finally by sending squads of mounted men to ride along the sidewalks while men on foot advanced along the roadways, the streets around the Hippodrome were cleared. Throughout the disorder, both at the Hippodrome and the garden, the police refrained from using their clubs. No one was seriously hurt, and no arrests were made.

W. R. Hearst, the Municipal Ownership candidate for mayor, was the principal speaker at the garden, and was received, when he appeared on the platform, with an outburst of cheering which continued for nearly 20 minutes. Hearst evoked another great demonstration when he assured the audience that his election was beyond question.

At the Hippodrome Comptroller Grout presided and the principal address was made by Congressman Cockran.

Illegal Registration In New York

New York, Nov. 6.—That a vast amount of illegal registration has been discovered by the agents of State Superintendent of Elections Morgan is stated at Morgan's office. In some instances the same individual appears to have registered more than a dozen times from different addresses. Morgan will obtain from the police magistrates upwards of 1000 warrants which will be served in the event of the persons named presenting themselves at the polls. In addition to these he will furnish the police with "orders of arrest" lists containing the names of 2000 persons against whom there is evidence of illegal registration. The inspectors of election will also be supplied with challenge lists containing from 5000 to 6000 names of persons whose right to vote is suspected.

Warning to Philadelphians

Philadelphia, Nov. 6.—The sheriff of the county of Philadelphia has issued a proclamation giving notice to all persons that they must abstain from interfering with the election officers in the performance of their duty tomorrow. It warns all policemen, deputy sheriffs and constables not to enter polling places except to cast their ballots or when called upon to keep order or enforce the law. It requires all citizens to render full aid and assistance to the deputy sheriffs appointed by the sheriffs whenever they may be required so to do.

Lumber Operator Killed

Campbellton, N. B., Nov. 6.—Kilgour Shives, an extensive lumber operator, left here to locate one of his camps, and took along a gun. While removing the gun from his shoulder in the camp the weapon struck a table and was discharged, the contents passing through Shives' body, causing his death. Shives was well known to the lumber trade of New York, Boston and other American cities. He was prominent in Liberal party politics and was an expert rifle shot.

Murder In Gotham's Tenderloin

New York, Nov. 6.—With her skull crushed by a blow with an iron bar, the dead, but still warm, body of Gussie Leicher, a frequenter of "Tenderloin" resorts, was found in the room in which she lived. The police believe that she was killed by a man with whom she lived in a quarrel caused by her refusal to account to him for all her earnings. The police have a good description of a well-dressed man seen fleeing from the scene of the murder.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

IRVINE A GREEK PRIEST

Unfrocked Episcopalian Ordained by Russian Archbishop

New York, Nov. 6.—With much ceremony, Rev. Ingram N. W. Irvine of Philadelphia, formerly the rector of St. John's Episcopal church, Huntington, Pa., and unfrocked by Bishop Talbot, was ordained as a priest of the Holy Orthodox Greek church in America by Archbishop Tikhon, head of the Russian church in this country.

The ceremony commenced with the celebration of the usual Sunday high mass and litany. Irvine made his appearance with the other clergy, clad in the white silken and gold embroidered cassock of a deacon of the church. Tikhon was the celebrant of the mass.

After reading the oath Irvine was led three times around the pulpit, kneeling in one corner with the other priests and kissing various ikons. After retiring within the chancel with the archbishop and the other priests, Irvine came forward a few moments later clad in the blue and white vestments of a Greek priest, accompanied by the rector of the cathedral. Archpriest Hotovitzky, first in the Slavonic tongue and later in English, stated that Irvine had been ordained a priest of the church and asked for the prayers of all to bless him in his new work. The newly ordained priest then made a short address in English, stating he had come to the Greek church taking as his special mission the unification of all churches, whether Protestant, Greek or Roman. To that end, he said, he should ever work and pray. Dr. Irvine, it is said, will be attached as a priest to the Cathedral of St. Nicholas and continue his work among the English-speaking members.

May Injure Union of Churches

Boston, Nov. 6.—The action of Archbishop Tikhon in ordaining to the priesthood Rev. Dr. Irvine is looked upon with disfavor by many of the clergy of the Episcopal church, especially that portion of the denomination which has been active in working for the ultimate union of the Anglican and eastern bodies.

Hunted Gas With Lighted Candle

Ishpeming, Mich., Nov. 6.—Three children were killed and 13 people were injured, one fatally, as the result of an explosion here which completely destroyed the Miners' National bank. Gas was detected coming from the building and two workmen went into the basement with lighted candles to investigate. A tremendous explosion followed. The two workmen were blown through a basement window and landed uninjured in an open box car standing on a nearby track. The building was completely wrecked. The three children killed were passing the building on their way home from church and were caught in the falling debris.

Interest Centers on New Ballot

Providence, Nov. 6.—The discussion of the question whether the new form of ballot, which is intended to simplify the manner of voting and largely eliminate split-ticket voting, will favor Governor Utter, the Republican nominee for re-election, or ex-Governor Garvin, the Democratic candidate, is the most prominent feature of the ante-election situation, there being practically no other developments of interest. Each party professes belief that its candidate will be advantageously affected.

Lionizing Prince Louis

Washington, Nov. 6.—Prince Louis of Battenburg was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Assistant Secretary Oliver of the war department and his wife and last night was entertained at a dinner given by Walter B. Townley, the counsellor of the British embassy, and Mrs. Townley. Both these affairs were informal and they were the only social features of consequence in the day's program.

Money For Fortifications

Washington, Nov. 6.—Sixteen million dollars will be necessary to complete the engineering work of the fortifications along the seacoasts of the United States, according to the report of Chief of Engineers Mackenzie. There has already been appropriated for this purpose $28,693,434. Permanent projects at 31 different points have been adopted and most of them are well under way.

Deroulede's Exile Ended

Paris, Nov. 6.—Paul Deroulede, the founder of the League of Patriots, has arrived in Paris after an exile of six years. He was met at the station by a large crowd, which gave him an enthusiastic welcome and escorted him through the city, singing the "Marseillaise." It is expected that Deroulede will be re-elected to the chamber of deputies.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Charles Alexander, a Montreal philanthropist, fell from his bed chamber window to the ground, 30 feet below, and died within two hours. He raised the window to get fresh air and lost his balance.

Fire that started in the furniture store of L. W. Jordan, Ellsworth, Me., virtually ruined three business buildings and badly damaged a fourth building adjoining, causing a total loss of about $25,000.

The body of Joseph Chouette, aged 30, a laborer, was found in a canal at Nashua, N. H. It is believed that the man fell from a railroad bridge.

The Myar Opera house at El Paso, Tex., was destroyed by fire. Besides the playhouse and a hotel a number of stores were in the building. The total loss is $100,000.

Commander Joshua Bishop, U. S. N., retired, died at his home at Washington of asthma, aged 66. He was a native of Missouri.

THE ODESSA RIOTS

Story of Awful Barbarity Incident to Jewish Massacre

THOUSANDS ARE KILLED

Even Children Not Spared by the Police and Soldiers, Who Are Said to Have Marched at Head of Mobs--Great Unrest in the Entire Russian Empire

Odessa, Nov. 6.—Whole rows of shops that were pillaged have been boarded up. The poorer Jewish quarters suffered worst. Russian shops are marked with crosses painted on the shutters and the private houses with ikons, so as to preserve them from the mobs. Peasants armed with knives and scythes tried to enter the city, inflamed by the possibility of looting, but they were driven back by the soldiers.

There have been more horrifying massacres and fiendish cruelties, but the districts where these took place are now cordoned by troops. The total killed will number from 3500 to 5750 and the wounded 12,000. In the suburb of Moldovanka alone a thousand victims remained in the streets from midnight until noon, when the authorities hastened to collect and bury the bodies in great pits in order to conceal their numbers. Two private doctors attended more than 300 children of both sexes who had been horribly gashed about the head and shoulders with sabres.

Heaping insult on injury, the civil governor yesterday, when the butchery had ended, asked the householders to subscribe $100,000 to pay the police increased wages

The latest accounts of the devastation in the Jewish quarter add horror to the situation. Besides numerous mills, all the bakeries, shops and nearly 600 homes have been destroyed. The Jews killed in every circumstance were treated with revolting barbarity. Skulls were battered with hammers, nails were driven into the bodies, eyes were gouged out and ears severed. Many bodies were disembowelled and in some cases petroleum was poured over the sick found hiding in cellars and they were burned.

It is alleged that the police and soldiers everywhere marched at the head of mobs, exciting them to destroy the Jews by crying "the Jews have killed our emperor" and similar expressions. While the mobs were engaged in the slaughter the soldiers busied themselves pillaging the cash and jewels, leaving the household goods to the mobs.

The police prevented anyone from arresting the looters and prevented also the Red Cross workers from aiding the wounded, actually firing upon those engaged in this work. A band of students removed much of the stolen property to the university, whither also they took 100 dead bodies of anti-Jewish demonstrators, whose relatives today besieged the university, claiming the corpses and demanding the release of those demonstrators who were confined in the university. They threatened otherwise to burn the university and kill the professors. Measures were thereupon taken to transfer these prisoners to the regular prison.

Agitation Is Widespread

St. Petersburg, Nov. 6.—Order was preserved here yesterday, though there was a notable demonstration by revolutionists at the funeral of those who had been killed in the disturbances of last week. The revolutionists of the capital declare that they will continue to organize and arm for the conflict with the government which they anticipate.

At Rostoff-on-Don 100 persons are said to have been killed yesterday in a collision with soldiers. At Kishineff murder and pillage continue and the same conditions are said to prevail at Lodz, Tiflis, Kremenchug and other provincial cities. At Warsaw yesterday 200,000 persons engaged in an anti-government demonstration. In spite of the imperial manifesto declaring freedom of the press, newspapers there which refused to submit to censorship have been suppressed.

Much dissatisfaction is expressed by Russian Liberals at the ambiguous phraseology of the proclamation granting amnesty to political prisoners, under which liberty is withheld from many of that class of offenders.

American consuls in several Russian cities have appealed to the American embassy at St. Petersburg for protection of the interests of citizens of the United States there.

Bombs and Rifles Used

Tiflis, Nov. 6.—Patriotic demonstrations yesterday were participated in by 20,000 persons. While a procession was passing along firing began. Bombs were thrown at the troops, who answered with rifle shots. The dead number 10 and there were many wounded. Later a crowd of school pupils with revolutionary flags collided with a loyal demonstration. The troops fired in the air with a view to dispersing the crowds and a general encounter ensued, in which four were killed and 17 wounded.

Murder Over Crap Game

Cleveland, Nov. 6.—In a quarrel between negroes over a game of craps in a saloon here last night, William Watkins shot and killed George M. Gregory. Watkins was arrested.

MANY BONES BROKEN

Two Nurses Said to Have Caused Death of an Aged Man

Waterbury, Vt., Nov. 6.—Peter F. Durant, an inmate of the state asylum for the insane, is dead, the result, it is alleged, of an assault upon him by two male nurses. An autopsy determined that his breast bone and four ribs had been broken.

Soon after the alleged assault occurred two nurses, M. J. Dennis and D. B. Coon, were arrested on a charge of assault. They were later held for the grand jury in bonds of $3000 each. Dennis obtained bail and left the state, but Coon is still in jail in default of sureties. No action has been taken yet regarding a change in the charge against the men.

Durant, who is 80 years old, was committed to the asylum from Middlebury on Oct. 28. He could understand and speak but little English. Last Tuesday at dinner the old man had an argument with Dennis and Coon, and it is alleged that both the nurses struck the patient. Dr. Bone, one of the hospital physicians, examined Durant and found that his injuries were serious. The two nurses were arrested within 20 minutes after the assault is alleged to have taken place. Justice Bale held them for the grand jury. Durant steadily grew worse and his death came yesterday.

Identification of Dead Robber

Sheldon, Vt., Nov. 6.—New York police have identified the burglar who was shot while robbing the postoffice here on Oct. 13 as Fred Adams of New York city. Adams is said to be well known in the theatrical business. The man was shot by a clerk of the office, who detected the burglar while at work and fired at him from a room above the postoffice.

Autoists Had Close Call

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Buffington left Fall River on a trip to New Bedford in a large gasolene touring car. When on the state highway in North Dartmouth the machine suddenly burst into flames, Mr. and Mrs. Buffington barely having time to jump. There was no explosion, but the car burned until it was destroyed.

Political Dispute Brought Death

Boston, Nov. 6.—William Campbell is under arrest on the charge of manslaughter in causing the death of Angus Baird. The death of Baird is alleged to have been due to a blow from Campbell during a quarrel which grew out of a political discussion in the rooms of the Village Social and Athletic club in South Boston.

Habit of Acquiring Deficits

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 6.—Rev. J. M. Van Horn, for five years pastor of the Church of Christ, resigned yesterday, to take effect in February, giving as a reason that the church has had a deficit every year for 23 years and has becomes so addicted to the habit that it seems to have no fear of a deficit, a condition he regrets.

Chaffeur's Skull Fractured

Boston, Nov. 6.—A large automobile exploded on Commonwealth avenue while it was going at full speed, causing the machine to turn completely over. Matthew Chilli, the chauffeur, is suffering from a fracture of the skull. The other occupant of the automobile, Joseph Denoly, escaped with a few bruises.

Robbers Got Little For Their Pains

Middlefield, Conn., Nov. 6.—Burglars broke into the office of the Smith Manufacturing company and blew open the safe. A little over $6, all the money the safe contained, was taken, and two revolvers were stolen. The explosion of nitro-glycerine was heard for a mile, yet the robbers escaped.

Discouraged by Ill Health

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 6.—Captain Laurence G. Bigelow, aged 38, former commander of battery B, and well known in business and fraternal circles in this city, committed suicide at his home by shooting. Ill-health, resulting in despondency, is believed to have been the cause of the act.

Scarlet Fever May Close Schools

Wakefield, Mass., Nov. 6.—An epidemic of scarlet fever is prevalent in this town. The local board of health is working hard to check the spread of the disease, and if the situation becomes more serious schools will be closed.

Italians Had Knives Ready

Boston, Nov. 6.—Three Italians were cut and slashed in a quarrel at the North End last night. One received a stab wound in the right breast that penetrated his lung, but from which it is expected that he will recover.

Mistook Daughter For Burglar

Uniontown, Pa., Nov. 6.—Believing that he was shooting at a burglar, Hayden R. Craft, a hardware merchant of this place, killed his daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Coddington, at their apartments. When he discovered what he had done Craft collapsed and is in a critical condition.

Man, Wife and Son Cremated

Dayton, O., Nov. 6.—Jacob Haugh, his wife and son Jesse were cremated in a fire which destroyed their cottage. Oliver Haugh, another son, was seriously burned. There is a considerable mystery concerning the origin of the fire, which the coroner is investigating.

Deliberately Died to Death

Rochester, Nov. 6.—Charles Demorest of this city, a bookkeeper, 35 years old, committed suicide at the Hotel Genessee at Avon by cutting the veins of his left wrist and bleeding to death. Despondency is supposed to have been the cause of the act.

Clerk Maloney Makes Good Gain

Henry Maloney nearly closed up today the space between himself and Engineer Johnson. Both Galen Bowditch and Arthur J. O'Neil have gained, and both have over 100 votes.

Only a few gains were made in the ladies' list and those were upon candidates with less than 100 votes.

There is a three-vote coupon today.

It is again necessary to remind those sending coupons that it is necessary that the name of the candidates should appear on every coupon.

Second prizes were announced by advertisement Saturday and were valuable enough in themselves to awaken a new interest. A good suit or an overcoat for the second one in the Men's list, and a stylish suit or cloak for the second one in the Ladies' list. Other prizes are also to be announced. Old papers with coupons may be obtained at the Daily Ledger office and of the news agents.

Winners in the contest who do not care to select a $100 scholarship may select two studies where the cost is $50. A postal to Mr. U. C. Benoit, 26 Foster street, will bring information relative to the courses offered by the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., which are adapted to all needs, including foreign languages by the aid of the phonograph, civil, mechanical, electrical, steam or mining engineering, drafting, architecture, bookkeeping, stenography, civil service examinations, commercial law, illustrating, designing, building inspecting, chemistry, assaying, etc., etc.

Votes should reach the office at 9 A. M., to be counted that day, and it may soon be necessary to put this hour earlier, as the vote increases.

The standing to date is:

High School

Enlargement Order Passed Unexpectedly By City Council

The unexpected happened at the meeting of the City Council Monday evening, and it looks as though the High school enlargement matter had been decided. Under a suspension of the rules with only one dissenting vote the appropriation order was passed. There was other important business which is reported at length.

Councilmen absent were: Barry, Gassett, Gearwar and Hynes.

JURORS DRAWN.

The Mayor assisted by City Clerk Keith and Councilman McLane drew the following jurors: Edwin Menhinick, Alfred T. Barstow, James C. Elcock, Philip T. Eagan and David Craman.

WOODWARD FUND.

The Mayor in a communication enclosed a letter from the Attorney General in relation to paying salaries from the Woodward fund as follows:

"In the matter of the application of certain citizens of Quincy that I officially proceed by information in equity to restrain the alleged misapplication by the city and certain of its officials of a portion of the Woodward Fund, so called, after hearing full arguments in behalf of the applicants and in behalf of the city, I have decided that there is ground for the prosecution of such information, and have so notified the applicants."

Laid on the table.

TWO VETOES.

The Mayor returned without his approval the order widening and accepting Cottage avenue.

In returning the order the Mayor says that he returns the order without his approval for the following reasons: "That there was not a proper and sufficient notice served on the abutting owners as is required by the revised laws of the Commonwealth. That no award of damages has been made to one of the abutters for land taken or damages sustained; and no mention has been made in the order of any benefit accruing to the said omitted property owner."

It appears that the property in question is that of Frank C. Packard on the corner of Cottage avenue and Chestnut street. The plan of the proposed widening and accepting showed this piece of property to belong to the heirs of Abner B. Packard. Since the passage of the order it was learned that this piece of property belonged to Frank C. Packard and was so recorded at Dedham.

As the name of Frank C. Packard did not appear on the plan of the proposed widening and accepting no notice was served upon him of the public hearing on the matter, and the order did not award him any damages.

The ownership of the property passed into the control of Frank C. Packard in 1888, but for some reason no record of transfer had ever been received by the Assessors and it has always been assessed to Abner B. Packard.

Veto sustained.

The Mayor also returned without his approval the loan order for $8,400 to cover appropriations under several orders. Among the orders which the loan order covered was that for widening and accepting Cottage avenue. As this order was returned without the Mayor's approval it necessitates the changing of the order relative to the borrowing part. The veto of the Mayor only covered that part of the order relating to the appropriation for Cottage avenue.

The veto of the Mayor was sustained the balance of the order being referred to the Finance Committee.

APPOINTMENT.

The Mayor sent a communication appointing Patrick Malone a constable. Confirmed.

PLANS APPROVED.

The Commissioner of Public Works forwarded the approval of the State Board of Police of the Gould plans for addition to the High school. Placed on file.

PUBLIC HEARINGS.

A public hearing was held at 8.10 o'clock on the petitions of the Q. E. L. & P. Co. for a location for poles on Bigelow street, Fort street and Hancock street. Hearing closed and order recommitted.

A public hearing was held at 8.20 o'clock on the petitions of the N. E. T. & T. Co. for permission to attach its fixtures and wires to poles on Prospect avenue, Main street, Copeland street and Botolph street, and for a location for poles on Prospect avenue. Hearing closed and order recommitted.

A public hearing was held at 8 o'clock on the petition to extend Dimmock street from Goffe street to Glendale road. Hearing closed and order recommitted.

PETITIONS.

Petitions were received from the N. E. T. & T. Co. for permission to attach its fixtures and wires to poles of the Q. E. L. & P. Co. on Marion street, Whitney road, Woodward avenue and Walker street. To Committtee on Streets.

Councilman Adams presented a petition for street lights on Linden place. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Gassett presented a petition of the Old Colony Street Railway for approval of its operating a trolley express on Randolph avenue. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Gassett presented a petition to widen and accept Cottage avenue as a public way. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Gassett presented a petition to widen Bates avenue. To Committee on Streets.

The N. E. T. & T. Co., petitioned for permission to attach its fixtures and wires to poles on Nightingale avenue, River, Charles and Silver streets. To Committee on Streets.

A petition was received asking for a public hearing on the establishing of a municipal gas plant. To special committee.

William Cashman petitioned for an extension of time in which to build track at grade on Furnace avenue. To Committee on Streets.

The Electric Light Co. petitioned for a location for poles on Upland road. To Committee on Streets.

Upon motion of Councilman Chase a recess of five minutes was taken.

REPORT OF COMMITTEES.

The special committee on Municipal Gas and Electric plant reported an order for a public hearing Nov. 13, at 7.35 o'clock. Adopted.

The Committee on Streets reported reference to the special Committee on Municipal Gas on the petition to obtain a reduction in the price charged for electric light. Adopted.

The Committee on Streets reported an order for $500 for accepting Beacon street as a public way. To Finance Committee.

The Committee on Streets reported an order granting the N. E. T. & T. Co. a location for nine poles on Sea street. To second reading.

The Committee on Streets reported an order for a public hearing Dec. 4, at 8 o'clock on the petition to widen and accept Cottage avenue. Adopted.

The Committee on Ordiances reported correctly engrossed on the order for $1,000 additional for support of schools. Passed to be ordained.

The Committee on State Aid reported an order authorizing the City Auditor to approve bills from the City of Lowell for board of Joseph O'Grady. Adopted.

GYPSY MOTHS.

The joint Committee on Public Grounds, and Finance reported favorable on the order for $2,500 for suppression of the gypsy moth.

Councilman Bass opposed so large an amount, and moved to amend by making the amount $1,000

The amendment was lost.

The rules were suspended, and the order passed to be ordained.

HIGH SCHOOL ORDER.

The joint Committee on Finance and Public Buildings reported a substitute order for $113,000 for additions to the High school. The order took its second reading.

Upon motion of Councilman Bass the date of the bonds was changed to Dec. 1.

Councilman Polk moved to suspend the rules. Voted.

Councilman Piper thought that he should state his position. In four years seventeen different plans for this object have been presented, three of which have been approved by the School Board. All were made by the same architect. He and the members from Ward Three had been criticized for obstructing the addition to the High school. Such was not a fact. He did not approve the first plans as he did not believe they were what was wanted. The School Committee now say they were not what was wanted and that we have a better plan now.

Of the last six sets of plans presented three were immediately rejected. Of the others, two received a large minority support. In one of these the only criticism was that it was a long building. It seated 57 more pupils and could be built for something like $14,000 less than the present plan. The assembly hall has 3,364 square feet and is claimed to seat 750. The rule of the School Committee is six square feet to a pupil, yet we have but 4 1-2 feet here. The school board of Boston requires a glass area of one-sixth the floor area.

Vote Heavy

Grand Total May Go Ahead of Record Breaker Of Last Year

Quincy cast a record breaking vote of 4465 last year, but the indications are that it will be surpassed this year, as the vote this morning was larger than a year ago. However, it cannot be much larger as there are only 18 more names on the list than a year ago, and then nearly 87 per cent voted.

The summary below shows the number of names in each precinct last year and this year, and the number to vote:

	1904. On List.	1904. Voted.	1905. On List.
Ward One, Pre. 1,	457	401	454
Ward One. Pre. 2,	508	416	518
Ward Two, Pre. 1,	303	253	291
Ward Two, Pre. 2,	420	371	432
Ward Three, Pre. 1,	541	471	544
Ward Three, Pre. 2,	435	389	438
Ward Four, Pre. 1,	410	397	445
Ward Four, Pre. 2,	481	419	472
Ward Five,	889	781	897
Ward Six, Pre. 1,	354	298	375
Ward Six, Pre. 2,	306	266	304
	5,134	4,465	5,152

Chairman Freeman of the Republican City Committee when seen at the polls said there was no doubt but what Ward Five would stand by the regular Republiran nominees for Representatives, and he did not think there would be any cutting of either condidate.

On the head of the ticket Mr. Freeman was inclined to think that the city would go for Guild and Whitney.

Ward One.

Ward One is polling a lighter vote than last year as will be seen by the summary below:

	Precinct 1.			Precinct 2.
Hour.	1903.	1904.	1905.	1903.	1904	1905.
7	54	68	70	48	51	69
8	104	119	139	88	117	118
9	157	188	169	139	181	162
10	176	227	220	272	228	173
11	200	260	249	197	263	223
12	219	282	269	233	298	250
1	253	322	288	263	339	308
2	298	360	334	303	374	314

Arthur J. O'Neil, the candidate for the City Council, was the first to vote.

All the regularly appointed election officers are serving in the ward, none of the deputies being required.

Precinct 1—Messrs. Kittredge, Dunphy, Goodridge, Smith, Dunn and Welch. Police officers, Goodhue and Doran.

Precinct 2—Messrs. Packard, Westland, Holt, Coyle, Davenport and Cook. Police officers, Halloran and Thorne.

Ward Two.

The Quincy Point ward polled a light vote during the early morning hours, and unless the voters get out this noon the ward will fall behind its usual vote. It is believed, however, that during the noon hour there will be a grand rush.

Hundreds of voters are employed at the Fore River and but few of them voted this morning. If they vote at all it will be during the noon hour.

Candidate Hultman voted early this morning. When seen at 10 o'clock he said that while a light vote was being cast he felt confident of winning out. He believed that the vote during the noon hour would bring the ward up to its nominal strength.

Ward Three

Both polling places in the South Quincy ward presented a Sunday-like appearance this morning. At both precincts, however, it was said that there would probably be a large vote during the noon hour.

Up to 10.30 but 208 votes had been cast in precinct one, which is about the same as a year ago at the same time.

In precinct two at 10.45 the number of votes cast was 158. This is considerable below a year ago.

Ward Four.

Early returns from West Quincy, the home of Candidate Elcock, indicate that this ward will poll a large vote and will give Mr. Elcock a rousing good vote. There is but little doing about the polls of an exciting nature. The voters are coming to the polls quietly and making their crosses and immediately depart.

The voting during the first hours was a record-breaker in both precincts. At 7 o'clock the box in precinct one showed 88 while that in precinct two showed 117. It is, of course, impossible to get a line on how the voting is going, but Mr. Elcock feels confident that the ward will stand firmly by him and give him a rousing vote.

Ward Five.

The Wollaston ward is getting out a good vote today. Although at noon the vote was larger than at the Municipal election of 1904 it was not up to the November vote of that year when a phenominal vote was cast.

During the first hour this morning 108 votes were cast, an increase of eleven over the municipal election of last year.

This increase was more than maintained during the morning hours. At 11.45 the box registered an even 500 votes.

At the December election last year it was 12.20 before that number of votes had been cast. As the Tubular Rivet men vote between 12 and 12.30, it will be seen that the vote this year was considerable larger than at the election noted above.

Ward Six.

The Atlantic ward is not getting out a very large vote today. In fact the early morning vote was phenominally small. The voting is usually heavy during the first hour, but this morning it was light.

During the first hour, but three-fourths of the usual vote had been cast. In precinct one, the box at 7 o'clock registered 73, and in precinct two at the same hour 72.

During the middle of the day the vote is always light, and there is no reason to believe that it will be otherwise today. As the polls close at 4 o'clock, there is not much prospect of getting many of the Boston men home early enough to vote.

There have been many rumors that this ward would cut Sandberg, but there was no indications this morning of any effort to that effect, and it is fair to presume that the ward will stand by both Republican candidates for Representatives. The ward however casts a large Democratic vote, and Mr. Elcock will doubtless get the full party vote in this ward.

Taylor Will Case.

Hearings are being held in the Suffolk probate court this week on the will of Henry W. Taylor late of Boston, which is being contested by Abbie E. Taylor of Quincy, a twice divorced wife and her son George B. Taylor. The second wife, Mrs. Ella C. Taylor was on the witness stand Monday. The estate is valued at $700,000.

MOON'S PHASES.

First Quarter 8 8:39 p.m. Full 12 Oil a.m.

Third Quarter 19 8:34 p.m. New Moon 26 11:41 a.m.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The City Council of 1905 has demonstrated at recent meetings that it could expedite business. Under a suspension of the rules, the order for the enlargement of the High school building was passed last night with only one dissenting vote. The enlargement was imperative, and the action will please friends of the school, as well as parents and pupils. It was not expected that the order would pass so promptly but no objection will be offered because it did.

At the same time the present city administration will profit, and all doubt about the reelection of Mayor Thompson is removed. Those who thought a change was necessary to accomplish this improvement will now be enthusiastic for the present Mayor.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Helen Keller, whose intellectual achievements, despite the fact that she was born deaf, dumb and blind, has surprised teachers all over the world, said if she could see but one person today, she would pray that it be our strenuous President Roosevelt. She has taken a keen interest in his southern trip, and has had his speeches brought to her in raised letters, every one of which she has read. How indolent we all feel after reading a few chapters in this brave girl's life. How persevering she has been—how hopeful and happy. She has given to the world many wonderful lessons besides the marvel of her wonderful achievment—which should help all who are shut out from the light and sounds of the world—and make us, who have these blessings give something in return for them.—Beverly Times.

☞ How does it happen that so many places are maintained in Boston, where tragedies, like the one now engaging public attention, can be enacted with impunity? Are the police in collusion with the vampires? There is some color for a suspicion of that sort. The unlawful medical practitioners are well known to the police, and they are permitted to carry on their nefarious trade without fear of interference. In fact they boast of their power over the authorities, and they even go a step farther and claim that they have no fear of stringent legislation against them by reason of knowledge that seriously affect the lawmakers should matters proceed to extremities. When the police of outside cities attempt to run down the illicit Boston practitioners they receive little or no assistance from the police of the Hub. There ought to be reform in this particular. Can it be possible that the trouble is so interwoven in the social structure that no change can be effected. Is Boston becoming Parisian, in this respect?—Lynn Item.

☞ An employe of the Norfolk navy yard refused to rent two rooms to a machinist's mate because "there is a prejudice against sailors in the town." He feared that his position in the community would be impaired if he allowed the machinist's mate to remain in his home. Secretary Bonaparte of the navy department has dismissed from the navy yard employ the man who acted thus against the machinist's mate. To take the ground that a man whose business is to fight for his country is, by reason of that business, a man of an inferior social plane is to strike a blow at the army and navy that might have serious results. There are men in both branches of the service, no doubt, who are bad fellows; there are men who are not. A man who is good enough to run chances on being food for powder in the service of his country is assuredly not the kind of fellow to place a ban upon simply because he takes that work to do. A navy yard employe, too, should be the last man to discriminate against naval workers of any branch. Secretary Bonaparte seems to have done the right thing, and it may teach a useful lesson.—Brockton Enterprise.

FATHER AND SON

Mother and daughter, old and young often need a good, reliable family tonic remedy. Complaints of stomach, liver and bowels—especially constipation—are common in every home at this time of the year.

should be taken promptly when you notice any of these well-known symptoms: Furred tongue, variable appetite, disturbed sleep, irritability, malaria, poor complexion, costiveness.

Dr. True's Elixir is a pure vegetable home remedy with a wonderfully successful record. For three generations it has been in use. Its gentle laxative action keeps the stomach sweet, the bowels regular, the blood pure, increases the appetite, and gives rugged robust health. Given regularly it is a preventative of coughs, colds, fever and worms.

DR. J. F. TRUE & Co.: Portland, Me.

I shall in future know just what to recommend to others who are not feeling well; stomach out of order, headache, poor appetite, or a bad cold. Your Elixir has helped me out of just this combination of bad feelings. I want to thank you for it, as it cured me of all these troubles and destroyed the cold I had.

Yours truly, MRS. E. A. SKOLFIELD.

RESULT IN DOUBT

Split Ticket May Carry the Day In Massachusetts

CONFLICT IN NEW YORK

Even Most Experienced Forecasters of Election Results Are In the Dark--Tense Situation at Philade'phia, With a Clash Not Unlike'y--Glance at the Situation Elsewhere

Boston, Nov. 7.—Massachusetts is electing state officers today for the ensuing year and both of the great parties are claiming victory. The Democratic party, however, does not go further than governor and lieutenant governor, as it is generally conceded that the four other places on the ticket will be carried by the Republicans. The Republican party claims the election of Lieutenant Governor Guild over that of Charles W. Bartlett, the Democratic nominee, by a large plurality, and, while predicting also the election of Eben S. Draper, their nominee for lieutenant governor, are willing to admit that his plurality will fall behind that given to Guild. The Democrats go as far as to claim the election of Henry M. Whitney, their nominee for second place, by a large, if not an overwhelming, plurality, and they publicly express confidence in the choice of Bartlett by an emphatic endorsement.

The possible uncertainty as to the result is generally based upon the result of last year when, in a presidential election and in the face of a pronounced endorsement of President Roosevelt, William L. Douglas, Democratic nominee, defeated Governor John L. Bates, Republican, by a plurality of almost 36,000. The canvass this year has been conducted along the lines of tariff revision as suggested last year by Douglas who, this year, refused a general Democratic request to accept a renomination. Tariff revision, with a removal entirely of duties on certain commodities, is the demand of the Democrats, who incidentally have vigorously attacked Senator Lodge for his position on the tariff question and have pointed out what they term the inconsistency in the tariff attitudes of Guild and Draper. On the other hand the Republicans have assailed Whitney and his record in connection with his passage of the West End railway bill before the legislature.

The personality of the candidates has loomed up larger and larger as the campaign progressed until in its closing stages the canvass was chiefly characterized by personalities which were often bitter.

It is freely stated that the personality of Senator Lodge will dominate largely in the election, greatly to the loss of the Republicans, the Democrats claim. "Anything to beat Lodge and his 'bossism'" is a Democratic cry, and this, it is asserted, has been taken up by the Republicans who intend to disapprove of Lodge by voting for Whitney.

The day closed for the Democrats by a "whirlwind" tour of Cape Cod by the party nominees, and by the Republicans by a big rally in Boston at noon, and with rallies last night in various cities and towns, including Cambridge, Lynn and Haverhill.

NEW YORK IN DOUBT

The Hearst Campaign Upsets Old Election Forecasters

New York, Nov. 7.—There is an almost unprecedented degree of uncertainty regarding the result of the final conflict at the polls today. Whether McClellan, Hearst or Ivins will be chosen to rule the destinies of the Metropolis for the next four years presents a problem which, in the face of conditions absolutely unique, baffles the skill of even the most experienced forecasters of election results.

This is due to the complications arising from the appearance in the field of a new and formidable element represented by the Municipal Ownership league which, under the leadership of Hearst, has carried on a campaign marked by extraordinary vigor and has developed a degree of strength that has been the subject of much amazement.

The managers of the three mayoralty candidates declare themselves to be absolutely assured of victory today. Of betting on the result there has been considerably less than in former years, due apparently to the general feeling of uncertainty and to the indications that the result may be very close.

CLASH NOT UNLIKELY

Mayor Weaver Is at Swords' Points With County Sheriff

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—The situation in this city is so tense that no Philadelphian will be surprised if the peace of the city is seriously disturbed today. Matters reached a critical stage when Mayor Weaver and J. L. Miles, sheriff of the county, both of whom are leaders in their respective parties, issued antagonistic proclamations swearing to uphold the law and protect the citizens against the illegal acts of the opposing side. The sheriff in his proclamation calls upon citizens to assist deputies appointed by him to uphold the law, and the mayor replied in a strongly-worded proclamation in which he says: "The peace of the city, the supremacy of the law and the blood bought rights of honest electors must and shall be preserved."

For the moment the question of majorities has been lost sight of. Backing up his proclamation, the mayor has sworn in about 1000 special policemen for election duty. The sheriff says he will not appoint deputies and that the peace of the city rests with the mayor.

Among the regiment of men sworn in as special policemen are 350 students of the University of Pennsylvania, some from Swarthmore college and several of the medical colleges of this city. The students of Swarthmore include nearly the entire football team of that institution. Among others sworn in are W. T. Tilden, a wealthy business man who is chairman of the campaign committee of the city party, and F. S. Edmonds, chairman of the city party city committee.

Close Fight In Rhode Island

Providence, Nov. 7.—Each of the two dominant parties is claiming the election of its respective candidates for governor, though it is conceded by Democrats and Republicans alike that the result will be very close. Neither the Republicans, who have nominated Governor Utter for state executive for another term, or the Democrats, who support ex-Governor Garvin, will commit themselves as to an estimate of the expected size of the plurality of their respective candidates.

The upper house of the legislature is conceded to the Republicans, but it is expected that a stiff battle will be waged in the cities and the larger towns for the assembly delegations. Both sides claim they will have gains in this branch, but general opinion gives the Republicans the control of the body by a slightly decreased majority from the present one, which is overwhelmingly Republican.

Tammany Peddles "Sinews of War"

New York, Nov. 7.—The spectacle of the ante-election distribution of funds by Tammany Hall attracted a crowd of spectators which blocked the street in front of the hall. No one outside the members of the inner councils of the great political organization knows what it costs Tammany to get out the vote, but it is reported that the organization distributed more yesterday than in some previous elections.

The actual distribution was conducted by Treasurer Donohue of Tammany society. One after another the captains of the assembly districts drove up in carriages and were admitted to the executive chamber, where bundles of money were passed over to them. They are said to have got from $1000 to $10,000 each, according to the needs of the districts. The street was lined with waiting carriages for a block while the captains were in the hall.

Ohio's Hot Campaign

Columbus, O., Nov. 7.—One of the hottest campaigns in the history of Ohio closed in a haze of uncertainty as to the outcome. For the Republicans, Senator Dick said that his poll indicated that Governor Herrick will be re-elected by not less than 83,000 plurality, while Chairman Garber of the Democratic committee predicted John M. Pattison's election by 36,000 plurality. It is reasonably certain that Ohio will decide to do away with the annual elections and vote hereafter only in alternate years.

Negro Issue In Maryland

Baltimore, Nov. 7.—The leaders of both parties express confidence as to the result of the Maryland election. Republican Chairman Hanna says that the proposed amendment to the constitution, the avowed purpose of which is to disfranchise negro voters, will be overwhelmingly defeated, and that the Republican candidate for state comptroller will be elected. Democratic Chairman Van Diver is equally confident of the adoption of the amendment and of the election of the Democratic ticket.

Rockefeller Gift a Factor

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 7.—Republicans claim their candidates for supreme judge and university regents will be elected by large pluralities, while the Fusionists assert that their ticket will have a plurality. The gift of John D. Rockefeller of $65,000 to the state university for the construction of a temple has been the only issue in the campaign as far as public agitation is concerned, the fusionists insisting that the gift should be returned.

AUTHORITIES DISAGREE

Unable to Account For Poisoning of Several Orphans

Burlington, Vt., Nov. 7.—All hope of determining the exact cause of the death of three children and the sudden illness of 21 more at the St. Joseph's orphan asylum has been abandoned. The examination of the stomachs of the dead children at the state laboratory of hygiene has had no satisfactory result.

Guinea pigs were inoculated with the substance taken from the bark of locust trees, which was supposed to have poisoned the children, but the pigs were not affected. The members of the staff at the orphanage and the members of the state board of health differ in their theories as to the cause of death.

Professor Mitchell Ousted

Boston, Nov. 7.—At a meeting of the board of trustees of Boston university, Professor H. G. Mitchell, against whom charges of unsoundness in doctrine were sustained last week by the board of bishops, was removed from the faculty of the university, with which he has been connected for 20 years as professor of Hebrew and Old Testament exegesis. The trustees decided to divide the department into two, and C. R. Brown was appointed as professor in Hebrew and W. N. Donovan professor of Old Testament exegesis. Both the new men come from the Newton Theological seminary, a Baptist institution.

Italian Brawl Ends In Stabbing

Rumford Falls, Me., Nov. 7.—After an exciting chase, the police arrested four Italians alleged to have been participants in a stabbing and shooting affray in the Italian settlement, a mile below the village. A drinking brawl is said to have resulted in the use of revolvers and knives. One Italian, whose name was not procured, was stabbed in the abdomen and dangerously wounded. Antonio Salatino is charged with the stabbing. Three others are held as alleged accessories.

Killed by Blow Under Ear

Boston, Nov. 7.—William J. Campbell was in the South Boston court, charged with manslaughter in causing the death of James A. Baird, in the rooms of the Village Social club. Probable cause was found and Baird was held in $5000 for the grand jury. The autopsy showed that death resulted from a blow struck under the left ear, causing a clot of blood on the brain.

Auto Operator Must Pay $7000

Boston, Nov. 7.—A verdict of $7000 was awarded to Benjamin Banks in the third session of the supreme court against Hammond Braman. The plaintiff, who is 79 years of age, was crossing the road at Auburn street, Cambridge, and was knocked down and injured by an automobile operated by the defendant.

Railroaders Hurt In Collision

Greene, Me., Nov. 7.—A freight train bound for Farmington broke apart just as it was approaching the station here and the two sections crashed together, four cars being thrown from the rails. Conductor Miller, Brakeman Judkins and Brakeman Mosher were bruised and cut.

Doctor Accidentally Killed

Portland, Me., Nov. 7.—Dr. Frank S. Hamlet of Gorham, aged 45, was killed last evening by falling from the roof of his house while cleaning out the gutters. He had a large practice at Gorham and stood very high in Masonic circles.

Real Winter In Maine

Rumford Falls, Me., Nov. 7.—Snow, which began to fall in this section of the state yesterday, has reached a depth of nearly eight inches.

Midshipman Knocked Out

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 7.—Midshipman James R. Branch of New York city is in a dangerous condition from injuries received in a fist fight with another midshipman, the encounter having been arranged. In unofficial circles it is admitted that Branch's injuries were received in a fight, but it is said that it was over a personal matter and in no sense hazing.

Fitzsimmons and O'Brien Matched

New York, Nov. 7.—Bob Fitzsimmons of this city and Jack O'Brien of Philadelphia were matched in this city to battle for heavyweight pugilistic honors before the Yosemite Athletic club in San Francisco. The men will fight for 60 percent of the gross receipts, divided on the basis of 75 percent to the winner and 25 percent to the loser.

It is satisfying to the residents of Atlantic to know that the local councilmen are useful as well as ornamental. There is so much "grand stand" play in politics, that when some one with the halo of the "grand stand" gets down among the people and proves his claim to halo then there is said reason for rejoicing. The councilmen in Atlantic are not of "the stuff that dreams are made of" but live men who know what is expected of them and live up to the expectation.

Four Thousand Clipped Off

New York, Nov. 7.—Ada Rehan, the actress, in a suit to recover $7000 arrears of salary from the estate of the late Augustin Daly, was granted a verdict for $2092 in the supreme court here.

Whole Family of Thieves

Pittsburg, Nov. 7.—In arresting Thomas and Joiner Deal in their shack at Beck's Run, the officials say they have broken up one notorious gang of postoffice robbers. The Deal brothers are wanted on a charge of breaking into the postoffice at Oak Hill, O., and stealing $1000. The United States authorities have been trying for years to break up the Deal family gang. Pete and Bill Deal and Harry Skaggs, a brother-in-law, are now serving sentences of eight years each in the penitentiary in West Virginia. Stephen Deal, father of the Deal boys, broke jail in West Virginia last week and is now at large.

Havana Neglects Sanitary Work

Washington, Nov. 7.—Senator Cullom, chairman of the committee on foreign affairs, has laid before President Roosevelt information received by him from American business men in Cuba to the effect that the sanitary condition of Havana is not what it should be; that nothing has been done to continue the construction of the sewage system planned by American officials and that an epidemic of yellow fever is imminent. The president will have the matter investigated.

Concealed Knowledge of Murder

Mineola, L. I., Nov. 7.—Gertrude O'Hara, whose father was murdered near here last August, has confessed that her sweetheart, Cleveland Poole, killed her father. Both she and her mother knew where O'Hara's body lay for over a month before it was found by strangers and brought home. The girl's confession was brought about through her arrest, together with her mother, on a charge of being accessory to the crime.

Attempt to Wreck Train

Santa Barbara, Cal., Nov. 7.—An attempt was made to wreck a passenger train at midnight at the Los Alamos bridge, four miles north of Santa Barbara. A stick of dynamite had been placed on the track and when the locomotive struck it there was a terrific explosion. The pilot and wheels of the locomotive were blown off, but the locomotive did not leave the track and no one was injured.

CHEATS THE GALLOWS

Murderer Takes His Own Life and That of Partner In Crime

San Francisco, Nov. 7.—Milton F. Andrews, wanted for the murder of Bessie Bouton at Colorado Springs, last night shot and killed his female companion, Nulda Olivia, and then killed himself. Andrews was wanted for a murderous assault on William Ellis at Berkeley, Cal. The police found Andrews and Miss Alivia last night, and when they were about to enter a house Andrews killed the woman and ended his own life.

A little over a month ago Andrews and the woman arrived on a steamer from Australia. On the voyage they formed the acquaintance of William Ellis, a horseman, who was known to have considerable money in his possession. Friendly relations were established and when Andrews and the woman engaged a cottage at Berkeley they invited Ellis to luncheon.

During the meal Ellis was struck on the head with a hammer and the woman fired a couple of shots, but they missed Ellis, who escaped and informed the police. A search of the cottage showed that the pair had made complete preparations for disposing of Ellis' body. Implements for dismembering the corpse, acid for mutilating and large pieces of oilcloth for preventing blood stains were discovered. The pair fled after Ellis' escape and were not found until last night.

By photographs Andrews was identified as the friend and slayer of Bessie Bouton of Syracuse, N. Y., who was murdered near Colorado Springs about 10 months ago. After Miss Bouton was murdered on the mountain side the slayer saturated her clothing with benzine and set it on fire. The body was so badly mutilated that only the gold-filled teeeh served to identify it. A reward of $5200 had been offered for the arrest of Andrews.

Suspected of Killing Gambler

Hartford, Nov. 7.—Milton F. Andrews, the alleged murderer of Bessie Bouton, formerly lived in this city and spent the greater part of his early life here. Andrews, the Hartford police believed, was responsible for the death of a gambler named Bosworth in New Britain about a year ago and they kept up a continual search for the missing man. His brother, Alvin E. Andrews, lives in this city.

Holyoke, Mass., Nov. 7.—Milton F. Andrews resided in this city several years and was well known by the frequenters of poolrooms and similar resorts. On one occasion he was charged with blowing open a mail box and was placed under arrest. He married a Miss Welch of this city, and she still resides here.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

Miss Geary's Relatives Identify Her Head

BENCH WARRANT COMING

Police Are Anxious to Extradite Crawford and Howard--Arrest of Mrs Mary Dean Is Said to Be Imminent

Boston, Nov. 7.—The identification of the head which was recovered in a leather bag from the bottom of the harbor as that of Miss Susanna A. Geary has removed all doubt as to her being the victim of the suit case tragedy. The mother and sister of the chorus girl, after nerving themselves for the ordeal, declared the face to be that of Susie.

The authorities, sure of their ground as far as the identification is concerned, have continued the accumulation of evidence against the four men who are being held for the crime and have also kept up the search for Mary S. Dean, for whom a warrant has been granted in connection with the case.

It was expected that what material the police had collected would be presented at the initial session of the November grand jury yesterday, but after a consultation with the police officials, District Attorney Sughrue decided to wait a few days. There will be no session of the grand jury today, it being election day, but possibly the case will be taken up tomorrow.

The police are anxious to obtain the extradition of Louis W. Crawford and William Howard, now being held by the New York authorities, and unless an indictment is returned against them in a few days the authorities will ask for a bench warrant on which to base requisition papers from Governor Douglas.

What new evidence the police may have obtained they have kept carefully concealed. Morris Nathan, the girl's lover, still remains in the hospital, although it is announced that he has sufficiently recovered from the state of collapse which followed his arrest in Pittsburg to be arraigned in court.

It is reported that the police have obtained a clue to the whereabouts of Mrs. Dean and that her apprehension is expected today.

Dr. Percy D. McLeod of the Back Bay district, who was arrested last Friday night and released on heavy bail, is not in the city. He will be arraigned in the municipal court next Friday.

Forger Converted at Revival

Pittsburg, Nov. 7.—Charles M. Oldham of Boston surrendered himself to the Pittsburg police and asked that he be locked up for forgery and embezzlement, which crimes, according to his story, he committed in Boston eight years ago. He attended a religious revival service in the Nixon theatre. Together, with a hundred or more others, Oldham was converted. He gave his experiences and told of an awful crime" he had committed. He was told by the rivivalist that he should give himself up to justice, which he did.

Fifteen Thousand Men Idle

New York, Nov. 7.—Structural iron workers on 50 buildings in course of erection in this section by Post & McCord, contractors, have gone on strike in support of the general strike directed by the international organization against the American Bridge company. Post & McCord are accused of acting here as the agents for the American Bridge company. Fifteen thousand men of various trades are thrown out of employment by the local strike.

Money For Typos' Defense Fund

Indianapolis, Nov. 7.—The American Federation of Labor has decided to levy on its members an assessment of 4 cents a week for four weeks, the money to be turned over to the International Typographical union to be applied to the defense fund. The total amount thus raised during the four weeks will amount to about $80,000.

Shot Wife and Killed Self

Washington, Nov. 7.—Washington J. Quiggle, private secretary to Thomas F. Walsh, the Colorado millionaire, now a resident of this city, shot and probably fatally wounded his wife this morning and then shot himself in the heart, dying instantly. Quiggle was 35 years old. The tragedy occurred in their apartments at the Brunswick.

Attempt to Burn Mission House

Washington, Nov. 7.—Consul General May at Canton has cabled to the state department that he has received a letter from a missionary in the neighborhood of Lienchow, the scene of the recent massacre of American missionaries, reporting an attempt to burn one of the mission houses there. The feeling remains unsettled.

"Looped the Gap" For Last Time

Columbus, O., Nov. 7.—Luke Howard was fatally injured at Sellsville while "looping the gap" in an automobile. The machine had gone safely through its evolutions, when it bounded up after landing and turned over, falling on Howard and breaking his back.

THREE ELEMENTS

Political Parties Already Forming In Russia

WITTE AND LIBERALS

They Are Opposed by Ultra-Radicals, While Conservatives and Beaurocrats Are In Another Group--Serious Conditions In the Caucasus

London, Nov. 7.—Reports received from many points indicate that the situation throughout the Russian provinces is improving. The first train out of Odessa since the disorders began arrived yesterday at St. Petersburg, having taken 13 days to accomplish the journey.

The struggle for autonomy in Poland has been revived and flags bearing the Polish coat of arms are flying from many buildings—preliminary to further action.

Count Witte is having trouble in organizing his new cabinet and has taken up his residence in the palace in St. Petersburg so that he may be at the czar's elbow when he returns, which is expected to be very soon.

The text of the imperial manifesto concerning Finland has been made public. It meets most of the demands of the Finns.

Lines of cleavage in the political forces of Russia are beginning to appear, and they forecast the formation of parties. On one side is Count Witte, with the new reform plan, representing a constitutional monarchy; he has or will have the support of most of the "intellectuals" and the professional classes; opposed are the Radical Socialists, with some Liberals, who demand a democratic republic; a third group may include the bureaucrats and other conservatives. The function of this third group, if it should persist, might be to carry the Witte program against the Radicals, and so prevent a complete overturn of the government.

Finland, in spite of the great tension of public opinion, has so far escaped an actual outbreak. The czar's concessions satisfy the moderates, and the Socialists have not carried out their threats.

Count Witte is pushing the reform measures, and has already drafted a new scheme for the douma's powers and the extension of the suffrage. He is opposed to the constituent assembly urged by the Liberals and Socialists, though he admits that universal suffrage is his final aim. An appeal by the government for public support and confidence represents the empire as in danger of dismemberment unless the reforms are backed up by the people, and disorder quieted to allow the working out of the new plans.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "War, hopeless war, prevails in the Caucasus. The trans-Caucasian railway, the sole line, is effectually crippled and reinforcements have been compelled to march. Seventeen bridges have been wrecked and the rails have been torn up in 40 places. Telegraph lines have been destroyed and Georgia and Daghestan are isolated. Every male is in arms and the war office is helpless."

The Bucharest correspondent of The Daily Mail sends the following: "There is terrifying news still from Kishineff. The city is strewn with dead. An unwieldly provisional government has been established. Famine reigns throughout Bessarabia and the Jews are taking refuge in the cellars, where they are dying wholesale. A mob of 1000 rioters engaged in a massacre of Jews at Ismaili, Bessarabia, and a force of dragoons arriving from Rendery fired on the mob, killing 42 and wounding 114 persons. The Bessarabian revolt is assuming immense proportions."

Prince Dines With Naval Men

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 7.—Prince Louis of Battenberg has returned from Washington, where he has been since Saturday. The dinner given by Admiral Sands last evening was the most notable social event of the stay of the fleets in this harbor, the guests being limited to the admirals and captains of the fleet and two others, Governor Warfield and Adjutant General Riggs being the only non-naval guests.

Prosecuting Cigaret Smokers

Laporte, Ind., Nov. 7.—The grand jury of Marshal county has returned six indictments against cigaret smokers. Plymouth, the seat of Marshal county, is the home of Senator Parks, author of the anti-cigaret law, and he will prosecute the offenders indicted by the grand jury. Parks says the crusade will be extended to every county in the state.

Tunnel Through Solid Rock

Nashville, Nov. 7.—The tunnel under Baker's hill, on the Louisville and Nashville road, 16 miles west of Nashville, has been completed. The tunnel is nearly a mile long, and with the approaches cost about $2,000,000. No dirt was taken out of the tunnel, it being built through solid rock.

Supposed Murdered Woman Alive

Rochester, Nov. 7.—Although the police of Toronto have identified a woman who was murdered there as Pansy Lowthian, a wealthy young woman of Denver, Miss Lowthian is alive and well, visiting friends in this city, and tells the police she is unable to account for the mistake.

Newfoundland Lodges a Protest

St. Johns, Nov. 7.—The government of Newfoundland has forwarded to the British cabinet a formal protest against American vessels hiring Newfoundlanders outside the three-mile limit, or in Canadian ports, to assist in taking herring in Newfoundland waters, on the ground that this is an evasion of the letter and the spirit of the treaty of 1818.

Trains Collided on Curve

Troy, O., Nov. 7.—Engineer Taubkins was killed and six persons were seriously injured in a head-on collision between passenger trains here last evening. The collision occurred on a curve and it is said to have been the result of the south-bound crew overlooking an order to stop on a siding.

Atlanta Wants Industrial Show

Atlanta, Nov. 7.—About 50 leading business men of Atlanta met last evening and decided that an industrial exposition of the resources of the south will be held in Atlanta in 1910. A meeting to form a permanent organization is to be held within a few days.

Easy For Democrats

Richmond, Nov. 7.—It is a foregone conclusion that in the Virginia election the entire state Democratic ticket will be elected. The Democrats will also elect a big working majority to the legislature, ensuring the return of Mr. Martin, who was nominated in the primary, to the United States senate.

San Francisco's Contest

San Francisco, Nov. 7.—The united Republican and Democratic parties are hopeful of success over the union labor ticket, led by Mayor Schmitz. The union labor people are equally confident and point to the fact that the betting odds are in their favor.

Republican Leader Laid Up

New York, Nov. 7.—Charles Comisky, a Republican leader of the Second assembly district, was assaulted and left insensible by a gang of roughs as he was leaving the criminal court building, where he had been to press charges against men accused of illegal registration. He will probably be confined to his home for several months.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

The Registrars of Voters give notice of registration dates before the City election.

The Adams Academy and Quincy High foot ball teams meet today at Merrymount park for the first time this season.

Walter J. I. Thayer formerly of Quincy, died on Monday at Holbrook in his 40th year. The burial will be at Hall cemetery, West Quincy, on Wednesday.

The Railroad Commissioners give notice of a hearing to be held Thursday on relocation of street railway tracks through Braintree from the Quincy line to the Holbrook line.

False Alarm And a Mix-up

The alarm from Box 58 at 11.18 last night came in such a mixed-up manner that no one knew just what box had been sounded. It was counted by some as 158 and by others as 68 and 58. The central station got th box as 68 and started for Squantum. The Ward Five apparatus went in another direction and Ward Six tried unsuccessfully to locate the box by telephone.

It was later learned that Box 58 at the corner of Adams and Beale streets was the one that had been pulled. Investigation showed that the door of the box had been smashed in with a brick and a false alarm given.

Candidate Packard Dead

Word was received in Quincy this morning of the sudden death at Roxbury last night of William M. Packard of Quincy, Socialist candidate for Senator for the First Norfolk district.

Mr. Packard was assistant superintendent of the National Insurance Co., and was attached to the Dorchester office. It was while in the performance of his duties that he dropped dead.

Shortly before 8 o'clock he entered a house at 11 Circuit street, Roxbury, to collect a premium. Suddenly he was seen to reel and fall. Medical aid was immediately summoned, but he had passed away when the physician arrived. The remains were taken in charge by Undertaker Waterman.

Mr. Packard has been a resident of Quincy for many years and has for some time been connected with insurance companies, doing the industrial business.

He has long been prominently identified with the Socialist movement and has been that party's candidate for office several times.

He was about 34 years of age, and leaves a widow and children who reside in Mattapan.

Needle Work Guild.

The annual meeting of the Quincy Branch of the Needle Work Guild of America, will be held tomorrow, Nov. 8th, at three o'clock, at the home of its president, Miss Abby B. Wood, 68 School street. All members and friends are cordially invited to be present. Only one meeting is held annually, where the garments collected by the directors of the Guild, are sent to the president.

Only new garments are received and any one knowing of needy, worthy cases can obtain these by applying to a director or the president direct.

Last year three hundred and fifty six garments were collected, a decrease from the preceding year. We wish the Guild to increase rather than decrease and would like directors from Atlantic, West Quincy and Quincy Point as these wards are not fully represented.

Maria A. Whitney, Secretary.

Surprise Party.

A surprise party was given Charles Friberg at his home on Faxon lane, Saturday evening on his 17th birthday, when he was presented with a gold ring. Games were played and refreshments served. The party included Jader Petterson, Edith Johnson, Frida Johnson, Annie Lund, Jennie Stolt, Ellen Anderson, Edith Friberg, Charles Petterson, Carl Anderson, Carl Johnson, Bonde Sandberg, Gustaf Lund, Robert Petterson, Henry Sandberg, Fred Bolyer, Willie Anderson, George Friberg, Albin Anderson, Albert Friberg.

The School Committee when asked about this did not have any rule.

Many of us can only leave our children an education. If it were not for that he would oppose the plan. It cost too much for what it gives us. It does not give the requirements the other plan does at less money. He wanted it understood that the criticism of him was not deserved. He wanted the blame for the additional $20,000 put where it belonged, and not on the City Council and Executive.

Councilman Bass thought it a little hasty to suspend the rules.

Councilman Stone thought the quicker the order was put through the better, as the foundation could be put in this fall.

Councilman Polk said it was very important that something should be done quickly.

Councilman Spargo thought it was acting in too much haste.

Councilman Stewart hoped the Council would have an opportunity to examine plans and have them explained by architect.

Councilman Chase,—As our charter provides no alterations can be made without the approval of the School Board, the opinions of the council does not signify. The opinion of the gentleman on my right (Piper) is better than mine but not any are against the entire School Committee. The needs of the school are imperative. It is important to begin work this fall.

Councilman Sidelinger thought the School Committee entitled to some consideration. Nothing will be gained by delay.

Councilman Burgess hoped no one would hold the order up.

Councilman Chamberlin was strenuous in his opposition. He asked how many men in the Council ever had the expenditure of $113,000. Is there a man who would spend $5,000 on a twenty minute discussion. It is not our money. It belongs to those who earn their money with their hands. It was not right to appropriate $113,000 for something that can be done for $75,000.

Let us pause and consider it. It was time to stop and vote as though the money belonged to us. That would decide his vote. There were those who voted to expend $120,000 who had never been inside of the building. He had given two weeks in the early spring to the study of the plans. He had gained much information. He was ready to vote for one wing.

The question to be decided is on basis of demands of the school. If we can get out of it for $60,000 or $70,000 we would have done some good. What would happen if the Fore River Co. failed? It may at any time. If you were a business man would you propose to build a building for 1000 pupils when you only have 600? It means 16 years before you fill it. The growth of High schools has absolutely stopped.

Councilman Hughes—The school committee will accept any plan they can rush through the council. He had been one of the minority against certain plans. He was glad he was. The addition can be built for $100,000.

It is not so to be as the plans suitable to the School Committee cost more. He was satisfied that the Council could not get any plan approved except it had the name of Gould. The School Committee has usurped the rights of the Council in only approving one plan.

Councilman Crane—The gentlemen from Ward Five must have experienced a change of heart. He has been saying, show up the opposition, and here he is bobbing up against it. There is the opposition that has been all summer. Here we are almost united for a school to give the children an education. If he has not looked into the question it is his own fault.

Councilman Chase—This opposition is unexpected and unwarranted. He believed it better to build to accommodate the maximum number that will attend. Does he realize that the larger part of the tax is paid by one-fifth, that the larger part of the parents of school children only pay a poll tax. The School Committee have made a study of these things. We can regulate the manufactory of shoes, but not of school children. He believed we had found the only opponent to it.

Councilman Savage moved to lay on the table. Lost.

The order was then passed to be ordained by a vote of 17 to 1, Councilman Chamberlin being the only vote in the negative.

NEW ORDERS.

Councilman Stone offered orders for lights on Edison Park street and Glencoe place. To Committee on Streets.

Councilman Stone offered an order for the Committee on Elections to meet tonight to canvass votes. Adopted.

Upon motion of Councilman McLane it was voted when the Council adjourn it be until Monday evening, Nov. 13.

FIREMEN'S ORDER.

Councilman Stone moved and it was voted that joint Committee on Ordinance and Finance report on order giving firemen one day off in nine at the next regular meeting of the Council.

Councilman Bass offered an order for $11,300 for building Maple place. To a second reading.

Councilman Bass offered an order for $200 for draining Gragg's pond. To joint Committee on Finance and Sewers.

Councilman Chase moved and it was voted that the Committee on Finance report at the next regular meeting on the order for $3,500 for fire apparatus at Houghs Neck.

The orders granting the N. E. T. & T. Co. permission to attach its fixtures and wires to poles on Newbury avenue, and the Q. E. L. & P. Co. a location for poles on South Walnut street, took their second reading and were referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

Adjourned at 10.14 to meet Nov. 13.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of

JABEZ STEER,

late of Waterbury, in the County of New Haven and State of Connecticut, deceased:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Ernest J. Steer of Montclair, N.J., with certain papers purporting to be copies of the last will and testament of said deceased, and of the probate thereof in said State of Connecticut, duly authenticated, representing that at the time of his death, said deceased had estate in said County of Norfolk, on which said will may operate and praying that the copy of said will may be filed and recorded in the Registry of Probate of said County of Norfolk, and letters testamentary, without giving a surety on his official bond, thereon granted to him.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the thirteenth day of December, A. D. 1905, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, Mass., the first publication to be thirty days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixth day of November, in the year one thousand nine hundred and five.

Charitable Society Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Quinc Charitable society was held in the chapel of First church on Monday afternoon, the president, Rev. Edward Norton, in the chair.

After the opening prayer by Mr. Norton, he made a few remarks on the work of the association and called for the reports of the officers. The nominating committee, Mrs. C. H. Porter, Mrs. Wilson Tisdale and D. King, brought in the following names for officers for the ensuing year and they were elected:

President, Rev. Edward Norton.
Vice president, Frederic W. Plummer.
Treasurer, Mrs. E. W. Henry Bass.
Secretary, Mrs. Thomas A. Addison.
Directors, Mrs. Arthur L. Mitchell, Mrs. Frederick J. Peirce, Mrs. Frederick L. Jones, Mrs. Thomas Fenno, Mrs. E. Granville Pratt, Mrs. Robert J. Teasdale and Miss Gertrude Sampson.

A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Caroline A. Spear who had served the association many years as secretary.

It was voted not to accept the invitation of the Quincy Women's club to hold their meetings at the Brackett house on Goffe street, although appreciating fully the kind offer, as it was thought best to continue meeting at the homes of member. The December meeting will be held with Mrs. Charles H. Porter of Adams street.

It was a very pleasant meeting, although not largely attended.

The Victors Defeated

The Victor A. A. failed to live up to their name Monday evening, being defeated by the Makaria Fraternity on the Y. M. C. A. alleys. The contest was close and exciting, the Fraternity taking two strings out of three. Mitchell was high man with Collins of the Victors a close second.

Where are the Scotchmen?

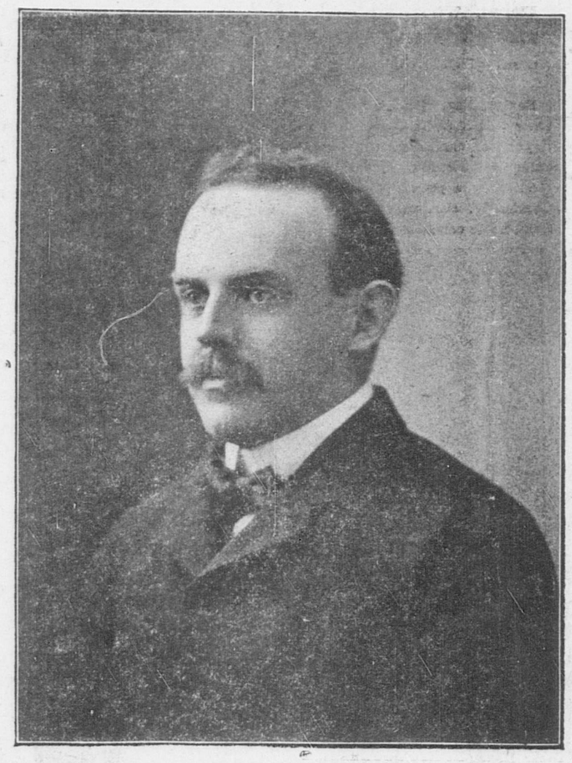
The Clan McGregor correspondent of the Caledonian Magazine calls attention in the last issue to the fact that there is not a Scotchman at the head of any of the departments of the city government, although there are several hundreds of Scotch Republican voters in Quincy. The writer calls on the clansmen to demand more tangible recognition of their voting strength than "the glad hand and pre-election smile" which, he says is about all they have been getting of late.

Superior Court.

Judge Sherman who is presiding at the present term of the Superior court at Dedham, took occasion last week to remark to an attorney that the jurors now serving were about the best he had ever dealt with. A new panel will be drawn next week. Several Quincy cases which are ready for trial are being kept back on account of railroad cases which take up a great deal of time. There have been no cases added to the "short list" for nearly three weeks on this account.

QUINCY STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN.

Pluralities for Guild and Draper, Nevin and Merrill, Hultman and Sandberg.



LATEST!

The State Pluralities

Draper for Lieutenant	2,792

LAST YEAR

Douglas for Governor	35,989
Guild for Lieutenant	30.706

The straight Republican ticket was successful in Quincy, but by varying pluralities. By the vote for Secretary of State the city is over two to one Republican, but Gen. Guild led Mr. Bartlett for Governor by 440 votes, and Draper for Lieutenant Governor had a lead of only 221 over Whitney the Democratic nominee.

The independent voters certainly gave the Republicans a good scare, and have taught them a lesson that the wishes of the majority must be respected.

The vote of Guild over Draper was 125, while the vote of Whitney over Bartlett was 94.

Last year Quincy gave Gov. Douglas 2289 votes and John L. Bates 1724, and for Lieutenant Governor gave Guild 2,001. Gen Guild runs 239 ahead of Bates, but 38 behind his own vote of last year. Bartlett run 764 behind Douglas.

Quincy elects two Republicans to the Legislature by a close vote. Eugene C. Hultman was the most popular candidate leading his associate, Edward J. Sandberg, by 15 votes, and James H. Elcock, the Democratic candidate, by 79 votes as will be seen by the totals below:

HULTMAN, R.,	1811
SANDBERG, R.,	1796
ELCOCK, D.,	1732
TURNER, S.,	943

Mr. Hultman ran only 152 votes behind Gen. Guild, and 29 behind Mr. Draper. Mr. Elcock ran 208 ahead of Bartlett and 114 ahead of Whitney. The large vote of 943 for Levi Turner was one of the surprises of the election.

Both Hultman and Sandberg received a larger vote than was given to Freeman and Nicoll last year, the vote of Hultman being 126 larger than the vote for Freeman. Turner's vote was 59 less than last year.

Senator Nevin of Weymouth is re-elected by a large plurality, and Hon. John F. Merrill of Quincy is elected handsomely as a member of the board of Norfolk County Commissioners, which after Jan. 1 will be composed of three Republicans. Col. Bigney will represent this district in the Governor's Council, being elected by a good plurality.

The vote in full for all candidates on the Quincy ticket are given on page four.

The Returns.

Seldom have the returns been received more promptly than Tuesday night. If it had not been for a long tiresome wait for precinct one of Ward Three, City Hall, could have shut up shop at 7 o'clock.

The result of the vote for Representative was known as early as 6 o'clock. City Messenger Tirrell had prepared a bulletin upon which the returns from the several precincts for Governor and Reprepresentatives were posted as fast as received.

In the corridor watching and waiting for these returns was a good natured crowd who jostled each other and made juggled figures.

Inside of the City Clerk's office, away from the crowd, were City Clerk Keith and a corps of reporters tabulating the official returns as fast as they arrived. The first to come was that of precinct two of Ward One, which arrived at 4.56. From that time until 5.42 there was an almost constant stream of officers arriving with returns.

At that hour everything was in but Ward Five and precinct one of Ward Three. Ward Five came at 6.55, but it was long after 8 o'clock, 8.30 to be exact, before the missing precinct of Ward Three arrived. It was a long tiresome wait. Long before this time City Hall was deserted by all except the aforsaid City Clerk, reporters and City Messenger.

Candidates Elected.

The successful candidates were:

GOVERNOR.

Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston, Republican.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

Eben S. Draper of Hopedale, Republican.

SECRETARY.

William M. Olin of Boston, Republican.

TREASURER.

Arthur B. Chapin of Holyoke, Republican.

AUDITOR.

Henry E. Turner of Malden, Republican.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

Dana Malone of Greenfield, Republican.

COUNCILLOR.

Second District.

Sidney O. Bigney of Attleborough, Republican.

SENATOR.

Vote of Quincy.

Quincy cast nearly 500 less votes than at the Presidential election last year.

The Wollaston ward alone cast 117 less votes than last November; Ward Three, 82 less; Ward One, 54 less; Ward Four, 54 less; Ward Two, 148 less; Ward Six, 33 less.

A comparison of the vote of the two years is given below:

Election Straws.

Boston gave Guild 30,639, and Bartlett 47,693.

Guild led Bartlett 211 votes in Braintree, while Draper led Whitney 140.

Most of the cities gave pluralities for Guild, 26 in all, while Bartlett was the choice in only seven:—Boston, Cambridge, Lowell, Lawrence, Holyoke, Woburn and Chicopee.

John F. Merrill received a majority of the votes for County Commissioner in Braintree, the home of his rival, John Cavanagh. The vote was: Merrill, 498; Cavanagh, 323; Shaw, 77.

The next House of Representatives will have 164 Republicans, 70 Democrats, and 5 Independents. The Democrats gain one representative and the Independents 4.

The next Senate will have nine Democrats, an increase of three over last year.

John F. Merrill received more votes than any other candidate on the Quincy ticket, but led Secretary Olin only 17 votes.

—Mr. Edison thinks we cannot work too hard. He evidently never tried taking care of a furnace, for he is warmed by electricity, financially and otherwise.

The High Wins

Defeats Adams Academy At Football 40 to 0.

After the dust of battle had cleared away and the wounded carried off, one could see a sixth scalp dangling from the war belt of Quincy High school. And the scalp of a plucky foe it was. Although greatly outweighed and facing a certain overwhelming defeat, Adams did not cancel the game, but showed that they were thorough sportsmen—something that cannot be said of one of their late opponents.

From the results of the game it is estimated that if Thayer Academy had played Quincy High two twenty halves High would have beaten Thayer about 130 to 0. Thayer knew this, so it is easily seen why she cancelled both games with Quincy.

On the whole, the game was not nearly as interesting as the one with Ballou and Hobigand. The rooters crowded onto the field and prevented many people from seeing much of the game, as well as greatly hindering the contestants. Neither side showed any real team work. Adams, because High never gave them the chance, and Quincy, because there was a new combination of backs, each trying to make a "star" of himself for that game. Then in the second half High put in a number of subs, which resolved the game into one worthy of two grammar schools.

There were, however, a number of long runs and some brilliant tackles, which kept the crowd expecting something all the time. Bean, especially, did good work for a man new to his position, making two long runs of thirty yards each resulting in a touchdown.

Commins and Moody played their usual whirlwind game. The first making ten or fifteen yards on every rush, while the latter made a splendid run of 25 yds. for a touchdown and a number of shorter rushes.

The work of Lupton and Badger was excellent, each blocking punts and crushing back line plunges before they were underway.

Nichols as usual ran the team splendidly also making a gain of 10 yds. on a quarterback run.

Fallon did well in his punting getting off several long spirals which the Adams back found difficult to catch.

For Adams, "Casey" Kay and the right halfback played the "whole game." Each saving Adams many touchdowns by their fearless tackling.

High kicked off to Adams, the quarterback fumbled and Commins fell on the ball, which was quickly pushed over for the first touch-down.

Then Adams kicked off to Saunders, who carried the ball to his forty-yard line. High school now rushed Adams off their feet. The backs and tackles ripped through the Academy line as if it was tissue paper, Saunders making the touch-down on a thirty-yard run around end.

From this time it was simply a question of how much High school could score in the short 10 minute halves. The other touch-downs, merely a repetition of the plays and incidents of the first two. Score 40 to 0.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The Quincy returns were remarkably early this year, but there should be a change in election officers in Ward Three.

Congratulations to Representatives-elect Eugene C. Hultman and Edward J. Sandberg. The young men will doubtless make a good record for themselves and the city.

"As goes Quincy so goes the State," and in Presidential years, so goes the Nation. For sixteen years or more this has been true, and the candidate who desires to be elected must take Quincy into consideration.

Candidate Elcock made a remarkably good run. While the city gave a Republican plurality of about 500 for Gen. Guild, Mr. Elcock came within seventy votes of an election.

GUILD CHOSEN AS GOVERNOR

Draper Wins Second Place In Bay State Election

A CLOSE FIGHT FOR HIM

Whitney, Democracy's Reciprocity Advocate, Defeated by a Vote Little Short of 4000--District Attorney Sughrue, the Candidate of Both Leading Parties at Boston, Defeated by Moran, Who Went on Ticket Through Individual Endorsement of Citizens

Boston, Nov. 8.—Lieutenant Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston, the Republican candidate, was elected governor of Massachusetts in the state election by a plurality of 23,232 over Charles W. Bartlett of Boston, the Democratic candidate.

CURTIS GUILD, JR.

For the second place on the ticket, for which there was an unusually warm contest, Eben S. Draper of Hopedale, the Republican candidate, won over Henry M. Whitney of Brookline, his Democratic opponent, and the leading advocate for reciprocity, by a plurality of 2792. The total vote for the leading candidates was: Guild, 197, 631; Bartlett, 174,399; Draper, 182,784; Whitney, 179,992.

The Republicans also elected seven of the eight members of the executive council and the usual large majority in both branches of the legislature.

The other state officers elected are: Secretary of state, William M. Olin, Lynn; treasurer, Arthur D. Chapin, Holyoke; auditor, Henry E. Turner, Malden; attorney general, Dana Malone, Greenfield.

EBEN S. DRAPER.

The closeness of the vote for Draper and Whitney for lieutenant governor was the principal feature of the election. The first towns which reported were nearly all in the southeastern part of the state, and, while Bartlett fell far behind the vote of Douglas last year, and Guild gained steadily on his Democratic opponent, Whitney clung tenaciously to Draper, and at times, during the tabulation, was ahead of him in the totals.

The 25,000 which Boston gave the second place on the ticket sent Whitney well into the lead and aroused the hopes of his followers. Other cities also endorsed the Brookline man, Cambridge giving him 2800 plurality, Lawrence 900, Lowell 1200, Fall River 300, and Woburn 300. The returns from the little towns in the western and central part of the state cut into the Whitney plurality surely and steadily, and with all but a score of towns to hear from it was seen that the reciprocity advocate was beaten by a small margin.

Worcester gave Draper 1800 votes over Whitney and Springfield 600 more, which practically clinched the contest for the Hopedale candidate. It is many years since there has been such a close vote for the second place on the ticket. While disappointed at the defeat of their candidates, the supporters of Whitney were much gratified at the support given him and which he so strongly advocated.

Locally, the contest for district attorney was the feature, and a very unexpected one. Michael J. Sughrue, who was appointed last spring after the death of Oliver Stevens, was endorsed by both Democrats and Republicans, while John B. Moran, a local lawyer, obtained a place on the ticket through individual endorsements. It was expected that Sughrue would win without difficulty, but Moran's short but aggressive campaign gave him the victory.

Another incident was the defeat in the Seventeenth Suffolk representative district of Thomas F. Curley, the Democratic candidate who was dropped from last year's house because of his conviction in the United States court for conspiracy in a civil service examination.

Mr. Bartlett carried Boston by a plurality of 16,948 votes, while the plurality of Whitney was 24,552. The gubernatorial plurality this year is about one-half received in 1904 by Governor Douglas, while Whitney's plurality runs nearly 400 ahead of that cast for the unsuccessful candidate in 1904, Crosby. The total vote for governor was: Bartlett, 47,696; Guild, 30,758. For lieutenant governor: Whitney, 50,513; Draper, 25,961.

The Democrats made gains in both branches of the legislature, three members in the senate and one in the house. The legislature of 1906 will stand as follows: Senate: Republicans, 31; Democrats, 9. House: Republicans, 169; Democrats, 70; independent, 1. Complete returns in Suffolk county for district attorney give John B. Moran (Citizen), 42,255; M. J. Sughrue (Dem. and Rep.), 37,960, a plurality for Moran of 4349.

The issues of the campaign were national in character. The revision of the tariff was the urgent plea of the Democratic orators, who attacked the attitude on the question of Senator Lodge. The Republicans defended the attack with great vigor and the returns showed that a majority of the voters were more convinced by their arguments than by those of their opponents.

Still, Mr. Whitney, who worked assiduously for four weeks in support of his reciprocity with Canada sentiments, made a fine showing, and was beaten by only a few thousand votes, the result being in doubt until more than half the state had been heard from.

Mr. Whitney ran ahead of Bartlett in nearly every city and town, and beat Draper in many places, including Boston, Newton and other cities.

In Gloucester, however, the fishermen, mindful of the stand of Lodge in their behalf, gave tremendous majorities to Guild and Draper. Strangely enough the Republican candidate, James L. Shaw, for senator in the Third Essex district, which includes Gloucester, was defeated by George A. Schofield, his Democratic opponent.

There were a number of other surprises in the district fights throughout the state.

Tribute to Confidence of People

Boston, Nov. 8.—Curtis Guild, Jr., made the following statement last night: "We have had an up-hill fight against the heaviest odds in the shape of campaign funds and newspaper influence that the Republican party has ever had to face in its history in this commonwealth. That Mr. Draper and I have won is a splendid tribute to the confidence of the people in Republican control of this commonwealth, and their belief in the sincerity of our senators and congressmen in their pledge to do their utmost for progressive legislation in regard to the tariff.

"In my immediate antagonist, General Bartlett, I have found no change from the friend and gentleman with whom I have always had such pleasant relations in private life. I am very grateful to the faithful friends who in this election have stood by me and the principles in the commonwealth and country which I have tried to champion. It is a very great trust. I wish that I better deserved it."

Senator Lodge said last night: "I shall make no formal statement. The returns say enough."

Full Credit to Opponents

Boston, Nov. 8.—Charles W. Bartlett gave out the following statement last night: "I have only to say that from the time the contest commenced until the people began to vote I have given them the best article of fight I had on hand, and that I accept the verdict of the people just as I have always accepted verdicts that were against me.

"The people must decide these matters just as they think right. Instead of having the state of Massachusetts as a single client for the next year, I shall start in at once with other parties as clients and proceed to try an assigned case tomorrow.

"I desire to express to my friends my gratitude for all that they have done for me during this canvass and extend to my opponents full credit for the victory that they have won."

Disappointment For Governor

Brockton, Mass., Nov. 8.—The surprise of election here was the small difference between the votes cast for Guild and Bartlett. Last year, with Governor Douglas, a Brockton man, the candidate, it was expected that this strong Republican city would break over to a certain extent, but this year the Republicans had felt confident that they would make as strong a showing as ever. Governor Douglas said last night: "I am disappointed at the vote in the state. I firmly believe in the principles expressed in the Democratic platform. I believe, however, Governor-elect Guild will make an efficient chief executive."

Wedded Life Was Short

Newberg, Or., Nov. 8.—Carl Hurford and his wife, a bride of six weeks, were found dead in their home here by neighbors, attracted to the house by the firing of shots. Hurford had been ill for several days. Whether the tragedy was one of murder and suicide, or double suicide, is not known.

THE

(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

M'CLELLAN AND JEROME WIN

Hearst Declines to Admit Defeat In Mayoralty Fight

TAMMANY GETS A JOLT

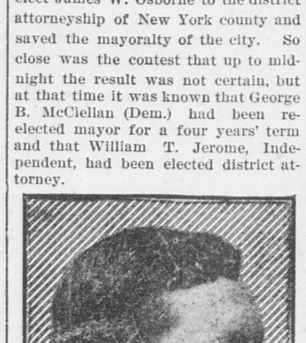
Re-election of District Attorney Was Hotly Contested by Its Forces--Overthrow of Republican Ring Rule Not Only In Philadelphia, but Throughout the State of Pennsylvania

New York, Nov. 8.—After a campaign unusual for its public interest and excitement, Tammany Hall met defeat in its hard-fought efforts to elect James W. Osborne to the district attorneyship of New York county and saved the mayoralty of the city. So close was the contest that up to midnight the result was not certain, but at that time it was known that George B. McClellan (Dem.) had been re-elected mayor for a four years' term and that William T. Jerome, Independent, had been elected district attorney.

COLONEL GEORGE B. M'CLELLAN.

The extent to which the Tammany organization was shaken may be judged from the fact that there was no fusion of the opposition parties, the means by which the organization has been combatted heretofore, but that Jerome, running as candidate of no party and with his record in office as his platform, succeeded in overcoming the former prestige of the Democratic organization.

With 23 election districts missing in Manhattan, the vote for mayor was: McClellan, 118,442; Hearst, 101,691; Ivins, 54,656; McClellan's plurality, 16,752.



WILLIAM TRAVERS JEROME.

The successful ticket gives 12 votes to the Democratic members of the board of estimate and four to the opposition. The board of estimate will control the expenditure of $900,000,000 the next four years.

The following statement was issued at midnight by W. R. Hearst: "We have won this election. All Tammany's frauds, all Tammany's corruption, all Tammany's intimidation and violence, all Tammany's false registration, illegal voting and dishonest count have not been able to overcome a great popular majority. The recount will show that we have won the election by many thousands of votes. I shall fight this battle to the end, in behalf of the people who have cast their votes for me, and we shall not be disfranchised by any effort of criminal bosses."

District Attorney Jerome issued this statement on being assured of his election: "I was certain that the people would not back up the attempt of the bosses to force me from office. Coming as it does straight from the hands of the people, in spite of the opposition of bosses and machines, my election is peculiarly gratifying. The district attorney's office will go on for four years more under my direction under the same system that has prevailed for four years.

"There is nothing more to be said, save that it was a test of strength between corrupt bosses on one side and an aroused public opinion on the other. There is no trifling with the people when they have been roused, and my election is a lesson that the bosses will not soon forget."

Mayor McClellan issued the following statement: "The result of the election shows me more plainly than ever my duty to the people. With God's help I will discharge it to the best of my ability. I shall keep every promise made before election."

REFORM'S CLEAN SWEEP

Landslide Throughout the Whole State of Pennsylvania

Philadelphia, Nov. 8.—Philadelphia has been swept by the reform movement, the city party ticket winning by a surprisingly large plurality. While complete returns have not been received, enough is known of the result to indicate the defeat of the Republican local ticket by from 60,000 to 75,000 plurality.

The victory of the city party carries with it the election of W. H. Berry, the Democratic and reform candidate for state treasurer. J. L. Plummer, the Republican candidate for that office, was badly cut throughout the city and state and he has lost his own county, which is usually Republican. The result has every appearance of a landslide for reform not only in Philadelphia, but throughout the state.

Returns thus far show that the Republicans carried only a few wards and these were held by narrow margins. One year ago President Roosevelt carried the city by 180,834 plurality.

Estimates from practically every county in the state indicate the election of Berry (Dem.) for state treasurer by from 75,000 to 100,000 plurality. Official returns will probably increase the figures.

None of the Republican leaders had much to say on the result. Sheriff Miles, chairman of the Republican city committee, when asked for a statement, said: "I have nothing to say; what's the use."

The city party sympathizers celebrated their victory by parading the streets. As soon as the result was definitely known hundreds of them formed in line and marched down Chestnut street. An unusual turnout was that of the campaign committee of the city party, which is made up of some of the wealthiest and most influential men in the city. They marched behind a band to the tune of "Onward, Christian Soldier."

Contrary to general expectation there was no very serious disturbance in the city. There were, however, many small scrimmages at polling places, especially in the more thickly settled wards, where the Republican organization is very strong and where the city party put up a most determined fight. The police department was at all times master of the situation.

Under orders of Mayor Weaver the police force was almost doubled by the swearing in of citizens who were sent into wards where trouble was expected. Nearly all the mounted police and bicycle policemen of the city were distributed in the strongholds of the Republican organization. The police captains were provided with swift automobiles so that they could quickly go to any part of the city.

Never in the history of the city were such complete arrangements made for preventing the casting of illegal votes. Besides the large number of watchers and overseers located at the 1100 polling places, there were from two to six policemen stationed at each one of these places.

Connecticut Sentiment Changes

New Haven, Nov. 8.—The election in Connecticut was confined to the cities of Bridgeport and Ansonia, where the regular city elections were held. The Democratic administrations, which had been in power for four years, were defeated by Republicans in both places. Mayor Mulvihill of Bridgeport, known as the "stoker mayor," was defeated by M. L. Reynolds, and in Ansonia, Alton Farrell defeated Mayor Charters. The entire Republican ticket was carried in Ansonia, while in Bridgeport the only Democratic official to win was the city clerk.

Republicans Win at Chicago

Chicago, Nov. 8.—The Republicans made a clean sweep of the election in Chicago and Cook county, electing all of their candidates with the exception of one man. The Republicans elected four judges of the superior court by pluralities ranging from 20,000 to 25,000, one judge to fill a vacancy on the bench of the superior court by a plurality of about 1000, a judge of the circuit court by 10,000, and eight out of nine members of the board of sanitary trustees by pluralities ranging from 1000 to 5000.

Union Labor Party Wins

San Francisco, Nov. 8.—For the third consecutive time Eugene E. Schmitz, the union labor candidate, was re-elected mayor by a majority of at least 15,000 over John S. Partridge, the joint nominee of the Republican and Democratic parties. In addition to mayor, the union labor party has probably elected its entire municipal ticket by majorities ranging from 10,000 to 15,000.

Cox Drops Active Service

Cincinnati, Nov. 8.—George B. Cox, the Republican leader, last night gave out the following statement: "I wish to announce to the public that from this day, after 25 years of active service in the ranks of the Republican party, my personal activity in politics shall cease. I will continue to vote the Republican ticket, but others must bear the burden of future campaigns."

Illegal Voting Alleged

New York, Nov. 8.—Max Ihmsen of the Municipal league says that the league has evidence of 50,000 illegal votes having been cast. He said that frauds have been discovered in all five boroughs and that the law committee of the league is gathering all evidence.

Mrs Chadwick's Appeal Denied

Cincinnati, Nov. 8.—In the United States circuit court of appeals here, the petition of Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick for a new trial was refused. The judge declared that Mrs. Chadwick ought to have known it was wrong to draw checks on a bank when she knew she had no money on deposit there and that the inference drawn by the jury in the trial court that she acted with intent to defraud was a proper one.

Million People Practically Starving

London, Nov. 8.—The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says that a rice famine exists in the three prefectures of Fukushima, Mayaga and Iwate, and that the agricultural populations, numbering 1,000,000, practically are starving. The weather is intensely cold and the silk cocoon industry has been entirely spoiled. The government is taking measures for the relief of the sufferers.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

THE OHIO CONTEST

The Democrats Claim to Have Gained a Notable Victory

GOVERNOR UTTER WINS

Re-election in Rhode Island by an Overwhelming Plurality--Anti-Negro Suffrage Act Is Defeated In Maryland

Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—The Democratic leaders in this state at midnight claimed the election of Pattison and the entire Democratic ticket by substantial pluralities, while the Republicans simply refused to concede such a claim, insisting that the returns were insufficient at that hour to indicate anything except that the vote had been very heavy and that the amount of scratching had made counting very slow.

In the cities the Republican loss exceeded 100 to the precinct, but as the loss per precinct outside of the large cities was so far as reported only about 30, there was no certainty that the loss would run high enough to wipe out the 230,000 Republican plurality with which comparisons were made.

It had been expected that in view of the bitter fight that was made on Governor Herrick personally that he would run behind his ticket, but up to midnight he was running two votes to the precinct ahead of Harris, the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, who was expected to poll the average party vote. If this is continued throughout the state it would indicate that the bitterness of the attacks on Herrick had apparently reacted in his favor and gained him votes instead of losing them.

The early reports, though very meagre, were so strongly in favor of Pattison that his election was bulletined and announced in many of the extras, but as fuller returns came in, showing reduced ratio of gains, the Republicans became more hopeful and the Democrats refused to give out any statements, although they still maintained that they had gained a notable victory.

Reports from Cincinnati were to the effect that Hamilton county, which has been counted on by the Republicans to give 20,000 plurality for Herrick, had gone for Pattison, but early this morning a private message from George B. Cox to Herrick announced that Hamilton county had given the governor 3500 plurality.

Republican Chairman Dick gave the following statement: "The election returns are fragmentary and meagre, delay being due to the large number of candidates and a great deal of local ticket scratching. While it is not practicable as yet to approximate definite figures, indications clearly point to the re-election of Governor Herrick and the entire Republican state ticket by safe pluralities."

UTTER RE-ELECTED

Rhode Island Gave Him Greater Plurality Than Expected

Providence, Nov. 8.—A clean sweep for the whole Republican state ticket, headed by Governor Utter with a plurality of over 5000, the largest for several years, and a Republican legislature, with the Republicans in overwhelming preponderance, was the result in a nutshell of the annual state election. Two thirds of the state gave Utter 18,355 and Garvin 15,189, a net gain for the Republican candidate of about 2000 votes. The rest of the state ticket polled more votes than the head of the ticket throughout.

A plurality of 1000 was the largest looked for by Utter's most ardent supporters, nor was Garvin expected to drop so far below his vote last year. Utter's running mate on the ticket got an abnormally large plurality.

Republican gains were made in each branch of the legislature, and in the two principal cities of the state Republican mayors were elected after Democratic successes almost unbroken for the past decade.

The constitutional amendment providing for the reapportionment of the representation in the lower branch of the legislature in 100 districts to be regulated by the federal census was rejected. A three-fifths vote is necessary for its adoption. Indications point to the adoption of the state roads and armory loan proposition.

RESULT IN MARYLAND

The Constitutional Amendment Meets Overwhelming Defeat

Baltimore, Nov. 8.—The election in Maryland was for a state comptroller, legislature and county officers and in Baltimore for a judge of the supreme court, sheriff, city clerk and surveyor. The issue which engrossed popular attention was a proposed constitutional amendment, the avowed purpose of which was to disfranchise negro voters, but which aroused widespread opposition among many Democrats and foreign voters in both parties.

Owing to the extreme length of the ballot the count has been slow. The returns so far received, however, make certain the defeat of the proposed constitutional amendment by a decisive majority of 20,000 or more and very probable the election of McCullough (Rep.) for state comptroller over Atkinson (Dem.) and the election of Republicans in three out of four of the city legislative districts. The Republican candidates for sheriff, city court clerk and city surveyor in Baltimore are also elected. Chief Judge Harlan (Dem.) is re-elected by 10,000 majority. The Republicans did not nominate a candidate against Judge Harlan, though there was an independent Republican candidate.

The political complexion of the next legislature is uncertain and will not be known until the official count has been completed.

New Jersey Machine Shaken

Trenton, Nov. 8.—The election in New Jersey increased the Republican hold upon the state legislature and makes it impossible that a Democrat should succeed Senator John P. Dryden in 1907. Only four of the 21 state senators will be Democrats. Everett Colby, the Independent Republican, whose fight against the organization of his party attracted wide interest, was swept into office by a majority of about 19,000.

The Republican wave swept into Jersey City again and Mayor Fagan, despite the active opposition of the Republican machine, he being an Independent Republican of the Colby stripe, was again elected.

Usual Result In Virginia

Richmond, Nov. 8.—Claude A. Swanson (Dem.) was elected governor of Virginia by about 20,000 plurality over J. L. Lewis (Rep). The vote everywhere was exceedingly light. The negroes throughout the state abstained from voting almost entirely. The Republicans gained a few members of the legislature.

Republicans Carry Nebraska

Omaha, Nov. 8.—Sufficient returns are inclined to indicate the election of the entire Republican ticket.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivaled by Human Hair Where Dandruff Is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Big Lead for Conductor Johnson

Conductor Johnson believes in adding a few votes each day to his total and today jumps to 3500. There are gains for Engineer Johnson, Fred S. Sheppard, Arthur J. O'Neil and others.

Miss Winneberger and others gain in the ladies' list.

It is again necessary to remind those sending coupons that it is necessary that the name of the candidates should appear on every coupon.

Winners in the contest who do not care to select a $100 scholarship may select two studies where the cost is $50. A postal to Mr. U. C. Benoit, 26 Foster street, will bring information relative to the courses offered by the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., which are adapted to all needs, including foreign languages by the aid of the phonograph, civil, mechanical, electrical, steam or mining engineering, drafting, architecture, bookkeeping, stenography, civil service examinations, commercial law, illustrating, designing, building inspecting, chemistry, assaying, etc., etc.

Votes should reach the office at 9 A. M., to be counted that day, and it may soon be necessary to put this hour earlier, as the vote increases.

Only those with 100 votes are printed today, but the complete list will appear tomorrow.

Better Collections Many Paying Interest

The statement of the City Treasurer for Oct. 31 shows receipts from taxes of 1905 to be $125,246.37. A year ago the taxes of 1904 collected to Oct. 31 amounted to $109.713.91, and in 1903 but $97,972.00 reached the City treasury on or before Oct. 31.

The $125,246.37 does not represent the full amount collected previous to Nov. 1, but it is a fact that taxpayers are paying interest on over half of the amount assessed which was in the vicinity of $500,000.

To Be Razed.

One of the oldest houses in the Quincy centre is to be torn down. It was occupied for years by Dr. Charles S. French, and now stands near by the Johnson Brothers' market. Warren S. Parker has purchased the old house, and has twenty days to removed it. It must have a large amount of lumber, and brick in it, as it was built in the days when they used good deal of material.

TODAY'S COURT.

Amoibile Locaren was fined $5 for gunning on the Metropolitan Park Reservation at Milton.

CARD OF THANKS.

The widow of the late Mr. Waldo Coolidge desires herewith to express her heartfelt appreciation to her many friends, and especially to the King's Daughters of Bethany church, for the beautiful flowers, kind words and acts, which have been a great source of comfort in the midst of her sad bereavement. May God's choicest blessings be upon you all.

Mrs. Jennie Coolidge.
Quincy, Nov. 8. 1t lp

AMONG THE CLUBS.

Hereafter the club department will appear in the Wednesday instead of the Saturday Ledger, as the rush of other news and the printing of several papers at the end of the week makes it impossible for the editor to do justice to the subject. Presidents or Secretaries of clubs, auxiliaries, alliances, guilds, leagues, patriotic or church societies, are invited to cooperate by sending matter pertaining to their organization, which will be of interest to their members or the public. If mailed to the club editor not later than Tuesday noon it will receive prompt attention.—Eds.

Quincy Women's Club.

Next Tuesday afternoon the Quincy Women's club will assemble at the club house on President's hill at three o'clock to listen to a lecture by Rabbi Fleischer of Boston, who will take for his subject, "Women in Democracy." Besides the lecture, there will be music, and a social half hour. At this meeting the Civic Betterment committee will have guests' tickets for the lecture to be given at Bethany chapel on the 28th by A. H. Kirkland of the Gypsy Moth Commission. Every one should be interested gypsy moths and browntails, and wish to attend the lecture. Quincy should see to the pests before our beautiful trees are destroyed, and the lecture will give information as to how to exterminate them. Stereopticon illustrations will be used profusely by Mr. Kirkland which will add interest to the lecture.

Day Nursery.

The regular meeting of the Quincy Day Nursery was held Tuesday, Nov. 7, with Mrs. N. S. Hunting, 18 present. Secretary's report stood approved.

Treasurer reported $148.12 receipts from the rummage sale. Other receipts during the month amounted to $37.80 making a total of $185.92. Total expenses for month $73.81.

Matron reported an aggregate of 313 children during October, an increase of 66 over September.

Mrs. Blanchard and Mrs. Patch gave a very satisfactory report for visiting committee.

The association voted to accept the invitation of the Quincy Women's club to hold its meetings in the committee rooms of the club house on Goffe street. In the future the admission to the Nursery is to be five cents each day, whether one or more come from each family.

Mrs. Safford of Atlantic offered the use of her house for a sale to be given at an early date. Committee for same: Mrs. Safford, Mrs. Hunting, Mrs. King, Mrs. Read, Mrs. Patch, Mrs. Sibley.

Mary W. Read, Secretary.

Friday Club.

The Friday club met November third with Mrs Cockayne, Hancock street. Mrs. Marsh, president of the of the club presided, and Mrs. Tupper had charge of the programme for the afternoon, the subject being; "Historical Setting of the Period, 1854-1664."

Junior Friday Club.

Litchfield, her subjects being Thomas Payn and the Hartford wits: Jonathan Trumbull, Joel Barlow and Timothy Dwight.

King's Daughters.

All the King's Daughters tens have united in giving a dramatic entertainment which comes off this evening at Bethany chapel. The play "Chaperon" has been in preparation for some time and a successful performance is assured. The proceeds go to replenish the treasury to continue charitable work through the coming winter.

Junior Sons and Daughters.

John Adams Chapter Junior Sons and Daughters of the Revolution hold their regular monthly meeting on Saturday afternoon at half past two at the birthplace of President John Adams.

Manet Club.

The Manet club holds a whist party this evening in the parish house, it being one of the series of entertainments, dances, etc., being given by the club this season.

Wollaston Unity Club.

"Arcadia and Nova Scotia" is the subject for Friday night's meeting of the Unity club. The evening will be in charge of C. F. Harper, head master of the High school, who has arranged an interesting program. Papers will be read as follows: "Arcadia," Miss Mary A. Thomas; "Expulsion of Arcadians," Melvin T. Holbrook, submaster of the High school; "Nova Scotia," Stacy B. Southworth; "Selections from Evangeline," Miss Dorothy Fay. There will be appropriate music under the direction of Miss Hatch.

Pine Tree Club.

The Pine Tree State association will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening, Nov. 9, at Colonial hall. The business of the evening will be the nomination of officers for the following year. After the entertainment, refreshments will be served. All natives of Maine are invited to attend.

Pickwick Club.

Tonight the Pickwick club meets with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Beattie of Elm street for the second meeting of the season. Mr. Lawence Loring and Miss Elizabeth Hubbard are the committee, the subject being epic and sacred poetry—"Calliope and Polyhymnia."

First Church Social Club.

Course tickets are being distributed among the members of the First church Social club, for the series of entertainments to be given during the winter. The opening date is Friday evening Nov. 24th when a dancing party will be held at Faxon hall. The course closes on March 16th.

Daughters of the Revolution.

Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, had a very pleasant meeting on Monday afternoon at the birthplace of President John Adams, notwithstanding the rain. Special guests were the officers of the State Society, Mrs. Fitz, regent, with Mrs. Daniels, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Holbrook, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Bartley and Mrs. Emerson.

After a short business meeting and a few words of greeting and pleasure from the officers, there followed an entertainment prepared by the chapter, consisting of violin solos by Master Stetson Avery accompanied at the piano by his mother Mrs. Albert E. Avery; solos by Mrs. N. S. Hunting, and Mrs. Wilson Marsh by request repeated her interesting paper on the old Hancock cemetery. It was a delightful afternoon and a vote of thanks was extended to the entertainers for the pleasure their music and paper had given. The violin solos were heartily encored as was Mrs. Hunting's singing. Mrs. Marsh's paper proved interesting not only to Quincy but to out of town guests.

In the parlor a table was spread with sandwiches, delicious home made cake, candy, olives and hot chocolate and good cheer prevailed.

Guilds.

The Quincy branch of the Needle Work Guild is holding its yearly meeting this afternoon at the home of Miss Abbie Wood, its president. All the garments collected are new and are to be distributed during the winter to the needy. The work of the Guild does not include second hand clothing but everything is new and durable.

St. Margaret's Guild of Christ church meets for class work on Friday evening, Nov. 10th.

The Ladies' Guild of Christ church is very busy preparidg for their Christmas sale.

Alliances.

This afternoon the meeting of the Wollaston Unitarian Alliance postponed from last week on account of the conference at Milton, is being held in the vestry of the church. Members from the Quincy Alliance were invited to attend.

First church Alliance is making a study this season of Unitarianism, and will hold the third meeting on Monday afternoon in the church parlor. Mrs. George G. Saville is the committee and the subject James Martineau.

The W. C. T. U.

The Wollaston W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. George A. Brown, Farrington street, Tuesday afternoon at 2.30. Reports from State Convention, "The Messages."

Neighboring Women's Clubs.

The New England Woman's Press association is to observe its twentieth anniversary on Friday, Nov. 17th, by a breakfast at hotel Vendome, Boston. It will also be the birthday anniversary of its president, Mrs. Whittaker, and promises to be an unusually happy affair. At the regular literary meeting on Wednesday Beulah Marie Dix is to address the club, taking Thanksgiving as her subject.

Last week Friday afternoon the Woburn Woman's club were entertained by a demonstration in cooking by Miss Fannie Merritt Farmer, her subject being reception dishes. Next Friday the club is to give a public whist, the proceeds for philanthropic work

The Brockton Woman's club is the representative woman's organization in that city. Instead of having numerous clubs for art and travel, music, current events, mothers' meetings and the like, such as exist in some cities, all these divisions of education effort are combined in the Brockton Woman's club, with the addition of many others, and the city finds itself the possessor of a club with 600 members, and half as many more on the waiting list. The club is about nine years old, and has by no means confined itself to social pleasures, doing much in the way of philanthropy and education. The constitution of the club declares its object to be "Intellectual, philanthropic, educational and social advancement," and none of these things have been neglected. Free lectures conducted by the home committee, the establishment of a district nurse, the maintenance of stamp savings banks in some of the public schools, securing treatment of many poor children with defective sight and hearing, placing art works in the school rooms and many other things are to the philanthropic credit of the club. Some of the educational classes of the club meet at the homes of members. Many of the regular club meetings and entertainments are held in Y. M. C. A. hall. There has been a proposition entertained to try to eventually have a home for the club of its own, but no such movement has been inaugurated as yet.—Boston Globe.

On Monday afternoon the Dorchester Social Club of Women entertained the presidents and secretaries of the federated club of Greater Boston. A fine program was prepared for their entertainment and it was a particularly pleasing afternoon for all.

The Revere Woman's club observes its eleventh anniversary on the fifteenth by a dinner at the Exeter Chambers, Boston.

The Hyde Park Current Events club holds a club social on Friday afternoon.

Henry Mixter Penniman of Berea college, Kentucky, is to address the Club House club on Friday afternoon, in Sewall hall, Huntington avenue, Boston, speaking on the needs of Berea and the great opening for true philanthropy with reference to co-racial education in Kentucky. He has many stories of the mountain regions to illustrate his subject. Music and tea follow the lecture.

Trawler Launched

New Product of Fore River May Revolutionize Fishing Industry

The steam trawl Spray, the first vessel of its kind, was successfully launched at 9.28 this morning at the Fore River Shipbuilding plant. The launching was witnessed by the officials and a small party of gentlemen interested in the building of the vessel.

As she slid off the ways she was christened by Betty Dent Smith, the little daughter of General Manager Smith.

Intense interest which has been manifested by Boston fish dealers and the thousands of fishermen in this port and Gloucester in the steam trawl project, will now be very keen, as the vessel will be equipped by Dec. 1, and will start for the fishing grounds.

Capt. Dexter Malone, who is to command the new vessel, is on his way from Liverpool to New York, on his return from England and Ireland, where he has been studying the methods of operation of steam trawlers. Although fishermen claim the steam trawler will never be a success on this coast, the success or failure of the project is awaited with intense interest. If the trawler is a success, it may sound a death kneel to a fleet of 150 sailing craft now engaged in fresh fishing, the losing of a profitable occupation to 1000 fishermen and the end of baiting and trawling.

Promoters of the steam trawler, who have put $100,000 into the experiment, have the most enthusiastic predictions for the success of the enterprise. The company organized to operate the new vessel is known as the Bay State Fishing Company, John R. Neal of T wharf and other big fish dealers are prime movers in the project.

The vessel is 138 feet over all, 22 feet beam and 260 tons net register. She is built on the model of the English steam trawlers, which for years have been in operation on the English and Irish coasts. Capt. Malone was formerly skipper of the schooner Manhansett, and has been a fresh fisherman 25 years. He was sent to England in July to nvestigate steam trawling and has been making fishing trips on the English coast and studying the gear and fittings of trawlers. He will take charge of the fitting up of the Spray. He will arrive in New York on Friday, on the steamship Baltic, from Liverpool.

The steam trawler operates a drag otter trawl with a 110-foot opening, which runs along through the water, scooping in tons of fish at a haul. The trawl is worked day and night. The trawler dispenses with dories, bait and gearing. A crew of from 11 to 14 men operates a trawler, against 16 to 30 men on a sailing vessel. The crew works in watches, operating the trawl continuously from the time the vessel leaves port.

The cost of the Spray is placed at $60,000. A modern fishing schooner costs about $14,000.

Revised Figures of the State

Guild for Governor	23,116
Draper for Lieutenant	1,996
LAST YEAR
Douglas for Governor	35,989
Guild for Lieutenant	30.706

The cities other than Boston together with the towns gave Draper a plurality of 27,445, while Boston gave a Whitney plurality of 25,449, reducing the plurality of Draper in the State to 1,996.

The Y. M. C. A. To Have a Flag

The local Young Men's Christian Association is to received the gift of a large and handsome American flag and pole for the front of the building from the Makeria Fraternity as soon as it can be procured and put in place.

If the flag had been available it would have been at half mast for Sir George Williams of London, the founder of the organization, who died Monday at the age of 84 years.

Few organizers have lived to see the results and development of a movement of their starting as has Sir George. The movement will regret their loss; he has been to them an inspiration for many years.

He hopes to see most of his former pupils (over 500 in Quincy besides a great many from surrounding towns) during the season. This is his sixth season at teaching in Quincy and he hopes this, his first one in Music Hall, will be his most successful. No spectators other than parents of pupils will be allowed at the classes, and the best of order will be insisted upon at the classes and assemblies. He reserves the right to exclude any objectionable parties. Mr. Baker's residence is at 26 Foster street. Oct. 14-tf

Citizens' Association

To Be Organized In Quincy Has Support of Influential Men

A meeting to formulate plans for the organization of a Citizens' Association was held Wednesday evening in the rooms of the Granite Manufacturers' Association. In response to invitations sent out seventeen gentlemen representing all parts of the city were present.

Henry L. Kincaide called the meeting to order and was elected chairman and George T. Magee secretary.

Mr. Kincaide briefly outlined the object of the meeting. He felt that much good could be done by a Citizens' organization. He felt that it was a detriment never to hear a good word said of Quincy. People run it down and it seemed the desire of many to give it a black eye.

Something should be done to talk it up. An association of citizens can do much to promote the welfare of the city by using its influence in legislative matters to secure new industries, better service and lower rates from public service corporations, in addition to encouraging citizens to talk Quincy and create on the outside a more favorable impression of the city than exists today.

The chairman extended an invitation to the gentlemen present to express their views.

Frank F. Crane started the ball rolling by moving that an association be formed to be called Citizens' Association. The motion was carried.

Ex-Mayor Sears said as many interests were to be served, both residential and business, he hoped all would express their views.

Ex-Councilman Harry W. Read of the Atlantic ward said it was true people ran the city down. He never heard a good word said of it or of its advantages as a residential section. He spoke of some of the things needed in his section such as better police service, cheaper fares, and better and cheaper gas and electric light service. He believed such an organization as proposed would be a good thing and he would be glad to help.

Ex-Councilman Nathan G. Nickerson of the Wollaston ward never met but one man who envied his living in Quincy. He lived 3,000 miles away. The idea has gone abroad that Quincy is not a desirable place to live in. It was difficult to get loans in Quincy. There was no reason why such an organization would not be of great value to Quincy. It should be kept free from politics although its hand might be felt. An organization of this kind could have settled the school question a long time ago.

Thomas B. Pollard of the Quincy Point ward said, every citizen in Quincy ought to be interested in an organization of this kind. He believed this was started on a different basis from the People's Union and was more likely to succeed. An organization of this kind could do much to make Quincy a more attractive place to live in.

Herman F. McIntire thought it was not good policy to say there was nothing good to say of Quincy. If we do not speak well of it we give it a black eye. There were two things needed. One was through cars to Dudley street. This would advertise the city to thousands every day. Then the bad impression one had on arriving on the stream cars with its depot that had a Queen Anne front and a Mary Anne back. Grade crossings should be eliminated. He thought Quincy the best town to live in of any he knew.

Deputy Sheriff George H. Field believed Quincy a good place to live in. The trouble is that people who want loans want too much. Fair loans could be furnished for anyone. Our streets are better than Lynn and we have the best fire department in the state. He also referred to the railroad whistles at night which were a nuisance.

Mr. Read, speaking again, said a good government association was the best thing, backed by the business and representative men of the city. In time it will have a force that will be a political force. Give us lights that burn all night. An organization can force this.

F. F. Crane spoke of the need of providing houses for rent. It was hard work to get homes for the workmen of our industries. We have the best water front in the State and an industry that is keeping Quincy before the country. He also spoke of the channel off Houghs Neck which was the deepest in Boston Harbor.

Ex-Councilman Walter S. Pinkham of the Wollaston ward said the association should get business men into the City Council. It was useless to trust to luck to get a Council. We want a City Council that will not have to be told what to do. The association will make a mistake if it does not have something to do with politics.

H. G. Smith general manager of the Fore River Company looked forward to coming to Quincy to live, but the first things he heard were derogatory of the city. He was satisfied that as a residential city it was difficult to beat. We have many men at our plant who have made Quincy their home. Others would like to come but are unable on account of shortage of houses. Anything that could be done to secure a better interest would be well received by his people. Such an association as proposed would be of the greatest value. We lose many good men because they cannot find houses.

Mr. McIntire said there was a demand for 300 houses that would rent from $15 to $18.

Joseph A. Sedwick, auditor of the Fore River Company, said the General Electric Co. at Lynn had built houses for its workmen that rent from $12 to $15. There was no better residential places than Wollaston and Presidents Hill. Still we have our manufacturing district. The object is to bring all these forces together. He favored doing what could be done to bring them together. We should speak a good word for Quincy; should preach and talk it, and not cry it down.

He also spoke of the high price for gas and electricity. The Fore River Co. would work in conjunction with the association. The trend of Quincy is fixed and we have to make the best results we can.

Mr. Kincaide spoke of the work a similar association was doing in Holyoke, and what it had accomplished. He believed such an association as proposed with committees on the different subjects would do much to further the interests of the city.

John L. Miller, president of the Granite Manufacturers' Association, thought it a good thing, as it would get business men together in a social way. It would make mutual interest and be of great benefit. Hearing after hearing on important matters are held by the City Council, and no one appears. Representatives of such an association as proposed would appear by its representatives and accomplish much good. The city has done much to strangle its granite industry. It is impossible to get permission to run a spur track to the stone sheds at South Quincy. He spoke of Barre, Vt., Quincy's competitor in the granite industry, and how much was done by the city there to further the industry. He favored the proposed association.

Upon motion of Mr. Sedgwick, a committee consisting of Henry L. Kincaide, Clarence Burgin, Joseph A. Sedgwick, Russell A. Sears, Herman F. McIntyre, Frank F. Crane and Walter S. Pinkham, was appointed to frame a plan of organization.

The meeting then adjourned for a week.

Joint Caucuses

CITY OF QUINCY.

City Clerk's Office, Oct. 12, 1905.

THE voters of the City of Quincy, members of the Democratic and Republican Parties, are hereby notified to assemble at the voting places in their respective Wards as designated in an order of the City Council passed Oct. 2, 1905 and approved by the Mayor Oct. 5, 1905, on then and there to give in their votes for the nomination of candidates as follows: For Mayor, Five Councilmen-at-large, Three Councilmen from Ward, One member of the School Committee at-large for three years, One member of the School Committee for Ward 4 and One member of the School Committee for Ward 6, for three years.

Also for the election of Ward Committees as follows:—by the voters of the Democratic party nine members for each ward and by the voters of the Republican party nine members for each ward.

The polls will be opened at twelve o'clock at noon and will remain open until nine o'clock in the evening, when they will close.

Nomination papers, signed as the law requires, must be filed as follows:

By the Democratic voters, with the Secretary of the Democratic City Committee, between 7 o'clock P. M., Tuesday, Oct. 31, and 5 o'clock P. M., Thursday, Nov. 2, at No. 118 Upland Road.

By the Republican voters, with the Secretary of the Republican City Committee, between 7 o'clock P. M., Tuesday, Oct. 31, and 5 o'clock, P. M., Thursday, Nov. 2, at room 25, Adams Building.

Blank nomination papers may be obtained from the Secretary of each of the parties abovenamed.

The voting places for the Caucuses have been designated as follows:

WARD SIX, Music Hall, Newbury Avenue.

HARRISON A. KEITH, City Clerk.

The Chaperon

Dramatics Of the King's Daughters Great Success

Unity Circle of King's Daughters served another triumph Wednesday evening in the successful presentation of the bright, and taking comedy entitled "The Chaperon," which was given in the chapel of Bethany church before an audience which packed the chapel to the doors.

The cast was as follows:

Miss Morong, principal of Crandon Hall, Mrs. George Badger
Mrs. Dynecourt of "Selbourne," Mrs. S. I. Wood
Mademoiselle Jeanne, Miss Grace E. Drumm
Joyce Dynecourt, a pupil, Miss E. A. Thomas
Judith Grey, a pupil, Miss May Geeson
Phillis Reynolds, a pupil, Miss Hattie E. Sargent
Susanne Horton, a pupil, Mrs. Howard Spear
Mollie Howard, a pupil, Miss Eleanor Guild
Miriam, the gipsy, Mrs. Wilson Marsh
Jill, the waif, Miss Maud McFarlane
Nora, Mrs. Dynecourt's maid, Mrs. A. I. Davis

Each character seemed so especially fitted to her part that it is next to impossible to particularize. The quiet dignity of the lady principal, the stately and every way worthy personation of Mrs. Dynecourt, the gay abandon of the girl students, the telling and vivacious presentation of the French teacher, the able and conscientious rendering of the difficult part of Miriam, the sweet winsomeness of "the Waif," each was admirable in its way but all will agree that Nora, with her "illigant brogue," was the life of the stage.

The settings of the various scenes were suitable and attractive, while the musical accompaniment furnished by Mrs. Daisy Sampson added much to the effect of the whole.

Mrs. Moore's songs between the acts, "The Proposal," "Rainbows, and "For all eternity," met with merited applause.

As usual the patrons of the entertainment received their money's worth in full measure, and at the same time had the satisfaction of helping along one of our most useful charities.

Pretty Wedding At South Quincy

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's father, Mr. John McDonald of 27 Brooks avenue, Wednesday evening at 7.30, when Mr. Alexander Ross was united in marriage to Miss Katie McDonald by Rev. W. B. Barr.

The bridal party stood under a marriage bell suspended from a beautiful laurel arch. The bridesmaid was Miss Jessie McDonald, a sister of the bride, and the best man was Mr. Edward Prouty.

The ushers were Mr. Hugh McLeod and Mr. William McDonald assisted by four children ushers, Grace McKinnon, Gibbs McDonald, Raymond McDonald, and Anna McLeod.

The bride looked very pretty, gowned in white point d'esprit, and a bridal veil, and orange blossoms, and carrying a bouquet of Bride roses.

The bridesmaid was dressed in gray crepe de chine trimmed in white web chiffon and gray medallions and wore pink carnations.

After the ceremony the bride and groom received congratulations and best wishes from those present. A wedding supper was served.

There were over a hundred present from Quincy, Lexington, Chelsea, Waltham, South Framingham and Somerville. Mr. and Mrs. Ross received a great number of beautiful and useful presents. They are a couple of our most popular young people, and have the best wishes of a host of friends. They will make their home at No. 102 Intervale street.

The Representatives Elect.

Representatives-elect Hultman and Sandberg entertained informally on election night. Representative Hultman entertained at his home and during the evening a hundred or more friends called to extend congratulations. Representative Sandberg entertained at Plumers hall. A collation was served and there was speeches of a congratulatory nature by several friends.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The "club notes" in the Daily Ledger of Wednesday promise to be popular. At least twenty-five clubs were represented this week, most of them local. With the cooperation of the presidents and secretaries of all clubs and societies "Amoug the Clubs" will be an interesting feature. It is not confined now to women's clubs, but to all organizations of gentlemen and ladies, especially social, educational and charitable.

The railroads say that if they stop rebates, they will bring on a rate war. They also confess that it is true that they publish one tariff and collect another. Theodore Roosevelt said at New Orleans. "There is one thing as President of this country, I won't do, and that is to make a bluff that I cannot make good." The issue appears to be joined. Let the scrapping proceed.

Perhaps it was the last year that Quincy will have a double Representative district. There will be a reapportionment of the districts in 1906. Quincy will certainly be entitled to two Representatives as of late, but one should be elected from Wards One, Two and Three; and one from Wards Four, Five and Six. Fortunately, the two Representatives elected would be in different districts by this apportionment.

Gov.-elect Guild had a plurality in the cities outside of Boston as well as in the towns of Massachusetts. While Boston gave about 25,000 Democratic, the other 32 cities went nearly 5,000 Republican, and the towns added 22,000 Republican clinching the victory. Quincy gave a larger plurality to Gen. Guild than did Fitchburg, Holyoke, Beverly, Chicopee, Everett, Marlboro, Medford, Melrose, Newburyport, Northampton, North Adams and Woburn although some of the cities are larger in population.

The Daily Ledger welcomes the new Citizens' Association which is being organized in the city. There is a field for it, and it is very much needed for the good of the city; for its business; for its progress, for its good government. The preliminary meeting was attended by representative gentlemen from the different parts of the city, and with such men behind it the future is bright. No city of 30,000 population has a better outlook than Quincy if it is properly developed, and the Daily Ledger will be pleased to cooperate with the Citizens' Association.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ There really ought to be nothing very surprising in a plurality of about 25,000 for the Republican candidate for governor in Massachusetts, nor does there appear to be any particular comment needed, except that the Republican party in the state is getting back somewhere near to its normal position, and that for an off year, with pronounced apathy on the part of the voters, in spite of the most strenuous kind of campaigning, the figures are very satisfactory. Nobody thought that Massachusetts had gone Democratic last year, just because it elected Gov. Douglas, and with none of the conditions existing this year that were then so marked a factor, with none of the personal grievances that existed at that time, with no reason why the reciprocity element in the Republican party should not support the nominee, and with no particular strength on the part of the Democratic nominee which could be especially relied upon to attract votes, there was little reason for expecting that the Republican candidate would be defeated.—Haverhill Gazette.

Clean Milk.

In its crop report for October, the last for the season, the Mass. State Board of Agriculture includes an article on "Clean Milk: Suggestions for the Average Producer," by P. M. Harwood, General Agent of the State Dairy Bureau. This report will be sent free on application to J. Lewis Ellsworth, Secretary State Board of Agriculture, and the names of those making special application placed on the mailing list for another year.

In this article Mr. Harwood says: "Milk has truly been termed 'the world's first food.'" The importance of a pure, clean article can hardly be overestimated. The health, happiness, vigor and prosperity of a people are in no small degree dependent upon food consumed, and especially is this true of the food of children, who are later to become the men and women of the nation.

First Passenger Railway.

The first passenger railway in either Europe or America was that between Stockton and Darlington, a distance of twenty miles. The fare was 2 shillings. The line was opened in 1825, and at first the wagons were drawn by horses, but in the following year two of Stephenson's locomotives were employed.

The Aketon.

The aketon was a quilted jacket worn under the armor. In the reign of John of England there appears an entry in the royal accounts of a pound of cotton to stuff the king's jacket. The cotton cost 12 pence and the quilting the same amount.

HUB MURDER DENS

Officials to Take Concerted Action to Wipe Them Out

WAR TO BE RELENTLESS

Deaths Said to Occur by Wholesale In Malpractitioners' Offices, One of Which Treated 83 Cases In One Week

Boston, Nov. 9.—Judge Emmons, representing the board of police, combined with Deputy Chief Neal of the state police, Postoffice Inspector Snow and Dr. Edwin B. Harvey of the state board of registration in medicine, will begin today a war on "medical offices" in Boston where, it is declared, at least six girls a week are sent to their doom.

Today's war, growing out of the "suit case" crime, where Susan Geary was killed and cut up, will be waged relentlessly until malpractitioners' establishments cease to exist in Boston. Deputy Neal declares that it is very difficult for the police to secure evidence against the proprietors sufficient to put them behind prison bars, but believes that something can be done to force the closing of many establishments.

Valuable assistance is expected from the newly-elected district attorney, John B. Moran, who about a week ago vowed that if he were elected he would close malpractitioners' offices.

Speaking of the proposed war, Inspector Snow said: "The federal government, the state police and the local police, all combined, can drive malpractitioners out of business in this city. We shall proceed with an avowed determination to rid this city of these murder dens.

"In one Tremont street office we learned that 83 cases were treated in one week. This represents a conservative average. Deaths occur by wholesale in these places. The case of the Geary girl was no exception. Moreover, unfortunate girls are swindled in these places. One patient paid $1600 in one week for treatment. It is hard to get evidence, but not impossible.

"One establishment readily furnishes damaging information against another. I have already cut off a certain branch of the advertising business which lures girls into the net from little New England towns. The business of many of these dens has already been crippled. What we have done will save country girls from death and ruin.

"These places are hard to fight. The proprietors secure the ablest lawyers for defense, but much can be done. They have even lobbied at Washington. The 'Dr. Jane Bishop office' netted $100,000 a year. Others are far less powerful, and when the proprietors are arrested they do not generally put up a hard fight, as many of the malpractitioners have criminal records. The test comes in securing incriminating evidence.

"One way we can cripple Boston's 30 dens is to terrify the 'reputable' physicians who act as consultants, and others who receive the patients who are destined to die. By sending fatal cases to these physicians the dens have been guarding themselves against the police."

Deputy Chief Neal said: "Many of these dens thrive in Boston. We know where they are. I am willing to co-operate with the local police."

Judge Emmons said: "It is hardly possible to tell what we shall accomplish, but the investigation will be thorough."

Dr. Harvey's part will be to furnish data regarding registered physicians in Boston and in nearby places.

Probable Place of Geary Burial

Leominster, Mass., Nov. 9.—It is probable that the remains of Susan Geary will be buried in this town. The body has been claimed by the mother of the girl, and the father, who first died and whose body is buried in the St. Leo Catholic cemetery, owned a lot in the cemetery here. It is not definitely known whether the young woman is to be buried in this lot, but the chances are much in favor of it, from the fact that the girl was born in Leominster, and the family has a lot in the cemetery.

Crawford and Howard Remanded

New York, Nov. 9.—William Howard and Lewis W. Crawford, the two men arrested in this city in connection with the Susan Geary case, were rearraigned and for the second time remanded to prison for 48 hours without bail, to await the arrival of extradition papers from Boston.

Mysterious Tragedy at Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Nov. 9.—Lying in a pool of blood, the body of an unknown man was found in a room on the second floor of a house in the southern part of the city. The skull was crushed and the body gave other evidence to warrant the police in believing the man had been murdered. The authorities believe the man was lured to the place and then assaulted and robbed.

New Title For King's Daughter

London, Nov. 9.—King Edward's birthday honor list contains few features of general interest and chiefly concerns individuals who are rewarded for service to the crown. The Duchess of Fife, eldest daughter of the king, is authorized to bear the title of Princess Royal and her daughters to be designated as "Highness" and "Princess."

AFTER WIFE BEATERS

Lowell Judge Would Like to Use Strap on Some of Them

Lowell, Mass., Nov. 9.—Judge Hadley has set out to prevent that kind of family discipline, current among the Polish residents, in which the lord and master of the household wields straps and administers sundry slaps and punches to make his spouse obey his will.

He has set up against wife beating and has threatened that he will put a stop to it in this city. He had "Mike Smith," a Pole, in for abusing his wife. It was a pitiful story she and witnesses told.

She is in a very delicate condition and had to be assisted to the stand when she testified. At first she did not want to say anything against her husband, but it finally developed that he was in the habit of using a strap, with which he beat her. One day he slapped her in the face and made her nose bleed, and another time he punched her so hard in the back she could barely move for days. He was fined $20.

"I'd like to take you out in the yard and give you a taste of a good stout strap," said the judge. "I have heard of this strap-beating custom in foreign countries, but I don't propose to have it here. You will have to treat your wife differently if you intend to live here in a civilized country. We'll have that kind of family discipline stopped in this city if I can do it."

Robber Laid Out Police Chief

Parsons, Kas., Nov. 9.—Bernie T. Cole was arrested here in response to a telegram from a postoffice inspector at Newport, Vt., for robbing the postoffice at Craftbury, Vt., and escaped from jail last night. When the chief of police entered Cole's cell with the prisoner's supper Cole hit the officer over the head with a brick. After beating the chief of police insensible Cole took the officer's keys, unlocked the doors of the jail and escaped. Cole confessed, it is said, that he had robbed the postoffice.

Advance Money Is "Docked"

Johannesburg, Nov. 9.—The distribution of the free grant of $15,000,000 promised the Boers by the treaty of Vereeniging at the close of the Boer war for repatriation and other kindred purposes is now proceeding. Some of the recipients are dissatisfied because previous advances are deducted from the sums they receive, as they had expected to be allowed to repay such advances at their own convenience.

Mrs Thaw Gets Divorce

New York, Nov. 9.—In the same week in which his new $500,000 residence in East Eighty-Ninth street was practically completed, Edward Thaw, of a Pittsburg family noted for its wealth, was divorced by his wife, who was formerly Miss Frida Marsh, a member of New York society. The decree was signed by Judge Gildersleeve. Mrs. Thaw said the divorce had been obtained on statutory grounds.

In Honor of King Edward

New York, Nov. 9.—Eighteen American and British warships, from their anchorage in the North river, fired in unison at noon today a national salute of 21 guns in honor of King Edward's birthday. Each ship was in full dress, a rainbow of flags stetching from stem to stern. Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg, with his squadron of six armored cruisers, arrived from Annapolis this morning.

Youth Held For Manslaughter

Great Barrington, Mass., Nov. 9.—William Jones, a negro, aged 18, was held for the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter after an all-day hearing in the local court. The evidence indicated that Jackson fired a shot to frighten boys who were throwing apples at him as he drove along the street and that Walter Webster, 20 years old, was hit by the bullet and killed. Bail was fixed at $1000.

Another Grand Duke Out

St. Petersburg, Nov. 9.—Grand Duke Vladimir has resigned the post of commander of the guard and of the military district of St. Petersburg and the announcement of his resignation is accompanied by a cool and formal manifesto referring briefly to Vladimir's appointment at the wish of Emperor Alexander III, and of his desire to resign on account of ill-health.

Broker Brown Held In $20,000

Boston, Nov. 9.—Harry C. Brown, a stock broker, was held in $20,000 for the Suffolk county grand jury on the charge of forging and uttering certificates of Boston and Albany railroad stock. He waived examination when brought before Justice Bennett. Brown failed to get bail and was committed. He is well known among Boston brokers.

Canadians Favor Protection

Montreal, Nov. 9.—The Dominion government's tariff commission, which has been visiting various parts of the Dominion, is sitting here and has heard a large number of delegates representing various trades and industries. The keynote of their representations was the necessity for more protection to Canadian industries.

Mind Unbalanced by Politics

Zanesville, O., Nov. 9.—J. E. Crotzer, Republican candidate for member of the board of service, who was defeated at Tuesday's election, has been adjudged insane and committed to the Columbus state hospital. His mental condition is attributed to worry over the election.

London, Nov. 9.—Albert S. Stevens, a Rhodes scholar from Yale, now at Oxford, at the freshmen sports threw the hammer 124 feet 8 inches, the record for a freshman throw.

CITY BREVITIES.

A rummage sale will be held at West Quincy next week.

Gov. Douglas has appointed Nov. 30 as Thanksgiving day.

But two more weeks of the Scholarship contest after this week.

The Committee on Streets of the City Council will meet Friday evening.

The joint Committee on Finance and Ordinances of the City Council will meet tonight.

The Quincys will have a home game in the Merrimac Valley league this week playing the Methuens on the Ward Three playgrounds on Saturday. The Fore River team will go to Lawrence, Andover to Lynn, and Merrimacs to Boston.

A former resident of Atlantic, who had an active interest in Memorial church, has forwarded a twenty dollar check for the coming fair. Judging from the number of children who daily visit houses with bunches of tickets to sell for the coming event there is no lack of effort on the part of those interested in the church to make this fair far exceed any previous venture of the kind.

One woman in Atlantic who has a pretentious garden every summer recently culled all her geranium plants from the ground and hung them up in the cellar ready to set out the coming spring. A week or so afterward chancing to go by the array of pendant stalks what was her surprised eyes greeted by but a burst of fragrant red blossoms on one of the plants. Verily even geraniums will have their fling.

INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE

Why It Costs So Much More Than the "Old Line" Plan

New York, Nov. 9.—In the testimony of John R. Hegeman, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, before the insurance investigating committee, upon the resumption of the insurance investigation, it was brought out that industrial insurance was considerably more expensive than other forms of life insurance, and Hegeman, after classing industrial insurance as retail and the ordinary life as wholesale, illustrated the fact by an example in which, for a stated age, it was shown that for a $1000 policy of ordinary life the Metropolitan charged $16.55 annually, while for $984, the nearest amount for the stated age under the industrial plan, $31.20 was charged.

Mr. Hegeman illustrated this with a most graphic comparison later on. To show that industrial business was more expensive than ordinary life, he said that a premium of $65 on an old line plan is paid once, twice, or, at the oftenest, four times a year. In the industrial field the average premium is 10 cents a week and for the same money 650 persons have to be called upon, and this has to be done 52 times a year.

Probing the Todd Mystery

New York, Nov. 9.—In order to give legal authority to begin criminal proceedings in either New York or Philadelphia against persons suspected of being responsible for the death of Mrs. Margaretta Todd, the New York woman who was found dead in Philadelphia, an analysis of the contents of her stomach will be made in both cities in an effort to discover whether or not the woman was drugged before she was killed upon the railroad tracks in Philadelphia.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

40,000 PLURALITY

The Lowest Estimate of Democratic Vote In Ohio

HERRICK SNOWED UNDER

Republicans Concede Opponents' Majority In Both Branches of Legislature--Bay State Democrats to Ask For Recount of Vote For Lieutenant Governor

Columbus, O., Nov. 9.—That John M. Pattison, Democrat, of Cincinnati has been elected governor of Ohio for three years by a plurality running above 40,000 over Governor Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland, Republican, is settled, as also is the Democratic working majority in both houses of the state legislature, but there is still some uncertainty as to the rest of the state ticket.

Earlier returns were apparently from sections favorable to Herrick, for he held a lead over the remainder of the Republican ticket until fuller returns from country regions cut into Herrick's vote severely and by the returns thus far Herrick seems to be 40,000 votes behind the rest of the Republican ticket. If that difference remains the victory for offices other than governor will depend on the size of Pattison's plurality, with the chances in favor of the choice of the entire Democratic roster.

Chairman Garber of the Democratic committee figures pluralities for Pattison that aggregate close to 55,000. If these figures hold true, the entire Democratic ticket is elected.

The Republicans have given out no later estimates than those of Chairman Dick, conceding the election of Pattison by 25,000 plurality.

Republican estimates give the Democrats from two to five majority in the next senate and from 10 to 15 in the house. The Democratic claim is a majority of five in the senate and of 27 in the house.

The widespread scratching of tickets has caused such delay in the counting that 30 hours after the close of the polls there was still uncertainty.

Governor Herrick has not yet made any statement, explaining that until he has seen fuller returns than had yet been received it would be impossible for him to analyze the figures and learn what were the actual causes of the defeat of the Republican candidates. For the same reason Chairman Dick of the Republican committee has not given his view of the Republican defeat.

TO ASK FOR RECOUNT

Democrats Question Election of Draper In Massachusetts

Boston, Nov. 9.—A recount of the vote for lieutenant governor will be asked for by the Democrats, through the Democratic state committee. Candidate Henry M. Whitney and the committee believe that the closeness of the vote demands it. This was decided upon by the state committee, through acting Chairman Lyman.

The press return vote of the state was as follows: Draper (Rep.), 182,197; Whitney (Dem.), 180,201; Draper's plurality, 1996.

Mr. Lyman has sent to the chairman of every city committee in the state the following telegram:

"Please prepare and file petition for recount of vote for lieutenant governor. It requires the signatures of 10 registered voters in each ward with residences on May 1. Get 12 signatures for safety. One signer must swear to it. Must be filed with city clerk before Friday at 5. File Thursday, however, to avoid legal ambiguity. City clerk has blanks."

A similar telegram was sent to the Democratic chairman in every town in about 200 of the 321 towns in the state, that is, to all that cast a reasonably large vote.

The Result In Maryland

Baltimore, Nov. 9.—Late returns dissipate much of the doubt as to the result of the election in this city and state. With a few precincts of one of the usually Democratic counties yet to hear from, the defeat of the proposed suffrage restriction amendment to the state constitution by 28,000 to 29,000 is indicated. Atkinson (Dem.) is conceded the state comptrollership. That the lower house of the state legislature will be Democratic is conceded by Republican sources of information. The Democrats will therefore elect the state treasurer and the board of public works will be Democratic.

The Rhode Island Election

Providence, Nov. 9.—Complete returns received from the state election show that the Republicans won a complete victory, electing not only their candidate for governor, George H. Utter, by a plurality of 4342 over L. F. C. Garvin, the Democratic nominee, but re-electing the present staff of state officers, all of whom are Republican, by larger margins than were given in 1904. Besides filling all the state offices, the Republicans also secured the election of overwhelming majorities in each branch of the legislature.

Berry Elected by 100,000

Philadelphia, Nov. 9.—Complete returns from nearly every county in Pennsylvania show that William H. Berry (Dem.) is elected state treasurer over J. L. Plummer (Rep.) by about 100,000 plurality. Berry carried 53 of the 67 counties, including many of which were heretofore strong Republican.

The Republican organization leaders have little to say regarding their defeat. The result of the election, they say, tells the story.

Mayor Berry of Chester, the successful fusion candidate for state treasurer, is in Philadelphia receiving the congratulations of his friends. Berry, who will be the first Democrat, excepting Governor Pattison, to occupy a state office in Pennsylvania in many years, says that his policy in conducting the state treasury will be publicity.

Honors For Cox Brothers

Boston, Nov. 9.—Guy W. Cox, who defeated Senator Leahy in the Fifth Suffolk district, and Louis S. Cox, elected to the senate from the Lawrence district, are brothers, being sons of Warden Cox of the New Hampshire state prison. Both are graduates of Dartmouth. Both are lawyers, each having built up a lucrative practice. Both were high scholarship men in college, and prominent musicians.

Cox Rule at an End

Cincinnati, Nov. 9.—George B. Cox, formerly Republican leader of Cincinnati, refuses to discuss the cause of the defeat of the Republicans in Hamilton county and in Ohio. Cox says the announcement of his retirement from active politics speaks for itself and is final.

Jerome Man Seriously Slugged

New York, Nov. 9.—Henry G. Granger is in a critical condition as the result of an assault made upon him while he was acting as a watcher for District Attorney Jerome Tuesday at a polling place. Granger says that after an altercation with State Senator J. C. Fitzgerald, he was attacked by a gang of thugs, who knocked him down with a blackjack and then jumped on him, dislocated his jaw, attempted to gouge his eyes out and broke four of his ribs. Granger may lose the sight of his eye. The thugs escaped.

Money For Continental Hall

Washington, Nov. 9.—The national board of directors of the Daughters of the American Revolution reports that nearly $15,000 has been raised during the past month towards the fund for the construction of the memorial continental hall now building here. In April the statement was made that $275,000 was needed to complete the hall and of this between $50,000 and $60,000 has been promised or contributed up to this time.

Farewell of Old Official

St. Petersburg, Nov. 9.—M. Pobedonostseff, the retiring procurator general of the holy synod, who is succeeded by Prince Alexis Obolensky, delivered his farewell address to the holy synod yesterday. There was something wonderfully impressive in the figure of the old man, defeated, but with spirit unbroken. He said that throughout his long career he had been a faithful servant of the state.

New Haven Road's Acquisition

New Haven, Nov. 9.—A deed recording the sale of the property of the New Haven and Derby Railroad company to the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company has been filed in the town clerk's office. The consideration named is $764,370. The New York, New Haven and Hartford has thus finally obtained full control of the Derby line.

Fishery Dispute May Drag On

St. Johns, Nov. 9.—The British cruiser Latona, stationed at Bay of Islands, which was about due to leave there, has received special orders indicating that she is likely to remain there until Christmas, owing to the American fishery dispute. This is regarded here as indicating that an early termination of the pending negotiations is unlikely.

Suicide of Two Old Men

Buffalo, Nov. 9.—William Rock, 81 years old, and Albee Oakes, 87 years old, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by hanging. They had been friends for years and both had suffered reverses. The old men met Tuesday and cast their votes. Their bodies were found in different parts of the city.

Coachman Falls For Over $85,000

Boston, Nov. 9.—J. J. Merrigan, who states that he is a coachman living at 23 Harvard avenue, Brookline, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities are scheduled at $85,814, and he has no assets. He took oath that he was unable to pay the $30 fee for filing the petition.

Strike of Leather Cutters

Montreal, Nov. 9.—The leather cutters in all but three boot and shoe factories, numbering 350, have gone on strike for a time scale instead of piece work. Unless the difficulty is settled shortly between 3000 and 4000 other leather workers will follow.

Made Deaf by Bomb

Pekin, Nov. 9.—Wu Ting Fang, formerly Chinese minister to the United States, has become totally deaf as a result of the explosion of a bomb thrown by a fanatic when the Chinese commissioners were leaving Pekin to visit foreign countries.

Protest Against Drummers' Tax

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—The imperial board of trade has sent a protest to the Dominion government against the Quebec government tax of $300 on commercial travelers.

Hearst Doubts the Legal Election of McClellan

HAS THE AID OF JEROME

Many Who Opposed Election of Municipal Ownership Candidate Think He Was Cheated of Victory by Democratic Frauds

New York, Nov. 9.—That a bitter fight will be waged in the courts to decide whether George B. McClellan or William R. Hearst is to be mayor of New York for the next four years is now assured. The complete returns give McClellan a plurality of 3485 votes, the smallest ever recorded for a successful mayoralty candidate and a result which might be readily reversed by a recount of the ballots.

Mr. Hearst has announced his intention to take an immediate appeal to the supreme court, his managers having declared that they had secured evidence of illegal acts against 1000 inspectors of election and that 30,000 Hearst men who went to the polls to vote for Hearst had found that their names had already been voted on. Most of this fraudulent voting is said to have been done in East Side assembly districts, especially in the Eighteenth, Charles F. Murphy's home district, and in the Sixth, of which Timothy D. Sullivan is the leader.

Alexander Bacon and F. B. Brown, of counsel for W. R. Hearst and the Municipal Ownership league, called at police headquarters late last night and served an order from Justice Gaynor on Captain Cruise, in charge of headquarters at night. The order was actually for Commissioner McAdoo and the captain was served as his representative. He immediately telephoned the order to McAdoo. The court's order directed that Commissioner McAdoo have every ballot box in the city of New York sent to the bureau of elections.

Mr. Hearst's proposed action met with warm approval in many quarters, even among those who opposed his election, and he received many assurances of support. District Attorney Jerome expressed himself in terms of strong approval of Hearst's program and declared that he would immediately institute a searching investigation of the alleged Democratic frauds.

Ira G. Darrin, the newly elected district attorney of Queens county on the Republican ticket, made a similar statement. William M. Ivins, the defeated Republican candidate for mayor, also commended Hearst's action and expressed the belief that a recount would show that Hearst had been elected.

After a secret session of the executive committee of Tammany Hall, the following statement was issued:

"The executive committee of the Democratic organization protests against the outrageous published threat of the defeated candidate of the Municipal Ownership league to overthrow the will of the people, as expressed by the vote cast on election day, and directs its law committee to exert its best efforts and take such steps and institute such proceedings as will safeguard the election of George B. McClellan as mayor of New York. We also call on the commissioner of police and the custodian of the ballot to preserve the same intact from all interference by anyone from any unauthorized source."

Some of the leaders, after the meeting, expressed the opinion that the returns showed censure of Murphy's leadership, and that he should as a result step down and out and make room for a man against whom nothing could be charged. They thought that it was time for McClellan to assume the leadership himself.

Superintendent of Elections Morgan said last night that, while doubtless many illegal votes were cast, he would express no opinion on the contention made by the Municipal Ownership league managers that they amounted to 30,000. He had made, he said, many arrests, but only 30 of the prisoners were held by the magistrates.

Attorney General Mayer said that he had information that illegal votes were cast in several assembly districts. "In any event, however," said Mayer, "even should we discover thousands of cases of illegal voting, it would not affect the count for the reason that the ballots cannot be deducted. So far as we are concerned, our jurisdiction ends with the prosecution of the criminals where the crime of illegal voting has been committed."

"Graft Market Has Gone Down"

Albany, Nov. 9.—Commenting on the election, Governor Higgins said: "It has been a pretty severe lesson for some people, not only in New York city, but in other parts of the state. I guess the graft market has gone down some. I am very glad that Mr. Jerome was elected."

New York Life Shut Out

Jewish Call For Financial Aid

Chicago, Nov. 9.—To insure united action in giving financial aid, made necessary by the massacre of Jews in Russia, a call to the Jewish people of America was issued here last night by Adolph Kraus, who has been in correspondence with the leaders of all Jewish organizations in the United States and was authorized to sign the call on behalf of the head of each organization. Funds may be forwarded to Jacob H. Schiff of New York, for proper distribution.

May Have Met With Foul Play

New York, Nov. 9.—A general alarm was sent out by the police last night for John W. Tisdale, well known throughout the south and west as a mining promoter and stock broker. Monday afternoon Tisdale told his wife that he was going out for a walk, and since then nothing has been heard of him. He was in the habit of carrying large sums of money, beside wearing jewelry at all times.

Creditor Buys Railroad System

Montreal, Nov. 9.—The South Shore railway, the United Counties railway and the East Richelieu Valley railway, forming a system known as the Quebec Southern, were sold in the exchequer court to the bank of St. Hyacinthe, a large creditor, for $1,051,000. Some of the other bidders were dissatisfied with the sale and will appeal to the supreme court to have it set aside.

Oklahoma's Request Granted

Washington, Nov. 9.—President Roosevelt informed a delegation of the residents of Oklahoma that he would recommend in his forthcoming message to congress single statehood for Oklahoma and Indian Territories. The members of the delegation recommended Captain Frank Frantz for governor of the territory, whose appointment subsequently was announced.

Russian Soldiers Against Autocracy

London, Nov. 9.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at St. Petersburg declares that a military coup is forthcoming. He says that officers of several well known regiments have definitely signified their adherence to the constitutionalist movement and that the people's next ultimatum to the autocracy will find the bulk of the army at least passive.

Funeral of Fist Fight Victim

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 9.—The funeral of Midshipman James R. Branch, who died after receiving injuries in a fist fight with Midshipman Minor Meriwether, Jr., took place yesterday afternoon. Chaplain Clark conducted the funeral services and the interment was in the naval cemetery.

"Dead Soldiers" From Maine

Saco, Me., Nov. 9.—S. M. Solmer, a junk dealer of this city, says he purchased in Saco and Biddeford and shipped to Boston in October 3600 jugs which had contained liquor. He estimated at 7000 the total number of jugs returned to Boston by freight and express from here last month.

Quarrel and Double Tragedy

New York, Nov. 9.—Walter Becker, a towerman on the West Shore railroad, shot and killed his wife, Nellie, and then sent a bullet into his brain at their home in Union Hill, N. J. The shooting followed a quarrel.

NEWS IN BRIEF

British Ambassador Durand presented to President Roosevelt Sir William Des Voeux, formerly governor of Hong Kong. Des Voeux dined with President Buchanan at the White House 47 years ago and has not been in Washington since until his present visit.

Stuyvesant Fish, president of the Illinois Central railroad, has consented to serve on a committee of three trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance company to investigate that company.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

"Money back at Jones."

A three-vote coupon today.

Registration tonight at City Hall.

Overcoats at all prices at the F. D. Fellows Co. store.

Preparations are being made for two dances in Wollaston hall the last of this month.

The trial of the Saville crossing cases continue in the Superior court at Dedham with many witnesses.

St. Francis court, M. C. O. F., will observe its twenty-fifth anniversary by a dance at St. Mary's hall.

The business block on Beale street, owned by N. G. Nickerson is being remodelled for a tenement house.

Winthrop N. Crocker and family of Arlington street will move Saturday to their new home in Waltham. They will be much missed by their friends and neighbors.

They say the Daily Ledger is newsy every day. There has been so much some days that the Ledger has found it impossible to squeeze all into its columns.

The meeting of the Pickwick club that was to have been held Wednesday evening was postponed until tonight. The meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Beattie on Elm street and will be in charge of Miss Hubbard and Mr. Loring.

The whist party held in I. O. O. F hall, Wednesday evening was not ver largely attended, only twelve tables being in play. The following were awarded souvenirs, scores ranging from 54 to 40: Miss M. Lizzie Furnald, George Hawes, Mrs. J. Robertson, Elmer Munroe, Mrs. B. C. Richardson, William Westland, Mrs. Ella Sticklin, and David R. Frazier.

The postponed meeting of the Wollaston Alliance was held in the Unitarian vestry Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Hunt gave a very interesting and helpful paper on "Practical suggestion for arousing and developing in the home the religious nature of children." After the paper a social hour was enjoyed, and a dainty collation was served. Several members of the Quincy Alliance were present.

Recount Wanted In This City

Petitions were filed this morning with the clerk of the Quincy Registrars of Voters asking for a recount of the votes cast at the election on Tuesday for Lieutenant-Governor.

The following summary gives the vote of Quincy by wards for the Republican and Democratic candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor. It reveals the fact that Mr. Whitney, instead of running ahead, run behind Bartlett in Ward Three and Four. In the Wollaston ward Draper run 60 behind Guild and Whitney received 47 more votes than Bartlett. In Ward Three Draper run ahead of Guild.

—Without doubt there will be a crusade against shady "medical" offices in Boston as a result of the Geary case.

Bowling League

Opening Contest In Y. M. C. A Tournament Won by White

The first contest of the Y. M. C. A. color league was rolled at the Y. M. C. A. alleys Wednesday evening, the Whites taking three strings straight. It was full of interest. The league promises to be great sport. Only four men were present on each team in this contest which accounts for the low totals.

Injunction Against Stable

A hearing on the petition of the Quincy Board of Health, for an injunction to prevent the Newell & Snowling Construction Co. from using the stable built at the foot of Apthorp street, Atlantic, was held Wednesday before Judge Fessenden in the Superior court in Boston. Nearly the whole day was consumed at the hearing.

Representatives of the company and from the Metropolitan Commission argued the necessity of the stable.

On the other hand the Board of Health claimed the company had no right to erect the stable without a permit.

The court took the matter under advisement and will give a finding next Monday.

Old Street Railway

The Transportation of Quincy Forty Years Ago Is Recalled

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

Apropos of the Ledger's generous offer of Scholarships and other competitive prizes; the lengthening and widening of Hancock street bridge; the reduction of the grade of Hancock street; Sagamore and Madison streets, at and near Atlantic station; the forthcoming hearing for the Old Colony Street Railway Co. for double tracks, and the forward movement on the Boulevard; all seem to warrant comparison with conditions years ago.

It has been quite generally accepted by the people of Quincy, save the few who are especially knowing to the facts, that William Dehon of Boston, projected and controlled the first street railway operated in Quincy, but an interview with our esteemed citizen, President Edwin W. Marsh of the Quincy Savings Bank and his statement—supported by Pattee's History of Quincy, from which the President of our nobly protective institution read aloud in a clear voice, despite his eighty-four years of earnest existence—makes it clear that the first street railway was incorporated February 15, 1861 by William L. Morton, John J. Glover and Robert B. Lucas—all citizens of Quincy.

Two dummy engines were at first the motive power and the track was laid from the foot of Penns Hill to Field's Corner, Dorchester. Trips were made hourly, permission being secured to continue over the Metropolitan R. R. Co.'s track to a terminal on State street at the head of Broad street, Boston, opposite the store of Aaron R. Gay. The fare was fifteen cents and the last car left State street at eleven o'clock P. M., including Sundays. The public spirited octogenarian, President Marsh remembered an occasion where he had availed himself of the street cars especially. The Old Colony R. R. ran no trains on Sunday. Travel over the street railway was discontinued by the company in winter.

The dummy engines proved to be too unpopular, and for obivious reasons were supplanted by horses, two to a car; and bobbing along in dry summer days, a cloud of dust almost obscured car and horses. Hancock street was then subject to great travel by express teams and farm wagons. Ex-Mayor Charles H. Porter remembers the paying of three five cent pieces for his fare over the line, and that William Dehon was identified largely with it. No doubt soon after its incorporation Mr. Dehon became the leading factor in its operation, and that Peter Butler and other distinguished people were associated with him in the enterprise.

The car barn and stable was located opposite what is now Merrymount park, and Mr. Dehon built a fine residence at the northeast part of that area which he abandoned on the tragic death of his wife, and for many years the property was a monument of the unhappy event but is now occupied.

The car barn was burned, severa years after the railway was discontinued being unprofitable owing to the high price of horses, grain etc., in the early seventies.

Henry H. Faxon, our eminent fellow citizen, could probably cite incidents of the day and generation of the first street railway, but is convalescing from the overwhelming congratulations on his eighty-second birthday, receiving honor from representatives of his host of friends and admirers, from eleven o'clock A. M. until nine o'clock P. M. of the eventful day.

The present regime was inaugerated some years after the old track was torn up, horses sold and cars sold to go to South America; horse cars being in use until electricity succeeded.

Two Alarms.

Two alarms of fire were sounded last night from Box 27. The first came at 10.37 and was for a fire in the Italian grocery store in the Keating building on Canal street. The second sounded at 12.07, and was for a fire in the same store. The damage was slight in both instances.

The apparatus from the Central station and also the police responded remarkably quick. James O'Connell, the driver of the steamer, showed great skill as a horseman, which won the plaudits of those who saw it. The steamer was about to round the Canal street corner at full speed when a man got in the way on the crossing. Rather than rundown the man he slewed the horses to one side. Why not keep out of the way of the fire apparatus.

—Reciprocity did not get much assistance on the Cape.

Close Race

For Second Places in Scholarship Contest

Engineer Johnson expected to move up a notch today, probably, but where he put in 100 votes Drug Clerk Maloney put in 265. The latter is now in second place with Clerk Cash and A. V. Johnson close rivals. Mr. Skinner, Mr. Bowditch and several others gain today.

There was a light vote in the ladies' list today, but there has been some gain among those down the list.

There is a three-vote coupon today.

It is again necessary to remind those sending coupons that it is necessary that the name of the candidates should appear on every coupon.

Second prizes were announced by advertisement Saturday and were valuable enough in themselves to awaken a new interest. A good suit or an overcoat for the second one in the Men's list, and a stylish suit or cloak for the second one in the Ladies' list. Other prizes are also to be announced. Old papers with coupons may be obtained at the Daily Ledger office and of the news agents.

Winners in the contest who do not care to select a $100 scholarship may select two studies where the cost is $50. A postal to Mr. U. C. Benoit, 26 Foster street, will bring information relative to the courses offered by the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., which are adapted to all needs, including foreign languages by the aid of the phonograph, civil, mechanical, electrical, steam or mining engineering, drafting, architecture, bookkeeping, stenography, civil service examinations, commercial law, illustrating, designing, building inspecting, chemistry, assaying, etc., etc.

Votes should reach the office at 9 A. M., to be counted that day, and it may soon be necessary to put this hour earlier, as the vote increases.

The standing to date is:

The Bible Debating Club

The meeting of the Bible Debating club of the Y. M. C. A. composed of High school pupils on Wednesday evening was one of the largest and best since the organization of the club. All met at supper at 6.15, and Speaker "Buster" Parker called the club to order at 7.10. After the usual business, the debate opened, the subject being, "Resolved:—That Joseph's advancement in Egypt was due more to his native qualities than his unusual opportunities." The affirmative was upheld by James Claflin and Glover Howe of the High school, while the negative was defended by Ralph Austin of Adams Academy and Carl Carlson of High. The debate was close and interesting from beginning to end. The affirmative side was awarded the debate.

The debate next week promises to be the best yet. George Fenerty and Walter Sutermeister will debate against Harry Holton and Robert Hardwick. Topic cards may be secured from any member of the club. Every High school and Academy fellow should be in this club.

—"Pop." "Yes, my son." "What is horse sense?" "Horse sense, my boy, is shown when the animal turns his nose the other way as a gasoline machine passes on the road."—Yonkers Statesman.

Couch Beds.

Of course you remember the magician who quickly and accurately transforms one thing into another. It's perplexing until you learn the trick, and then it's wonderfully simple.

Now to operate one of our Couch Beds, almost makes one think he is a magician. A luxurious dreamy Turkish Couch fit for the best room in the house.

"PRESTO CHANGE" a single, three-quarter or double bed, as comfortable as the wisdom of man can contrive all done in a twinkling. A two fold service for a single price, and the cost is very reasonable.

A variety of styles at $4.98, $5.98, $7.75, $8.75. It will please us to have you ask to see them.

CITY SQUARE, QUINCY.
Quincy, Sept. 11. tf

Margaret of Parma.

Margaret of Parma was large, mentally and physically. Her features were strong and coarse, her voice masculine, and she had a hairy upper lip and chin. One of her contemporaries calls her "a man in petticoats." She cursed and swore like a man and finally died of gout.

Pepin the Short.

Pepin the Short, father of Charlemagne, was only five feet high, but had a beard down to his waist.

Spermaceti.

Spermaceti is taken from the head of the sperm whale, a single specimen having been known to yield twelve barrels of this valuable substance. It was formerly in high repute as a medicine and in 1427 was sold in Europe for medicinal purposes at about $5 a pound.

Calico.

Calico was first introduced from Calicut, in India, as stuff for gentlemen's clothes.

The Heat of the Air.

Meteorologists say that the heat of the air is due to six sources—first, that from the interior of the earth; second, that from the stars; third, that from the moon; fourth, that from the friction of the winds and tides; fifth, that from the meteors; sixth, that from the sun.

Oliver Goldsmith.

Oliver Goldsmith had strongly marked Celtic features and a lively blue eye that was always merry.

Ruffs of Queen Bess.

In the papers of Queen Elizabeth there is a memorandum of 17 shillings paid for one of the ruffs she delighted to wear. The "setting sticks," by which the ruff was made to stand out from the neck, were 2 shillings extra, making the total cost 19 shillings.

Gas In Lighthouses.

The first lighthouse where gas was used in the lamps was the Howth light of Dublin in 1869.

A Cold Winter.

In 1684 nearly all the birds of Europe were killed by the cold. Wolves entered Vienna and other large cities and, driven by hunger, attacked the people in the streets.

Fogs and Monkeys.

The London fogs are very fatal to the monkeys, which are, without exception, the most delicate of all the creatures in the zoo.

Reciprocity Alluring
But Arguments The Same as When Cleveland Was Elected

The following communication sent to the Boston Herald a few days before election failed to appear in its columns, and by request is published in the Daily Ledger:

Editor of the Boston Herald:

Having been a constant subscriber to your valuable paper, both daily and Sunday, thirty-five years, I feel that you will not think me presumptuous in asking for a little space at this time.

A spirited political campaign is drawing to a close. I have followed the different speeches on both sides pretty closely, as I have always done since becoming of voting age, and have also noticed the industrial conditions since that time, regardless of what any stump speaker might say, whether he was a Republican or a Democrat.

With the record of the past seventeen years before us, in letters so large that "he who runs may read." The idea that some Democratic orators are proclaiming from the platform that Senator Lodge, (whether or not he was a free trader in 1884) and the principals which he represents now are foes to American industries, would almost "make a horse laugh." I am under no obligation to Senator Lodge, but it was on my motion as a delegate to the Fifth Norfolk Representative convention, Oct. 9, 1892, that the nominees were instructed if elected "to vote for Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge for U. S. Senator, and to use all honorable means to secure his election." This was when he first became a candidate for the United States Senate.

I owe nothing to the Republican party, except as its policies tend to increase my chances for obtaining employment, for I have been most completely hoodwinked, bluffed and deceived, (and in some cases actually lied to,) by Republican officials in the Capitol at Washington, the State House at Boston, and the City Hall in Quincy, after I had served nearly fourteen years on the Republican Town and City Committee of Quincy, (whether those services were worth much or little), trying to further Republican principals and to elect Republican candidates.

The late Hon. Joseph H. Manley of Augusta, Maine, writing in 1899 to the then Lieutenant Governor and now United States Senator Hon. W. Murray Crane, told him that "I had not been fairly treated."

So it is not to defend Senator Lodge, nor yet to help the Republican party that I write this letter. But as a working man; one who has hammered over an anvil more than thirty years, I would warn the workingmen of Massachusetts, not to be cajoled by the alluring term of "Reciprocity," nor frightened by the more sneeringly termed "Stand-pattism" into voting for a party, who with its policies brought about the conditions which existed at the time of the Presidential election in 1896. It has been said that forty five thousand Republicans have signed a petition asking for Reciprocity with Canada.

I well remember the time following the passage of the McKinley Tariff bill in 1890, these same threadbare arguments were used then as are used now. Many of the most radical Republicans became severely frightened; many of my personal Republican friends told me that while they were as good Republicans as ever they could not stand the "McKinley bill."

Many will remember how Mr. McKinley was defeated for re-election to Congress and even Massachusetts sent seven Democratic Congressmen out of twelve to Washington, but notwithstanding these predictions of the dire disasters which would follow: Under the wise provisions of that much abused bill, the country thrived, until the end of the Harrison administration when it reached the high water mark of prosperity.

But the seed that the calamity howlers had sown had begun to bear fruit. Cleveland was elected in November, 1892, and before the end of his term he had a Democratic Senate and House of Representatives. Their much vaunted policies were given a crucial test, and—presto, what a change! It is of too recent a period to be recalled here; Suffice it to say, that where all had been bustle and activity, manufactories had closed, fires had gone out, and desolation, poverty, distress and suffering stalked broadly forth throughout the land.

Among the many desolate cities and towns at that time there are two, which even now stand very vividly before me, the first is Pittsburg, Pa. In 1900, I visited the beautiful Highland Park in that city. The reservoir supplying the city with water is situated there. The watchman in charge informed me, that to alleviate the sufferings in Pittsburg during that period that the city purchased a number of so-called truck farms, and thousands of unemployed workingmen would go there in the morning, work all day and on going home at night would receive one dollar for their day's work. In this way that ragged looking place was transformed into a veritable Garden of Eden.

The second place is our own Massachusetts city, of Holyoke, which was so graphically described at the time by that eminent Democratic paper, the Holyoke Free Press, I think it was.

A word more and I am done. It is true that in 1891 I resigned from the Republican Ward and City Committee of Quincy, and voted for Hon. William E. Russell and last November with thousands of other Republican workingmen, voted for Hon. William L. Douglas, not however, on account of their position on the tariff but in spite of it, because of the opposition of Hon. Charles H. Allen in the House of Representatives, and of Hon. John L. Bates while Governor, to the so-called labor measures.

No such exigency, however, exists this year and next Tuesday I shall vote for Hon. Curtis Guild, Jr., and for Hon. Eben S. Draper, and hope the workingmen of Massachusetts will give them both an old time Massachusetts majority.

Trusting that you will pardon me for writing at such length, I am very respectfully yours, Arthur E. Baxter.

Norrie-Menhinick Wedding

At the home of bride's parents, No. 38 South Walnut street, on Thursday evening, Miss Alice Maud Menhinick and Mr. James Norrie were married. The bride never looked more charming than in her beautiful wedding gown of white crepe de chene. She was attended by her young neice Miss Isabelle Louise Nadeau of Winthrop Beach, and Miss Mabel Faulkner of Jamaica Plain. The groom was attended by Dr. Ernest S. Storey of Lynn.

The house was tastefully decorated by rare and beautiful chrysanthemums, a gift from the groom's cousin.

The gifts were many, and beautiful consisting mostly of beautiful cut glass, solid silver and handsome pieces of furniture to help beautify their new home now in the hands of carpenters at the corner of Elm and South Walnut streets. After a two weeks' trip through the State of Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Norrie will hold a reception on Jan. 1, 1906, in their new home.

Amend Ordinance
Or Attorney General Will Proceed Against City of Quincy

The payment of salaries from the Woodward Fund to the treasurer, clerk and auditor, has reached a point where the only thing that will prevent the Attorney General from proceeding against the city is an amendment of the city ordinance establishing the salaries by the City Council.

The outcome of the affair has assumed an entirely different aspect from what the original movers in the matter intended.

The movement to strike out the salaries paid the managers of the fund and property originated at a meeting of the clergymen, who compose the board of directors, early last spring. This movement culminated in an order in the City Council to strike out the objectionable clauses in the ordinance concerning the Woodward Fund.

While the order was hanging fire in the City Council Rev. Frank W. Pratt called upon the Attorney General and asked his opinion as to the payment of salaries to city officials from the fund.

Mr. Pratt did not realize that the Governor is the only one to whom the Attorney General can render an opinion or he probably would have kept away.

The Attorney General has general supervision of all charity trusts of the Commonwealth, and instead of rendering an opinion to Mr. Pratt he sent a letter to the City Council to show cause why he should not proceed against it.

Notwithstanding this letter the city Council proceeded to kill the order amending the ordinance.

Hearings were held before the Attorney General, and the result is the letter forwarded to the City Council last Monday by the Mayor.

Lawyer Walter S. Pinkham, who was called into the matter by Rev. Mr. Pratt to help him out of the difficulty he had got today into, when interviewed by a representative of the Ledger, said that he could state upon good authority that if the City Council amended the ordinance so as to strike out that part relating to salaries the Attorney General would drop this matter.

Rallying Committee.

Between fifty and sixty of the voters of Ward Three met at Doble's hall, Thursday evening, to form a rallying committee to work for the nomination of Mayor James Thompson at the Municipal caucuses next Tuesday. Alexander C. Clark presided and Oscar Friske was secretary. Remarks endorsing the administration of Mayor Thompson and endorsing him for a re-election were made by several of the gentlemen present. Before the meeting adjourned it resolved itself into a rallying committee to work for and to use their best efforts to further the nomination of Hon. James Thompson at the caucuses next Tuesday.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Much has been said about the strength and stamina of President Roosevelt, but as an additional evidence of his iron constitution, it may be noted that he has survived the recent endorsement of the populist party.

It is said that the colored ladies in Baltimore are refusing to work for those who voted for the disfranchising amendment. In this respect, they are different from colored ladies elsewhere, who refuse to work without any excuse whatever.

This era of steam, electricity and other contrivances for beating time, space and infallibility, has put prophets to confusion,—among them an ardent young prognosticator from Indiana. It seems he once wrote a book, "The Russian Advance," in which he lauded Russian civilization and described its progress,—resistless as a glacier or the gentle sunshine. Senator Beveridge had just been to Manchuria and over the Siberian railroad and mistook his impressions for understanding. History has been busy since Senator Beveridge wrote. "The Russian Advance" has become a retreat with revolution which will possibly result in the resolution of the empire into its many heterogeneous component parts.

It behooves the civilized world to see that never again shall an enlightened, generous and gentle people like the Finns be ground under the heel of an overpowering, sodden autocracy like Russia. Sad, even sadder than the downfall of Poland, has been the subjugation of Finland by Russia; and all the civilized world must rejoice in what appears to be Finland's emancipation. There is no country in the world that more deserves to be free, for in no country is there a higher degree of education, morality and well being. The average intelligence in that country is very high, there being less than one per cent of illiterates; and there are very few criminals. The people are sober, thrifty, well-to-do and there are fewer paupers than in any other European country. In these respects and in all that pertains to civilization, morality and progress Finland was in marked contrast with the powerful despotism that sat upon her, crushing life and hope and aspiration.

The remarks of several of the gentlemen at the preliminary meeting of the new Citizen's Association remind us of the Democratic arguments in the recent State campaign. The arguments were that Massachusetts was taking a backward seat, when all the facts are to the contrary. The gentlemen referred to above seem to think that Quincy is also taking a backward seat, but the facts are to the contrary. Improvements are possible, and always will be, but Quincy has an enviable record in population, valuation, good government, improvements and progress. Just stop and consider fairly; make a few comparisons of 1905 with 1900 or 1895; figures may surprise you.

Quincy is passing other Massachusetts cities and none are passing Quincy. And Massachusetts has some of the best cities for their size in the country.

However, there is a good field for a Citizens' Association and we wish it success.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Personally very popular, a rattling good campaigner, and making promises that there would be an effort made by him and his party for something in the line of tariff revision, Curtis Guild, Jr., has been elected governor of Massachusetts by a fine plurality. Eben S. Draper, against whom for lieutenant-governor the biggest battle was waged, is elected, but by a very small margin. It would seem as though the result ought to be illuminating to the element in republican party of the State that desires to stand pat on everything and pay no special attention to the wishes of the manufacturing people of the commonwealth. Tariff revision is certainly called for by the vote of Tuesday. Gov. Douglas has no cause to feel that his efforts in the campaign were futile.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ With the general results of the election we are entirely satisfied. For General Guild to turn an adverse plurality for Governor of last year of 36,000 into a favorable plurality of 25,000 this year with the tremendous and unprecedented outlay of money on the part of the Democratic State Committee is a showing in the highest degree satisfactory. It is perhaps to be regretted that Draper's plurality was not larger, but the fact that he won out is a source of congratulation. It is most certainly to be regretted that so many Republicans could overlook Mr. Whitney's legislative record in the pursuit of the ignis fatuous of improbable reciprocity, for most assuredly the incorruptibility of the legislature through any means is the strong fortress of the people and whatever tends to improperly influence legislation is a direct attack on the rights of the people. However, in spite of all the forces arrayed against Mr. Draper, he won and his victory is sufficiently pronounced so that there is little prospect of any recount affecting it.—Waltham Tribune.

Ballots Cast In New York City Contest Are Stored

ELECTION BOARD YIELDS

Ballot Boxes Accepted Upon an Order From Supreme Court Justice at Instance of Hearst Men--McClellan to Fight

New York, Nov. 10.—The contest over the mayoralty election, inaugurated by Mr. Hearst, the Municipal Ownership candidate, has developed interesting and spectacular features.

For 12 hours the nearly 600,000 ballots cast in last Tuesday's election choked the streets in the vicinity of the headquarters of the board of elections. The ballot boxes had been gathered during the night by the police and conveyed in patrol wagons to the election board's headquarters. Arriving there the ballots were refused by the officials. The police, acting under a court order signed by Justice Gaynor, compelling the police authorities to turn the ballots over to the election board, had nothing to do but remain outside and await the pleasure of the election officials.

Apprised of the situation, the attorneys for Hearst appeared before Justice Dickey of the state supreme court and secured from him an order compelling President Voorhis of the board of elections to accept the ballots. The order was served promptly and the ballots then were receipted for by the election board. Under strong guard, the patrol wagons containing the several thousand boxes were driven to various warehouses in this city and Brooklyn, where the ballots were stored subject to the orders of the election board.

State Attorney General Mayer had a long and important conference with District Attorney Jerome, after which it was announced that the attorney general's office would remain open until midnight. Superintendent of Elections Morgan appeared before Mayer and Jerome, and with six of his deputies placed evidence before the prosecuting officials.

Another feature of the contest was the announcement by the Citizens' Union that it would join the forces investigating the charges of fraud and wrongdoing at Tuesday's election, its prime object being to secure a new election law in the state of New York. Attorney General Mayer said:

"District Attorney Jerome has placed at my disposal the machinery of his office and will co-operate with me in every way, as I will with him, in the prosecution of offenses against the election franchise. Assistant District Attorneys Perkins and Sanford are to devote themselves to this work in conjunction with Deputy Attorney General Mason and assistants."

The attorney general received a large bundle of subpoenas from the district attorney and immediately put several election deputies at work serving them. Representatives of President Voorhis of the board of elections declared that Voorhis had decided to accept the ballot boxes prior to the issuance of the order by Justice Dickey.

Attorney General Mayer left his office at midnight, saying that expected developments had not transpired and that nothing could be gained by his remaining down town longer. Mayer refused to discuss the reported finding of ballot boxes in the river.

Mayor McClellan has engaged eminent counsel, among them Alton B. Parker, to represent him during the mayoralty contest.

Alderman John J. Haggerty was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of assaulting a Hearst watcher on election day. The complainant was Barney Wayneck, who asserted that because he insisted on the right of a man to vote, whose name had already been voted by a floater, Haggerty struck him and he was thrown out of the booth. The voter in question, William Hogan, a motorman, was in court and gave testimony. Haggerty was held in $500 bail on the charge of assault.

A statement was issued from Mr. Hearst's headquarters saying that an examination of the alleged defective ballots which were thrown out on election day shows more than 8000 which, he declares, should have been counted for him. It is asserted that these ballots were marked with a cross beneath the Municipal Ownership emblem and in the circle over Jerome's name. Hearst says these ballots should be counted for him, pending a judicial decision as to their valadity. He asserts that if these were accredited to him he would be elected without a recount of the entire vote.

Proposes to "Vindicate Results"

New York, Nov. 10.—Mayor McClellan last night made public the following statement: "The election returns show my election by a plurality of 4180 votes. These returns are the results of procedure prescribed by law and they are expressly declared by the law to be presumptively correct. I believe they are correct. Therefore, I will take all legitimate means to protect my rights, as well as those of the voters. If my adversary appeals to the law to overthrow what are now the legal returns of the results of the election, I will meet him fully prepared to vindicate these results. To the courts, where these differences must be passed upon, every candidate and every citizen should readily submit."

CITY BREVITIES.

Municipal caucuses next Tuesday.

The City Council Committee on Streets will meet tonight.

The letter collection boxes about the city are being painted green.

Newbury avenue is beginning to show the effect of heavy teams. However the fact that the crossing is always carefully cleaned in inclement weather is appreciated.

The sale of tickets for the entertainment tonight in First Church chapel by the young people of the parish, has been so great that standing room will be at a premium by half-past seven, as many late comers found to be the case last winter when the same young people gave their first entertainment.

Henry Kolseth of Walker street is at Cory Hill hospital for treatment. Mr. Kolseth's condition has for some time past required medical attendance. If the sympathy and earnest hopes of his friends avail, Mr. Kolseth will soon regain health under perfect rest and careful nursing.

A very popular young lady in one of the restaurants in the square quite dazzled the eyes of the patrons with the sparkler on her finger yesterday morning. Upon the query as to who the most fortunate individual might be, she would say no more than that the dear thing came from New York. All wished her the best of luck.

If the connection between the Quincy and Boston street cars is carried through before next spring, the land in Atlantic will take a jump for the good that will do the hearts of property owners as much benefit as a spring tonic. Houses do not go begging now in town. An excellent augur of future possibilities. Atlantic has everything to recommend it to strangers, even a boulevard.

KEEP YOUR HEAD UNCOVERED.

The Constant Wearing of a Hat Propogates Dandruff Germs.

There are many men who wear their hats practically all the time when awake, and are blessed with a heavy shock of hair; yet if the scalps of these same men once became infested with dandruff germs, the parasites would multiply all the quicker for lack of air. Baldness would ensue as the final result. Newbro's Herpicide kills these germs and stimulates unhealthy hair to abundant growth. Herpicide is a pleasant hair dressing as well as a dandruff cure and contains not an atom of injurious substance. Sold by leading druggists. LOSS OF MEMBERSHIP

Ends Career of Royal Society of Good Fellows In Bay State

Boston, Nov. 10.—Having lost over 10,000 members, the Royal Society of Good Fellows, which has had an existence in this state since 1886, has been driven to the wall with liabilities alleged to be about $164,822. The society will go out of business in this state, but will continue in Rhode Island.

The Royal Society of Good Fellows was organized under a charter in Rhode Island dated Feb. 23, 1882, and began business on March 3, 1882.

In 1886 the society came into the state of Massachusetes to do the business of writing insurance on a fraternal benefit plan and paying death benefits of $3000. In 1889 it had a membership of 15,223, but in January, 1905, its membership had dropped to 4529. The membership now is about 4000.

Guards Deny Accusations

Windsor, Vt., Nov. 10.—At the prison hearing here former Guards Peaslee and Green, against whom improper conduct had been freely charged, denied all the accusations. Former Superintendent Oakes denied that he had misappropriated any funds or supplies belonging to the state. J. B. Moore, a night guard, admitted that he took a letter from Mrs. Mary Rogers to Attorney Enwright, in which the murderess denied any intimacy with Vernon Rogers, a convict.

Socialists Officially Recognized

Boston, Nov. 10.—A tabulation of the vote for the Socialist, Socialist-Labor and the Prohibition candidates for governor has been practically completed and again the Socialist party has gained official recognition by polling 3 percent of the total vote. The vote for the gubernatorial candidates of the three parties in 33 cities and 294 out of 321 towns was as follows: Carey, Socialist, 12,479; Carroll, Socialist-Labor, 2710; Wylie, Prohibition, 3197.

Gunners Bring Down Wolf

Nantasket, Mass., Nov. 10.—After a desperate encounter with a full-grown gray wolf, Walter Kelly and Benjamin Atwood shot and killed the beast while they were gunning for ducks yesterday afternoon. The animal weighs 125 pounds. For over a month hens, tame geese and ducks have been stolen, and the mutilated carcasses of the birds led to the belief that foxes were the thieves.

Chase Will Case Postponed

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 10.—The contest over the will of the late Jennie P. Chase, wife of Dr. Horace Chase of Swampscott, whose suicide on Sept. 13 by inhaling illuminating gas caused a widespread sensation, was to have been begun in the probate court at Salem yesterday, but owing to the indisposition of one of the witnesses to the will the hearing was indefinitely postponed.

Terrible Fall In Smokestack

Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 10.—By the giving way of the staging inside the 100-foot steel smokestack of the Union Metallic company Edward Sassey and Harry McDerbald were dropped from the top to the bottom of the shaft and terribly injured. The men were cleaning the smokestack. Sassey's recovery is doubtful. McDerbald suffered a broken arm and ankle.

Injunction Granted New York Life

St. Louis, Nov. 10.—The New York Life Insurance company, through its attorneys, has applied to Judge Adams for an injunction to restrain State Insurance Superintendent Vandiver from enforcing his order prohibiting the company from carrying on further business in Missouri. The application was favorably passed upon by Judge Adams, who issued a restraining order directing Vandiver to appear on Nov. 20 to show cause why he should not be prevented from enforcing his order.

Million Toward New Steamer

Honolulu, Nov. 10.—Honolulu merchants, in an endeavor to charter a steamer and establish an independent line between Honolulu and San Francisco in order to secure lower fares and freight rates, are raising funds for the building of a large ocean steamer. It is reported that $1,000,000 has already been subscribed.

Sale of Coal Acreage

Pittsburg, Nov. 10.—J. V. Thompson of Uniontown has sold the Hogg Coal and Coke company of Brownsville for $425,000 to George L. Hibbs & Co. The property includes a large coal acreage which will be further developed at once.

Killed by Collapse of Wall

New York, Nov. 10.—Jacob Rubel was instantly killed and two men were seriously injured in the collapse of a wall in a row of three tenements that were being torn down here.

SUMMONS OF WITNESSES

Mrs Dean and Two Others Are Still Missing, but Police Officials Decided to Lose No Further Time on the Case

Boston, Nov. 10.—Determined not to lose another moment's time in their effort to mete out summary justice to everybody implicated in the death and cutting up of the body of the pretty "Shepherd King" dancer, Susan Geary, District Attorney Sughrue and the Boston police officials will today present the evidence in the "suit case" murder to the grand jury.

In accordance with this 10 inspectors of Chief Watts' staff served all of the witnesses in the case with summonses for their appearance before the grand jury. Chief of these witnesses will be Morris Nathan, the dead girl's sweetheart, who will be taken from the city hospital to testify.

The summonses, which are of the "John Doe" order and issued by Chief Justice Aiken, will bring nearly 50 witnesses in the case to court, when indictments against "Dr." William Howard and "Dr." Louis Crawford, who are admittedly the men who disposed of the body; Dr. Percy D. McLeod, who is alleged to have performed the laparotomy operation and dismembered the body; Nathan, the dead girl's sweetheart; "Mrs. Mary Dean," the nurse in the case, and one or two others are expected to be had.

This latest action in the case was taken as the result of a number of conferences between the heads of the police department and District Attorney Sughrue.

It had been the hope of the Boston police to round up everybody connected with the death of and disposition of the remains of the Geary girl before court proceedings would be taken, and court procedure has been deferred for this. The utter impracticability of this became clear to them yesterday, however.

Both "Mrs. Dean" and at least two others whom they wanted to complete their case have slipped through the fingers of the police. For the time being at least these people are free from arrest and have succeeded in covering up their tracks so well that it now seems that their capture will be a matter of time.

As a result the Boston officers decided to lose no further time in the case, and yesterday afternoon Captain Dugan and Chief Watts presented the matter to District Attorney Sughrue. That official obtained the summonses in question from Chief Justice Aiken and ere nightfall they were in Chief Watts' office.

Superintendent Pierce, Chief Watts and Captain Dugan immediately went into consultation, which resulted in the summonses being turned over to the inspectors.

These officers had explicit instructions to find without fail every person for whom a summons had been issued, and not to cease their work for the day until this had been accomplished.

College Fraternity's Denial

New York, Nov. 10.—Declaring the report that Stuart S. Pierson, a young Kenyon college student, was tied to the railroad tracks while awaiting initiation into the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity "is absolutely false and has no basis," and that the death was wholly accidental, the convention of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity in this city called on all members of the body and on kindred societies to do their utmost to dispel the alleged misrepresentation of the facts in the case.

Shielding Fellow Congresmen

Havana, Nov. 10.—The house of representatives, in secret session last night, refused the request of a local court for permission to prosecute the six Nationalist congressmen who forcibly seized documents covering some 50 allegations of improper acts by members of the municipal council of Havana.

May Raise a Million Dollars

New York, Nov. 10.—Chairman Straus of the committee to arrange for a relief of the victims of the recent Jewish massacres in Russia, announces that $95,000 has so far been raised in this city. Straus says he expects the total subscriptions from all parts of this country will amount to $1,000,000.

New Custom House For Havana

Havana, Nov. 10.—The concession for the construction and operation of a steel pier in Havana harbor has been awarded by the government to the Compania del Puerto, which in return for the concession is to erect a modern custom house to supersede the present ancient buildings.

No One to Blame For Great Disaster

Uniontown, Pa., Nov. 10.—After a few minutes' deliberation, the coroner's jury returned a verdict last night that the 18 victims of the explosion at the Rand Powder mill on Sept. 9 came to their death from causes unknown to the jury.

Typhoon and Deluge

Guam, Nov. 10.—A severe typhoon, accompanied by a deluge of rain, occurred here. The damage done to property is considerable, but its extent is unknown. The towns of Agana and Piti were inundated. No lives were lost.

SUPERIOR COURT. NORFOLK, ss.

To the Honorable, the Justices of the Superior Court, next to be holden at Dedham within and for the County of Norfolk:

RESPECTFULLY libels and represents Charles C. Hobart of Quincy in said County, that he was lawfully married to Martha R. Hobart now of Somersworth, New Hampshire, at said Somersworth on the 27th day of May, A. D., 1902, and thereafterwards your libellant and the said Martha R. Hobart lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, to wit: at Quincy, Massachusetts, that your libellant has always been faithful to his marriage vows and obligations, but the said Martha R. Hobart being wholly regardless of the same at Somersworth aforesaid on the 27th day of May, A. D., 1902 and at divers times thereafter was guilty of cruel and abusive treatment toward h m.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Martha R. Hobart.

Dated the 23d day of October, A. D., 1905.

CHARLES C. HOBART.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss. SUPERIOR COURT.

ON the foregoing libel, it is ordered that the Libellant give notice to the said MARTHA R. HOBART, the Libellee, to appear before the Justices of this Court, to be holden at Dedham, within and for said County, on the first MONDAY of December next, by causing an attested copy of said libel and of this order thereon to be published once in a week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of December next, and further, by sending through the mail, as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said MARTHA R. HOBART an attested copy of said libel and of this order thereon, that the said Martha R. Hobart may then and there show cause why the prayer of said libel should not be granted.

By the Court,

LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.

November 2, 1905.

A true copy of said Libel, and of the Order thereon. Attest:

Jews Seek It In Effort to Check Slaughter

28,000 KINSMEN KILLED

Sailors at Cronstadt Mutiny and Are Joined by Artillerymen--Czar and Witte Dismiss Trepoff and Agree to Immediate Universal Suffrage

Washington, Nov. 10.—Simon Wolf has sent the following appeal to President Roosevelt:

"The man that side-tracked precedents by ending the coal strike; the man that conjured between Russia and Japan and who has, in a hundred ways, showed marvelous versatility and courage, can he not take the initiative and bring about concert of action to stem the cruelties in Russia? How long is this ghastly, fiendish holocaust to continue?"

Mr. Wolf is now heading a movement to raise funds for the relief of the stricken Jews in Russia, pending any action that may be taken by the United States or other nations of the world. He points out that 28,000 Jews have been killed and 100,000 have been injured during the recent massacres in Russia.

"We have got to raise millions of dollars in this country and Europe," said Wolf. "The situation is acute and calls for our best and strongest efforts to succor the persecuted Jews in the land of the czar."

Collective Demonstration Injurious

Vienna, Nov. 10.—A delegation of the Austrian Hebrew union visited Count Goluchowski, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, and asked him to initiate a movement among civilized nations and protest to the Russian government against the recent anti-Jewish outrages. The court practically declined to accede to the request by pointing out the difficulties in the path of a collective demonstration and by saying it would probably have an effect contrary to that desired.

THE CONSTADT MUTINY

Sailors and Soldiers United In the General Disturbances

Cronstadt, Nov. 10.—During the rioting here machine guns were employed against the mutinous sailors who had been joined by a battalion of artillerymen from the fortress, increasing the total number of mutineers to 3000. It is difficult to ascertain the number of casualties, but officers place the figures at 200. Many wounded persons are in hospitals. The sailors say their chief grievances are poor food and clothing, and an insufficient amount of liberty from barracks.

Roughs joined in the pillage, but the workmen did not participate in it. Many of the workmen and the civilian population have either fled or are trying to flee the city and the docks are piled high with baggage and household effects.

The city is full of reinforcements from St. Petersburg and others are still arriving. Order has been restored. The fires are still glowing in the market and another group of buildings. The stores and houses are boarded up and troops are patrolling the streets.

Searchlights from warships and torpedo boats in the harbor are flashing across the waters in order to aid launches in their search for individual mutineers who are trying to escape to the mainland by boat. Though a majority of the mutineers have surrendered, several hundred are still holding out in the eastern section of the town. They have thrown up barricades, but are surrounded, and machine guns are posted at all the streets leading to their stronghold. It is expected that the remainder of the mutineers will submit today.

The outbreak started Wednesday afternoon when the sailors of the "Seventh fort equippage" revolted, and, it is rumored, killed some of their officers. They marched out of the barracks and immediately plundered four spirit shops. Crazed with liquor, they returned and seized their arms, and then went on the rampage, firing promiscuously upon the troops and the loyal sailors. Later they were joined by many of their comrades and the fighting continued from midnight until yesterday morning, when the terror-stricken inhabitants began to flee.

Several regiments with eight machine guns from St. Petersburg and Oranienbaum were landed yesterday.

Will Affect Morale of Troops

St. Petersburg, Nov. 10.—This city was in a furore of excitement all of yesterday and late into the night over the news of the mutiny at Cronstadt. The place was represented as being in the hands of 8000 sailors who had murdered their officers, seized the arsenal, and bombarded the imperial palace at Peterhof, across the bay. Butchery was said to have prevailed in the streets all during the day and the rumors even went to the extent of saying that Father John of Cronstadt had left the bed on which he was supposed to be dying to lead the mutineers. Many of these sensational reports were, of course, entirely false, but sufficient details have been received to prove that about 3000 sailors and a battalion of artillerists from one of the forts indulged in a mutiny which was put down by about 7000 Cossacks and troops of the imperial guard hastily dispatched from St. Petersburg and from garrisons near Peterhof and that machine guns had to be employed.

At this critical juncture there is no attempt made in government circles to minimize the seriousness of the mutiny, and it is admitted that if a battalion of artillerists joined the sailors in open revolt the mutinous spirit must have been contagious. It is also admitted that the mutiny will have a bad effect upon the morale of the troops, which already has been badly shaken by the revolutionary propaganda.

As soon as the news of the mutiny was received here the Seventeenth and Eighteenth equipages of sailors of the guard were locked in their barracks and the barracks were surrounded by Cossacks. The sailors were furious with rage and shouted from the windows that they were ready to join their mutinous comrades.

Trepoff Loses Governor Generalship

St. Petersburg, Nov. 10.—Both Count Witte and the czar have made another surrender. General Trepoff has been removed from the powerful position which he occupied (governor general of St. Petersburg and assistant minister of the interior) and Russia's premier has agreed to immediate universal suffrage. Trepoff will become commandant of the palace, where his sole duty will be to take measures to protect the life of the czar. The position of governor general of St. Petersburg ends with Trepoff's retirement, but the place of commander of the imperial guard has been assumed by Grand Duke Nicholas.

Editor Stead's Impression

London, Nov. 10.—William T. Stead, who arrived in London last night, said he wished to supplement the statement regarding the situation in Russia made in Berlin. The whole drift of his conversation showed how deeply he was impressed with the absolute necessity of extending the fullest support and sympathy to the czar, both at home and abroad. Bad as are the Jewish sufferings, said Stead, they are trivial compared with the massacres and outrages which are inevitable if, as the result of outside interference, Count Witte's ministry should be upset.

Light on the Todd Mystery

New York, Nov. 10.—The story that the body of Mrs. Margaretta Todd was placed on railroad tracks in Philadelphia on the night of Oct. 27 by two men is corroborated by a statement by Richard B. Coutant, who came to New York to meet Sinclair Tousey, the brother-in-law of Mrs. Todd's daughter, who is investigating the case. The authorities suspect that Mrs. Todd was murdered and are trying to find out whether she was drugged and thrown on the railroad tracks. She owned valuable real estate in this city and there is a dispute over it.

New Move by Rate Opponents

Washington, Nov. 10.—Delay is evidently the first card to be played by the senatorial opponents of the president's rate regulation plan. Chairman Elkins of the senate committee on interstate commerce says he doubts much if the commission will be prepared to submit its report and the promised bill on rate legislation within 10 days after the session of congress opens, according to the instructions of the resolution setting in motion the hearings on the rate question.

Barely Escaped a Lynching

Atlanta, Nov. 10.—The negro who assaulted Mrs. Moore was caught at Fairburn and brought to the outskirts of Atlanta, where he was identified by Mrs. Moore. The sheriff with posse arrived at the scene where the mob had the negro assailant just as they were preparing to lynch him. The mob reluctantly gave the negro up. The sheriff then came into Atlanta with his prisoner in an automobile and the negro is now in the county jail.

Tobacco For the Navy

Washington, Nov. 10.—Bids have been opened at the navy department for 150,000 pounds of tobacco, the annual supply for the navy. Eight manufacturing concerns entered into the competition, submitting three or four samples of each. The bids range from 31 to 40 cents a pound. The samples have been sent by the navy department to users of tobacco in the navy for a practical test.

To Render Aid to Mariners

Washington, Nov. 10.—The president has designated seven revenue cutters to cruise along the Atlantic coast during the coming winter and to afford such aid to distressed vessels and their crews as circumstances may require. Last winter the revenue cutter service afforded assistance to 520 vessels with 2730 persons on board, the value of the vessels and their cargoes being nearly $8,000,000.

Not to Succeed Mrs Eddy

New York, Nov. 10.—It is denied on the best authority that Mrs. Stetson is to succeed Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy as head of the Christian Scientists, or that there is any move to raise an endowment of $200,000 to maintain her as such future head. Mrs. Stetson is much distressed by the report.

To Frame New Ballot Law

Philadelphia, Nov. 10.—The committee of seventy which brought into existence the city party announces that a non-partisan committee will be appointed in a few days for the purpose of drafting an entire new ballot law which will be placed before the next legislature.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Football Night at First Church chapel.

Improvements are being made on Farnum street.

Mrs. Eva Shepard of this city is a guest of Mrs. Helen Curtis of Avon.

A rally in the interest of Benjamin Johnson for Mayor will be held tonight at Wilson's hall.

The new house on East Howard street, near South, is nearly ready for occupancy.

A fine public telephone booth has recently been put in the hall at the Hotel Hancock.

Mrs. Alexander Thompson, formerly of Elm street, has been visiting friends in Quincy this week.

Mrs. Sallie Harris of Brook road is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Bailey of South street.

All the streets in the vicinity of Faxon hall have been improved by the cleaning of the gutters of leaves and dirt.

Mrs. Frank F. Prescott of Bigelow street mourns the death on Thursday of her only brother, B. H. Prescott, who died at Lynn.

The voters of Ward Four have been requested to attend a meeting at Farnum's hall this evening to meet Mayor Thompson.

Rural lodge of Masons is holding meetings almost weekly, so numerous are the candidates. Degrees are conferred on several at each meeting.

Charles W. Hatch, of this city, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities amount to $1720, of which $350 is secured. There are 30 unsecured creditors. No assets.

The Registrars of Voters added 42 names to the voting lists on Thursday evening, of whom 15 were in Ward One, 5 in Ward Two, 8 in Ward Three, 8 in Ward Four, 1 in Ward Five, and 5 in Ward Six.

The funeral services of Walter J. S. Thayer were held Wednesday afternoon at his residence on Union street, Holbrook. The services were conducted by Rev. John O. Paisley, pastor of the Winthrop Congregational church. The body was brought to West Quincy for interment.

Elizabeth B. Laing of Quincy is reported by the Herald to have acquired a large tract of land in Brookline, from two grantors. One parcel, deeded by Gottlieb F. Burkhardt and another, is on Newton street and comprises 46 acres, valued at $23,000. The second parcel of four acres is on Heath street and the grantor was Margaret E. Gleason. The taxable valuation of this tract is $2000.

The whist arty given by the committee of the improved order of Red Men at I. O. O. F. hall, Wollaston, Thursday evening, was very largely attended, twenty-seven tables being in play. The successful winners being: H. E. Clark, umbrella rack; Mrs. A. Russell, scrap basket; G. Craig, china ice cream set; Mrs. B. McLoud, glass lemonade set; C. M. French, pudding set; Mrs. McKay, picture; J. M. Ellison, bureau scarf and table cover; Mrs. Philips, silver cracker jar; J. G. Thomas, handkerchief box; Mrs. William Bennett, collar and cuff box.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

$1,800 Fire At Wollaston

The alarm from Box 65 at 1 o'clock, this noon called the department to a lively blaze in the market of V. E. Miller, which is located in the block of Copeland and Adams on the corner of Newport avenue and Brook street, Wollaston.

The fire was caused by the overturning of a large lamp in the cashier's office. In an instant a lively blaze was started. The store was filled with a dense black smoke and the heat was so intense that all the plate glass windows were smashed.

The fire was confined to the office, but the smoke practically ruined the stock of the store. Chief Williams estimates the loss on the contents at $1,000 and on the building at $800.

Mysterious Shooting

Warrants were issued this morning against Stephen D. Welch, Herbert S. Tirrell, Herbert L. MacFawn and Clarence W. Davidson, for assault with a dangerous weapon on James F. Yourell at Weymouth.

Yourell was in a boat on Whitman's pond Thursday when several shots were fired from the direction of ex-Mayor Bryant's gunning stand. One of the shots took effect in Yourell's ear.

Welch, who has charge of Bryant's stand, says no shots were fired from there.

The parties against whom the warrants were issued have been summoned into court and will be arraigned Saturday.

The Y. M. C. A.

Activities increase at the Y. M. C. A. as the season advances.

The 39th annual State convention of Massachusetts and Rhode Island is now being held in Westfield, Mass. The local association will be represented by the president, R. D. Chase; George H. Brown, W. G. Shaw, Dr. C. T. Sherman and F. F. Bugbee. The program is one of the strongest ever arranged.

The following information has been promulgated to the international committee in New York, relating to the burial of Sir George Williams, the founder of the Young Men's Christian Association. "Interment at St. Paul's Cathedral, November 14, noon. Delegates welcome. Please make known." The honor of this interment was granted in response to requests of associations not only of Great Britain, but of this and other countries.

Pine Tree State Association.

The Pine Tree State association held a very enjoyable meeting in Colonial hall Thursday evening. The attendance was large, several new members being added. After the business was concluded the following program was rendered:

Leaders Spurt

Over 300 Votes Added to Totals Of Conductor Johnson and Clerk Maloney

Most of the gains today are confined to the men's list. The leaders are setting a rapid pace, and Herbert Johnson and Henry Maloney seem to be leaving the others behind. One cannot tell however as several of the candidates are accummulating a reserve for the finish. The last coupon will be printed Saturday, Nov. 25, in both the Daily Ledger and the Quincy Patriot.

It is again necessary to remind those sending coupons that it is necessary that the name of the candidates should appear on every coupon.

Second prizes were announced by advertisement Saturday and were valuable enough in themselves to awaken a new interest. A good suit or an overcoat for the second one in the Men's list, and a stylish suit or cloak for the second one in the Ladies' list. Other prizes are also to be announced. Old papers with coupons may be obtained at the Daily Ledger office and of the news agents.

Winners in the contest who do not care to select a $100 scholarship may select two studies where the cost is $50. A postal to Mr. U. C. Benoit, 26 Foster street, will bring information relative to the courses offered by the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., which are adapted to all needs, including foreign languages by the aid of the phonograph, civil, mechanical, electrical, steam or mining engineering, drafting, architecture, bookkeeping, stenography, civil service examinations, commercial law, illustrating, designing, building inspecting, chemistry, assaying, etc., etc.

Votes should reach the office at 9 A. M., to be counted that day, and it may soon be necessary to put this hour earlier, as the vote increases.

The standing to date is:

Cross People

are generally sick people, and nine times out of ten it's the stomach that's wrong. If the system is filled with impurities, if the digestion is poor, if the bowels are irregular, it is easy for disease to get a foothold. Reinforce and build up your health by taking the standard remedy for over three generations. Restores lost appetite, regulates the bowels, assists digestion, enriches the blood and cures all those diseases arising from a disordered stomach or liver, such as constipation, malaria, biliousness, indigestion, loss of appetite, headaches, catarrh of the stomach and intestines, piles, etc. The Mother's Safeguard in all the common disorders of childhood.

A few doses given occasionally will guard against worms, and if present will expel them without fail.

Dr. J. F. TRUE & CO.: AUGUSTA, Maine.
Gentlemen: By the use of your Elixir I was relieved of a tape worm between seventy-seven and eighty-five feet in length. For eighteen years I had been doctoring for Liver, Kidney and Heart trouble and Indigestion, all of which disappeared when that worm was slaughtered by True's Elixir. There is not a medicine before the public to-day that can do the work of your Elixir. The expenditure of $2.50 for this medicine did for me what many dollars and years spent in search of relief through other sources failed to do.
Yours very truly, A. F. BRAGG, No. 77 Main St., Foxcroft, Me.
Sold by all dealers, 25c, 50c, $1.00.

MORE ABOUT SALARIES

Metropolitan Insurance Company Liberal to Its Officers

Albany, Nov. 10.—The Metropolitan Life Insurance company figured in the greater part of Thursday's investigation proceedings. John R. Hegeman, president of the company, was on the stand and the expenses of the company were further gone into. It was brought out that Hegeman's salary is the same as that of John A. McCall, president of the New York Life, $100,000. Previous to 1905, however, Hegeman received $90,000. The salary of Vice President Fiske is $75,000, Second Vice President Gaston receives $37,500 and Third Vice President Ayres receives $16,250.

Mr. Hegeman said that 35 years ago less than $250,000 would have bought out the company, while today $250,000,000 would not do it. It was brought out that the average salary of an agent in the field is $11.62 a week. An assistant superintendent's salary averages $18 a week which, with commissions, may run to $25 weekly. The average salary of superintendents is from $25 to $50 a week. These officers are in direct charge of the agents in the field.

Herrick Explains His Defeat

Columbus, O., Nov. 10.—Governor Herrick last night made a public statement in which he says that the people of Ohio have been swept away from the moorings of truth by a wave of prejudice and suspicion. A healthy spirit of moral reform and a widespread insistence upon courage and honesty in public officers, he says, "has shown itself in the election of Jerome in New York, the triumph of Weaver in Philadelphia and, earlier, in the breaking down of party lines in Massachusetts, Minnesota and Missouri. This fact and these events made it easy to excite the suspicion, inflame the conscience and mislead the impulse of the people of Ohio."

Against British-American Alliance

New York, Nov. 10.—Sentiments in opposition to anything tending to bring about an alliance between the United States and Great Britain were given expression at a meeting in Cooper Union last night under the auspices of the United Irish societies. Speakers declared that the arrival in American waters at this time of the British squadron under command of Prince Louis was not for social courtesies, but was planned in the interest of an alliance between the two nations. Resolutions in denunciation of alliance of the United States with Great Britain were adopted.

President and King Toasted

New York, Nov. 10.—The dinner to Prince Louis last night was one of the most brilliant and notable in the city's history. There were 700 members of the English societies and guests present. Sir Percy Sanderson, who presided, proposed a toast to President Roosevelt. Everybody rising and cheering to the echo drank to the health of the president, and then sang "The Star Spangled Banner" from beginning to end. At the toast in the king's name the audience again burst into cheers and as one voice sang "Rule Brittannia" and then "God Save the King."

Great Powers All at Peace

London, Nov. 10.—"A century ago Pitt, standing where I now stand, prophesied war; today I prophesy peace." This was the text on which Premier Balfour based his speech concerning the relations of Great Britain with foreign countries at the lord mayor's banquet last night. The whole tenor of the speeches was optimistic so far as the relations between all the great powers were concerned. The premier's reference to Russia was particularly happy.

Boy of 18 Weds Woman of 54

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 10.—Clarence Clayton, 18, is announced to be the husband of Miss Maggie Ellen Sloan, 54, who is a woman of means and conducts a cafe. The wedding was celebrated secretly and when the bride's brother learned of it he became enraged and refused to allow the sister's boy-husband to enter the cafe. Mrs. Clayton then procured accommodations for the youth at a rival restaurant. Clayton is still engaged in his studies in school.

Violated Naval Regulations

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 10.—Rollo C. Palmer of Charlotte, Vt., aged 22, has been dismissed from the naval academy for marrying while on leave this summer. He offered his resignation, which was rejected, as he had committed a breach of regulations and he was dismissed by order of the secretary of the navy.

NEWS IN BRIEF

H. F. Neighbors of New York has been selected by Secretary of State Root to be his confidential clerk. He was employed by Root in his law office in New York as private secretary and confidential clerk.

General Francis T. Sherman, chief of staff under General Howard in the Civil war, died at his home at Waukegan, Ills., aged 80.

Charles Olsen of Illinois and Jimmy Parr of England have signed articles for a match to deside the world's middleweight wrestling championship.

The National theatre building at Havana, which the Cuban congress arranged to purchase at a cost approximating $500,000 and which President Palma subsequently decided was not needed by the government, has been sold to private parties.

The executive committee of the National Educational association has accepted an invitation from California to hold the next annual meeting of the association in San Francisco, July 9 to 13, 1906.

Fined for Assaulting Wife

Judge Avery of the district court imposed a stiff sentence this morning on Christopher J. Barry of West Quincy, for assault on his wife. The evidence in the case showed that they had been married eight months and that Mrs. Barry had left her husband three times since then on account of his abusive treatment.

Last Wednesday evening, upon return from a visit to her sister in Atlantic, Mrs. Barry alleges that he beat her about the face. Her face also showed marks of hard treatment.

Hon. Michael Creed of Boston appeared for the government, and in his argument he severely arraigned the defendant.

The court imposed a fine of $25, and put him under $300 bonds to keep the peace for three months. Barry appealed and was held in $300.

Majority Over All Is Republican

The following table shows the total vote cast in Massachusetts on Tuesday for each party, and the relative percentage of each:

	Total Vote	Percent
Republican	197,512	50.61
Democratic	174,396	44.68
Socialist	12,479	3.19
Prohibition	3,197	.82
Socialist Labor	2,710	.70
Total	390,294	100.00

It will be noticed that more than half of the voters are Republicans.

The vote of the Socialists on Tuesday, was sufficiently large to restore them as a party in Massachusetts, their total being over three per cent. Twelve cities gave Carey a larger vote than Quincy. In Brockton nearly as many as Boston.

VOTERS! ATTENTION!

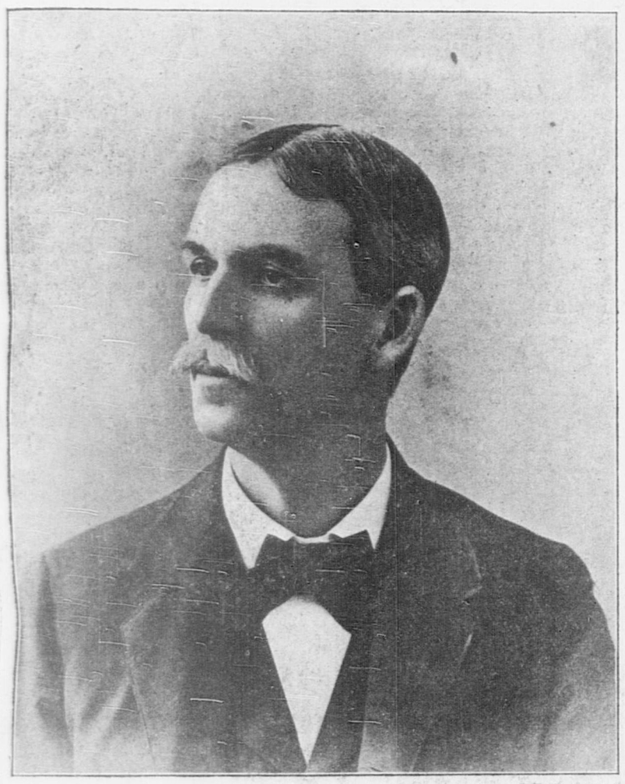
Attend the Municipal Caucuses

TUESDAY, NOV. 14, 1905,

POLLS OPEN 12 M. TO 9 P. M.

For the Republican Candidate for Mayor

VOTE FOR



HON. JAMES THOMPSON

THE PRESENT MAYOR.

To the Citizens of Quincy:

In presenting my candidacy to the favorable consideration of the citizens of Quincy, to be voted for at the Republican Caucuses to be held November 14, from 12 M. to 9 P. M., I desire that the public may be fully informed through the press.

By attending and voting at the primaries, the citizens determine who shall be the candidates to appear under their party designation on the official ballot, to be voted for as Mayor at the city election held in December.

During my term of office as Mayor, I have endeavored to give an honest, economical and business-like conduct of the city's affairs.

If my administration during the current year has satisfied, and met the needs of the city, as measured by its resources, I would respectfully ask your endorsement.

JAMES THOMPSON.

The Social Realm.

For him who knoweth how to cherish it, life brims with sweetness:
But ofttimes we so careless are, so prodigal our ways,
We lavish use, or wanton waste that which all time should gladden;
And then do we repine that life doth hold but empty days.
—Cora Lapham Hazard.

Football Night

Flying Wedge Successful Also Gridiron Minstrels

"Football Night" was a great success last evening at First Church chapel, for a fine entertainment was given to a crowded house. The game was played in 45-minute halves. The first half being a football romance in one act, entitled "The Revolving Wedge," with the following cast:

Mr. Thomas Martin, a Cambridge gentleman, Houghton Schumacher.
Bob Martin, his son, a Harvard football player, Harry Drake.
Mr. Edward Biddle, of Philadelphia, Martin's second cousin, Sydney Carr.
Dr. George Brown, of Cambridge, Mrs. Martin's brother, Brooks Keyes.
Captain Michael Dolan, of the Cambridge police force Frank Patch.
Mrs. Martin, Martin's wife, Miss Mollie Rodgers
Nell Martin, his daughter, Miss Edna Smith.
Norah their servant. Miss Abigail Waldron.

The plot had to do with the annual football game at Harvard on Thanksgiving afternoon and a stern parent who would have his Thanksgiving dinner even if the whole family and all the invited guests would go to the game. All the parts were well taken and the makeups were fine.

Referee,—Frank Patch.
Umpire,—Eugene Durgin.
Leader of Cheering Section,—Sidney Carr.
Summer Girls,—Muriel Clapp, Leal Belle Smith.

Rooters in the Grand Stand—Stella Barker, Ruth Bass, Alice Claflin, Nana S. Fisher, Avah R. Gilson, Lorenzo H. Gilson, Marion L. Howe, Eliot C. Johnson, Edith M. Lovejoy, Loretta V. Lowe, Ruth Penniman, Muriel A. Rogers, Katherine Saville, Horace Southard, Grace F. Spear, Harriet Spooner, Irma C. Tilton, Harriet M. Waldron, Carlena Walker.

The manoeuvres included:

1. Opening Chorus,—"Our Director"
2. Coon Song,—"My Dusky Rose" Lela Belle Smith
3. Coon Song,—"Lyda" Brooks Keyes
4. Waltz Song,—"Come over on my Veranda" Muriel Clapp
5. Marching Song,—"Good Bye, Sweet Marie" Frank Patch

Gordon Adams was interlocutor and there were many jokes and local hits; the church, the Women's club, the High school building, the Daily Ledger and individuals coming in for jokes. The chorus was strong and good. Miss Burgess was accompanist. The team, the rooters and summer girls all dressed appropriately to their parts, and the grand-stand full of spectators waving the crimson flag, was quite realistic.

The entertainment closed with the 4-11-44th scene from Hamlet with the following cast:

Ophelia	Mollie Rodgers
Hamlet	Edna Smith
Ghost	Abigail Waldron

This burlesque was well carried out by the participants.

During the evening there were piano solos by Miss Ruth Penniman. A home-made candy table was well patronized.

The entertainment was given under the direction of Emery L. Crane by th young people of the church for the benefit of the Sunday school, and a good sum was realized. A pleasant surprise to the Sunday school was the gift this week of $25 from Mr. James H. Stetson.

Ward One Candidate.

Madison Mott Cannon, candidate for the City Council from Ward One, holds a responsible position with the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, being one of the few still remaining with the company since it started five or six years ago. Before coming to the Fore River he was for several years city engineer for the city of Gloucester and is well acquainted with city requirements. He has resided in a cosy cottage on Spear street since coming to this city.

Citizen's Association

Committee Ready To Report On Objects And Committee

The committee appointed at the meeting held Wednesday evening to form plans for the organization of a Citizens' Association extend an invitation to the general public to be present at the meeting to be held next Wednesday evening at the rooms of the Granite Manufacturers' Association in the Adams building.

The objects of the Association, as stated in the by-laws which the committee will report are as follows:

"To promote the interests of the mercantile and manufacturing business of Quincy.

"To broaden and strengthen its business relations.

"To enhance the attractiveness of the city as a place of residence.

"To secure and maintain the highest standard of municipal government, and by all legitimate means to work unitedly for the material prosperity and general welfare of the city."

It is proposed to make the admission fee but $1 and the dues but $1 per year. By placing the fee at a low figure it is believed that a very large membership will be assured.

It is also planned by the by-laws to appoint standing committees on the following matters:

On ways and means.
On transportation and public service corporations.
On new enterprises.
On taxation and insurance.
On legislation and municipal affairs.
On highway and local improvements.
On promotion of local trade.
On publicity.

Many Socialists Attend.

The funeral of William M. Packard, candidate of the Socialists at the recent election for Senator, was held yesterday afternoon from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua E. Hanson, Revere road. Quite a number of those prominent in the Socialistic movement were present and escorted the body to Mt. Wollaston. Rev. E. N. Hardy was the officiating clergyman.

Bullet Not Located.

The four Weymouth men, for whom warrants were issued for assault with a dangerous weapon on James F. Yourell, did not appear in court this morning, on account of the inability of Yourell to appear. The bullet in his head has not been located, although physicians at the Carney Hospital have tired to locate it with the aid of the X rays.

Fellows Invited.

Mr. W. H. Keeling, president of the class of 1907, Harvard University, will speak at the meeting of the Makaria Fraternity, Bethany church, Sunday at 12 o'clock. All fellows over 16 years of age who do not attend any Sunday school class anywhere, and who are not connected with any other church are most cordially invited.

Child Scalded.

A little Finn child of Arthur street was badly scalded yesterday afternoon. The child's mother was lifting a boiler of hot water from the stove when the handle of the boiler came off, throwing the hot water onto the child that was playing about the room.

Midnight Arrest.

Lieut. McKay with Officers Goodhue and Milford visited the boarding house at 26 Chestnut street, at midnight, and arrested Albert Fraser and Elmyra J. Nelson for a statutory offense. They were arraigned in court.

Draper Gains.

The plurality of Lieut. Governor-elect Draper has been increased to 2357 by revised returns.

The Habit of Health

Many people have a habit of ailing. How much better it would be to learn to keep well. For health, after all, is largely a matter of habit, which all may acquire with a little practise.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

teach good habits to Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels. If you are subject to Bilious Attacks, suffer from Constipation or are troubled with Indigestion, Nervousness or Headache, Beecham's Pills will reform all these bad habits and set an example of good health, which the body will quickly follow. You can break up all sickly habits by occasionally using the health suggestions transmitted by Beecham's Pills.

Points of Interest.

Quincy will soon be as famous for pilgrimages as Plymouth and Concord, as parties come now almost daily. Surely there are many historic spots of National interest, and enterprises which are novel to many. A brief list is given below.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Small fee asked.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

MYLES STANDISH CAIRN.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution, of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the indian Tisquantum.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS ADAMS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. In cellar is old town hearse, also box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams At extreme end, under front steps are the vaults of the presidents, a massive stone door closing the entrance. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place, or to the office of L. S. Anderson, treasurer, 9 Savings Bank building, whose office hours are 8 A. M. to 12 M. and 2 to 5 P. M. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

DOROTHY Q. HOUSE.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy. Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock street, across from First Church. Many old stones, among the oldest that of Rev. John Hancock, father of the Patriot, who died May 7, 1744. Was fifth minister of First Church.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

SQUAW ROCK.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

Many other points of interest might be mentioned: Thomas Crane Memorial Hall which is the public library building; Merrymount, the home of Mrs. John Quincy Adams, where Morton erected his famous May pole in 1626; the soldiers' monument at Mount Wollaston cemetery with its tablets; the famous Quincy granite quarries, many of great depth; the granite yards where monuments and statuary are being cut, and the polishing mills where granite is polished. Also the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company where warships are being built for the government.

DEATH OF BRANCH

Insulting Remarks to Him the Primary Cause

HE ISSUED A CHALLENGE

It Was Accepted by Meriwether and Fist Fight Was Agreed Upon--Middies Were Both In Fine Physical Condition

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 11.—A statement, coming from within the naval academy and believed to represent the midshipmen's version of the fight between Midshipmen Meriwether and Branch and the death of the latter, is as follows:

"The fight between Midshipmen Branch and Meriwether was because of personal dislike and trouble between the two midshipmen which culminated in the latter personally insulting the former. Midshipman Branch did not report Midshipman Meriwether for any violation of regulations, and he did not incur this fight because of discharging his duty.

"Midshipman Branch challenged Meriwether as the result of insulting remarks addressed to him by the latter, and it was decided that their differences be decided in the usual manly American fashion. In weight there was not a difference of over five pounds between the two. Both midshipmen were good physical specimens of manhood, Branch having at one time held the academy lightweight wrestling championship. Meriwether was not considered to be exceptionally well developed physically as has been erroneously stated.

"This way of settling their personal difficulties may have been a mistaken one, but as far as can be said about an affair of this description, it was free from brutality and any unfairness, and the tragic ending is a most lamentable accident.

"At the conclusion of the fight Midshipman Branch was able to walk to his room and there conversed with his seconds for a time, afterward taking a shower bath and retiring. No fear of the result being tragic was felt until the next morning, when he was found to be unconscious.

"The code at the naval academy absolutely prohibits fighting over a report. Midshipmen on duty frequently have to exercise this authority for the maintenance of the state of discipline, and it would be just as serious an offense against their code for the midshipman so reported to challange the one who made the report as it would for a University of Virginia student to offend against their code of honor by cheating at an examination."

President Seeks Information

Washington, Nov. 11.—The president has called upon Secretary Bonaparte for a report on certain features of the case of Midshipman Branch, who died at the naval academy at Annapolis after a fist fight with another midshipman. Superintendent Sands of the academy has been directed to make a special report covering the specific matters upon which the president desires information.

Bigamy Charge Against Reid

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Albert V. Reid, who is endeavoring to secure the release of his bride from Bloomingdale asylum, to which she was taken the evening following her marriage by her brothers, was arrested at the close of the habeas corpus proceedings hearing here, having been indicted by the New York county grand jury upon a charge of bigamy. Reid denounced his arrest as an outrage and denied his guilt.

State and City at Odds

Havana, Nov. 11.—President Palma having, after the receipt of representations from the United States government, sent a special message to congress on Cuban sanitary matters, now regards the Havana sewering question as being altogether in the hands of congress. The city desires to conduct its own public works, but this the government will not permit.

Bank Rates on Loans Doubled

Philadelphia, Nov. 11.—For the first time since September, 1902, the Philadelphia banks have advanced their rate on all loans to 6 percent. The action grew out of the abnormal rates in New York, where 10 to 12 percent was exacted for the same accommodation afforded here at half that figure.

Confessed to $100,000 Robberies

New York, Nov. 11.—Confession to the robbery of $100,000 worth of gems from fashionable New York homes in the last two years was made by Harold Prescott, a painter. In a search of pawnshops police recovered $20,000 worth of stolen gems. Prescott was sentenced to five years in Sing Sing.

Priest Knew How to Fight

St. Louis, Nov 11.—After a chase of two blocks and a prolonged struggle, during which the priest used his fists to such good effect that the thief cried "enough," Fr. John R. Watson, assistant pastor of St. Matthew's church, captured a man who had robbed the church's poor box of $21.

Students Not to Blame

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Through the confessbion of nine boys under 19 years old, four of whom are sons of professors, suspicion that Cornell students were the perpetrators of the greased street rails prank has been removed.

CRUSADE IS ON

Uniformed Police at Doors of "Shady" Medical Offices

Boston, Nov. 11.—The local authorities have inaugurated a crusade against medical offices having a doubtful reputation. At places against which the police have little evidence officers in uniform will be stationed and all persons applying for admission will be questioned concerning their business with the doctors. Strangers will be informed of the character of the offices.

The police of this city and Winchester have arrested Mrs. Sarah A. Stone, alias Sarah Allen, on a charge of performing an illegal operation. According to Chief Inspector Watts, the arrest was made in connection with the death of Mrs. Elsie E. Allen, aged 18, of Winthrop. It is alleged that Mrs. Stone was formerly employed in the establishment of the Mrs. Dr. J. E. Bishop company. Mrs. Allen, who, it is claimed, was a patient there last January, died, and one of the employes was sent to Sherborn prison for five years last month in connection with the case. A physician and Mrs. Stone disappeared. It was learned that she had been staying in Winchester. The arrest was made as she was leaving a train at the Union station in this city.

The Bishop office is the one, it is alleged, in which Susan Geary was operated upon.

Dosen't Want to Be a City

Brookline, Mass., Nov. 11.—The celebration in commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the incorporation of the town of Brookline was begun with a gathering of citizens in the town hall. Senator Lodge was the principal speaker of the day. Moses Williams, chairman of the day, read the original documents of the town's incorporation. He said in part: "Today we have twice the population required for a city charter, but it would be better to adhere to government by town meeting, because so many cities have degenerated because they gave up this form of town government."

Tabasco's Severe Voyage

Boston, Nov. 11.—For 12 days at the mercy of hurricanes and terrific sea storms, the seas breaking over her deck and carrying away her deckhouses, ventilators and fittings, and her officers nearly swept from the bridge, steamer Tabasco passed through one of the worst sea experiences ever recorded and arrived in the harbor two days late. Her crew were exhausted. They had worked night and day without sleep, trying to keep the seas from flooding compartments.

Heavy Registration at Yale

New Haven, Nov. 11.—Secretary Stokes of Yale university states that the preliminary registration for this year shows that the total number of students in all departments is 3528. Leaving out students in the summer school and teachers' courses, the total number of regularly enrolled students is 3239, the largest registration in the history of the university.

Chinese Boys Cannot Land

Boston, Nov. 11.—Judge Dodge of the United States district court handed down a decision denying the petition of Wong Sang and Wong Den, two Chinese merchants in Boston, for a writ of habeas corpus to release two boys, whom they claim to be their sons, from the custody of the immigration officials, who detained them upon their arrival at this port Oct. 8.

Acquitted on Embezzlement Charge

Boston, Nov. 11.—Chester M. Freeman, charged with embezzling more than $2000 from the Consolidated Dental Manufacturing company of Brookline, for which he was the local agent, was discharged in court at the conclusion of an examination lasting five days. The prosecution claimed that Freeman had falsified his accounts.

Jerome Held In High Esteem

Lakeville, Conn., Nov. 11.—W. T. Jerome, who was re-elected district attorney of New York county, arrived in town last night and will seek a short rest at his home here. The citizens of the town turned out and greeted him with a brass band and fireworks. He was escorted to his home by a big crowd, many of whom carried torches.

Lives Imperiled by Blast

Newton, Mass., Nov. 11.—The lives of 200 boys, inmates of the Working Boys' home, were jeopardized by the setting off of a dynamite blast by men who are constructing a sewer at the home. One boy's ankle was fractured by a piece of stone that flew through the air a distance of 200 feet, and several others received lesser injuries.

Bloomers For Consumptives

Burrillville, R. I., Nov. 11.—Corsets will not be allowed in the new state sanitarium for consumptives here, and the women will be obliged to wear bloomers, though, of course, their dresses need not be short enough to make this apparent. There are now seven women and two men admitted as paying patients.

Hardware Men Endorse Rate Plan

Washington, Nov. 11.—The American Hardware Manufacturers' association endorsed President Roosevelt's plan for railroad rate legislation. The resolution introduced by E. B. Pike of Pike, N. H., carrying this endorsement was reported favorably from the resolutions committee and adopted by the convention by a vote of 49 to 7.

Mutineers to Be Hanged

Wilmington, N. C., Nov. 11.—Judge Purnell sentenced Arthur Adams and Robert Sawyer, convicted of mutiny on the schooner Harry Berwind off this coast in October, to be hanged Jan. 26 in this city.

Raising Blue Grass Turkeys

Kentucky Roads Dotted With Marching Flocks—The Outdoor Method. Tour of Palatable Birds

KENTUCKY is coming forward as a great turkey raising state and already bids fair to rival Rhode Island and Connecticut as a producer of the Thanksgiving bird. The roads in November are dotted with marching flocks, leaving the farms and converging upon the towns, where on arrival they are killed and packed in refrigerator cars for shipment to all points of the compass. Thousands of these turkeys are raised by negroes on their little holdings, and on them falls the task of slaughtering and plucking the fowls, 2½ cents apiece being paid for the labor.

Several weeks before Thanksgiving buyers go through the rural districts, picking up bunches of the fowls, which are driven to the nearest railroad station and forwarded to the "factory," where they are killed, scalded in vats

In this way the Thanksgiving crop is transported to the market centers. If it be reckoned that 1,000,000 of the birds are sold in towns and cities to which they are shipped alive—usually in wicker crates containing half a dozen each—5,000,000 are left to be carried, dead and plucked, in cold storage cars. One such vehicle will hold 1,000 turkeys, so that obviously 5,000 cars are required to accommodate the Thanksgiving fowls which the public appetite demands. If these cars were placed in line, they would compose a train thirty miles in length, conveying approximately 22,000 tons of birds.

In Kentucky and also in Connecticut and Rhode Island what may be called the outdoor method of raising turkeys is now being extensively practiced. The birds are provided with neither shelter nor roosts, even in winter, and are compelled to shift for themselves, the idea being to imitate natural conditions as closely as possible. They are fed liberally and in spring are provided with half barrels for nests, but there is as little interference as possible with their ways of living. Far from suffering from such neglect, they seem to enjoy much better health; they are vigorous and hardy, and epidemics such as are liable to decimate ordinary flocks are rare among them.

Epidemics of disease are the greatest trouble of the turkey breeder, frequently sweeping away whole flocks in a few days. Hence it is that large numbers of the birds cannot be raised together, and at least five acres of range ordinarily are required for each "hen" and her brood of poults. Recently there has come to be a great demand for young "broiler" turkeys early in autumn, and such prices are obtained for them as to afford an inducement to farmers to "force the crop," as is done with chickens.

We have in this country immense quantities of surplus corn easily convertible into turkeys, and each autumn the crop of birds surpasses all previous records. In prosperous times, of course, the demand is at a maximum, and this Thanksgiving will see more of the fowls eaten than were consumed on the same festive occasion in any year hitherto. To absorb a considerable surplus there has grown up a foreign demand, and many thousands of choice gobblers and "hens" will be shipped this autumn to Europe to tickle the appreciative palates of epicures on the other side of the water.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Judicial Bonds

When called upon to give bonds in Judicial Proceedings, apply to the American Surety Company.

Should you require Probate Bonds, or Bonds in Insolvency Proceedings, we will provide them on the shortest notice, and without red tape.

We also issue the various Court Bonds used in the collection of debts and the recovery of damages, and, through our agents, will furnish them quickly to responsible parties at any point in the United States.

The fact that many of these bonds involve great risk, forms a strong argument against their being assumed by personal sureties.

THE NEARER BATTLE

By Howard Fielding

Copyright, 1905, by Charles W. Hooke

FORTIFIED against the day's unkindly promise by a melancholy breakfast, Kendall returned to the upper regions of the boarding house and resolutely sat down to write. There lay before him the first pages of a story. It had stopped like a cheap clock in the small hours of the morning, and he had abandoned it with a groan and had gone to bed. But the thing must be tinkered and put together and wound up and sold. He scanned it in the cold light of day and was amazed to find some good in it, a clever bit of characterization wasted, a touch of the picturesque oddly out of place, a glint of truth in a muddy mess of insincerity. There was even a pleasant jingle in the language, marred by dissonances unnatural and malicious, as if the very devil had jogged the author's elbow.

Kendall read and was affected with pity of himself and with a certain sympathy, a sorrowing tenderness, for the poor stuff that he had labored to produce, the misbegotten child of fair abilities.

A weak, uneven tapping at the door—a knock that was as characteristic as handwriting and revealed a fixed habit of indecision—summoned Kendall to perform the sad rites of homeless hospitality. The aspect of his visitor was so clear in his imagination that he scarce saw her better after the door was open than before. She was a faded woman of forty-five in whose face there lurked an astonishing prettiness, illusive and inappropriate to her years, the ghost of girlhood.

"...heal such as you mention," said he, smiling sadly, "to put a heart in one. May I go in by and by?"

"Yes; right away," she said, rising, while her eyes wandered to the writing table, "if it won't interrupt your work. Edith wants to see you."

He escorted her to the head of the stairs and then returned to his room, where he paced back and forth for some minutes, forcing himself to think cheerful and brave thoughts and striving to bring his countenance into accord with them. When this process had accomplished all that could be hoped of it in the light of his experience therewith he went out into the hall and saw a big, sturdy man ascending the stairs, which creaked loudly beneath him.

"Good morning, doctor," said Kendall. "May I ask if you are going to see Miss Cameron?"

"Yes. I was on another call in the house and met her mother, who suggested that I should go up."

"Will you look in upon me after you have seen her?" said Kendall, turning toward his room.

It may have been half an hour later when the doctor knocked and was admitted. Kendall eyed him with obvious, aching anxiety.

"Convalescence is a long business sometimes," said the doctor. "Miss Cameron had a serious illness, and there is a sense in which she has recovered from it, but a complete restoration to health may be a very tedious process."

"Do you see any improvement?"

The doctor shook his head, and to the next question, "A loss, perhaps?" he answered with a guarded assent.

"I dread the winter," said Kendall. "If she could have a change of scene, if she could live an outdoor life in healthful surroundings"—

"I understand that there is a pecuniary difficulty."

"They have a small property," rejoined Kendall, "but it is not yielding much income just now. I have looked into the matter at Mrs. Cameron's request. A year from now they will be somewhat easier in pocket. Meanwhile they live here upon greatly reduced terms because of relationship. You doubtless know the situation."

"Mrs. Cameron explained it to me," said the doctor cautiously. "She mentioned an indebtedness which— Confound it!" he broke out. "If those people would stop worrying, the girl would be as well as I am in six months."

Kendall was very pale, and his face looked drawn and old.

"You are aware that I was engaged to Miss Cameron," said he. "In such circumstances at the time of Miss Cameron's illness her mother, with great reluctance, permitted me to assist in meeting some demands. I was then in a fair way, but now"—his voice suddenly became shrill and tremulous—"now I have gone all to pieces. I can scarcely make my living. And the knowledge of my altered condition is the last straw upon their backs. Miss Cameron has released me from the engagement peremptorily. She will not hear of its continuance, believing her own case to be hopeless and herself a mere burden. So, even if I had the money, they would not take it. They would not let me save her life."

"Unless you had the strength to carry the matter with a high hand," responded the doctor. "And, speaking of your strength, I am not your medical adviser, but if you will grant me for a moment the greater privilege of advising you as a friend I shall suggest for you also a change of scene. I think you should not uselessly wreck your own career, of whose promise I have heard some very flattering things."

"I thank you," said Kendall coldly. And the doctor took his leave.

Again Kendall paced back and forth and summoned up his courage with even less profit than before. Then he sat an hour with Edith and returned to his own room, his heart sore with love and heavy with discouragement.

And at about the same hour there were two men talking of this very matter. One of them was Kendall's age, though he looked younger. He spoke vigorously, smoked hard between whiles and walked the floor with an air of zest in the exercise. The other was much older. His face was deeply lined and thoughtful. He sat by a broad, flat topped desk littered with manuscripts and letters and an odd assortment of reference books, big and little.

"You have chosen the flower of the flock," said the younger man. "Kendall is not only a natural born correspondent, with the gift of getting the truth and the much rarer gift of writing it, but he is the very man physically for this job. Heat and cold, rain and drought, good food, bad food and no food at all; swamps, microbes and bullets—I tell you Kendall eats them all and grows fat. The only thing that hurts him is a quiet life. I saw him in Cuba and in the Philippines, and he was always in condition, always bright and cheerful and enthusiastic. Besides, he has a smattering of Japanese—had a Jap classmate in college whom he was very fond of. I tell you, Graham, with these arrangements of yours and Kendall as your man you'll get the only good stuff that will have come from the east since the war began."

"There are two points," said Graham slowly. "We cannot afford to pay much; the expenses are so heavy. He'll come back no richer except in reputation. Second, I wish that he had kept himself more in the public eye of late. He has sunk completely out of sight."

"There's a reason for that, as I have told you," said the other, biting his cigar viciously. "But you can boom him up. The public remembers him."

"Well," Graham resumed after a pause, "I authorize you to lay this proposition before him. You are his closest friend, Stetson. You are the only man who without offense can show him the folly of his present course. Get him for me. I want him."

"Without offense?" echoed Stetson. "I don't know. But I'll do my duty. It isn't right that Ned Kendall should wreck his career for the sake of any woman, though she were the best in the world."

"Telegraph him to dine with you," suggested Graham. "Take him to Julian's, where the old crowd goes. Give him some raw meat and some good strong 'man talk,' as Kipling calls it. That will fetch him."

It was half past 6 when Kendall and Stetson met at Julian's. Kendall was weary with the day's ungrateful toil and gloomy thoughts; Stetson was alert and keen, with the eyes of a hunter. Fortune was kind; the right crowd was there, the atmosphere of the scene was perfect, and Kendall, with languid surprise, saw himself welcomed as if from a long illness or the very jaws of the grave. And in the exposition of the scheme Stetson surpassed all his own expectations.

"Jack," said Kendall at last, "I thank you from my soul. If this hour is the turning point of my life, as I truly believe, the credit is largely yours. You have awakened my manhood."

"Thank the Lord!" responded Stetson fervently.

"You have made an error, however," Kendall continued, "a natural error, which I will point out to you. We have seen so little of each other in the past year that you have lost track of me completely and now know nothing of my progress. I have advanced a great distance, but you have thought of me as standing still just where you left me. We all make such mistakes. We hold the pictures of our friends as we last saw them and forget that they must change."

"Do you mean that you've really got on with your work?"

Kendall shook his head.

"Very badly," said he. "My work in most respects has gone back. It is I that have advanced, and I really didn't know it myself until this evening. There is my debt to you. It is the way you have spoken of a man's life that has opened my eyes. Why, Jack, you've been talking of boys' games, the healthful amusements and exercises of youth, which fit us for the serious business of the world. Do you really fancy that following an army and living on horse meat and sleeping in six inches of dirty water in the bottom of an abandoned trench constitute a great achievement that is worth while in itself? My dear boy, I have outgrown such things. I have done them in the past, and they benefited me as much as football, perhaps a little more. It remains for me—now that you have brought these early lessons back to my remembrance—to take the good of them and profit by the patience, strength and resourcefulness and courage that they taught me. I will begin tomorrow—no, tonight, for there are three good hours before 12."

"But—but aren't you going to take—Graham's offer?"

"I can't consider it. The war in the east is no doubt an important matter for those who are engaged in it, but not for me. Certainly I can't afford to look on at it. I can't afford to be a looker on right here and now, for there is war all around us, and I stand armed in the thick of it. I have dropped my pen and taken up the sword while you and I have sat here at this table."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that the first duty of every man is to the woman he loves; that all the labors of his youth are merely preparation; that he endures hardships and sees battles and fights them if the chance comes for no other worthy purpose than to learn how to fight for her. And I haven't done it. I have been looking on and jotting down notes that I call stories. I'm through with it. To be plain with you, Jack, there is one high and holy task before me now, and the Lord, through you, has given me the grace to see it. Good night. Give my respectful thanks to Mr. Graham. You will see me again when I have cut my way out of the heart of this battle."

On the third day following this interview at the time of sunset Kendall knocked at the Camerons' door and was admitted. He was haggard and pale, but his eyes revealed an inexhaustible energy of spirit. He crossed the room quickly to where Edith sat by the western window and kissed her hand with a fine deference.

"What has happened?" she asked, looking up at him. "Something has come of all the mystery of these last few days. Is it a story?"

"Yes," said he; "a love story about the prettiest girl that ever lived and the stupidest man that ever died—and didn't know it till one day he waked up and saw that he was dead and came to life again. The occasion of this miracle was a conversation with an excellent friend who for the dead-alive man's good suggested an expedition to the wilds of Manchuria, where, I am told, there is a war in progress. Instantly the awakened individual perceived that there was fighting nearer home in which he had an intimate concern. In the midst of the battle he saw the prettiest girl aforesaid desperately threatened and surrounded by foes. Now, which battle was his, think you?

"It didn't take him long to decide, and he began to look to his weapons. In his right hand there was a pen—a good weapon in its way, but too slow for this emergency. So he reached up into the air and seized an idea which had the form and potency of a sharp sword. It had been within his reach and dimly perceived for many months, but he had been too sluggish to grasp it. Armed therewith, he hewed his way to the citadel of a powerful magician who sat by a barrel of bright gold, with which he worked his wonders. 'This sword for a share of that gold!' cried the invader, but the magician uttered a cold 'Ha, ha!'

"Thrice and four times the man returned to the attack, and each time the sword was sharpened upon hard facts and polished with much thought. And at last he forced it into the hand of the great magician and was himself next moment head and shoulders in the barrel of red gold.

"To be plain, Edith, I have done a pretty stroke of business. I have some money down and some work to do and a good, safe contract for a sufficient salary. Dearest, look out into the west. The tint in that sky shines up around the curve of the world from a little house bowered in roses. It shines into your cheeks. Come; there will be more color where the roses are. Let us go to find them."

"I dare not," she murmured, trembling.

"A gentleman connected with an express company," said he calmly, "will call for your baggage and your mother's tomorrow about this hour."

How to Make Pretty Presents For Christmas

A COLLECTION of photographs or blue prints is the inevitable result of a summer's vacation. The ardent amateur photographer, having assailed every attraction in nature's keeping and snapped an instantaneous impression into his camera, must transfer his efforts to a background of white cardboard, and with these souvenirs of out of door good times one can originate Christmas gifts for friends who shared in the outings. Collections of cards, etchings, photogravures and engravings, pen and ink drawings, pressed seaweeds, will all welcome a covering designed for their own particular use, and this covering will not only protect and preserve the treasures, but will make a decided hit with the enthusiastic collector who receives it at Christmas time.

Taking this illustration for a guide, a very pretty and artistic portfolio may be fashioned. Cut from stiff white cardboard two pieces the same size as the mounted photographs. Letter first in pencil—and over this use ink or paint—some name or title. The first two bars of "Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgot" thrown back (by using lighter ink) of "Notes of a Camera" will suggest other combinations for outside designs. If pressed flowers are to be inclosed in your portfolio, fasten a maidenhair fern or spreading leaves to the cover, or if seaweeds are pressed on the inside cards attach one to the outside, with an appropriate quotation lettered in one corner. Or fasten an unmounted photograph to your top card.

A decoration possible to the owner of a camera is done by pinning on a large board several of the photographs you intend to cover and photographing them in a small group. The print is pasted on the portfolio, and no explanations are needed to tell what is inside.

A clever use of the slits through which the ribbons are passed for tying the covers together will give considerable variety to your portfolios. Experiment with these before you destroy your best cards, and you will find out some different devices for yourself. Instead of using ribbons you will like silk braids or gilt or silver braids or cords for variety. By selecting tying strings, cardboard and lettering ink in different shades of one color a harmonious looking portfolio will be the result. If you wish the letters on the cover thrown into relief, cut them out of paper, glue them on firmly and gild or paint them.

The second sketch shows a portfolio made of Japanese t... matting. The inside is lined with green velvet, and pockets are added, and the whole is bound with green ribbon, with strings for tying around sewed to the back. This makes a serviceable and dainty portfolio for choice cabinet photographs.

Unless you have tried it you cannot imagine what pretty and inexpensive picture frames for Christmas can be made of wall paper. Select paper of a small design or of plain color and cover the panels, which have been cut from heavy cardboard, turning the edges over and gluing in place. Place the front panels in a row close together, face down, and lay a piece of ribbon at the top and bottom to form hinges. The backs are then glued to these, except the lower edge, which is left open to slip the photograph in. Place a board over this with a heavy weight until dry. Some very effective frames for large photographs are made of flowered designs and are quite as pretty as hand painted ones if fine, carefully selected paper is used. Some of the tapestry papers make excellent frames and screens and are also effective for covering shirt waist boxes.

Corset covers, if you can beg, borrow or steal a friend's pattern, are a delight, and you'll find your Christmas gift received with most flattering enthusiasm. "But," warns a thoughtful woman, "don't make a corset cover unless you know the kinds she wears or you'll be giving a full, fussy one to a girl whose taste in underclothes is severely simple, or a plain one, embellished in true French style, with only fine little vines and dots and scallops embroidered by hand, to the girl who always wears frills and fluff."

GOOD AFTERNOON.

How quickly the Democratic papers recover from the blues after an election. Previous to Tuesday they deplored the decadence(?) of the nation and the State of Massachusetts. The most prominent feature of the Boston Globe yesterday was the announcement of a "red-letter week for the port of Boston," when ten steamships sailed with 50,000 tons of cargo valued at nearly three millions of dollars. It was strikingly illustrated. While the bulk of the cargoes were grain, it helped New England railroads and gave employment to thousands at Boston.

Drift of Opinion.

☞If the new District Attorney of Boston carries out the pledges he made before election, especially those in regard to places similar to where the Geary girl met her death, he will accomplish a great feat. That he will attempt it there is no doubt, and his well known energy and determination make it more than probable that he will succeed.—Lynn Item.

☞The course of events since the last presidential election has tended to make the capitalistic issue dominant. The popular magazines and the great newspapers have done much to focus public attention upon the aggressions of what is often denominated "the money power." The Bryan campaign of 1896 exhibited one form of this protest. The issue selected was out of date because the increase in the world's gold supply, then under way, made the charge of an impending gold famine, with the resultant appreciation of gold and depreciation of the commodities which it measured, untenable. Four years later the free silver attack was still more out of harmony with the times. But the disastrous experience of the Democratic party last year in trying to be conservative has given great inpetus to the radicals, of whom Mr. Hearst is today the acknowledge national leader, and they will find a better radical issue than free silver ever was.—Lincoln in Boston Transcript.

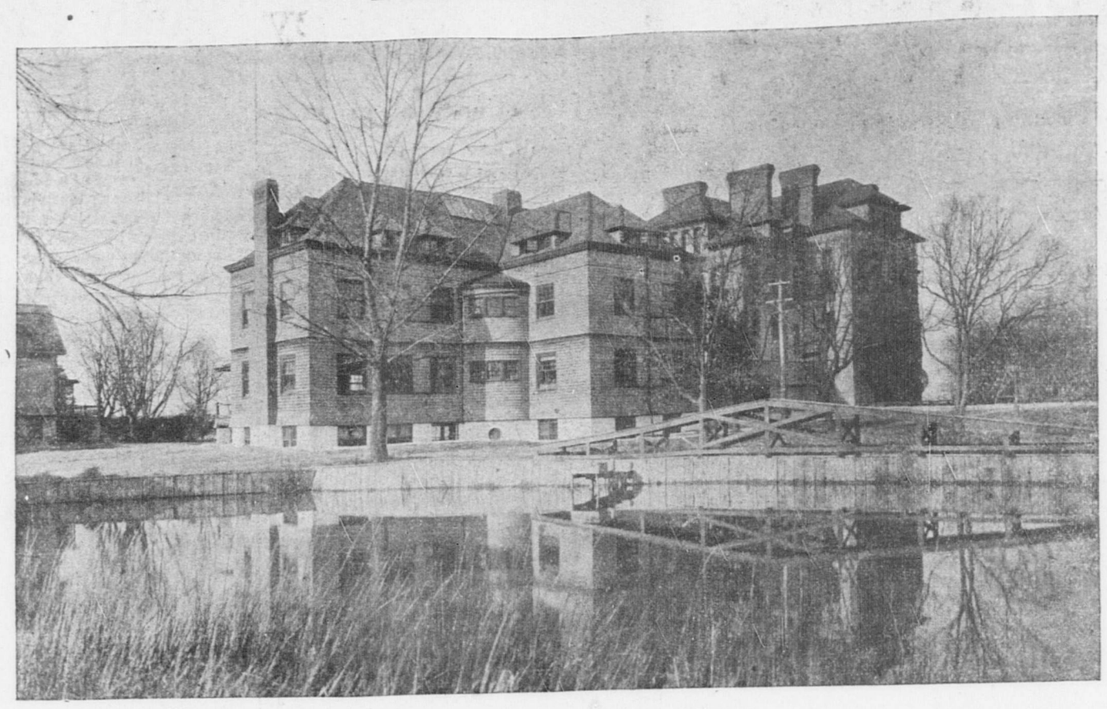
HAMPTON INSTITUTE.



View of the Academic and Science Buildings of the Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institute at Hampton, Virginia.

An interesting public meeting in behalf of industrial education for Negroes and Indians in general, and in particular that work carried on at Hampton, Virginia, will be held in Bethany Congregational church, Quincy, at 7.45 o'clock, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 15.

An address will be made by Rev. H. B. Frissell, D. D., principal, and short talks will be given by two representative Hampton graduates. One of these an Onandaga Indian of the class of '89 is Charles Doxon, and the other L. E. Hall is a graduate of '03, and hails from the black belt of Alabama.

The story of the lives of these two men is simply and interestingly presented, and is full of interest.

A pleasing feature will be the singing of the old-time plantation melodies by the well-known male quartet from the school.

Quincy has two representatives at work on the staff of the Institute, Miss Corinne Hayward and Miss Drew. This fact should increase the public interest in this meeting.

Elcock Also Desires Recount of Votes Count for Whitney To Begin Monday

The Registrars of Voters will meet Monday night at 6 o'clock to recount the votes cast at the election last Tuesday for Lieutenant Governor. As there were nearly 4,000 votes cast it will take some time to complete the job.

James H. Elcock, who was defeated by Edward J. Sandberg for Representative at Tuesday's election by 64 votes, has petitioned the Board of Registrars for a recount. Just when the votes will be recounted has not been determined. As the official returns of the city must be made to the state secretary within ten days, the recount must be held soon.

The petitions for a recount make it necessary to hold a special meeting of the City Council either Wednesday or Thursday to receive the returns.

The vote of several candidates for representative was as follows:

Hultman,	1,811
Sandberg,	1,796
Elcock,	1,732
Turner.	953
Blanks,	1,644

Mr. Baker respectfully gives notice that he has engaged Music Hall for every Wednesday and Saturday evening for the season; also for every holiday afternoon and evening. He hopes to see most of his former pupils (over 500 in Quincy besides a great many from surrounding towns) during the season. This is his sixth season at teaching in Quincy and he hopes this, his first one in Music Hall, will be his most successful. No spectators other than parents of pupils will be allowed at the classes, and the best of order will be insisted upon at the classes and assemblies. He reserves the right to exclude any objectionable parties. Mr. Baker's residence is at 26 Foster street. Oct. 14-tf

Alumni Scored But Did Not Succeed in Defeating Quincy High

Quincy High and the Alumni had a battle royal yesterday at Merrymount Park. It was one of the most interesting games this season, each side contributing many spectacular plays. This was especially true of the Alumni eleven as they had to depend upon individual work for gains, whereas the High school had a well organized team which was able to gain consistently until within striking distance of the goal. Here some of the former "stars" would rally, showing some of their old time form and throw High back for a loss. If High had been able to continue their advance of the ball they would have scored four touch-downs instead of only one.

There was much open play each side making long runs which improved the game from a spectator's point of view. Each side also punted a number of times, shifting the ground of attack so every one had opportunity to see the game in detail.

The High school did their scoring in the first half, when Commins tore around the opposite tackle for ten yards, and a touchdown.

Then the Alumni had their turn in the second half, when Miller, on a fake kick-ran around the end for 90 yards, hurdled Sanders, and finally placed the ball between the goal posts which is the first time it has been crossed this season.

It would be unfair to pick out any particular player or players, and say that they showed up especially well, as every man on both teams did splendid work.

Working Horn.

It is often the case that amateurs would like to make some use of handsome horns, but from the rigid and obstinate nature of the material are unable to do so. A simple process carefully followed out would enable any one to make beautiful and useful articles. The inner part of the horn is scraped out, then it is thrown into water and boiled for an hour or so, when it becomes soft. It is then held in the flame of a wood or coal fire, being constantly turned. It should be kept in the fire for some time, care being taken that it does not burn, and is frequently moistened by being dipped in boiling water. The heat and steam will soften it to about the condition of molten lead. It is therefore very soft and can be split lengthwise by a strong knife and pinchers. It can then be cut into thin layers by separating the sheets of which it is composed. By being pressed between dies it can be made to take almost any form. When the article is complete it can be scraped smooth, then given a high polish.

The time of working hours at the Fore River Shipbuilding Company changed Monday. Work being through at 4.30 P. M.

CITY BREVITIES.

The registrars of voters meet tonight at City Hall to add names to the voting lists.

Quincy Music hall with its reduced prices and its most attractive decorations, promises to have an unusually successful winter.

A special meeting of Women's Auxiliary to Y. M. C. A. will be held Monday morning at ten o'clock in Association building. Important business.

Wollaston will be represented at the Tech meet this afternoon. Carl Gram, the popular captain of last year's High school base ball team, has made the freshmen relay team, and H. F. Miller, who made records in football, baseball and track at High school, will run on the Harvard cross country team against Tech.

Mayor at West Quincy

Unusual Enthusiasm Rally Committee Appointed

Seldom, if ever, has there been a larger attended Republican rally at West Quincy than that held last night at Farnum's hall, in the interest of the candidacy of Mayor James Thompson for the nomination for Mayor at the municipal caucuses next Tuesday.

The hall was packed and the enthusiasm for Mayor Thompson was unbounded.

Charles H. Owens presided and brief remarks eulogistic of Mayor Thompson were made by Councilman Walter E. Piper, Theodore H. Hermanson, Representative-elect Edward J. Sandberg, Commissioner Thomas F. Burke, J. Leonard Ferguson, ex-Councilman John C. Kapples, Councilman Arthur W. Loud, William H. Teasdale, John Evans, Andrew Anderson and Robert Allen.

Mayor Thompson was the first speaker introduced and received an ovation. His Honor reviewed his administration. He had strived to give the city a clean business-like and economical administration. If the citizens of Quincy were satisfied that he had fulfilled the duties in this manner he hoped that it would give him their endorsement. He spoke of the debts of the city and how the money was raised by taxation and the benefits derived from the water service and other public improvements.

He spoke of the attractiveness of Quincy as a place of residence and the prominent place the city held in the history of the country.

After the speaking, a rallying committee was formed to further the candidacy of Mayor Thompson at the caucuses next Tuesday.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

Hereafter the club department will appear in the Wednesday instead of the Saturday Ledger, as the rush of other news and the printing of several papers at the end of the week makes it impossible for the editor to do justice to the subject. Presidents or Secretaries of clubs, auxiliaries, alliances, guilds, leagues, patriotic or church societies, are invited to cooperate by sending matter pertaining to their organization, which will be of interest to their members or the public. If mailed to the club editor not later than Tuesday noon it will receive prompt attention.—Eds.

Makaria Win.

Warmest October in Years.

The observations at Blue Hill Observatory show that the past October was a warm, dry month. The mean temperature was about one degree above the average of the last twenty Octobers. The rainfall, 1.66 inches, was only about one-third the normal or average rainfall for October. The rainfall was the smallest of any October since 1890. The number of hours of sunshine was the largest of any October within twenty years, excepting 1901 which gave seven more hours of sunshine. The month showed more SW., and W. and less NW. and N. winds than usual.—Milton Record.

Arcadia Night Of Unity Club

The regular meeting of the Wollaston Unity club was held in the Unitarian vestry last evening.

Mr. Charles F. Harper, who was president during one of the club's most successful seasons, had charge of the evening, and after the secretary's report he introduced as the first speaker Miss Mary Thomas.

Miss Thomas' subject was "Arcadia." She told of the early struggle of the English and French for this beautiful country and portrayed some of the heroic characters concerned in this struggle.

The club now listened to Longfellow's beautiful description of Arcadia from "Evangeline," charmingly read by Miss Dorothy Fay.

The second paper on "The Expulsion of the Arcadians," was given by one of the club's new members, Mr. Holbrook, submaster of the High school. Mr. Holbrook dwelt somewhat on the events leading up to the expulsion and impressed upon his audience the fact that the Arcadian had been given chance after chance to take the oath of allegiance to England but had been stubborn. He then told of the sadness of the expulsion, of the parting of friends and families and finally said we should not judge the English too harshly, for they really has some justification for the course they took.

Miss Fay then read another selection from Evangeline.

Just before and just after the short intermission which followed Miss Mabel Drew of Atlantic, rendered a few charming vocal solos.

The last paper of the evening was given by an old friend of the Unity club, Mr. Stacy B. Southworth of Quincy.

Mr. Southworth's subject was Nova Scotia, and he gave a most interesting and inspiring description of this beautiful country, of its hardworking but happy inhabitants, and finally of its simple homes where a stranger is always welcome.

Bellevue Park and Montclair.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Parlee are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter born on October 31.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyer and family have moved from Squantum street, Montclair, to Appleton street, Atlantic.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren of Medford have moved into the house recently vacated by Daniel Dicey and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustafferson of Ardelle street, Montclair, have moved into the three-suite house on Broadway.

☞ Main Spring while you wait. Watch cleaned, $1.—Williams.

BRAINTREE.

The East Braintree Methodist Episcopal Ladies' Aid socitey held a successful sale on Wednesday evening. The audience room was crowded. A fine display of home-made candies was quickly sold.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sanford of Nova Scotia have moved into the house formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Yutema.

The King's Daughters held their regular meeting with Mrs. J. H. Annis of Central street Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Delano have moved from Mr. A. S. Pennock's house on Washington street to Everett.

Workmen have been busy breaking ground for Thomas J. Caine's new stable which is to be built in the rear of the Hampton house.

The King's Daughters realized $126 from their recent two nights fair held in the Town house.

Monday evening a number met with Mr. and Mrs. C. F. H. Crathern to form a literary club. It was decided to first study the works of Robert Browning.

Dr. R. F. Burleigh has lost a valuable horse. The animal was very sick with pneumonia and it was found necessary to kill him.

Mrs. Daisy Williams of Quincy Adams was the guest of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dyer on Thursday.

Dr. C. M. Marstin is to have a three story addition on the rear of his residence. The stone foundation is being put in by William Allen.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Penniman School association will be held at the home of O. W. Hollis on Wednesday evening, November 15, at 7.30 o'clock.

Have you noticed the bright red of the barberries since the recent frosts? The bushes on the fine estate of Mr. C. F. White, Prescott lane, are thickly fruited and look most attractive.

The funeral of Mr. Gilbert Bowditch who died on Friday November third, aged 81 years, took place on Sunday at 2 P. M. from his late residence on Allen street. Rev. R. H. Cochrane of Union church officiated. Beautiful flowers attested the affection of his faithful daughter and family friends. The interment was at the Village cemetery.

The above title is to be the theme for discussion at the South Congregational Church to-morrow evening. The Rev. C. F. Hill Crathern is to speak on "Town Topics" and the theme in question is a vital one, and one that concerns the moral welfare of the community.

New rails are being laid by the Old Colony street railway through Mayflower Park, from the Holbrook line north to Hancock street. They are placed on the east side of Washington street and to do this properly, the street is being widened and many trees are being removed. The new rails are 75 pounds to the yard, twice as heavy as the old rails. Great improvement.

Last Sunday, Nov. 5th, was the eightieth birthday of one of our most honored citizens, Mr. Elisha Thayer. The day found him in excellent health and spirits many of his friends and relatives who dropped in casually during the day could heartily and sincerely congratulate him on reaching the good old age of four score years in such good health surrounded by his loving family in his own pleasant home of peace and prosperity. In a most informal way open house was kept, he and his gracious wife receiving most hospitably all who called.

Monatiquot lodge 83, K. of P., is certainly beginning to feel the effects of the "Big Night," it has been holding, as another application for the ranks of Knighthood was received last Monday evening.

Wednesday evening the 8th the second of the series of visitations was held at Holbrook when Norfolk lodge 119 entertained Delphi lodge 15 of Weymouth and Monatiquot lodge of Braintree. The rank of page was conferred on a candidate; the work being done by Norfolk lodge, in a manner which reflects great credit upon its rank staff. The next visitations will be at Weymouth Thursday, Dec. 7 with Delphi lodge.

Winter Course.

The social and benevolent society of the Wollaston Baptist church have arranged for a winter course of three entertainment, as follows:

Nov. 21, the stereopticon lecture, "Evangeline" by Rev. A. T. Kempton.

Feb. 6, the Boston Y. M. C. A. Glee club, assisted by a reader.

March 27, the Barleben string quartette from the Boston Symphony orchestra, assisted by a local soloist.

Tickets for the course, one dollar, for sale at F. D. Fellows Co.'s clothing store, Quincy and at Eben Hardy, jewelry store, Wollaston.

—Horrible indignities have been recently perpetrated by the Chinese at Lienchow. Dr. Machle, the American missionary who escaped, confirms the previous accounts of the outbreak. He says the mob seized Mrs. Machle and Miss Chestnut, stripped them naked and exposed them to public view in the Chinese temple for fifteen minutes, then threw them into the river to drown.

The railroads say that if they stop rebates, they will bring on a rate war. They also confess that it is true that they publish one tariff and collect another. Theodore Roosevelt said at New Orleans. "There is one thing as President of this country, I won't do, and that is to make a bluff that I cannot make good." The issue appears to be joined. Let the scrapping proceed.

☞ You are cordially invited to attend the social dance, under the auspices of the Braintree Fife and Drum Corps, in the Town hall, Thursday evening, Nov. 16. Music by Cuff's orchestra.

—Reciprocity did not get much assistance on the Cape.

CHARITIES.

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

Nathan and McLeod Appear In Court at Boston

YOUTH HELD IN $5000 BAIL

Grand Jury Hearing Evidence In Suit Case Tragedy--Doe or Comes Forward as New Witness--John Doe Proceedings

Boston, Nov. 11.—Another legal chapter in the prosecution of the persons arrested for complicity in the death of Susanna Geary was enacted in the municipal court, before Judge Bennett, when Morris Nathan, the utility man of "The Shepherd King" company, was arraigned on the charge of abortion. Jesse Gove, his counsel, was in court to represent his interests and acquiesced to a continuance of the case until Monday, to give the grand jury time to report. Bail for the young man was fixed at $5000.

Nathan came to the court from the city hospital, where he has been under surveillance since his arrival in Boston. The trip was made in company with a police inspector. Nathan has improved greatly during the 10 days that he has been at the hospital and does not look the despondent and broken youth that he was when he was brought from Pittsburg.

Dr. Percy D. McLeod, the physician who is alleged to have performed the operation under which the girl died, also appeared in court before Judge Bennett on a continuance from last Saturday. Charles H. Innes, appearing as counsel for him, urged that his client's interests demand that the case be finished as soon as possible. Captain Dugan, for the police, argued that it would be impossible for the prosecution to present its case, for he, with 40 witnesses who have been summoned, are engaged in giving their evidence to the grand jury. Judge Bennett finally continued the case until Monday, before which time the grand jury will have made its report in the matter.

The grand jury heard the evidence as presented by District Attorney Sughrue and Assistant District Attorney Dwyer. Among the witnesses summoned to give evidence were the mother and two sisters of Miss Geary, Pawnbrokers Berkman, Rubin and Vilensky, the two Winthrop boys who picked up the suit case containing the torso, Medical Examiner Harris, Professor Whitney of Harvard, Thomas Madden, who found the second suit case, Edward Fraser, William Needham, E. Lynch, Deputy Chief Neal of the state police, Fred L Briggs, the undertaker, Captain Duncan and Diver Wallace, who found the head.

A new witness in the case came forward when Dr. John H. Pettee appeared before the grand jury. Up to this time Pettee's name had not been mentioned in connection with the investigation.

A number of people whose interest in the matter was prompted by curiosity were at the court house. It is probable that all the witnesses will not be called, but only a sufficient number to justify the returning of an indictment against the persons alleged to have been concerned in the crime either as principal or accessories. The case is before the grand jury under the name of "John Doe," a fictitious name assumed at an inquiry of this character when the real parties concerned are not definitely known. Whoever appears to have been implicated in the crime on the evidence submitted will be indicted.

Governor Douglas today signed the papers necessary for the extradition of William Howard and Louis Crawford, who are under arrest in New York, charged with complicity in causing Susan Geary's death. Officers left for Albany today to have Governor Higgins of New York pass upon the papers.

Hunting For Mrs Dean

Halifax, Nov. 11.—Superintendent Pierce of Boston police and a Pinkerton detective arrived here last last night in search of Mary S. Dean, wanted in connection with the death of Susan Geary at Boston. After consultation with Chief O'Sullivan, they went to their hotel for the night. There are no new developments.

French Cabinet In the Balance

Paris, Nov. 11.—The Rouvier ministry met with its first check when Minister of War Berteaux peremptorily withdrew from the ministerial benches during an angry debate in the chamber of deputies and thereafter announced his resignation. After a debate of exceptional violence, a motion favorable to the ministry prevailed by a vote of 310 to 147. However, the future of the cabinet remains in doubt.

Editor Saw Strenuous Times

Cumberland, Md., Nov. 11.—T. R. Taylor, a former editor of the Cumberland Evening Times and who was foreman of The Congressional Globe and later of The National Republican, Washington, during the days of Lincoln, died last night, aged 71 years. He established a paper at Fairfield, Ia., which was destroyed by a mob when the Civil war began.

Lockout Affects Forty Thousand

Gera, Germany, Nov. 11.—The Weavers and Dyers' association of the Saxon-Thuringian district has decided to make the lockout of weavers general, having failed to induce a sufficient number of operatives to accept the wage scale and continue work. The lockout will affect 40,000 operatives.

WIFE OF GEORGE IV

Ancient Document Proving the Claim of Mrs Fitzherbert

London, Nov. 11.—By permission of King Edward, The Daily Chronicle asserts, a package of papers consigned to the care of Coutts bank by Mrs. Fitzherbert (Maria Anne Smythe) under the stipulation that it was not to be opened for a long period, has now, after 70 years, been opened, and proved to contain the marriage certificate and other indisputable proofs that George IV was actually married to Mrs. Fitzherbert.

Mrs. Fitzherbert became the wife of the Prince of Wales, afterward George IV, in December, 1785. The marriage of the prince was invalid under English law, though it was sanctioned by the Roman Catholic church, of which Mrs. Fitzherbert was a member.

It was expected that the papers in Coutts bank would settle a question which has agitated the British public for over a century as to whether there was issue from the marriage, but there is nothing in the foregoing dispatch to indicate that the question has been solved. It had long been reported that there actually was a male child and that the child emigrated to the United States and settled in Washington, where he died some years ago after living very quietly, but in good circumstances.

The Business Outlook

New York, Nov. 11.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that each week brings a stronger business situation, seasonal weather having removed the last drawback. Pressure for shipment of goods is so great in many lines that the partial holiday put deliveries still further behind and caused inconvenience. Reports of wholesome conditions are now practically unanimous and improvement in collections is noted.

Investigating Election Frauds

New York, Nov. 11.—Ten indictments for violations of the election law and two for assaults committed at the polls at the election last Tuesday have been drawn up by the grand jury. It is said that Attorney General Mayer and State Superintendent of Elections Morgan have instituted a searching investigation of the alleged election frauds which will be continued until the legislature meets.

Satan Statue Makes Trouble

Detroit, Nov. 11.—The monument of Satan, recently unveiled by Herman Metz, a contracting stone mason, was stoned by a mob of boys and several pieces of the statue chipped off. Metz has hired two police officers to guard it from further attack. Clergymen and city officials are consulting with lawyers to find if they can force Metz to remove the remarkable monument from his lawn.

Prince at Naval Banquet

New York, Nov. 11.—Prince Louis and 250 officers of the British and American squadrons were the guests last night of the United States Naval Academy Alumni association at a banquet at Delmonico's. The hall was decorated with the American and British colors and music was furnished by the band of the United States battleship Alabama.

Precious Relics Stolen

Florence, Nov. 11.—A foreigner who recently went to the library of state archives and was granted permission to consult the precious collection of documents known as "Universal Correspondence" stole a letter signed by St. Catherine, besides two other important documents. The thief, who is supposed to be a Pole, has not yet been traced.

Postmaster to Be Censured

Washington, Nov. 11.—The postoffice department will undoubtedly dispose of the charges against Postmaster Sherwin of Goshen, Ind., early next week. It is learned on reliable authority that drastic measures will be taken and Sherwin will escape with some lively and pointed censures of his management of the Goshen office.

Sailors Turn Murderers

London, Nov. 11.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Bucharest, Roumania, says that the sailors of the Russian steamer Ismail, bound out from Odessa Nov. 8 with refugees, mutinied at sea and threatened the passangers with death unless they gave them money and jewelry and that those unable to do so were thrown overboard.

Miners Want Increase In Pay

Pittsburg, Nov. 11.—When the miners of the bituminous field meet the operators in January to arrange the scale for the coming year a demand will be made for a 12 percent increase. This is the official announcement given out by Secretary-Treasurer Dodds of district No. 5, United Mine Workers.

Insurgents Punished by Germans

Berlin, Nov. 11.—The governor of German East Africa reports that the insurgents have been beaten in five fights near Songea, and that 4000 Wangon tribesmen were defeated near Nyambengo. The German troops had no casualities, but the insurgents suffered heavy losses.

Warsaw Strike Continues

Warsaw, Nov. 11.—The general strike continues. All the shops are closed except those of the apothecaries and also several bakeries which the strikers ordered to be opened so as to prevent starvation of the poor.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

A Serviceable Petticoat For Winter. Pretty Jeweled Trifles.

Mohair petticoats are shown with silk ruffles. They are lighter in weight than an entire mohair skirt and are more durable than a silk one.

A green enameled dragon has a gold sword with a diamond hilt thrust through it and is a quaint idea for a brooch.

A handsome hatpin is of brilliants in the form of a butterfly. It is fastened on a spring, so that with every movement of the wearer's head it flutters and sparkles.

CHIFFON VELVET WAIST.

The latest thing in gold purses is a pig, the body made of chains and the head of solid gold. It is supposed to convey luck to its wearer.

Tailored dresses have about the collar and vests a little embroidery, but it is not the elaborate raised work we have been accustomed to see employed, but dainty effects in small dots and circles or tiny flowers and careless sprays. Every woman does a little of this hand work, and even the poorest needlewoman need not hesitate to try her hand at it.

Plaids are everywhere in the shops and are shown in all sorts of materials, silk, wool and mohair.

Among the new evening boas is a pretty one made of green leaves, with pink camellias at the ends.

The separate waist pictured is of wine red chiffon velvet. The pipings about the neck, cuffs and revers are of Du Barry pink, as are also the tiny bows decorating the empiecement and collar of lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THINGS THEATRICAL.

Charles Frohman is presenting William Collier at the Comedy theater, London, in Augustus Thomas' play, "On the Quiet."

Augustus Thomas' great comedy, "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," scored an immediate and lasting hit in Chicago, where it began its road tour.

In New Haven recently Miss Grace Van Studdiford began her season in a musical version of "Lady Teazle," in which Miss Lillian Russell was seen.

William C. Crane has started rehearsals of "The American Lord," in which he will appear this season. The authors of the play are George C. Broadhurst and Charles T. Dazey.

Sam Bernard, in "The Rollicking Girl," has reached his one hundred and sixtieth performance at the Herald Square theater, New York, where the crowds are just as large as ever.

The co-star alliance of James K. Hackett and Mary Mannering in Alfred Sutro's remarkable drama, "The Walls of Jericho," has proved a potent drawing card at the Savoy theater, New York.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL.

George K. Linsley, for fifty-seven years principal of the same school in Jersey City, has been retired on a pension of $1,200.

A 7,000 pound bell for one of the new buildings of the College of the City of New York has been cast at Troy. President Finley will write a short poem, which will be inscribed on the bell.

Jane Addams has been appointed chairman of the most important committee of the Chicago school board, the school management committee. The appointment marks a decided advance in the status of women.

Professor Wilhelm Paszkowski, special commissioner from the emperor of Germany to study American universities, will visit fourteen institutions for the purpose of establishing closer working relations between the universities of Germany and the United States.

GOWN GOSSIP.

Lace of almost every description will be used in the building of evening gowns.

Don't get a brown suit unless that is undeniably your color, for browns are a little out of favor.

Entirely new are the shadow plaids, which are especially commended, in soft finished serges. They may be had in a variety of colors.

The newest velveteens are marvels of durability as well as of beauty. It is claimed for the best velveteens that they will stand tubbing like common muslins.

Skirts are still plaited, but by far the most graceful skirt is a circular cut, very smooth fitting about the hips and flaring widely at the foot. The appearance of the skirt is, as some one has said, exactly that of a closed umbrella. —New York Post.

KILLING OF JEWS

Scheduled to Occur In Two Russian Capitals

BLACK HUNDRED THREAT

St Petersburg Police Instructed to Take Fullest Measures to Crush Disorder In Its Incipiency--Moscow Is Alarmed

St. Petersburg, Nov. 11.—Except in the kingdom of Poland, where the rapidly growing Nationalist movement and the state of tension among the proletariat will soon bring about the declaration of a state of war, Russia seems for the time being at least to be generally tranquil.

Telegrams from interior points report the restoration of order in nearly all cities and towns, but in many cities, notably St. Petersburg and Moscow, the better classes of the population are greatly disturbed, owing to the rumors of approaching attacks by the "Black Hundred," composed of the most ignorant types of the populace, which, according to these rumors, are scheduled to take place in St. Petersburg tonight and in Moscow tomorrow.

The apprehension in St. Petersburg has become so great that the prefect of police, who succeeded General Trepoff in command of the city police, has instructed his subordinates to take the fullest measures to crush any disorder in its incipiency so as to disabuse the minds of the "loyalists" of the idea that the police would remain inactive. In such an emergency the strong hand of Trepoff is being missed, even by the factions which most execrated him.

A long official communication published this morning denies that disorders in any part of the country have been fomented by the government and promises a most careful inquiry into the outrages against life and property and the adoption of measures to prevent their recurrence. It says that even were the accusations against the government confirmed they would not form a pretext for the recent terrible occurrences. The government recognizes that its duty is to remain quite impartial and to give its protection to all persons requiring it.

"The government will strive to fulfil the emperor's will regarding the freedom of citizenship," the communication says. "The hostile relations of different political parties and the non-participation of the moderates may result in a situation unsuitable for the introduction of reforms, but the government cannot think that any considerable part of the Russian people prefers disorder to order and internal strife to peaceful development. The council of ministers is therefore ready to execute the imperial command to the utmost."

Prefect of Police Dedulin has issued an order referring to the rumors of a proposed attack on the Jews and the Intellectuals, reminding the police that on them lies the responsibility for the maintenance of order and the safety of every inhabitant of the capital without distinction of position, nationality or faith. He instructs them to bring to trial the instigators of violence and all persons found posting seditious proclamations.

By Way of London

London, Nov. 11.—It is reported from St. Petersburg that there are signs in that city of preparations to massacre the Hebrews. The Hebrew population is panic-stricken.

With the permission of the police, it is asserted, proclamations have been posted in the Alexander market calling on the population to kill the Hebrews. The National Patriotic league is providing its followers with knives.

At Rostoff-on-Don, it is stated, the houses of 7000 Hebrews were looted. The synagogue was burned. Families without shelter appealed to the authorities for protection. Those who asked for help were shot.

Moscow Hears the Rumors

Moscow, Nov. 11.—Alarming reports are in circulation that anti-Jewish outbreaks will occur simultaneously here and at St. Petersburg tomorrow. Foreigners and Jews have received threatening letters and have asked the authorities for protection, but thus far no step has been taken toward granting the request.

Poland Wants Own Parliament

Warsaw, Nov. 11.—Representatives of all political parties in Poland, at a meeting held in the palace here, decided to send 20 leading citizens to St. Petersburg to request the czar to grant Russian Poland full autonomy and its own parliament. The deputation will leave today.

Educational Institutions Closed

St. Petersburg, Nov. 11.—The universities and high schools throughout Russia have been closed indefinitely by order of the minister of education.

Sculptor Takes His Own Life

New York, Nov. 11.—Having made his will and provided for the distribution of all his art treasures among his friends, Gustav Fuchs, a sculptor, committed suicide last night by shooting in his apartments in this city.

Chinese Villagers Arming

Hong Kong, Nov. 11.—The trouble at Lienchow and its vicinity, where five American missionaries were recently murdered by a mob, is spreading. The villagers are reported to be arming.

JOE HOWARD'S REGRET

Sorry He Could Not Sign More Insurance Ad Vouchers

New York, Nov. 11.—Closing the sessions of the week, the legislative committee of insurance investigation has secured a mass of detail and figures which, while of apparent little interest to the laity, is of inestimable value to the committee. The greater part of the week has been devoted to the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, the examinations of President Hegeman and James M. Craig, the actuary of the company, being of a most technical nature. When adjournment was taken the committee had not finished the examination of Hegeman and he will be called again next week.

Just before the hour of adjournment Hegeman was excused and Joseph Howard, Jr., a writer who has been employed by the Mutual Life, was called to the stand. He identified vouchers he had signed for money received for writing advertisements and reading notices for the Mutual Life. Howard afforded much amusement by his declaration that his only regret was that he could not sign more of these vouchers. His only complaint was that he was not paid enough for his work. This, too, was the complaint on the witness stand of Charles Smith, who also does writing for the Mutual Life, and receives $8000 a year for it.

Korean Independence Near End

Seoul, Nov. 11.—The arrival of Marquis Ito marks one of the most important events in the history of Korea. During his visit the Hermit Kingdom, once an independent state, will probably become a Japanese protectorate. Ito, after investigating conditions and formulating his policy, will present the program of Japan. It is said that Ito hopes that the confidence displayed in him by the Emperor of Japan will have its effect on the Emperor of Korea and induce a graceful submission to the inevitable loss of Korea's independence.

Hannah Elias Wins Her Case

New York, Nov. 11.—The appellate division of the New York state supreme court handed down a decision dismissing a suit brought by John R. Platt against Hannah Elias, a negress, to recover $685,000, which Platt asserted he had given to her under coercion. The decision says that none of the allegations of the complaint respecting fraud, intimidation, threats, coercion or blackmail is proven.

Robber Scared Woman to Death

New York, Nov. 11.—Mrs. George Bowne, 60 years old, was frightened to death in a struggle with a burglar in her home here. She seized the man, who began to beat her with his fists. Mrs. Bowne's cries aroused her daughter, who came to her aid, but both women were beaten off. Mrs. Bowne fell to the floor and the burglar escaped. Mrs. Bowne was dead when lifted from the floor.

Havana Has Two Fever Cases

Havana, Nov. 11.—Two cases of yellow fever have recently developed here. One of the persons stricken is an American tourist, A. Z. Outwater of Passaic, N. J., who came here by steamer direct from New York last week. The other person who is ill is a member of an Italian opera company who arrived here from Spain by way of New York.

Fishery Cruiser Takes a Hand

St. Johns, Nov. 11.—The American fishery cruiser Grampus, supposed to be acting under orders from Washington, is to moor a buoy three miles off the mouth of Bay of Islands, to mark the point outside which American fishing vessels can engage men to increase their crews and purchase necessary fishery equipments.

Boxing Exhibitions Stopped

St. John, Nov. 11.—At the preliminary examination of Fred Northrup, charged with manslaughter in causing the death of a local boxer, Judge Ritchie announced that no further boxing exhibitions would be permitted here. The court refused Northrup bail and continued the hearing until Wednesday next.

Goebel Murder Recalled

Washington, Nov. 11.—The case of James Howard, found guilty by the Kentucky courts of the murder of Governor Goebel, was argued in the supreme court of the United States, William M. Smith appearing for Howard, and Attorney General Hayes for the state. The argument was confined to legal points.

Pierson Tied to Tracks

Mount Vernon, O., Nov. 11.—The formal verdict of Coroner Scarborough in the death of Stuart Pierson will be made public today. The coroner will find that Pierson came to his death while lying bound upon the Cleveland, Akron and Columbus tracks during an initiation of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Against Doubling Up

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 11.—The territorial Republican convention passed resolutions against proposed joint statehood for Arizona and New Mexico. The resolutions ask statehood for New Mexico within the present boundaries, and demand a "square deal" from congress and the president.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Herman G. Norgaard, a member of a high school football team at Council Bluffs, Ia., died of abscess of the brain, brought on by injuries received in a game.

Thomas B. Richards died at the Odd Fellows' home, Worcester, Mass., aged 83. He joined Howard lodge, I. O. O. F. of Reading, Mass., Nov. 22, 1844.

FOOTBALL ACCIDENTS

Startling Record of Gridiron Fatalities For Five Years.

FORTY-FIVE HAVE BEEN KILLED

Hundreds of Players Have Also Been Injured During That Time In Plays Against Which President Roosevelt Protests—Few Games Played In Which No One Was Hurt.

That there is good reason for the college football authorities to eliminate unnecessary roughness from the game as advised by President Roosevelt is shown by the record for only five years. Forty-five deaths and hundreds of serious injuries is the record during that time. Hardly a single game has been played during which it has not been necessary to carry one or more of the players from the field. In almost every instance the death or injury was due directly to the heavy mass plays against which President Roosevelt and the country at large are protesting so vigorously, says the New York Herald.

To chronicle all the injuries would require the use of thousands of names, and even then none would be included where the hurt was of a less serious character than the breaking of a collar bone. The mere spraining of an ankle is not considered of sufficient importance to interest anybody except the individual player and perhaps the parents.

But in the big college games alone the list of injuries is large enough to prove interesting, showing, as it does, ten legs and fourteen collar bones broken in four years of play for a brief six weeks each, to say nothing of four skulls fractured, five spines injured, four shoulders dislocated and a couple of broken noses. One player got his neck broken without its causing his death.

Of the forty-five who gave their lives to football nearly every death may be traced to the "unnecessary roughness" against which Mr. Roosevelt has protested. Picked up unconscious from beneath a mass of other players, it was generally found the victim had been kicked in the head or stomach so as to cause internal injuries or concussion of the brain, which sooner or later ended life.

Sixteen died as a result of internal injuries, four from broken necks, six from concussion of the brain, eight from broken backs, three from paralysis, two from heart failure, one from lockjaw, one from blood poisoning, due to a cut received in a game; one from hemorrhages and two from meningitis, induced by spinal injuries suffered in play.

It is true that the death list includes the names of none of the players on the teams of the leaders in football, but not a season goes by in which the best trained players are not seriously hurt. As a rule, the players who are killed were in minor teams or not themselves sufficiently hardened to endure the strain of the game.

But those who maintain that the game is in danger of being buried beneath an avalanche of popular disapproval have plenty of evidence on which to argue their point that the very best players are in constant peril, if not of their lives at least of receiving injuries which may weaken them for life.

Ellis of Harvard, for instance, in 1900 was out after the game with West Point. De Witt, Princeton's big guard, had to be taken out of the game for weeks at a time because of injuries. Roper and Davis, two of the orange and black's most promising players, went out with strained ligaments in practice play. Perry Hale, Yale's big fullback in that year, hurt both his knee and ankle seriously before the big games were played.

Wiley and Burke of Princeton, two promising candidates, were put out in 1901 with broken collar bones, and Mills, Princeton's giant guard, had the ligaments of his ankle broken in the Cornell game of 1901. In practice that year such a seasoned player as Wilhelmi, Yale's halfback, had to be carried off the field with a wrenched knee which kept him out of the game for days, while Soper and Andrews, Yale's substitute halfback and guard, were internally injured. After the game with Harvard De Saulles of Yale had to be taken to a Boston hospital.

Tyndeman and Foote of Cornell were put out of the game in 1903 with a dislocated shoulder and a broken nose. Williams, Carlisle's captain, had his spine seriously hurt in the game with Virginia in 1902. Thorpe and Talberts of Columbia had a collar bone and ankle broken in the Yale game of 1903. Turner of Brooklyn and Lawrence of Bayshore, two promising candidates for varsity positions, were put out last year, one with a strained back and the other with a dislocated knee. Twitchell of Hartford, substitute quarterback for Yale, had his spine badly hurt. Brill, Harvard's star tackle, had to leave the line, when he had been depended upon to hold Hogan, Yale's great tackle, and an X ray showed that the bones of his shoulder were shattered.

Already this season Hollenback of the University of Pennsylvania, a promising candidate for left end, has had his leg broken above the ankle. And all of the big games and most of the games of lesser importance are yet to be played.

National Home For Letter Carriers.

Officials of the New York Letter Carriers' association announced recently that a national home for letter carriers is to be built at Colorado Springs. A 160 acre site adjoining the Union Printers' home has been secured, and the building will cost $200,000.

COMFORT FOR THE BALD.

They Are Immune to Consumption, Says a Medical Man.

Everything in this world has its compensations, and a writer in a late medical journal conveys the comforting information that baldheaded persons are immune from pulmonary tuberculosis. With another cerebral stimulant the case is slightly different.

Baldness is certainly promoted by mental application. As a general thing bald persons are intellectual, or, at least, persons whose minds are overtaxed either by study or by worry, and it is a well known fact that intellectual activity is promotive of health in general. It often happens that a patient who had been bedridden or an invalid for years is cured by becoming mentally excited over something, sometimes in a moment of time. As the brain and the lungs have large arterial and nervous connections, it may be true that mental activity such as produces baldness might also vitalize and energize the lungs and heart.

We do not pretend that this is a wholly satisfactory explanation, and we respectfully suggest the propriety of a convention of bald heads to find out whether bald people are ever consumptive and, if they are not, what is the explanation of such a singular phenomenon.—Chicago Chronicle.

SAFEGUARDING SUBMARINES.

Device by Which They May Be Raised if Disabled.

Public interest in the submarine torpedo boat, particularly in its safety appliances, has been newly aroused by President Roosevelt's recent descent in the Plunger off Oyster Bay. The president's trip on the Plunger brought down upon him vehement remonstrances for thus endangering the life of the head of the nation. In view, however, of the safety device adopted by the navy department since the disaster to the French submarine Fafardet at Algiers the president's voyage under water seems not so perilous after all.

The new device consists of four shackles, two on each side of the boat, through which hawsers can be run so that the boat can be lifted to the surface with a derrick and the conning tower easily opened.

The Plunger is equipped with this device, and the floating crane Hercules has several times lifted the craft to the surface without trouble.

A Magic Trunk.

A trunk which would hold clothing sufficient for a long trip or a two day outing without presenting surplus room in the baggage has been recently designed and patented in the United States which is constructed on the sectional principle. The trunk is made of many parts, but in practice one is placed over the other. Heretofore trunks to accomplish this purpose have been made to telescope. This one consists of a series of traps, the entire number forming a single unit. The parts are locked together at the corners by means of metal parts fitted to each other, and in addition to this each section is secured to its neighbor by means of a padlock operated by a key held by the owner.

Novel Safety Device For Trolleys.

As a precaution against accidents to passengers entering and alighting from crowded street cars the Chicago City railway has equipped one of its Wentworth avenue cars with a novel safety device in the form of a mirror fixed at an angle of 40 degrees to the front platform of the car above the hand rail at the right side and at the height of the motorman's eyes. In case of a crowded car, which prevents the motorman from seeing persons in the act of alighting or boarding at the rear platform, the mirror enables him to obtain a clear view of this operation and serves to prevent too hasty starting.

A Nonsinkable Boat.

A demonstration of the buoyant qualities of a nonsinkable lifeboat was given at the Randall line wharf, in New York city, with two colored men in the life saving compartments when the boat was launched from the wharf. It went down under the surface of the water, out of sight, but quickly came up on the keel. The men crawled out perfectly dry and unharmed. Next the boat was turned with its keel up in the air, but when the ropes that held it were released it rolled back to its proper position and would not lie in any other.

Whale Leather.

Dr. Rismuller, the Norwegian inventor and practical chemist, has branched out into a new undertaking in Newfoundland, the manufacture of leather from the casing of a whale's stomach. Leather of a fine quality will be produced, such as may be used in boot uppers, gloves, covering for tables, inlaid work, etc.

Coaling Battleships at Sea.

The recent coaling tests at sea between the collier Marcellus and the battleship Illinois proved eminently successful, and a record of thirty-five tons an hour steaming at a seven knot speed in a moderate sea with the vessels 400 feet apart was made.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

There was a heavy frost last night.

Richard Freeman is home from Harvard college, threatened with appendicitis.

There will be a fair and entertainment at the Fark and Downs church next week.

Patrons of the Wollaston post office greatly appreciate the improvements made by Postmaster Burns.

There will be but two more opportunities to register as voters before the City election, — tonight and next Wednesday.

There will be a box lunch of the Fragment Society in the Unitarian chapel next Wednesday from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M.

The Ladies' Aid of the Wollaston M. E. church will hold a fair in the vestry of the church Wednesday and Thursday evenings next.

Papers are to be circulated nominating John B. Sutherland as Democratic Citizen's candidate for councilman from Ward Three.

The rally in the interest of the candidacy of Benjamin Johnson for Mayor, announced for last night, was not held. It will come off tonight.

The Management of Quincy Music hall have recently spent more than $50 for palms, flags, Japanese lanterns, etc., and these are all at the service of any one renting the hall.

Rev. E. C. Butler is to preach at All Souls church, Braintree, on Sunday morning in exchange with the pastor Rev. Frederick R. Griffin. A full attendance should greet Mr. Griffin as he is a young and most able preacher.

Miss Gertrude Thorne of Walker street, who is at school in Virginia has been seriously ill during the past few weeks, the result of a fall. Miss Thorne is now reported much better and is beginning to enjoy her delightful surroundings.

Rev. William R. Lord and Rabbi Fleischer have exchanged dates for the lectures they are to give in the Quincy Women's club series of entertainments, so that on Tuesday afternoon it will be Rabbi Fleischer who will address the club instead of Mr. Lord.

Thus early in the season has the date been decided upon for the first concert by the Wollaston Glee club, they having selected Wednesday evening, January seventeenth. They are holding meetings and rehearsals and a fine concert will be the result.

TODAY'S COURT.

Albert Fraser and Elmyra J. Nelson was arraigned for a statutory offence at Quincy, and were held in $500 each until next Saturday.

Petro Manrano was arraigned for violation of the liquor law at Weymouth. Case continued until Nov. 18.

The continued case of R. L. McLaughlin, for larceny at Quincy, was called and was again continued until next Wednesday, at which time he will be held for the grand jury.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

The sixth week of the successful engagement of the rural drama, "As Ye Sow" will begin at the Majestic Theatre next Monday evening. Each performance is a succession of crowded houses and the large advance sale indicates that the engagement may be indefinitely prolonged. "As Ye Sow" entertains. Its plot is probable, its people real and its frank appeal to the auditor's love of, a lover — and especially a suffering one — its frequent indulgence in impassioned praise of patriotism, virtue and home, and its wholesome rollicking comedy lend it qualities that find immediate liking at the public's hands. Nothing, but praise is heard of the company. There is no bad acting, and those especially worthy of mention are Miss Helen MacGregor, Frank Gillmore, Ben Cotton, little Olive Wright, Frank McGregor, Douglas Fairbanks, Franklin Roberts, Marian Chapman and May Maccabe.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Wilfred Clarke, assisted by a competent company of three talented actors, is to be the "headline" feature of an excellent variety program announced from Keith's the week of Nov. 13. Mr. Clark is a well-known "legitimate," comedian, and a nephew of the late Edwin Booth. "No More Trouble," his extremely funny vehicke in adaptation from the French and deals with a man who possesses a chemical which will freeze a human being without destroying life, and the fun arises from the fact that he has given the potion to his stepmother, and has lost the antidote which is to restore her animation. Another extremelyfunny and interesting comedy sketch on the program is "Managerial Troubles" by Nick Long and Idalene Cotton. It is a new sketch, depicting the troubles of a manager when sickness overtakes a member of the company.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

With "The Sword of the King" next week, romantic drama will hold the stage for a series of afternoon and evening performances. The play has for its scene the England of William III's time, and its hero and heroine are involved in a political plot that forms one of the most exciting episodes of the play. The heroine is a high-bred aristocrat who is in love with a soldier and follower of the Prince of Orange, and their numerous adventures give opportunity for no little vigorous action and interesting scenes. The end is a happy one for everybody.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

The Empire Stock company will make a production next week of the stage version of Winston Churchill's novel "The Crisis," this being the first production of this play at popular prices. The success which attended the performances of "The Crisis" by J. K. Hackett and his company in this city will be pleasantly recalled and in the coming performances at the Empire all of the scenes designed for the Hackett production will be faithfully duplicated and the costumes originally made for the Hackett company will be used. "The Crisis" is announced for only a single week and at the Monday matinee the usual free distribution of souvenir boxes of choice chocolate bonbons will be made.

Vote Counters Deluged with Votes in The Contest.

Clerk Cash has not been idle the past week although he has not made daily gains in the Scholarship contest and today he adds nearly 1300 votes, placing him in the lead. Engineer Johnson also made a grand rally, and there are gains for Fred S. Sheppard, Galen V. Bowditch and others.

Miss Bates did the same trick in the ladies list, and her gain of 300 puts her in the lead. Other gains will be noted.

What will the next two weeks bring forth?

It is again necessary to remind those sending coupons that it is necessary that the name of the candidates should appear on every coupon.

Second prizes were announced by advertisement Saturday and were valuable enough in themselves to awaken a new interest. A good suit or an overcoat for the second one in the Men's list, and a stylish suit or cloak for the second one in the Ladies' list. Other prizes are also to be announced. Old papers with coupons may be obtained at the Daily Ledger office and of the news agents.

Winners in the contest who do not care to select a $100 scholarship may select two studies where the cost is $50. A postal to Mr. U. C. Benoit, 26 Foster street, will bring information relative to the courses offered by the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., which are adapted to all needs, including foreign languages by the aid of the phonograph, civil, mechanical, electrical, steam or mining engineering, drafting, architecture, bookkeeping, stenography, civil service examinations, commercial law, illustrating, designing, building inspecting, chemistry, assaying, etc., etc.

Votes should reach the office at 9 A. M., to be counted that day, and it may soon be necessary to put this hour earlier, as the vote increases.

The standing to date is:

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff.

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scales, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair, too. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy Nature intended. Destroy the cause you remove the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

VOTERS! ATTENTION!

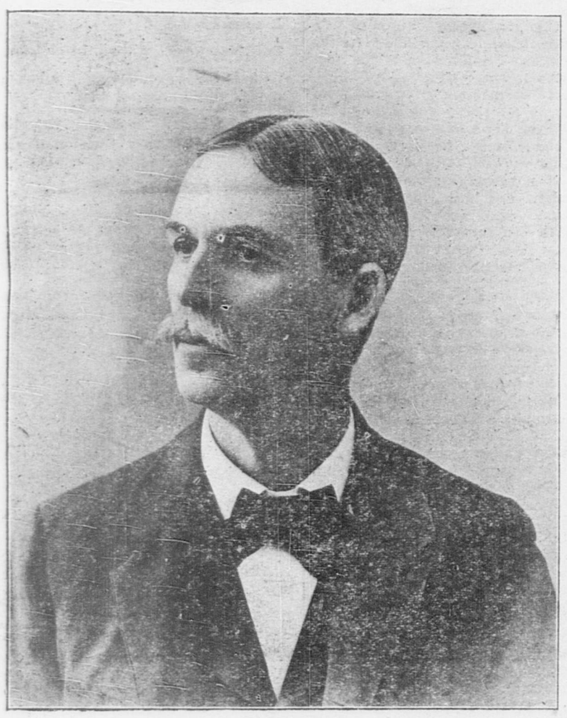
Attend the Municipal Caucuses

TUESDAY, NOV. 14, 1905,

POLLS OPEN 12 M. TO 9 P. M.

For the Republican Candidate for Mayor

VOTE FOR



HON. JAMES THOMPSON

THE PRESENT MAYOR.

To the Citizens of Quincy:

In presenting my candidacy to the favorable consideration of the citizens of Quincy, to be voted for at the Republican Caucuses to be held November 14, from 12 M. to 9 P. M., I desire that the public may be fully informed through the press.

By attending and voting at the primaries, the citizens determine who shall be the candidates to appear under their party designation on the official ballot, to be voted for as Mayor at the city election held in December.

During my term of office as Mayor, I have endeavored to give an honest, economical and business-like conduct of the city's affairs.

If my administration during the current year has satisfied, and met the needs of the city, as measured by its resources, I would respectfully ask your endorsement.

Battleship Rhode Island Makes Speed In 4-hour Test

Your correspondent was on the U. S. Battleship Rhode Island on Saturday when she made her four-hour run at a rate of 19.01 knots per hour. This speed was one-hundredth of a knot in excess of the contract and proved the vessel to be the fastest vessel of her type in the world.

The writer's experience was instructive and entertaining, and he trusts a brief sketch of the days' events may prove the same to readers of the Daily Ledger.

We left Lewis wharf, Boston, at 7.45 A. M. on the U. S. tug Uncas. The battleship was down the harbor off Hull, and was not reached till 8.80. The party on the tug consisted of the official trial board, some draftsmen and mechanics, clerks, etc., who were to be on duty during the trial, and other government draftsmen, who went as passengers for the experience of the trip. The writer belonged to this leisure class.

Our first experience was of the humorous type. It is well known that tow boats can be handled by their crews with great skill. A government tow boat is not in this class, however, and the cautious way that our captain handled his boat caused considerable merriment by the tug boat crew of the firm's tug.

We got on the Rhode Island by means of foot holds and grab rods on the side. Once on board the vessel was headed out to sea and the trial was on. The party was small and all supposed to be government officials or emyloyees, and, under the supposition that they knew their business, were allowed full freedom of the ship.

About 10.40 the whistle was blown and the vessel was under her test. At this time the writer was with his friend in the upper fighting top and the vessel was apparently going slow. Looking forward, however, a huge, green wave was turned over by the bow similar to the furrow turned up by a plow.

Leaving the top, and going down on the main deck forward so as to be able to look over the bow, a grand sight was seen. A sheet of water several inches thick piled up in front of the stem of the vessel and divided ran aft along the side of the ship, getting wider and losing height rapidly about 30 feet from the bow. This wave was about 14 feet high and at times rounded off aft and out board so that one could imagine it to be great sport to get on the back of the great wave and slide off into the sea.

There was about a 20-knot breeze going with us, so that we were practically in a calm. Had we been going against the wind, or broadside to it, these waves would have broken and the deck forward been flooded with water. On the run back against the wind at a much reduced speed the main deck forward was kept wet with spray all the time. At times on the run out, looking over the bow, the great ram could be seen in the water reaching out and the water a a few feet ahead of the ram showed greenish white from the effect of the ram on the water ahead.

The Rhode Island was given a trial under different arrangements from any vessel of her size in our navy. She was taken off the Maine coast near Rockland, where a nautical mile is measured off, and run over the course in both directions. The vessel is timed for the mile and the revolutions of the screws are counted. A curve is ploted with knots per hour shown in one direction and revolutions per minute of the screw in the other direction. Then in the shaft alleys there were revolution counters on the shafts and the number of revolutions were taken every 15 minutes and sent to the chart house. In this way from the start we knew when the vessel was picking up a little and when falling off some.

During the trial we went into the engine room. The air was full of flying grease and salt water. Men were stationed around with pails of oil and syringes playing a stream of oil first on this bearing and then on that. The engines had parts of their frames covered by congealed grease, looking for all the world like hoar frost. These engines were the marvels on board and received all possible attention.

With heavy engines and running at a high speed the engine room was perfectly steady and no vibration was apparent. A short time in the engine room was sufficient and while we were invited into the boiler rooms we declined with thanks. A sight of those who went was sufficient. Truly their mothers would not have known them when they came out. The writer saw one man rush into the lunch room for a bite of something to eat, take handkerchief and wipe a little place in the center of his face to eat through. The writer understands that this coal dust was spread on the occupants by the forced air draft in the boiler room and was willing to take their word for it.

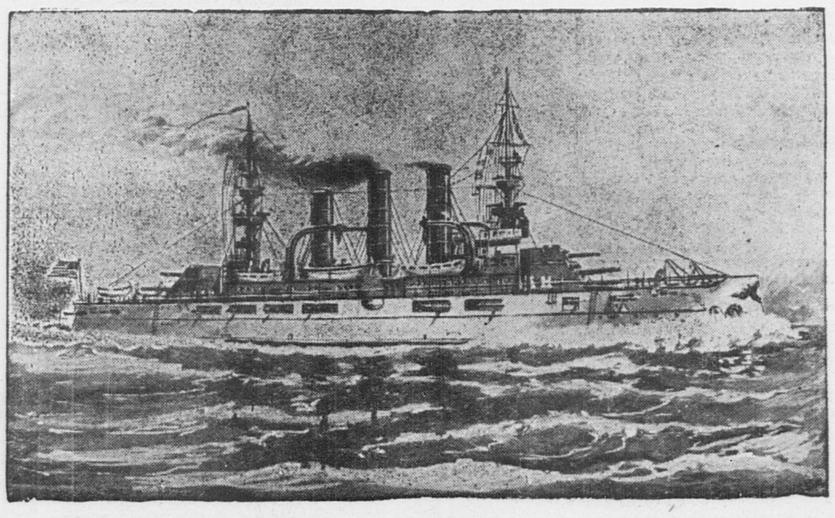
Shortly after the end of the four hours from the first whistle it was announced that the speed was 19.01 knots per hour, and that another record had been captured by an American naval vessel. The traditional broom was lashed to the top of the foremast, signifying a clean sweep, and a man was hoisted up nearly to the top of the middle smoke stack and the figures 19.01 painted on the stack so that all could read of the vessel's performance.

At the end of the run, we were about 100 miles out from Boston light. The vessel was manoeuvred to show turning radius, etc., and then we got the full force of the wind mixed with spray and cinders from the deck. During this turning a peculiar sight could be seen at times. The propeller which was on the inside of the circle could be plainly seen. The path of the tips of the blades was marked by flashes of greenish light, and once or twice it was possible to trace several of these rings before they disappeared in the foam of the wake. These rings looked like a hugh screw reaching out from the propeller, and boring back into the water.

The performance of the vessel had been satisfactory and all were in good spirits.

The Rhode Island is an example of rapidity of our progress in engineering matters. These vessels are not yet turned over to the government and yet they are in some respects not up-to-date. This class has supperposed turrets which are an abandoned feature. On the other hand the electrical installation is far ahead of other battleships and of a type which apparently can be only gradually developed and which could not be improved by jumps and bounds.

One point in these vessels, however, seems ridiculous and that is the idea of putting rams on warships. The ram projecting out under the water is a wicked instrument of offense, but it is a considerable hindrance to the speed of the vessel, and has only been effective so far in the history of recent naval development upon friendly vessels.



U. S. BATTLESHIP RHODE ISLAND BUILT AT QUINCY.

The run in was uneventful and given to yarn spinning and skylarking, and at a little before midnight we were taken by the Uncas, and at about 12.30 were landed in Boston to get to our homes or sleeping places as we could. The day was one which will probably be remembered for a long time by all. The weather was perfect going out, and coming back there was a full moon.

Ward Two Rally.

A large and enthusiastic gathering of representative citizens of Ward Two in the interest of the candidacy of Mayor Thompson was held Saturday evening in the hall of the Business Men's club on Washington street. Councilman Eugene R. Stone presided and speeches in support of Mayor Thompson were made by Councilman Walter E. Piper, Principal Assessor Charles H. Johnson, and Representative-elect Eugene C. Hultman.

Mayor Thompson, who was also present, spoke at length on municipal government giving in detail the method of municipal government in Quincy.

Johnson Rally.

A largely attended rally in the interest of the candidacy of Benjamin Johnson for Mayor was held Saturday evening at Wilson's hall. William Kelley presided and addresses were made by Candidate Johnson, John D. Mc Kay, Esq., Maurice I. Gatcomb and William H. Flynn. Refreshments were served.

Accident to H. H. Faxon.

Henry H. Faxon was somewhat burned Saturday night by the bursting of a hot water bottle. Mr. Faxon retired early taking a hot water bottle to bed with him. This was placed at his back. He had not been in bed long before the bottle burst. The water was quite hot and Mr. Faxon was scalded but not seriously.

The Color Problem.

The Quincy people who enjoy the singing of the colored people will be glad to attend the public meeting Wednesday evening of this week at Bethany chapel. There will be speaking by Dr. Frissell on the color problem in the South, and singing by the Hampton Colored quartette. No admission fee will be charged, and every one is invited.

Boy Run Over.

Arthur, the 8-year old son of Samuel Di Censo of 30 Phipps street, had his leg broken Saturday afternoon by being run over by a coal team near the corner of Hancock and School streets. The little fellow was riding on the rear end of one coal team. Jumping off he fell directly in front of a second team the wheels of which passed over his leg before the team could be stopped. The boy was taken to the City Hospital.

Finals in Roller Skating

George Esson won the first prize, and Charles Maloney, the second prize in finals run on roller skates at the Coliseum on Saturday evening in the presence of over 1000 people.

During last week one heat was run each night, the winners and time being as follows:

Winners.	Time. m. s.
Monday—George Esson,	5 15
Tuesday—Clarence L. Hamilton,	5 12
Wednesday—H. F. Lalley,	5 30
Thursday—William Kelley,	5 05
Friday—Charles Maloney,	5 32

With five contestants so evenly matched the finals promised to be hotly contested and such proved to be the case. Although Kelley made the best time during the week he did not win either prize, while Maloney who made the lowest record took second prize. Esson who won first prize was awarded a pair of speed skates, and Maloney a pair of union hardware club skates.

New attractions are advertised for this week, including a competition for ladies, and a base ball game on skates.

Accident.

Burleigh E. Pratt met with quite a severe accident this noon at the People's Market in the Faxon block. Mr. Pratt stood talking with the cashier when a gust of wind blew over a large and heavy cover of the corned beef tank. The cover struck him in the small of the back, rendering him unconsciousness. He was attended at the store by Dr. Whiton who accompanied him to his father's home in the police ambulance. When he recovered he complained of internal pains, but the accident may not be serious.

Gustafson Case Settled Out of Court

The cases of Sina Gustafson and estate of J. F. Johnson against the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., which were on trial at Dedham last week have been taken from the jury, a settlement having been reached outside of the court. The suits were the outcome of the grade crossing accident at Saville street last February. The Gustafson girl sued for $50,000 and the administrator of the Johnson estate for $30,000.

Johnson died the day following the accident and the Gustafson girl had her leg amputated but later recovered.

The terms are unknown.

New Voters

The Registrars of Voters held a session at City Hall Saturday night and added 56 names to the voting lists, as follows: Ward One, 14; Ward Two, 19; Ward Three, 9; Ward Four, 5; Ward Five, 4, and Ward Six, 5.

Drift of Opinion.

☞President Roosevelt has a way of doing things that must well nigh take away the breath of the red-tape sticker at Washington. Recently he authorized an amendment to the civil service rules providing that hereafter a cabinet officer shall have power summarily to remove, without a hearing, any civil service employe in his department, who has been guilty of misconduct or who is inefficient in the performance of his duties, provided such officer has personal knowledge of the misconduct or inefficiency. Heretofore unworthy employes have been known to take advantage of their civil service status to hold their jobs, and have defiled their superiors. This ruling of the President will put a stop to that sort of thing. Possibly the President may have strained his authority a little, but his action is based on common sense any way.—Gloucester Times.

THREE NEGROES LYNCHED

Fourth One Saved His Neck by "Peaching" on Comrades

Henderson, Tex., Nov. 13.—Three negroes were lynched here yesterday. The bodies of the victims were cut down shortly after the hanging and turned over to relatives. After the men were hanged the mob quietly dispersed. None of those who participated has been identified. The negroes were charged with killing Elias Howell, a white farmer.

A mob formed and was met by Sheriff Stone, Senator Brachfield and P. L. Young, who pleaded with them to allow the law to take its course. Their efforts to dissuade the mob failing, the sheriff and his deputies blocked the way to the jail door until they were seized and overpowered.

The keys to the jail were not secured and the doors were ripped open with chisels and hammers. Four negro prisoners, with ropes around their necks, were taken out and allowed to speak. All professed their innocence except Williams, who implicated John Reed, Henry Sherrow and Robert Askew. A vote was taken on Williams, who was placed back in jail by unanimous consent, while the men he named were taken to the court house yard and hanged to a tree.

Reconsidered Idea of Dying

Philadelphia, Nov. 13.—Henry M. Allen, an employe of the government printing office at Washington, who sent his wife a letter in which he said he intended committing suicide and that his body would be found at a certain spot near this city, has surrendered himself to the Philadelphia police. He says that after making one attempt to die he had decided to live. Allen announced that he was short $2200 in his accounts of the Printers' Beneficial association, which is composed of government printers, and of which he is treasurer.

Tammany Will Fight Recount

New York, Nov. 13.—Chairman Knox of the Tammany Hall committee announces that every step taken by Mr. Hearst and the Municipal Ownership League for a recount of the votes cast at the recent election will be bitterly opposed. Knox says that the basis for the opposition will be the decision of the court of appeals in 1904, written by Alton B. Parker, now Mayor McClellan's senior counsel, to the effect that the opening of the ballot boxes was fraught with great danger and was inadvisable.

NATHAN IS FREED

So Far as Death of Susanna Geary Is Concerned

FOUR OTHERS INDICTED

All Are In Custody With the Exception of Mrs Dean, the Alleged Principal--McLeod Is Held In $25.000 Bail

Boston, Nov. 13.—The Suffolk county grand jury has reported indictments against four persons whose names have been connected with the death of Susan Geary, the Winthrop suit case victim. Those indicted are Mrs. Mary S. Dean of Boston, as principal, and Dr. Percy D. McLeod of Boston, Louis W. Crawford and William E Howard, alias Hunt, at present in custody of the police of New York city, as accessories.

No indictment was found against Morris Nathan, the suitor of the Geary girl, who was brought here from Pittsburg and was arrested in connection with the case.

Of those indicted, Mrs. Dean, the alleged principal, is the only one now at large. A Boston police inspector is now in Nova Scotia trying to locate the woman, word having been received here that she had gone to a town in the provinces.

The Geary indictments contain 20 counts, covering different legal phases. The first count charges Mrs. Dean with having performed the criminal operation alleged to have caused the death of Susanna Geary. It contains seven counts of accessory before the fact, with having attempted to conceal the identity of the person who performed the operation, and also with being the accessory after the fact. McLeod is accused of being an accessory before the fact and after the fact and with aiding the person who performed the operation to escape detection and arrest. Crawford, besides being charged with being accessory before and after the fact, is accused of aiding the operator to prevent identity and escape arrest and also with protecting the operator. There are two counts to strengthen the complaint of the government, alleging in different terms that the operation was performed by a person unknown and two which charge all defendants jointly with being accessories.

Dr. McLeod, being the only defendant on hand, was arraigned immediately after the grand jury had reported, and his bail, which previously had been $20,000, was increased to $25,000. He was released from jail Saturday night, Daniel J Brown and A. S. Price, two of his former sureties, furnishing $25,000 bonds.

Chief Watts, with as much speed as possible, took steps to secure the extradition of Crawford and Howard and officers left here armed with requisition papers from Governor Douglas for Albany, where they will present the documents for Governor Higgins' approval today. They hope to be on the way back to Boston from New York city with the two men by tonight.

Although Nathan was not indicted he was not released, being held by the local police in default of $5000 bail on the charge made against him on his arrival from Pittsburg.

Jackies Saved Many Lives

New York, Nov. 13.—British sailors saved the lives of 14 persons which were upset in a catboat while on their way to view the combined fleets in the North river. When the boat, which contained eight men, three women and three children, capsized, a pulling boat from the cruiser Cumberland went to the rescue and succeeded in bringing all safely to shore. E. Dimmick, a seaman on the Bedford, jumped overboard and rescued a boy who was thrown into the water by the swamping of a small boat alongside the ship.

Commerce Will Not Suffer Much

Washington, Nov. 13.—"The Chinese boycott on American goods certainly cannot be carried to the extreme of seriously affecting our commerce in the Orient," declares Charles Denby, the new chief clerk of the state department, who recently completed a 20-year residence in China. Denby said he could not believe the Chinese government or any of the progressive interests of that country would encourage such a movement.

Two Prisoners Burned to Death

Lake City, Ia., Nov. 13.—George W. Buttrick and William Jackson were burned to death in the city jail, the fire having been started by Buttrick. The two men, with J. E. Hipple and Isaac Allen, were arrested for carousing on the streets. Marshal Miles arrived in time to rescue Hipple and Allen, but the other two were dead when the officer reached their cell.

In Honor of Roosevelt

New York, Nov. 13.—James Speyer of this city has given to the trustees of Columbia university, New York, the sum of $50,000 to endow the Theodore Roosevelt professorship of American history and institutions in the University of Berlin, in accordance with a plan proposed by Emperor William when he received President Butler in audience in August last.

To Compete With Americans

Mexico City, Nov. 13.—German locomotive builders are preparing to compete with American concerns for supplying railways here. The Germans claim to be able to furnish locomotives cheaper than the Americans.

MAYORALTY ASPIRANTS

Five Are Anxious to Become Chief Executive of Boston

Boston, Nov. 13.—With two Democratic candidates and three Republican aspirants seeking their party nominations for mayor, the warmest and most interesting municipal campaign held in Boston for many years is now fairly under way. The Democratic candidates for the nomination are E. J. Donovan, the present city clerk, and former Congressman Fitzgerald. The Republicans seeking the nomination of their party are L. A. Frothingham, speaker of the house of representatives, State Senator Callender, and former Municipal Court Judge Dewey.

In the Democratic contest an unusually active campaign has been prosecuted and not for many years have so many bitter personal attacks been made on each other by rival candidates. Donovan has the support of the Hendricks club, a powerful Democratic organization headed by Martin M. Lomasney. Other Donovan supporters are Congressmen Keliher and McNary and Chairman Fitzgerald of the Democratic city committee. Fitzgerald has the support of Congressman Sullivan and other prominent party leaders. The contest is a close one and it is doubtful if any accurate forecast can be made before the returns from the majority of the voting precincts have been announced.

Of the Republican candidates for the nomination, Frothingham is the only one who is not conducting an independent campaign. He has been named as the party candidate by the Republican city committee and has been endorsed by the Good Government association. Callender and Dewey have not been endorsed by any organization, and both are relying on their individual activity and popularity to win them the ballots of the voters. The joint municipal primaries will be held on Thursday next.

River and Harbor Bill Waits

Washington, Nov. 13.—The Post says: No general river and harbor bill will be passed by congress at the approaching session. This forecast is made by Representative Burton of Ohio, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee. There are two cogent reasons for not enacting such legislation next winter, according to Burton, the first being because a large bill passed last session carried appropriations for all projects deserving of immediate attention from congress; second, the necessity of holding down appropriations to the lowest figures to prevent, if possible, another deficit in the treasury.

Seeking Papal Honors

Rome, Nov. 13.—The report that Archbishop Cavalcanti de Albuquerque of Brazil is to be created a cardinal has caused dissatisfaction among other Latin-American republics. Argentina claims the same honor because of its good relations with the holy see, Chile because the archbishopric of Santiago is the oldest in South America, and Peru because it was the first country in South America where a Catholic hierarchy was established. The Vatican states that in the future Latin-American cardinals will be chosen in turn among other countries.

Thieves' Plans Well Laid

New York, Nov. 13.—During the absence of the private watchman on guard at Schumann's Sons jewelry store thieves entered the place and carried off $10,000 worth of silverware. The robbers drove to the store Sunday in a handsome carriage with a coachman in livery and, having noted the departure of the watchman, entered the front door with false keys. The presence of the carriage attracted no attention, and half an hour later the robbers came out, placed their plunder in the carriage and drove away.

Court Martial For Meriwether

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 13.—Midshipman Minor Meriwether, Jr., has been placed under arrest to await his trial by court martial for engaging in a fistic combat with Midshipman James R. Branch, Jr., who died of his injuries. The arrest of Meriwether followed an order from the navy department. It is said that evidence will be adduced before the court that will place Meriwether's case in a better light than has been indicated.

Church Needs the Money

Leige, Belgium, Nov. 13.—Many Americans have secured high awards at the International Exposition which has just been brought to a successful close. John S. Sargent, the artist, secures a gold medal of honor, W. MacEwan, Carl Marr and Eugene Vail first medals for paintings, and P. W. Bartlett a first medal for sculpture. American manufacturers receive 200 gold, silver and bronze medals, as well as diplomas.

American Merit Recognized

Brussels, Nov. 13.—Much opposition has developed to the reported intention of St. Martin's church at Alost to sell to Andrew Carnegie for $800,000 the famous painting by Rubens of St. Roch interceding with the Saviour to appease the plague at Alost. The church authorities say that the sale is necessary so as to secure money for the restoration of the edifice.

Henry O'Brien, assistant superintendent of the Quincy division of the Old Colony street railway, is having a two weeks' vacation.

The City Council will give a public hearing tonight at 7.35 on the petition of Levi H. Turner and others for a municipal gas plant.

Girls' teams of the Sophomore and Freshman classes of the Quincy High school are playing an inter-club match at basket ball this afternoon.

With a few workers like W. J. Tilley, who has sold hundreds of tickets, the fair of the Eastern Star on Thursday and Friday evenings will be a great success.

The Christmas present question is already demanding the attention of those having a large number of relatives and friends. Some are wondering what to give; others would just like to know what they will receive.

Pensions and Politics

Washington, Nov. 13.—Secretary Hitchcock has given directions to the officials of the pension office to hereafter refuse applications for lists of persons drawing pensions from the government, on the ground that the practice may lead to abuse. The order on this subject grew out of reports affecting the alleged misuse of such lists of names in the recent campaign in Ohio.

Italy Wants Wireless System

Rome, Nov. 13.—Signor Gualtierotti, minister of posts and telegraphs, has appointed a commission under the presidency of Senator Blaserna to study the developments of wireless telegraphy, with a view to the establishment of 10 wireless stations in principal commercial points of Italy, to be used for the public service.

DESCENT ON DENS

Boston Police Get After "Medical Offices" In Earnest

BISHOP PLACE IS RAIDED

Resul s In Discovery of Elaborate Methods For Preventing the Patrons Identifying Those Who Operate Upon Them

Boston, Nov. 13.—Not since the finding of the torso of Susanna Geary has public interest been aroused to such a high pitch as it was when the police, armed with five search warrants, raided the offices of alleged malpractitioners on Tremont street.

In addition to these raids, which were organized by Captain Cain of division 4 and in which about 25 officers participated, Captain Dugan, assistant chief inspector, accompanied by Sheriff Athorne of Saco, Me., who had with him 15-year-old Iola Reed, the Newfield, Me., girl who came to this city recently for the purpose of having a criminal abortion performed, went to some of the same places visited by Cain and his men for the purpose of having the girl identify the office where the operation was performed upon her.

This much was accomplished, as the little girl positively identified the notorious offices of Mrs. Jane E. Bishop at 178 Tremont street as the place where she underwent the operation.

Further than this, it can be positively stated that the girl told the officers the place where she was taken immediately following the operation, and it is not at all unlikely that the police will have in custody in a short time either the person who performed the operation or the keeper of the lying-in hospital where she was taken.

The sensational raids brought to light something which the police in their previous visits to the Bishop office have entirely overlooked. The mask, which as a last resort the operator upon the women used as a personal protection against any possible identification, was brought to light.

This mask consists of a complete head covering of black hair, with long, flowing black whiskers of the Burnside variety, and a gauze covering for the remaining portion of the face. That the operator could not be identified even by the color of his eyes was made certain.

That this mask is the one which was worn by the person who operated upon Susanna Geary there is no doubt. It was worn even in addition to the screen which was placed so that it prevented either the patient or operator from seeing each other, and was intended to cover any possible contingency that might arise by the shifting of the curtain.

It was planned by the police to visit the establishments of Drs. Butler, Emmons, Williams, Ames and Bishop, the three last named being women physicians. The officers received their instructions at station 4. They timed their arrival so that each office would be entered at exactly the same time, thereby preventing any warning being telephoned from one place to another.

No one was found at the Ames and Emmons offices at 165 and 170 Tremont street respectively. The Bishop office was also deserted. At the Butler office Dr. Lewis was found. He is the husband of Annie Brown, who was sentenced to five years' imprisonment recently, for performing a criminal operation at the Bishop office. Three young women were found at the Williams office. They explained their presence by the statement that they were waiting for the doctor.

An effort was made to prevent the officers from entering Butler's office, but the policemen promptly smashed in the doors and proceeded to search the premises.

The establishment which held the most interest for the raiders was that of Mrs. Jane Bishop at 178 Tremont street. It was here that a greater part of the evidence was gathered, and it was here also that the officers learned the method of disguise adopted by the persons performing operations. The police broke in the glass door after repeated raps on the door had failed to bring any response. There are five rooms connected with the place. The parlor, which looks out on the Common, is elaborately furnished in blue and gold. The door of the safe was open and papers were strewn about the floor, indicating the hasty departure of the persons connected with the institution after Crawford and Howard made a confession to the police that Miss Geary had been a patient there. Books found in a desk showed that an enormous business had been done daily.

There are three operating rooms in the place, all cleverly arranged with the idea of hiding the operator from the patient. Over each operating chair hangs a curtain, in which there is an opening only sufficiently large to permit the doctor to do his work, the upper part of the patient's body being hidden from view. It was here that an officer found additional evidence of the extreme care taken to conceal the identity of the operator in the shape of the mask above referred to.

Captain Cain says that there are still many places which will be the subject of rigid examination and which will be given no rest until the performance of these criminal operations becomes so hazardous that none but foolhardy persons will attempt to perform them.

JEALOUS LOVER'S CRIME

Takes Woman's Life and His Own as Sequel to a Dance

Enfield, N. H., Nov. 13.—Jealous because his sweetheart received attention of other men at a Saturday night dance Val M. Webster shot and killed the young woman, Miss Emma La Clair, and then ended his own life here yesterday.

The tragedy occurred in Miss La Clair's room. While Carrie La Clair, a sister, who occupied the room with Emma, was at church, Webster procured a revolver from Charles Hanson and went to the La Clair room. At noon other occupants of the block heard three shots, but an investigation failed to locate the room from which the sound emanated.

When Carrie La Clair returned from church about an hour later, she found her sister and Webster dead. The body of Emma, partly dressed, lay on the bed, while Webster's body rested partly on the floor and was between the bed and the wall. Near Webster's body was a revolver, three chambers of which were empty.

Medical Referee Smith said there was no question but that Webster had fired all three shots. It is thought that Miss La Clair was dressing when Webster entered the room. The girl had evidently seated herself on the bed and it is supposed that her lover seized her and shot her.

Webster was 26 years old and had been employed about his father's hotel in this town. Emma La Clair was 23 years old. Her body will be taken to her father's home in Churubusco, N. Y. Emma and her sister had lived here four years and both were employed in the Baltic mills.

Collision of Electric Cars

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 13.—Several persons were injured in a collision between two electric cars on the Boston and Northern street railway on Humphrey street, Swampscott. Owing, it is said, to a failure of the signal system to work, the cars came together head-on at a sharp curve. Both cars were going at a high rate of speed and were fairly well filled with passengers. Both motormen declare that the signals indicated a clear track for them.

Sheltered Many Notables

West Brookfield, Mass., Nov. 13.—The West Brookfield house, said to be the oldest hotel in continuous service as such in the United States, was closed Sunday and will not be occupied again as a public house. There is now no hotel in West Brookfield. The house was erected in 1760 and among its guests had been George Washington, President John Adams, Jerome Bonaparte and General Lafayette.

Accident to Automobile Party

Belmont, Mass., Nov. 13.—An automobile containing four persons ran away while coming down Concord avenue hill last evening and, crashing into a tree, threw everyone out. Mrs. W. C. Furbush and a 15-year-old boy named Cate were removed to a hospital. W. C. Furbush, who was driving the machine, escaped with a few bruises and the other occupant, a Miss Smith, was not much hurt.

Hotel Destroyed by Fire

Laconia, N. H., Nov. 13.—The Lake Shore inn at Lake Shore park, on the shore of Lake Winnepasaukee, was destroyed by fire last evening, the loss being $25,000. The hotel was an all-year house and accommodated about 200 guests. As it was between the seasons, the winter fishing not having commenced, there were very few people in the hotel. The cause of the fire is not known.

Lodger Suffocated In Fire

Dover, N. H., Nov. 13.—John O'Brien, 54 years old, was suffocated in a fire that occurred in the tenement house of James McNally. O'Brien was sleeping in the attic and a lighted lamp in some manner set fire to the roof of the house. The building was quickly filled with dense smoke, and it was with great difficulty that the other occupants escaped with their lives.

Two Boston Firemen Hurt

Boston, Nov. 13.—Driver J. J. Perry and Engineer J. H. Leary of engine 7 were severely injured last night as the result of their engine colliding with an electric car. The engine was responding to an alarm and as it turned from East street into Atlantic avenue it struck the car. The engine was badly damaged and the car was thrown from the rails.

Exceeded Contract Requirements

Boston, Nov. 13.—An average sustained speed of 19.01 knots an hour was maintained by the battleship Rhode Island in another of her official tests off the coast, the run being made straight out from the Boston lightship. The trial was satisfactory in that it exceeds the contract of 19 knots.

In Jail In Default of $75,000 Bail

Boston, Nov. 13.—Ferdinand E. Borges, former director and alleged promoter of the Ubero Plantation company, who was indicted by the grand jury Saturday on charges of larceny and conspiracy, has been unable to secure bondsmen. Borges is confined in jail in default of $75,000 bail.

Whitney Gains In Recount

Boston, Nov. 13.—Returns from 44 out of 354 cities and towns of Massachusetts on the recount of votes cast for lieutenant governor in the recent state election show a net gain of 222 for Henry M. Whitney, the Democratic candidate.

Steel Men Gobble Iron Mountain

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 13.—News has been received from Mexico that the United States Steel company has purchased the famous solid iron mountain at Durango, said to be the richest of its kind in the world.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average baldheaded man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, innocculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

"Destroy the cause—you remove the effect."

AN ACT OF REVOLT

How the Czar Regards Poland's Battle For Autonomy

SOLEMN WARNING GIVEN

Subjects of Ancient Kingdom Facing Sorrowful Paths Trodden by Them in 1831 and 1863 --Benefits Will Be Withheld

St. Petersburg, Nov. 13.—Poland is not to be permitted to become a second Finland. The Russian government, in a strongly worded communication published today, serves notice on the Polish Nationalists that for good or ill the ancient kingdom of Poland has now become an integral part of the Russian empire and that, while the government intends to fully observe the national rights of Poland, any attempt to wrest Polish autonomy from the czar would be considered an act of revolt and would lead the Poles into the sorrowful paths trodden by them in 1831 and 1863.

The Russian authorities recognize the gravity of the movement in which two antagonistic parties, the Nationalists and the Socialists, under the leadership of such Poles as Henrik Sienkiewicz, the novelist, have joined forces, and they declare that none of the benefits of the emancipation manifesto can be conferred on "a country in revolt."

Christian Aid Is Sought

London, Nov. 13.—Pathetic scenes were witnessed last night at a gathering of 10,000 Jews of the East End of London in the great assembly hall at Mile End, where a memorial service was held for the Jews recently killed in Russia. The hall was draped in black and the majority of those in the audience wore emblems of mourning. At the chanting of the fifth chapter of lamentations almost all present burst into tears and mournful wailing.

Rabbi Schewzik made an eloquent and touching appeal to Christians to come to the help of the Jews who, he said, for 2000 years had vainly protested against persecution and could hope for nothing unless the Christians, out of their justice and charity, endeavored to procure for them justice and freedom. In conclusion he suggested that all Jews go into deep mourning for a month and to vote the proceeds of their self-denial to the relief of their suffering co-religionists in Russia.

Carnegie Gives $10,000

New York, Nov. 13.—Andrew Carnegie has contributed a check for $10,000 for the relief of the Jews in Russia. The gift was attached to a letter sent to Isidor Straus of this city, in which Carnegie says that the terrible crimes being committed in Russia "are such as might lead one to lose faith in humanity, had not the history of the past shown us scenes equally demoniac."

Naval Officers Bounced

St. Petersburg, Nov. 13.—The corrupt condition of the naval administration existing at Cronstadt, which was disclosed by the recent mutiny, has compelled the resignation of Admiral Nikonoff, commandant of the Baltic ports, and other officers.

Infantry Attack Upon Jews

Warsaw, Nov. 13.—In Ostrowiecka street at 9 o'clock last evening an infantry patrol, without provocation, fired into a crowd of Jews, seriously wounding eight.

Going on "Disciplinary Voyage"

Cronstadt, Nov. 13.—Three cruisers are being prepared to take the mutinous sailors on a long disciplinary voyage.

Fatal Fight Over Money

Chicago, Nov. 13.—In a revolver fight among Italians in Milton avenue, Biaggio Raia was killed and two Italian women were shot. The fight resulted from a quarrel over money collected for a bazaar to be held in an Italian church, in which Raia was accused of having withheld some of the money received by him. Seven men took part in the fight. The women were walking in the street when stray bullets hit them.

Forest Fires In Maryland

Cumberland, Md., Nov. 13.—The most extensive and spectacular forest fires ever known in this section line both sides of the Potomac between Martinsburg and Cumberland, a distance of 80 miles. Hundreds of acres of timber and miles of fencing have been burned and many farmhouses are threatened. Hundreds of farmers are fighting the flames.

Norway Voting on a Ruler

Christiana, Nov. 13.—A plebiscite for and against the choice of Prince Charles of Denmark as the new King of Norway has begun. The people everywhere are voting in large numbers. The polling will be continued today. Saturday saw the culmination of a fortnight's agitation all over the country for and against a republic.

A $100,000 Cotton Fire

Athens, Ga., Nov. 13.—A $100,000 fire in this city wiped out a large cotton warehouse. The origin is attributed to a bonfire built by college students on the campus to celebrate a football victory, or to a spark from a passing engine.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

The steam-roller is at work on Washington street, near South.

The high wind this morning blew the dust about the streets in great clouds.

Charles Crane has been the guest of friends at New Bedford the past week.

Mrs. J. E. Poland will give a whist party in Poland's hall on Friday evening.

Friend Crane is confined to his home on Bent place, seriously ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. Edwin Glover, is quite ill at her home 68 Washington street, with tonsolitis.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the A. O. H. will hold a social and dance in Music hall this week.

Mrs. Mary E. Lawry of Independence avenue is the guest of her sister at Dorchester for a few weeks.

A year ago this week Quincy had some cold weather—29 at midday on Nov. 17 and but 32 on the 18th.

Mrs. Beatrice Porterfield will hold a matinee whist at her home on Granite street on Wednesday afternoon.

A rally in the interest of the candidacy of Benjamin Johnson for Mayor was held Saturday night at Malnati hall.

Mrs. William T. Longhead, Brooks street, Wollaston, will entertain the Brownie whist club on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Grignon will entertain friends from Wollaston and Quincy at their home at Norfolk Downs this evening,

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jenness of Hancock street have gone on a two weeks' gunning trip through the woods of Maine.

Miss Margaret Muse has given up her residence on Washington street and gone to Boston with her sister for the winter.

The Registrars of Voters will begin tonight to recount the votes cast at the election last Tuesday for Lieutenant Governor and Representatives.

The Woman's Foreign Mission society of the Wollaston Baptist church will meet with Mrs. G. F. Pinkham, 111 Warren avenue, Wednesday afternoon at 3.

Rabbi Charles Fleischer is to address the Quincy Women's club tomorrow afternoon at the clubhouse, on "Women in Democracy." The meeting will be held at the usual hour, three o'clock.

It would be well for Mr. Brown when coming to the Centre to leave his dog at Houghs Neck as people object to having their pet dogs chewed up. A word of warning should be sufficient as a repetition of the dog's performance will not be overlooked.

Mrs. Louise Lawrence, the accomplished pianist, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McLoud of 143 Arlington street the past two months, returns to her home at Pepperell tomorrow and will be greatly missed by her many friends and acquaintances which she has made while in this city.

It has surprised many that genial James H. Broughton is not a candidate for the City Council this year, but the facts are that he has a new hobby. He tells the Ledger that he is too busy learning to dance. He has organized an adult class which meets behind closed doors, and he does not propose longer to be a wall flower at dances.

C. W. Carter is on a business trip in Maine this week.

Rev. Alfred R. Atwood began his work at the Point church on Sunday.

Mrs. Pike and daughters have taken rooms on East Howard street for the winter.

The Riverside house on Washington street is being greatly improved with a new coat of paint.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. George A. Brown, Farrington street, Tuesday afternoon at 2.30.

The Wollaston Alliance is planning to hold an Old Fashioned dance in Wollaston hall sometime next month.

Mrs. Mary Smith and daughter Miss Kate Smith, formerly of this city, have taken rooms at the Magnolia, Dorchester, for the winter.

There will be a special meeting of the Social and Benevolent society of the Wollaston Baptist church in the chapel this afternoon at 3.

The Wollaston Congregational church will hold a church family social on Thursday. A harvest supper will be served at 6.30. The congregation is cordially invited.

The Wollaston Alliance will hold an all day meeting with Mrs. Frank A. Page on Wednesday beginning at 10 A. M. Lunch will be served at 12.30. The meeting will be devoted to sewing for charity.

The New Pastor At Quincy Point

The new pastor of the Washington Street Congregational church at Quincy Point, Rev. Alfred R. Atwood, should be popular and successful among the masses, as he is one of them. He began his pastorate on Sunday, with large audiences both morning and evening.

He was born in Union, Ill., March 4, 1874. When but a few months old his parents returned to Massachusetts, his father, who, like himself, is a minister of the Congregational Church, having accepted a call to a church in Chatham. The son received his education in the schools of Chatham and Dennis. He was graduated from the high school at South Dennis in 1893.

Young Atwood learned the plumber's trade, at which he worked for a short period and then taught school in Lowell, Vt., for a few months. Later he entered the University of Vermont, having previously taken a preparatory course at Oberlin Academy, Ohio. He took the four years' course in three.

He attended Harvard Divinity school for one year and the two following years he spent at the Andover Theological Seminary. His first pastorate was the Congregational Church at New Boston, Mass. In June, 1903, he become pastor of the church at Cotuit.

While at Oberlin Academy and the University of Vermont Mr. Atwood spent his vacations working at either his trade or traveling as agent for bicycle firms, and while at Harvard and Andover he served as assistant pastor of the Seamen's Friend Society, at 287 Hanover street, Boston.

The new pastor is a great lover of athletic sports. He is a baseball enthusiast. While at Oberlin Academy he was a fielder of the ball team and he has since played on other teams. He was at one time well known as a bicycle rider, took part in many contests and won a number of prizes.

Mr. Atwood was married Sept. 19, 1901, to Miss Matilda A. Brandt of Cleveland, O., a former student at Oberlin. They have two children.

Mr. Atwood is a member of the Masons, Odd Fellows and other organizations, and will be warmly welcomed in Quincy, outside the church as well as inside.

Copelands Win.

As Ward Four on Saturday, the Copeland club had as rivals as foot ball the Browning club of Boston, and defeated them 11 to 0.

TODAY'S COURT.

William E. O'Brien was arraigned for drunkenness at Weymouth. Case continued until Dec. 30.

Cleveland Has Torso Mystery

Cleveland, Nov. 13.—On one of the city dumps last night was discovered by children a human torso, including the thorax and shoulders. The identity of the person is shrouded in mystery. There was not a shred of clothing attached to the torso. The postmortem examination showed that the body was that of a murdered man. It also developed that the body had been embalmed. The body showed curious marks of mutilation in that the head and arms had evidently been pulled off or cut rudely.

—"Can you advance any argument to show why your political principles should win?"

"No," answered Mr. Dustin Stax but I can advance considerable cash."—Washington Star.

Miss Merritt

Again in First Place in Scholarship Contest.

The last two weeks of the coupon in the Scholarship contest have arrived. The last coupons will be printed on Saturday, Nov. 25, in both the Daily Ledger and Quincy Patriot. That is positively the last date.

Valuable first and second prizes are offered to both men and women. A $100 scholarship in the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., to the leader in each list, and as a second prize to men a suit of clothes or an overcoat and as a second prize to women a suit or coat. The scholarships take a wide range and many have found them great helps in securing better paying positions.

The Daily Ledger has no favorities. It would like to see all candidates win. It will endeavor to treat all fairly and alike. Wholesale purchases of papers by one candidate will not be disclosed to another. Neither will we agree to supply all demands. First come, first served.

Today there is a new leader in the ladies' list, Miss Ethel Merritt leading Miss Nina Bates by just 17 votes. Miss Peterson is within one hundred of both, and two others are not far behind. Gains will be noted down the list.

Engineer Johnson makes a big gain in the men's list and jumps in ahead of Clerk Maloney.

Galen Bowditch, Garfield Smith, Fred Maxwell and others also gain in the men's list.

There is a three-vote coupon today. It is reduced in size one half and requires only the name It is not necessary to to trim the top or side margin of the top.

The standing to date is:

For Councilman at Large.

Theodore Hermanson, one of the Republican candidates for councilman-at-large is a resident of Ward Four. He came to Quincy when he was 14 years old and has resided here ever since, having been connected with Hermanson & Sirberg dealers in bicycles and sundries for five years, up to a year ago when he started in the insurance business in which he has won many prizes. Mr. Hermanson has worked hard for the Republican party in this city for the past ten years, and is at present a member of the Ward and City Committee. During the year of 1898 he enlisted with Co. K, 5th infantry, and served until the regiment was mustered out as a sergeant. He is a member of Camp Boyd. Mr. Hermanson has also worked in the interest of the temperance movement in this city and is at present on the executive committee of the No-License league. He is a member of the Rural Lodge of Mason, St. Stephen Chapter, and South Shore Commandery, Knights Templar and a member of Boston council. Also a member of Odd Fellows and of Foresters of America and a member of Quincy Board of Trade. He is honest and upright and is well qualified for the position.

Dr. Gilson a Candidate.

One of the promising candidates for the City Council to be voted for at the caucus in Ward One, tomorrow, is Dr. A. H. Gilson of Linden place. Dr. Gilson was born in Boston, in 1855, and has been a resident of Quincy, since 1883. He has always taken a great interest in the affairs of Quincy, both as a town and as a city. He is a deep reader and thinker, and is thoroughly conversant with the needs of the city. That he would make a valuable member of the City council, there is no question. Being affiliated with, and an office holder in fraternal and college societies, he is a ready talker and good debater, which are valuable accessories of a good councilman, and are what the City Council needs.

Entertainment.

The Pine Tree State Association of Quincy gave an entertainment to its members in Colonial hall last Thursday evening, which proved to be one of the best of the season. The following program was rendered:

Piano Duet, The Bostonian
Mrs. Mabel Whitmarsh and Howard West.
Vocal Solo, He was a Prince
William Stoddard.
Quartette. Colored Guards
Banjo, Mrs. Elmer Stoddard.
Flute, Mr. Elmer Stoddard.
Guitar, Mrs Blanche Richardson.
Piano, Miss Louise Cowing.
Reading, Red Saunders at Big Bend
Mrs. William Stoddard.
Vocal Solo, The Dear Homeland
Frank Varney.
Quartette: Banjo, Flute Guitar, and Piano, The Red Rover

The evening was concluded with games, dancing, ice cream and cake.

League Football.

The Quincy football team put up a good game with the Methuens on Saturday at the Ward Three playgrounds, but lost 1 to 0.

At Jamaica Plain the Boston Rovers and Merrimacks play to tie, 4 to 4.

At Lynn, the Andover team defeated Lynn 2 to 1.

DIED.

HEFFERNAN—In Quincy, Nov. 12, at 148 Washington street, Mrs. Mary, widow of Mr. John Heffernan of Stoughton, aged 95 years.

Progress of N.Y., N.H. & H. R.R.

J. S. Bache & Co. devote a circular to the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad remarking many things of deep interest to Boston and New England people, especially where it is said: "President Mellen aims to make the New Haven the finest piece of railroad property in the world and this result, if not already accomplished, is at least approaching realization.

The internal improvements have amounted virtually to rebuilding large portions of the line. Steel structures have replaced wooden bridges and existsting bridges have been strengthened to carry heavier traffic and to produce greater efficiency in operation. Additional second, third and fourth tracks have been laid, including the four tracking of the main line between New York and New Haven. Six tracking and electrifying of the New Rochelle-New York division is now in progress and, when completed, will have cost $12,000,000.

The system has been doubled tracked in many parts where single tracks were formerly in use. Grade crossings have been eliminated at many points, and this work is still being carried on. Other extensive improvements in roadbed track and structures have been instituted throughout the system. The road is now in splendid physical condition, but the company continues to spend millions to increase the efficiency of the property.

"Not only will the company benefit largely from its investments, but within a short time its business will be stimulated through the direct exchange of passengers and freight with the Pennsylvania lines at New York. Pennsylvania's new terminals in New York city are well under way, and work on the Jersey City and Brooklyn tunnels is progressing rapidly. Physical connection with the Pennsylvania lines will be made at Long Island City, and with this end in view the New Haven is spending large amounts in improvements at Mott Haven. It is not beyond the bounds of probability that New Haven may bridge the Sound. A few years may see the road independent of New York Central in the matter of terminals and through trains running from Boston to the South without delay occasioned by car ferries."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

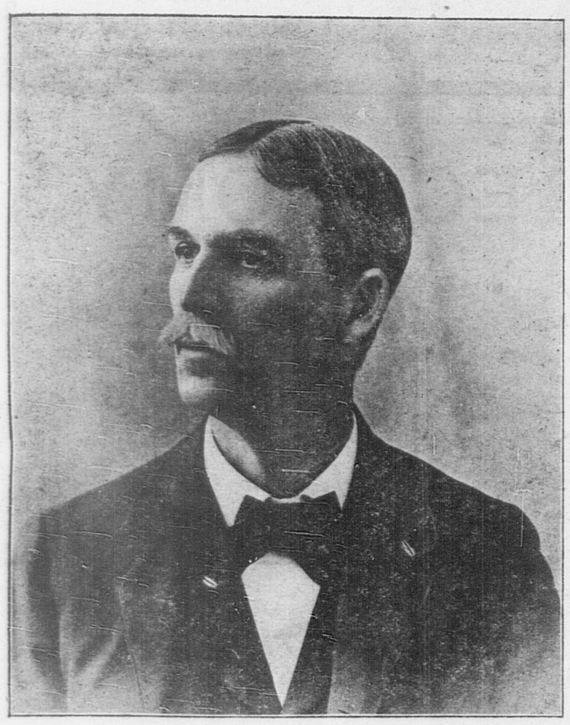
REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES TODAY.

POLLS OPEN 12 M. TO 9 P. M.

Vote to Renominate



HON. JAMES THOMPSON

FOR MAYOR

To the Citizens of Quincy:

In presenting my candidacy to the favorable consideration of the citizens of Quincy, to be voted for at the Republican Caucuses to be held November 14, from 12 M. to 9 P. M., I desire that the public may be fully informed through the press.

By attending and voting at the primaries, the citizens determine who shall be the candidates to appear under their party designation on the official ballot, to be voted for as Mayor at the city election held in December.

During my term of office as Mayor, I have endeavored to give an honest, economical and business-like conduct of the city's affairs.

If my administration during the current year has satisfied, and met the needs of the city, as measured by its resources, I would respectfully ask your endorsement.

JAMES THOMPSON.

Municipal Ownership Of Lighting

Championed at Hearing Before City Council On Municipal Plant

No public hearing before the City Council this year has attracted so much attention as that of Monday evening on the petition of Levi H. Turner and hundreds of others, that a municipal lighting plant be established in Quincy. Every available seat for the public was filled and many gentlemen stood. The hearing was the first business in order and it was about 10 o'clock before the routine business of the Council was reached.

Councilman Barry, Hynes, Piper and Sidelinger were absent.

Levi H. Turner first appeared in favor of the petition. Municipal ownership, he said, was attracting wide attention. The Massachusetts Gas and Electric Light Commissioners have received during the past year enquiries along this line from 191 towns in the State. There are about twenty municipal plants in Massachusetts.

The position of Quincy was unique. In 1860 it gave rights to the Citizens Gas Company then composed of Quincy stockholders. Now it was owned by one or two non residents. The franchise was its most valuable asset. The plant was worth less than ten years ago. The company was making no extentions, which was a marked contrast with the growth of the city. There were no gas mains in the new sections. Yet the earnings were sufficient to pay six per cent on the balloon stock. The company had no longer a valid excuse to hold the franchise, and should surrender it.

The great excess in the cost of electric lighting in Quincy over Braintree was shown in figures. Probably in no place in the United States does gas cost more than in Quincy. Certainly not in Massachusetts.

Mr. Turner cited figures to show that municipal water was a profit to Quincy. The receipts from water might not be quite large enough to pay maintenance, interest, maturing bonds and Metropolitan assessment, amounting to $108,000 but the Mayor estimates that the free water received by the city for public building, fire service, street sprinkling, sewers, etc., is worth $25,000 per year, which if added to the receipts makes the total income $121,000 or a profit of over $12,000 in 1904.

Prof. Frank Parsons of Boston University, was introduced by Mr. Turner, as one who had made a study of municipal ownership.

At the outset, Mr. Parsons said he understood Quincy was paying $2 per 1000 for gas. If so it was still in the middle ages. It was very much too high.

A few years ago Taunton also was paying $2, but a municipal plant was established and the price cut to $1. Holyoke with a municipal plant paid but $1.18. Duluth and other places were cited.

A comparison of the cost of Electric lighting in Braintree and Quincy was made to the great advantage of the former. He showed wherein the figures of the Gas Commissioners were unfair to municipal plants, adding figures of their own to the cost.

How municipal plants decreased the cost in Detroit, Chicago and other places was shown.

The question in Quincy is not so much a municipal plant, as it was: Is the city government willing to submit the question of municipal ownership to the voters? To become operative it must receive the two-thirds vote in two years. The people should be allowed to decide.

Prof. Parsons answered questions propounded by Councilmen Bass, Chamberlin and others.

THE REMONSTRANTS.

Alex H. Fryer said this was a broad question that could not be decided in one night. Municipal ownership was the result of dictation on the part of newspapers. Mr. Turner had obtained the signatures to his petition by intimidation.

The speaker was called to order and informed personalities would not be allowed.

The great difficulty in this country is that we are not educated enough, or we would not go into these five cent companies. No evidence has been shown of any particular advantage of municipal ownership. Municipalities had sold their plants to corporations as they could not make them pay. The figures given of municipal companies do not take into account the depreciation and other matters. They cannot show where it is possible for a municipality to make a success of it with the competition we have today, and the political influences.

If you add the depreciation and taxes to the Braintree plant we find that their arc lights cost $76. The question of municipal ownership comes from Europe. There the sup is thrown to the people. The expense of labor would be higher and the cost to manufacture more. Judging from the recent beer parties in this city, to the victor belongs the spoils. Under a well organized plant the same as we have in Quincy there is no difficulty in getting lower rates every year. The wealthy residents we have are a detriment to the city.

When asked where he got the figures, Mr. Fryer said that he got them from depreciation and taxes. It would cost more to run the plant by a town than by a company.

Councilman Gearwar asked if the city can operate a water plant at a profit if it was not fair to suppose that it could do the same with a gas or electric plant?

Mr. Fryer replied that it seemed so, but there was no evidence that it was so. From his own experience he did not think Quincy capable of running a peanut plant.

Prof. Parsons in rebuttal said that the speaker made a mistake when he said that I did not include all the items. Braintree is paying five and one-half cents per killowat hour for commercial lights against 15 to 20 paid in Quincy. Many more plants have been sold to towns than have been sold by towns to companies. It was better to be partners in a company than to have some one else run the business.

John J. Byron favored municipal ownership. The same idea as now, confronted us when we took the water plant. He doubted the assertion that there was too much politics. There was more graft in private companies than in municipal ownership. Fifty years from now the same conditions will prevail here as in New York.

Is there any one who wishes a private corporation to run our schools? Is there any reason why citizens can not run a gas plant as well as schools? It seems queer we can not get a man to run a lighting plant. Public service corporations have made a few people wealthy at the expense of many. It is only a question whether we are going to wait until conditions are worse.

It was his opinion that after a few discussions like that of tonight that the people would be ready to vote on the matter. If we can make a saving in the water service we can do it in gas and electricity. No private company goes into business for its health.

At this point the hearing was closed and the order re-committed.

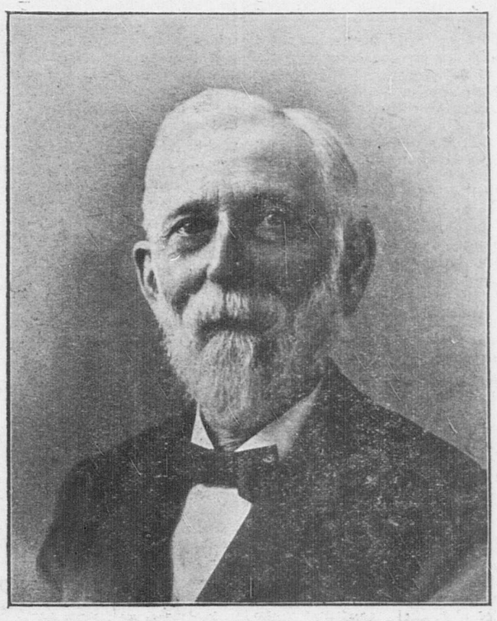
Death of Henry H. Faxon Temperance Man

Large Property Owner Benefactor of City Fearless Fighter for Good Government



It was with a universal feeling of sorrow that the people of Quincy learned this morning that Henry H. Faxon had died during the night.

Mr. Faxon had been in feeble health for a year or more, and while his friends realized that his days on earth were not many they were unprepared for the news.

Although in feeble health Mr. Faxon has been able to be about and was out of doors last week, and had it not been for the accidental scalding he received Saturday night he would probably have lived many months. The scalding which would have been a trifling matter to a young man was a severe shock to Mr. Faxon in his feeble condition.

Mr. Faxon's illness dates back a year or more when he sustained a slight shock. Since that time he has been in poor health. His constitution was of a gritty nature, and he would not give up, and continued to attend church sociables and his contributions helped largely to make them a success.

Although Mr. Faxon, like all men of his aggressive nature, had enemies, yet there is no one who knew Quincy thirty years ago and can compare the conditions existing then with today who will not say that he has been a large factor in shaping the government of the city.

To him is due in a large measure the blessings of No-License which Quincy has enjoyed for many years. He always took a deep interest in town and city affairs and was active and fearless in both, when his health permitted.

He was very methodical in everything he did. He kept a scrap book in which were compiled everything he had published over his own name as well as articles pertaining to the temperance questions. He also kept a manifold copy book in which are all the letters he has written to any person for years.

Being a man of wealth, he had many calls for aid, and as his keen intellect enabled him to sift the chaff from the wheat he was seldom imposed upon. He gave freely of his wealth to those matters in which he took an interest, and the churches of the city regardless of creed have cause to be grateful to him for many substantial gifts especially at Christmas time.

His end was peaceful although he suffered considerable from the burns received Saturday night.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First church.

Henry Hardwick Faxon, son of Job and Judith B. (Hardwick) Faxon, was born in Quincy, Mass., Sept. 28, 1823. He was a descendant, in the eighth generation, of Thomas Faxon, who came, with his wife, daughter, and two sons, from England to America, previous to 1647, and settled in that part of Braintree now Quincy. He consequently represented one of the oldest New England families in this section.

Job Faxon was quite an extensive farmer, owning and managing in connection with his farm, a stall in Quincy Market, Boston, for many years, leaving at his death an estate of $40,000.

Henry passed his youth on the farm, with merely common school advantages for education. He was apprenticed to learn the shoemakers' trade when about sixteen, and during his five years' experience, became thoroughly conversant with the manufacture of all parts of a boot and shoe.

In 1843, in company with his brother John, he began manufacturing boots and shoes, principally for the Boston and Baltimore markets.

About 1846 he changed his business, opening a retail grocery and provision store in Quincy, which he conducted for about seven years. During the last three years of that time he carried on a bakery, and was also a real estate and merchandise auctioneer.

His temperament was too active, however, to be content within the comparatively narrow limits of country trade, and he became a retail grocer at the corner of South and Beach streets, Boston, the firm name being "Faxon, Wood & Co." Two years later he, with his brothers, moved to Commercial street, changing the title of the firm to "Faxon Bros. & Co.," and the business to wholesale transactions exclusively.

In 1861 retiring from the firm, Mr. Faxon went to New Orleans, and made large purchases of molasses, shipping it to his former partners. Returning to Boston the next year he engaged in speculating on Chatham street, and subsequently located on India Wharf. Here he operated largely in chicory, kerosene oil, raisins, spices, and everything in the way of staple merchandise upon which he could realize a profit.

At this time, Mr. Faxon had given no special thought to temperance matters, and was not himself a "total abstainer." Anticipating the rise in the price of liquors on account of an increase of duty, he purchased several hundred barrels of whiskey and rum, and held them for the expected advance. The result proved the accuracy of his judgment. This is the transaction upon which Mr. Faxon's bibulous opponents have founded the essentially false charge so often heard that he "made his money selling rum;" the intention being to convey the impression that the temperance campaigner was at one time in his life distinctively a liquor-seller.

Relinquishing speculation, he dealt in real estate on a large scale, and it was in this that he made the bulk of his fortune. He purchased for the most part at auction and through careful management cleared great amounts of money. He was the largest real-estate owner in Quincy, owning over two hundred tenements, besides having nearly one hundred in Boston and Chelsea.

Mr. Faxon was chosen to represent Quincy in the State Legislature as a Republican, in 1864 and 1871. With these exceptions, Mr. Faxon has never held public office, save the peculiar one of "Special Police," to enforce the laws relative to the sale of intoxicating liquors in Quincy.

A man of rare judgment, of irresistible energy, he "hewed to the line" of an unshaken purpose. His life was of a type rarely found elsewhere than in America, a noteworthy manifestation of that tireless, ceaseless, sleepless effort, ending only at death, which seems to characterize our people, and which strikes thoughtful foreigners with astonishment.

As a business man, Mr. Faxon seemed to know intuitively the state of future as well as current markets; and the boldness of his operations, and the manner of his purchases, though unerringly clear to himself seemed to others audacious even wild and reckless and astounded his associates by their successful issues.

As a legislator Mr. Faxon looked keenly to the best interests of his constituents. Ever active and alert no bill was passed without his understanding it thoroughly in all its bearings and he showed those rare qualities of statesmanship later so strongly manifested in the temperance field.

His attention was first attracted to the temperance question while a member of the Legislature. He voted for all measures tending to restrict the sale of intoxicating liquor.

This action on his part was met with fierce denunciation by the advocates of license which caused Mr. Faxon to thoroughly investigate the liquor traffic in all its phases. He soon saw the enormity of the evil and its destructive effects upon society. He immediately adopted the principles of prohibition and ever after devoted himself untiringly to the temperance cause. It is in connection with this movement that he has become so widely and prominently known. He became at once one of the acknowledge leaders of the temperance forces of Massachusetts and inaugurated a bold, aggressive policy of active and vigorous war on intemperance wherever intrenched.

Through the pulpit, the Sunday schools, the press, the conventions, the polls, he assailed the traffic in intoxicating liquors with an uncompromising spirit. He treated with defiant scorn that political policy which has so often betrayed the friends of prohibitory legislation. Consequently he encountered much opposition, personal abuse and misrepresentation of motives; but his courage, consistency and perserverance were unyielding. His entire freedom from sectarian bigotry, and his Christian integrity, placed the purity of his motives beyond question and rendered ineffectual the attacks of those who found his sincerity unsuited to their political purposes.

Mr. Faxon applied the same methods to his temperance work that was so successful in his business career. He never attempted to use his principles as levers to elevate himself to office but persistently refused to be a candidate for any position. To use his own words: "I want it distinctly understood that it is not for office or honor that I take so active a part in politics but for the satisfaction of doing what I consider my political duty.

He had no affiliation with any third-party movement holding the Republican party as the most reliable medium for reform and constantly endeavoring through it to accomplish the reforms so imperatively demanded by the interests of society; but he was often severely censured by its leaders for ignoring party lines.

He said: "I do not care for parties, but only for the principles which govern them; and I have been free in the past to condemn the action of the party to which I am allied, and to bolt nominations, and defeat its candidates, when the good of the people demanded it. I am content to stand between the two great political parties, with my prohibition club, and, in case of an emergency, knock the life out of one of both, unless they accept the issue."

Mr. Faxon used his wealth without stint in aiding the temperance cause and this sustained the Reform Clubs in various parts of Massachusetts. During the year when the Reform club movement was at its height his gifts averaged $50 per day. In Quincy, his home, he did a noble work. Faxon hall, a permanent memorial to his name was erected in 1887, for the Reform club of Quincy. This with its furniture cost $11,000 of which he paid more than four-fifths.

His zeal and independent political ability placed him at the head of the prohibitory forces of Massachusetts

IN COURT OF EQUITY

Place For Royal Arcanum Dissenters to Adjust Grievances

Boston, Nov. 14.—Attorney General Parker has decided that he will not lend his name to a petition for an injunction by members of the Royal Arcanum against the supreme officers of the order, restraining the latter from putting the new assessment schedule into operation.

The attorney general concludes that stockholders who dissent from the supreme council's ruling have a remedy in carrying their petition to a court of equity. There is no occasion, the attorney general finds, for his interference in the matter in any way. State Insurance Commissioner Cutting, who sat with the attorney general in the case, concurs.

The petitioners sought the use of the attorney general's name in their injunction proceedings, on the ground that the attorney general was the proper person to take up the matter of injunction proceedings. Counsel for the order contended that the attorney general has no legal right to interfere and that every policyholder and member had adequate and perfect remedy at law.

Outside and Inside Functions

Brookline, Mass., Nov. 14.—The celebration of the 200th anniversary of the incorporation of the town of Brookline was brought to a close last night with a banquet in the town hall, attended by about 1000 persons. While the exercises were in progress in the town hall, a parade, known as the "outlaw" parade, attracted thousands to the streets. This procession was arranged as a burlesque on the conservative form of celebration designed by the committee.

NATHAN IS FREE

Will Testify In Trial of Defendants In the Geary Case

Boston, Nov. 14.—Morris Nathan was given his freedom yesterday after two weeks' imprisonment and he is now at home. As the grand jury failed to indict him for complicity in the death of his sweetheart, Susan Geary, he was discharged by Judge Brown in the municipal court. Before he left the courthouse he was served with a subpoena to appear as a witness in the superior court at the trial of Howard, Crawford and McLeod. Judge Stevens fixed the bail at $500, which was furnished. Nathan took his dismissal very coolly.

Mrs. Mary S. Dean, the nurse wanted by the police in connection with the death of Susan Geary, is reported to have been seen on Saturday in a carriage going over Swett street in the direction of South Boston. It is believed that Mrs. Dean is in Boston arranging to give herself up to the police.

The case against Dr. McLeod in the municipal court was dismissed, inasmuch as he had been indicted by the grand jury and held in $25,000 bonds for the superior court on the charge of complicity in the death of Susan Geary. The action of the lower court in dismissing its case against the doctor is only a technical disposition of the case.

Busy Day For Prince Louis

New York, Nov. 14.—Prince Louis of Battenberg yesterday attended a reception at the Chamber of Commerce, where he was greeted by a representative gathering of captains of commerce and finance. From there he was whirled to Coney Island, where he attended the banquet given by the bluejackets of the American warships to their Britannic cousins. From the banquet a special train bore the prince and his suite back to New York in time to appear at the horse show. From the horse show the prince proceeded to the Lambs club, where he was the central figure of a gambol attended by the most prominent Lambs of the United States, which was continued until the small hours of this morning.

NORWAY'S PLEBSICITE

Large Majority For Accepting Prince Charles as King

Christiana, Nov. 14.—The returns of the plebiscite are still complete, but no change in its main features is now possible. The results in 418 constituencies show 233,935 votes in favor of Prince Charles of Denmark as King of Norway and 62,739 against him. The Republicans expected to poll 33 percent of the votes, but only obtained 21 percent.

An interesting peculiarity of the plebiscite is the strong Monarchical majorities obtained in the Republican leaders' constituencies. It is also noticeable that the Monarchists seem to control the districts surrounding Christiana and all the coast districts, while Republican votes predominate in the interior and in the northern districts.

This morning a great crowd cheered Premier Michelsen and President Berner of the storthing. The premier addressed the people from a window of the palace and congratulated them on the results of the plebiscite.

Ancient Title Is Revived

Washington, Nov. 14.—Mr. Grip, minister from Sweden, called at the state department and gave official notice in behalf of his government that King Oscar, in view of the separation of Sweden and Norway, desires to be hereafter known officially as King of Sweden and of the Goths and Vandals, thus reviving the ancient and peculiar title of the ruler of Sweden.

2500 AT BANQUET

Sailors From British Fleet Entertained by Yankees

OVATION TO ADMIRALS

Jackies Have the Time of Their Lives After Disposing of Great Feast and Fifteen Rounds of Beer--Prince Louis a Guest

New York, Nov. 14.—"Blood is thicker than water." Written on the frontispiece of the menu cards this famous saying of the American naval officer Tatnall never found more impressive expression than it did last night at the dinner on the Bowery at Coney Island which the enlisted men of the first squadron of the United States North Atlantic fleet gave to the enlisted men of the second cruiser squadron of the British navy, commanded by Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg.

It was the keynote of the cheering with which the 2500 British and American sailors made the great pavilion ring to the echo. It was the toast to which they drank across the long tables which stretched down the great hall beneath the overhanging British and American flags. It was the theme of the speeches that accompanied the cigars and the 12th round of beers of this mammoth feast, unique in the history of all navies.

Three cheers were given to Rear Admiral Prince Louis, then to Rear Admiral Evans. Leaving the dinner for a few moments, they went into the balcony and gazed upon the impressive scene. Every sailorman was on his feet twirling his cap aloft and the mighty company cheered a sonly British and American sailors can cheer—clean-cut, all together and far-reaching, until the sounds echoed across the seas that beat on Coney's shore.

Another inspiring scene occurred when, after eating a hearty dinner, exactly the same as that to which each sailor sat down, the two admirals came down the centre of the pavilion between the solid ranks of cheering bluejackets. This ovation at parting touched the two admirals.

Coney Island in the vicinity of the Bowery pavilion looked as if midsummer had returned. The fakirs were about the enclosure long before the sailors and the all-the-year-around residents packed the approaches to the hall. Inside the picture was one which surprised even the men themselves who had worked all night in its construction. Overhead a frieze of British and American flags stretched around the hall. From each of the chandeliers waved four American and four British flags. The balcony railing was intertwined with the colors of the two nations. Festoons of starry bunting were draped across from one balcony to the other, caught upon the center by great globes of electric lights.

Across the lower end of the main hall was a long table, with four smaller tables adjoining at right angles. These were for the two commanders-in-chief, their staffs, the flag officers from each of the 21 British and American warships in the North river and other officers especially invited by the men. At the centre of the long table looking down the hall sat rear admirals of the two fleets and other notable guests. Champagne was the only "extra" not served at the six rows of tables.

The British and American sailors were assembled on board the flagships Maine and Alabama early in the afternoon. There they boarded three steamers which landed them at Steeplechase pier. From there, escorted by 130 special police, they marched to Stauch's pavilion on the Bowery, and received a noisy welcome along the route.

At the door to receive them were Chairman Schumaker and the members of the reception committee. The band played a medley of popular sailor songs while the 2500 sailors were being assigned their seats. Another evidence of their discipline came when for nearly an hour they sat patiently in their seats awaiting the arrival of the officers, who came in six special cars. The party reached the hall about 7 o'clock and entered amid a storm of cheers.

Before the prince had finished the first course he said he wanted to get the view from the gallery. When the two commanders left their seats and started for the balcony, the sailors seemed to forget all about the beer and other good things before them and, jumping to their feet, they cheered for four minutes. Then the other admirals took a look from the balcony and after them the captains, each group getting a rousing cheer. When the bumpers were filled the health of the British navy was drunk, standing. Then came three cheers for Prince Louis, three for Admiral Evans and three for the British navy.

By 10 o'clock the 15 rounds of beer which each sailor received had been disposed of and the men started out to do Coney Island. Many of the amusement places opened up and at midnight the shooting galleries, the beer gardens and the other attractions were doing a midsummer business and the 2500 sailors were having the time of their lives.

While the men made merry at Coney Island, the warrant officers of the British squadron entertained the warrant officers of the American ships at a ball on the Drake. A special dancing floor was thronged with some 200 couples.

McClellan Has Twelve Attorneys

New York, Nov. 14.—At a meeting held here last night, at which were present 12 attorneys, all of whom have been retained to represent Mayor McClellan when the board of county canvassers will meet to canvass the returns in the recent election, it was pointed out by Alton B. Parker that there was only one question involved and that was covered by the decision of the court of appeals which was written by him. He also said that it was a dangerous practice to open the ballot boxes and was not within the province of the law.

Baseball Spectators' Risk

Washington, Nov. 14.—Justice Gould has decided that a person attending baseball games takes the risk of injury from being hit by baseballs which may fly from the field into the stands unless the patron purchases a seat behind the wire screens. Edward Veihmeyer sued for $300 damages against the Washington club and Manager Kittredge, because he was struck as he was proceeding to a seat upon the bleachers by a foul ball from Kittredge's bat. The judge ordered a verdict in favor of the defendants.

Wants Share of $125,000,000 Estate

Chicago, Nov. 14.—James L. Ord of this city, who claims to be the great grandson of George IV of England and Mrs. Fitzherbert, whose marriage has recently been shown to be valid, declares that he will take steps to claim a share in their estate, which is valued at $125,000,000. His title to the estate, he says, comes through his father, who is the sole surviving son of a son of King George and Mrs. Fitzherbert. The last mentioned son came in 1830 to the United States, where he was known as John S. Ord.

Thousand Children Badly Frightened

New York, Nov. 14.—Aroused from sleep by cries of "fire" and the clanging of alarm bells, 1000 inmates of the Hebrew orphan asylum were thrown into a panic last night when a blaze was discovered in a garbage incinerator in the wing of the main building. The little ones, screaming with fear, tumbled out of their cots and made frantic efforts to escape to the street. Before the firemen arrived, however, attendants extinguished the blaze, after trifling damage had been done.

Gambler Can Recover Money

Washington, Nov. 14.—The Ohio anti-gambling statute was upheld in an opinion handed down in the supreme court of the United States. William Marvin is the owner of a building in Findlay, O., in which Frank Trout is alleged to have lost $6876. Mrs. Belle Trout, wife of Frank Trout, sued under the state law to recover and was given judgment by the trial court. That judgment was sustained by the state supreme court and the decision of both those courts is now confirmed.

THE CZAR'S AIDES

To Assume Complete Control of Three Provinces

SOCIALISTS' NEW MOVE

Will Attempt Enforcement of Eight-Hour Day In St Petersburg Factories--Return of a Noted Woman Revolutionist Who Was Exiled

St. Petersburg, Nov. 14.—For the purpose of restoring order and public security in the provinces chiefly affected by agrarian disorders, it has been decided to send to the provinces of Saratoff, Chernigoff and Tamboff aides-de-camp of the czar with almost dictatorial power. They will not only have the right to report directly to the czar, but also to supersede all local officials and take over complete control of affairs.

The instructions to the aides, which are published as an official communication today, entrust them with the direction of all troops and police in these provinces, subordinate to them all organs of government except the judiciary, direct them to discharge officials at their discretion, to arrest all persons considered dangerous to public security, to close all spirit shops, to suspend newspapers and other publications and to take other measures necessary for public safety.

As the next step in their program the Social Democrats have decided to attempt the enforcement of an eight-hour day in all the factories of St. Petersburg. The workmen in a number of big factories have already resolved to work only eight hours for their present pay and to cease work entirely if the employers attempt to enforce the old scale.

Among the Socialist leaders is Vera Sassulich, who, taking advantage of the proclamation of amnesty, has returned to Russia.

Vera Zassulich, who was expelled from Russia, has for many years been one of a group of leaders who from Geneva and other capitals have been directing the Socialist propaganda in Russia, and who, it is said, brought about the present crisis here. She once attempted the life of the much-dreaded General Trepoff, father of the present general, and was the first woman revolutionist who ever shot at an officer in Russia. She made it the motto of her followers that "if ever Russia is to be freed it must be through the labor movement."

Plot to Destroy Railroad

Warsaw, Nov. 14.—In consequence of the discovery of plots to blow up the St. Petersburg and Berlin railroad, all the railroads in Russian Poland are now guarded by the military. A patrol discovered that the line between Warsaw and Lomza was mined. A powerful charge of dynamite had been placed in an underground chamber which would have been exploded by the first passing train. A short distance on the other side of Warsaw an infernal machine was exploded and destroyed the track, but the damage was discovered before the arrival of a train.

Additions to Relief Fund

London, Nov. 14.—Including a further sum of $50,000 from Jacob H. Schiff, treasurer of the New York relief committee, the fund here for the relief of the Russian Jews amounts to $355,000.

New York, Nov. 14.—The executive committee of the national committee for the relief of the Russian sufferers announce that nearly $15,000 has been added to the relief fund, making a total of $142,685.

Odessa Has New Prefect

Odessa, Nov. 14.—The dismissal of Prefect Neidhardt, to whom is attributed the responsibility for the recent outrages, was announced last evening and caused much rejoicing among the Jewish population. The prefect will not receive another appointment. His successor, General Gregorieff, is a conservative anti-semite.

Family of Twenty-Five Killed

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—Max Butowski, a Russian Jew residing in this city, has received a cablegram from Russia stating that his entire family has been murdered by Russians in Odessa. The family, he says, consisted of his father, mother, married sister, with five children, two unmarried sisters, two brothers, sister-in-law, with four children, her mother and his aunt and her six children—25 persons in all. He says they resided in the Christian section of Odessa.

Berry's Case Before President

Washington, Nov. 14.—The papers in the case of Captain Alga P. Berry, detailed in the quartermaster's department of the army, have been received at the war department. The case has been sent to the president, as the sentence of the court was dismissal from the service. Berry was charged with conduct unbecoming an officer while in charge of transports on the Pacific.

Seven Girls Hurt In Panic

New York, Nov. 14.—Seven girls were seriously injured and damage amounting to about $50,000 was caused by a fire which destroyed a five-story factory building in Brooklyn. In the building were about 600 girls employed in work rooms on the upper floors. As soon as the flames were discovered a panic among the girls ensued.

ORDERS TO M'CALL

Must Demand Return of Legislative Agent Hamilton

AN ACCOUNTING WANTED

Hegeman Again on the Stand and Tells of Rebates Paid to Him on Interest on Loans on His Personal Account

New York, Nov. 14.—John A. McCall, president of the New York Life Insurance company, was called before the Armstrong committee of insurance investigation and peremptorily ordered by the committee to demand the return from Europe to this country of Andrew Hamilton, the lawyer who has had charge of legislative matters for the New York Life. McCall was further ordered to demand an accounting from Hamilton of the moneys expended by him and of the balance which he owes the New York Life. McCall denied that it was the policy of his company to have Hamilton remain abroad until after the investigation had been concluded and said that he would very much like to have Hamilton return.

Mr McCall, replying to Mr. Hughes, counsel for the committee, said he had called the attention of the board of trustees of the company to his testimony before the committee relative to Hamilton and gave Hughes a copy of his statement which said that if Hamilton did not return to the New York Life the sum of $235,000 by Dec. 31 he would himself pay it to the company. McCall said Hamilton was either in Paris or Neuheim.

Another interesting line of examination was opened up when John McGinness, an employe of the Equitable Life, was called. He produced letter-books and memoranda which Hughes read and was in the midst of reading when adjournment was taken. These were the instructions from former Comptroller Jordan of the Equitable Life to A. C. Fields, relative to the killing or assisting the passage of every bill introduced into the legislature that would affect or help the interests of the insurance company or any of its officers. This line of examination will be followed out when the sessions are resumed.

Other witnesses were President Hegeman of the Metropolitan Life and Vice President Fiske of the same company, who were interrogated along the line of agents' salaries, legal expenses of the company, real estate holdings and the methods of acquiring properties, and the fact was brought out that the fire insurance firm that places all risks on the properties of the Metropolitan is composed of W. D. Edmister and Silas B. Dutcher, the latter of whom is a director of the Metropolitan Life.

The low rate of interest at which Hegeman secured loans and the reason of the rebates of this interest that Hegeman received from the old firm of Vermilye & Co. was testified to by several members of that firm, which has since gone out of business. This firm was the banker of the Metropolitan Life, but since last March the business has been taken over by William A. Reade & Co. Reade was a witness and said that Hegeman got those loans at a rate below the market rate because Hegeman had been a client for a number of years and because of the volume of business he transacted with the firm of Vermilye & Co. He presented a statement of rebates paid to him on interest on loans on his personal account. The statement showed that Hegeman paid Vermilye & Co. interest at the rate of 4½ percent, and received in the personal checks of various individual members of the firm at different times a rebate of this interest at the rate of 3 percent. The statement covered a period from June 30, 1902, until this year, when Hegeman's account was transferred to W. H. Reade & Co., on the dissolution of Vermilye & Co. Reade was one of the partners of Vermilye & Co.

Kentucky Court In Error

Washington, Nov. 14.—The supreme court of the United States reversed the decision of the Kentucky court of appeals in the case of the Union Refrigerator Transit company vs. the commonwealth of Kentucky, holding that the cars owned by the company and used in other states cannot be taxed in that state, even though it be a Kentucky corporation.

DISCRIMINATING LADIES.

Enjoy Using Herpicide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.

The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpicide speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpicide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness; in killing it, Herpicide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing, for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. Cannot Pay Pensions Abroad

Washington, Nov. 14.—Pension Commissioner Warner denies the report that pensioners residing in foreign countries are to be paid through United States consuls abroad. Under the law pensions can only be paid by agents stationed in the United States.

London Paper May Be Incorrect

Washington, Nov. 14.—Inquiry here fails to result in a confirmation of the report from London that the American legation at Tokio has been raised to the rank of an embassy or that the Japanese legation here has been so elevated.

Bleacheries Still Crippled

Saylesville, R. I., Nov. 14.—The management of the Saylesville bleachery, where there has been a strike among the help for several weeks, announce that all the departments of the bleachery are running. The bleachery, however, is still short of help.

Train Wreck and Fire

Binghamton, N. Y., Nov. 14.—A Delaware and Hudson express was wrecked 14 miles east of here last night. It is thought that the wreck was caused by a defective truck or journal on the engine tender. Fireman Mickle was killed. The combination express and mail car was burned, being set on fire by a lamp. All of the cars were thrown from the track, but none of the passengers was injured aside from slight bruises and being badly shaken.

Seed Adulterations Exposed

Washington, Nov. 14.—Secretary Wilson has issued a pamphlet giving the results of an investigation of the sale of adulterated grass seeds, showing that the custom of mixing inferior seeds with those of standard quality is practiced in a great many cases. In compliance with the law on the subject, the secretary has published the names of the dealers selling the adulterated seeds.

Prison For Bank Directors

Trenton, Nov. 14.—The conviction of former Directors Twining and Cornell of the defunct First National bank of Asbury Park was sustained in the supreme court on indictments charging them with exhibiting false papers to the department of banking and insurance for the purpose of deception. The sentences of Twining and Cornell were four years each.

Cuban Official's Life In Danger

Havana, Nov. 14.—Statements are made regarding an alleged plot against the life of General Andrade, secretary of the interior. The would-be assassins, according to the story, intended to waylay Andrade on his farm, but their plans miscarried. The secret police believe there is some ground for the story.

End of Austrian Strike Near

Vienna, Nov. 14.—Negotiations between the strikers and the ministry of railroads have resulted in an agreement which will terminate the "passive resistance" strike today.

May Be a Murderer

Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 14.—A man giving his name as James Rooney, who was arrested at Danbury and later brought to the county jail in this city, awaiting trial for stealing a ride on a railroad car, was identified last night as an alleged professional safe blower and murderer of a policeman in the west, known as "Denver Harris." His right name is Thomas O'Dowd. Sheriff Hawley will keep the prisoner until he hears from the west.

Efforts to Raise Barges

Providence, Nov. 14.—Work has been begun by wreckers on the barges Ira A. Allen and Elheurah, which were sunk off Pomham light, just below the harbor Sunday night, by the steamer Powhatan, and it is expected that they will be raised within a few days. A large hole is forward of amidships on the Allen and the bow of the Elheurah is crushed in.

Clipping Draper's Plurality

Boston, Nov. 14.—Reports of the recount of the vote cast at the state election for lieutenant governor throughout the state have been received from 82 cities and towns. These returns show a net gain of 371 for Whitney (Dem.), reducing Draper's plurality to 1824.

Accessions to Reform Movement

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—The latest converts to the reform movement in the city and state are State Insurance Commissioner Martin and Internal Revenue Collector McCroach. Both are ward leaders and prominent in the local Republican organization. Martin says he will support Governor Pennypacker in all the reform measures he advocates and is also in favor of abolishing fees in the office of insurance commissioner, which amount to about $17,000 a year.

A Child's Awful Discovery

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 14.—Elsie Jones, aged 7, on returning from school to her home, found her father and mother lying dead on the kitchen floor. The mother had been shot in both eyes, and the father in the left temple. The shooting was doubtless done by the father, Frank Jones, a storekeeper, aged 29. He and his wife had been separated and had not lived happily, according to the neighbors.

Prison Sentence For Banker

St. Paul, Nov. 14.—President Clement of the First National bank of Faribault, who was convicted of embezzling the funds of the bank, causing its failure, was sentenced to serve eight years in prison. Clement moved for a writ of error to the circuit court of appeals, and pending the action of the reviewing court was admitted to bail in the sum of $10,000, which was furnished.

Dunne Sticks to His Hobby

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Another ordinance providing for steps to secure municipal ownership of the street railways in Chicago was submitted to the city council last night by Mayor Dunne. The ordinance was accompanied by a message to the aldermen which gave three ways in which Dunne asserts he will be able to bring about municipal ownership.

Plan For Confederate Monument

It is proposed to ask contributions for its construction from all Confederate societies of the south.

Good Season For Hunters

Plattsburg, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Reports from many places on the northern slope of the Adirondacks indicate that the present deer hunting season, which ends tomorrow, will be the best that hunters have enjoyed since deer hounding was abolished. Bears are reported to be unusually plentiful in the woods this fall.

March of a Thousand Miles

Junction City, Kas., Nov. 14.—The Sixth battery of field artillery, which has been stationed at Fort Riley since the Spanish war ended, has started on a 1000-mile march to Fort Sam Houston, Tex. It will be the longest march ever made by an artillery organization in the United States.

Trouble Brewing at Havana

Havana, Nov. 14.—It is believed that the government fears a coup d'etat, as the number of police at the palace has recently been trebled. For the last two nights the policemen have been compelled to sleep on the palace floor.

Cleveland Punishes Small Game

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 14.—Former President Grover Cleveland went out to Rocky Hill yesterday and enjoyed a hunt, making the second within four days, and returned with a bag filled with small game.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Wednesday, Nov. 15.
Sun rises—6:35; sets—4:23.
Moon rises—7:14 p. m.
High water—1 a. m.; 1:15 p. m.

The low pressure and high temperature that has prevailed for several days past terminated abruptly with the inrush of decidedly colder air from the Hudson bay region. The temperature has fallen 20 to 30 degrees from the upper Mississippi valley eastward to New England. It will be much colder in New England. Fair weather is indicated for New England, except snow in north portion.

For Coughs and Colds

There is a remedy over sixty years old—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Of course you have heard of it, probably have used it. Once in the family, it stays; the one household remedy for coughs and colds. Ask your own doctor about it.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Mr. Mack and family of Beach street have moved to Chicago.

November meeting of Bethany Brotherhood this evening.

Abel O. Brown and family of Safford street have moved to Quincy.

The Quincy High football went to Malden today to play Malden High.

Mrs. Huntington's house on Willow street is being connected with the sewer.

George Weston, of Newport avenue, had a fall Monday, breaking his right wrist.

Mrs. York, of Phillips street, is critically ill and has been taken to the hospital for an operation.

At basket ball on Monday the sophomores of the Quincy High school defeated the freshmen 7 to 2.

A column or more of local news which should have appeared in today's Ledger is unavoidably crowded out.

The Men's club of the Wollaston Unitarian church will hold its November meeting this evening with an interesting speaker.

Mayor Thompson ordered the flag on City Hall placed at half mast early this morning in mourning for Henry H. Faxon.

The bell on the First church was tolled this morning by order of the parish committee out of respect for Henry H. Faxon.

Daniel McLane of Grand Rapids, Mich., is in town. Dan is recovering from a broken leg caused by a car load of poles rolling onto him.

Edwin W. Marsh was the first man to vote in Ward Three. The veteran has the proud record of having voted 63 consecutive years for Governor of Massachusetts.

The first members' supper will be held at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow evening at 6.30. Those who desire places at the table, and have not notified the secretary should do so at once.

Among those present at the public hearing of the City Council on municipal lighting plant were ex-Representative Horace R. Drinkwater of Braintree, who served on the Committee on Public Lighting of the Legislature; John Cavanagh of Braintree; Joseph Costello of Havana, a former resident of Quincy, and John R. Graham of Bangor, Maine, a member of the first City Council of Quincy.

Scholarship Contest.

There are gains today in the Scholarship contest for Henry Maloney, August V. Johnson, Miss Ethel Merritt, Miss Mattie Campbell and others but the standing of the contestants is crowded out.

The Recount.

The Registrars of Voters met Monday evening and commenced a recount of the votes cast at the recent election for Lieutenant Governor and Representatives. Ward One, Two and Three were completed and a part of Ward Four. They will meet again Wednesday morning to complete the recount. Only minor changes thus far.

Thompson Or Johnson

Voting Has Commenced To Select A Candidate

The caucuses of both the Republican and Democratic parties to nominate candidates for Mayor, the City Council and School Committee are being held today. It is an ideal day and should bring out a large vote.

Among the Democrats there is practically no contest for Councilmen outside of Ward Four, and several Wards have no names on the ticket for the council. But a single vote may in these cases nominate candidates. For Mayor, George H. Wilson will receive the uncontested nomination.

Among the Republicans, however, the contests are numerous. That which is exciting the most interest being for Mayor.

Mayor Thompson is seeking renomination, and Benjamin Johnson is also an aspirant for the office.

A few days ago the street opinion was that that it would be a close contest. Sentiment, however, seems to have changed, and the opinion this morning was that the bottom had fallen out of the Johnson campaign and that Mayor Thompson would be nominated as the party candidate by a large majority. Everyone however should vote.

Six gentlemen are seeking the nomination as councilmen at large. One of these must take a back seat. Whom it will be is a matter of doubt.

For Ward councilmen there are contests in Wards One, Three and Six.

The polls opened at 12 o'clock noon, and will remain open until 9 o'clock tonight. It will be late before the result is known.

Sudden Death Of Business Man

The untimely death of Friend Crane, which occurred last night, brought sorrow to a large circle of friends and neighbors. Everyone in City Square knew him, and he was universally popular with all. Mr. Crane's last illness dates back only to Tuesday of last week. Some days previous he had been confined to his home for a few days with a throat trouble. He, however, recovered and was about again when he contracted a cold which rapidly developed into pneumonia. Everything that medical skill could suggest was done, but all to no avail. Monday morning he was reported as holding his own, but during the day he grew worse, and in the afternoon the attending physician gave up hope. The end came at 10.40 P. M.

Mr. Crane was born Feb. 4, 1858, and was a son of the late Samuel Crane. For many years he was engaged in business with his brother Frank Fessenden Crane, but for a few months has carried on business of furniture repairing, locksmith, etc., for himself on Washington street.

He was an enthusiastic yachtsman and has participated in many of the races held under the auspices of the Quincy Yacht club.

Friend, as everyone called him, was popular with all. None knew him but to respect him, and it was a pleasure to be numbered among his friends.

He leaves a widow, who was Miss M. Claribell Tilton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tilton.

Funeral services will be held Thursday from his late residence on Bent place.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of

JABEZ STEER,

late of Waterbury, in the County of New Haven and State of Connecticut, deceased:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Ernest J. Steer of Montclair, N.J., with certain papers purporting to be copies of the last will and testament of said deceased, and of the probate thereof in said State of Connecticut, duly authenticated, representing that at the time of his death, said deceased had estate in said County of Norfolk, on which said will may operate and praying that the copy of said will may be filed and recorded in the Registry of Probate of said County of Norfolk, and letters testamentary, without giving a surety on his official bond, thereon granted to him.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the thirteenth day of December, A. D. 1905, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, Mass., the first publication to be thirty days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixth day of November, in the year one thousand nine hundred and five.

and made him a prominent factor in State politics. At State Republican Conventions for many years he introduced prohibitory resolutions.

He married Nov. 1, 1852, Mary B., daughter of Israel W. and Priscilla L. (Burbank) Munroe. They had one child—Henry Munroe, born May 22, 1864. Mrs. Faxon died some years ago.

Tribute from Mayor.

Mayor Thompson when interviewed by the Daily Ledger on the death of Henry H. Faxon said:

"With the passing of Mr. Faxon, Quincy, has lost one of its most public-spirited and prominent citizens—a severance so-to-speak of the old and new order of things. His active participation in town affairs and his strenuous support of all matters into which he entered, is remembered by all. He was a firm believer in the people and the town form of government, and the absolute necessity of attending all primary meetings to nominate the best man, if good government was to continue.

"His earnest and constant efforts in the cause of temperance were endorsed by his native town in the past score of years by an unbroken no-license vote, showing the impress he made.

"Mr. Faxon's demise will be regretted by all the citizens of Quincy, to whom he was its most familiar figure."

No License Record.

The votes of Quincy on the License question, of which Quincy is proud, are given below. It is a record in which Mr. Faxon took a deep interest and he was a factor in making the No vote and No majority so large.

The Caucuses In Detail

By over one thousand majority, in a total vote of less than 2,700, Mayor Thompson was renominated by the Republicans as their candidate for Mayor. The totals were: Thompson, 1,863; Johnson, 796; with only 33 blanks.

James Thompson received his largest vote in South Quincy, his home ward, which had a close rival in Ward One, while Ward Four vied with Ward Three in size of majority both giving 253 majority. In proportion to the vote, the largest majority however came from Ward Six.

Benjamin Johnson did not succeed in carrying Ward Two where he has lived most of his life. It was the closest ward, and Thompson won by 2 majority.

The total vote of the city by wards, the vote for Mr. Thompson and Mr. Johnson, and the majorities for Thompson were:

	Total	Thompson	Johnson	Maj
Ward One	660	391	230	161
Ward Two	398	184	182	2
Ward Three	620	416	163	253
Ward Four	545	321	68	2 3
Ward Five	402	303	84	219
Ward Six	314	248	69	179
Totals	2969	1863	796	1067

For Councilman at large there were six candidates on the Republican ticket, one from each ward, and some one necessarily got left. This was Theodore Hermanson of Ward Four. In the order of the vote the nominees are Lewis Bass, H. Everett Crane, William M. Chase, Arthur C. Beal and Walter E. Piper. Councilman Piper led Mr. Hermanson by 328 votes.

There was no contest for School Committee at large among the Republicans and ex-Councilman Arthur W. Newcomb of Quincy Point was nominated unanimously.

DEMOCRATIC

George H. Wilson for the third time is the Democratic standard bearer for Mayor, there being no opposition to his nomination.

For Councilman at large there was no contest, the following nominated being given in the order of the largest votes: Patrick W. Driscoll, Robert J. Teasdale, Galen V. Bowditch, Robert J. Clifford and Clinton Jones.

Dr. John H. Ash was unanimously nominated as the Democratic candidate for School Committee at large.

REPUBLICAN

Ward One.

Mr. O'Neil was confident up to the last moment that he was one of the chosen few in Ward One, but the other three won, the vote being as follows: Madison M. Cannon; 427; Alfred H. Gilson, 413; Otto Gelotte, 293; Arthur J. O'Neill, 161. There were 533 blanks.

For Ward Committee there was no contest but few voted the entire list presented, and totals varied and were small. These were elected: George T. Westland, Archibald F. Macleod, Albert G. Dolliver, Arthur W. Stetson, Otto Gelotte, James Moorhead, Jr., Benedict Benson, Thomas M. Butler, Warren W. Adams.

Ward Two

The result of the caucus in Ward Two was very close. Mayor Thompson however, carried the ward by two votes, the vote for Mayor being: Thompson, 184 and Johnson, 182. This is the one ward of the city which it was expected to give Johnson a majority if any ward did. Both candidates put considerable work into the ward as the result shows.

There was no contest for Ward Councilmen or Ward Committee among the Republicans and the following were nominated:

Councilmen,—Herman W. Gross, William F. Sidelinger and Eugene R. Stone.

Ward Committee,—C. Arthur Sampson, Eugene C. Hultman, Eugene R. Stone, Edgar F. Hayden, Rollin H. Newcomb, Edwin W. Newcomb, George A. Sidelinger, James H. Lalley, Arthur W. Newcomb.

Ward Three.

An error of one vote in the count of ward committee was the cause of the long delay in getting the returns from the South Quincy ward. Then the lights went out and the caucus officers worked under difficulty. This is the home ward of Mayor Thompson and it gave him a handsome majority.

There was also a contest in this ward for Ward Councilmen and Ward Committee. Double lists were nominated for each of the above which also added to the work of the election officers.

The vote for Councilmen was as follows, the three first named being nominated:

George Hunter, 270; William H. Deacon, 267; William T. Spargo, 237; William T. Cummings, 225; Thomas Bishop, 209; Alexander D. McGregor, 128

For Ward Committee the vote was as follows nine being elected: Harry S. Nicoll, 343; John C. Murray, 288; Walter E. Piper, 366; William Marshall, 168; Thomas C. Smith, 210; John Masson, 196; William T. Cumming, 240; Frank Tinney, 262; William H. Deacon, 236; Frank L. Carlton, 229; John L. DEMOCRATIC

Ward One

In the Centre Ward there were no contests for any office. No nomination papers were filed for Ward Councilmen but names were written in so that two are nominated and there is a tie for third place.

The vote for Ward Councilmen was: Walter M. Packard, 4; Elisha Packard, 2; William J. Walsh, 1; Z. S. Arnold, 1; S. W. Ellsworth, 1.

The Ward Committee elected are: Alfred J. LaCroix, Edward J. Parker, William J. Walsh, Edward J. Dunn, Philip D. Cook, Luke J. Coyle and Edward Powers.

Ward Two

The Quincy Point ward had no contests. There was but one name on the ballot for Ward Councilman, William T. Donovan, and he was nominated.

The Ward Committee elected are: William F. Cain, Andrew Fahey, Thos. P. Fihely, Dennis J. Ford, Timothy J. Carey, Joseph J. Kelley, John P. Moran and Joseph McKinnan.

Ward Three

The South Quincy ward made no nomination for Ward Councilmen. The Ward Committee elected were:

Cornelius D. Austin, William A. Kelley, Edward H. McGinty, Thomas F. Shea, Joseph S. Cavanagh, R. J. Geary, Thomas P. Dunn, John P. Duffy and James H. Sullivan.

Ward Four.

The West Quincy ward had a contest for Ward Councilmen. Four names were on the ticket from which three were to be elected. The vote was as follows: James M. Flaherty, 86; Charles J. McGilvary, 87; Jeremiah Curtin, Jr., 70; John J. King, 65. Messrs. Flaherty, McGilvary and Curtin were nominated.

School Committee from the ward, James F. Burke.

The Ward Committee,—William T. Shea, James F. Burke, Henry M. Hughes, Charles C. McCue, Jeremiah Curtin, Jr., Cornelius Crowley, Peter T. Fallon, Philip T. Eagan, Charles J. McGilvary.

Ward Five

The Wollaston ward made no nomination for ward councilmen.

The ward committee elected are:—Francis R. McCormick, David J. Roche, Michael E. Cook, Patrick Ferguson and Jerry Dineen.

Ward Six

The Atlantic ward placed but one name in Nomination for Ward Councilman, that of Councilman Bartholomew A. McLane.

For School Committee from the ward, John A. Duggan was nominated.

Ward Committee,—Charles A. Duggan, Lawrences Curtin, Bartholemue A. McLane, Bernard Cullen, Peter J. Colligan, John J. Collins, Hugh Gilmartin, Michael A. Hayes, Martin W. Cunniff.

CHARITIES.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE

Young Men's Christian Association

OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title—Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Now it will be Thompson vs. Wilson, and the result will be as decisive as the contest between Thompson and Johnson. Mayor Thompson will be reelected.

It was a handsome victory for Mayor Thompson. While his administration did not have the full endorsement and enthusiastic support of all Republicans, when they weighed all the issues involved they saw it was their plain duty in the interests of good government to give him a renomination. His majority is larger than his most sanguine friends anticipated, over two to one, but the most remarkable part is that he should have carried every ward. In Ward Two only was the vote close, all the other wards giving large Thompson majorities. We congratulate Mayor Thompson upon his renomination, and prospects for reelection.

The death of Henry H. Faxon is a great loss to Quincy. We are pleased to note that that is the consensus of opinion among our citizens since his death. His fearless and aggressive stand for good government, particularly in municipal affairs, made him as prominent, as his work against liquor selling. The fact that he was sure to expose publicly any questionable transactions in city departments undoubtedly had a great influence for good, and Quincy has been better governed because thereof.

But the Quincy-born young men, who are now becoming voters, owe the most to him. They have grown up in a city without having once seen an open saloon. For 23 consecutive years Quincy has voted by emphatic majorities not to license the sale of intoxicating liquors. Thanks to Mr. Faxon, in a large measure, there has been very little liquor sold. For years he made a personal fight enlisting the services of others and himself paying the expenses. Mr. Faxon also directed his energies against the expressage of liquor into Quincy, and was in a measure successful, but this is more difficult to regulate.

Because of no-license, Quincy children have been better fed and clothed than they would have been had saloons been numerous; wives and mothers have been happier, homes have been better furnished, bills of the grocer have been paid more promptly, children have staid in school longer crowding our High school.

More education means better citizens, and in this and in many other ways the work of Mr. Faxon will have a good influence upon Quincy for many years. It is for other to do collectively what Mr. Faxon has often done single handed.

Another Change

Conductor Johnson Again The Leader

Conductor Johnson makes a big leap in the Scholarship contest today and is again at the top. Engineer Johnson and Clerk Maloney have closed up the gap a little between them and Clerk Cash. There are also gains for Fred S. Sheppard, Arthur J. O'Neil and others.

Miss Merritt has increased her lead in the ladies' list, and there are gains for Miss Campbell, Miss Gunn, Miss Swanson and others.

Tomorrow will be another bargain day in the contest. Don't wait for a ten-vote coupon, because none will be printed.

The last two weeks of the coupon in the Scholarship contest have arrived. The last coupons will be printed on Saturday, Nov. 25, in both the Daily Ledger and Quincy Patriot. That is positively the last date.

Valuable first and second prizes are offered to both men and women. A $100 scholarship in the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., to the leader in each list, and as a second prize to men a suit of clothes or an overcoat and as a second prize to women a suit or coat. The scholarships take a wide range and many have found them great helps in securing better paying positions.

The Daily Ledger has no favorites. It would like to see all candidates win. It will endeavor to treat all fairly and alike. Wholesale purchases of papers by one candidate will not be disclosed to another. Neither will we agree to supply all demands. First come, first served.

The standing to date is:

UNHAPPINESS DISPELLED.

Men and Women Unanimous About It.

Many women weep and wail and refuse to be comforted because their once magnificent tresses have become thin and faded. Many men incline to profanity because the flies bite through the thin thatch on their craniums. It will be good news to the miserable of both sexes, to learn that Newbro's Herpicide has been placed upon the market. This is the new scalp germicide and antiseptic that acts by destroying the germ or microbe that is the underlying cause of all hair destruction. Herpicide is a new preparation, made after a new formula on an entirely new principle. Anyone who has tried it will testify as to its worth. Try it yourself and be convinced. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

CITY BREVITIES.

About the same temperature this morning as yesterday morning, 15 to 20 above.

There was greater interest in the caucus returns than usual, and many were out all night.

Benjamin King cast the first ballot in Ward Five on Tuesday and it was marked for Mayor Thompson.

Charles Ferguson has been appointed superintendent of the South Shore telephone exchanges with headquarters at Quincy.

The friends and relatives of Mrs. Sally Harris of 32 Brook avenue called at her home Tuesday to congratulate her on having reached her 92d milestone. Friends were present from Roxbury, Braintree, Whitman, Abington and Brockton. Mrs. Harris still enjoys good health and was the recipient of a large number of gifts.

Citizens' League Plans Active Campaign

A meeting of the Citizens' No-License League was held Monday evening at the office of Dr. C. T. Sherman, Hancock Building, City Square, and the following officers were elected:

President,—Dr. C. T. Sherman.

Vice President,—Lincoln F. Crowell.

Secretary,—Arthur W. Hall.

Treasurer,—D. King.

These with William F. Cummings, Theodore H. Hermanson, Thomas B. Pollard and Thomas J. Shortle form the executive committee, and there is an advisory committee of about forty.

It was planned to hold a big rally in Quincy Music hall and other rallies all over the city; to distribute picture-buttons to the school children, to issue a paper, and to wage an active campaign in every way, for, though last year's "No" majority was much bigger than ever before, it was felt that there should be no relaxation.

A Makaria Meeting.

The regular monthly mid-week meeting of the Makaria Fraternity was held Monday evening in the chapel of Bethany church.

It was planned to start a "Red and Blue Contest" to cover eight weeks, the defeated side to give a banquet to the victors.

A committee was also appointed to arrange for a minstrel show after Christmas. A goodly number of new members were enrolled.

The entertainment was of particular interest consisting of readings by Mrs. Isabelle Davis, solos by George Reynolds, the boy soprano, accompanied by Everett Hayden, and banjo solos by George Newcomb. A general social sing was then held.

Eastern Banks Need Money

Omaha, Nov. 15.—Over $1,000,000 has been sent to New York by Omaha banks to be invested in call loans. One banker says that this is the first instance where western banks have been material factors in supplying the east with money, the conditions having heretofore been just the reverse. Other cities, he says, are also lending large amounts of money in the east.

Cuban Disturbers Active

Havana, Nov. 15.—It is learned that extra police have been stationed within the palace for the last three nights as the result of apprehension based on an official telegram from Santiago to the effect that some sort of revolutionary plot was being hatched there which, it was suspected, might result in simultaneous disorder in Havana.

Burton Files a Demurres

St. Louis, Nov. 15.—Counsel for Senator Burton of Kansas, who was indicted by the federal grand jury, have filed a demurrer to the indictment, alleging that it fails in several essential points. In the event the demurrer is sustained Burton will be acquitted, as the statute of limitations in his case expires Nov. 18.

Wrecked Steamer Located

San Francisco, Nov. 15.—Divers who have been searching for the remains of the Pacific Mail steamship Rio De Janeiro, which was wrecked in the entrance to this harbor several years ago, announce the success of their quest.

MADE EIGHT RAIDS

Hub Police Continue Crusade on Fake Doctors

DOORS BATTERED DOWN

Most of the Places Had Been Deserted by Former Occupants --Search Revealed Nothing of Incriminating Nature

Boston, Nov. 15.—Eight more dashing raids, all bordering on the sensational and spectacular, were made yesterday afternoon among the so-called "medical offices" along Tremont street by police of division 4, under the direction of Captain Cain. Promptly at 2 o'clock the "purity brigade," composed of five squads under the command of sergeants and special officers left the station house and went to the offices they were ordered to search.

Crowbars and jimmies, carried by the men, were put to use in smashing down doors in several places. When this means was resorted to a crowd soon collected, who cheered the police in their efforts.

Dr. H. C. Williams, police doctor of that division, accompanied the officers to inform whether or not the instruments found were illegal, but those that were found were only what physicians would use for a legitimate purpose.

The first place visited by the raiders was the office of "Old Dr. Jackson" on the second floor of the building numbered 233 Tremont street, which was run by a Dr. Kimball, who was present when the officers called. Captain Cain, after ransacking the place, left a man in charge and went across the street to the Hayden Medical company, at 220 Tremont street, which is run by a Dr. J. W. Brown. No admittance could be gained, so the front door was broken down. A thorough search failed to reveal anything of an incriminating nature. The doctor himself had left before the officers arrived.

The office of Mrs. Dr. Allen, at 237 Tremont street, was empty and had been vacated for several weeks.

Another squad called at the offices of Dr. Berry in the rooms of Mrs. Dr. Williams, 144 Tremont street, and the Dr. Butler office, 133 Tremont street. Both were vacant.

Still another squad paid a visit to Mrs. Dr. Johnson's office at 271 Tremont street. A woman, found in charge, refused to give her name to the police or any information. A door on which was a card marked "Mrs. Estelle James" was forced, but nothing of an illegal nature was found in either of these rooms.

Still another squad made their way to 9A Park square, where a Mrs. Dr. Alexander formerly hung out her shingle, but the office was vacant.

The occupants of the Mrs. Dr. Bishop office, where Susan Geary was operated on, have moved away. The office is deserted and the name has been taken from the window and front door.

Mrs Dean's Course Traced

Boston, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Mary S. Dean, who was indicted by the grand jury in connection with the Geary case, and who is the much-sought nurse who lived in the Winthrop street house in Roxbury, has been traced to New York by the police. Her course has been followed through Nova Scotia to Portland, Me., and thence to New York, where she is supposed to be still, unless she has again evaded the authorities.

Charged With Election Frauds

Philadelphia, Nov. 15.—John H. Schweckler, who, up to the day previous to the election, was employed as a clerk in the office of the city solicitor and had since been a fugitive from justice, has surrendered himself. He is charged, together with W. J. Wood and H. F. Starr, with perpetrating a bold election fraud in the 26th ward. Schweckler is a Republican precinct leader.

American Hounds the Victors

Upperville, Va., Nov. 15.—The American hounds won the decision over the English in the Grafton-Middlesex fox hound match which concluded after two weeks of excellent sport. No wild fox was killed during the match and the decision of the judges was based upon the speed and trailing of the rival packs. The Middlesex establishment left today for Boston.

Killed While on Mission of Love

St. Louis, Nov. 15.—Under the impression that her grandchildren were in danger, Mrs. Catherine Haverlick, aged 66, re-entered the burning home of her daughter last night and was incinerated. Mrs. Haverlick's daughter and grandchildren had escaped by another entrance and were searching for her when she braved the flames to rescue them.

Trolley Passengers Hurt

New York, Nov. 15.—Fifteen persons were injured, six seriously, in an accident to a trolley car between Newton and Flushing last night. The car struck a sharp curve at the approach of a bridge with such force that the rail was broken and the car leaped about 30 feet off the roadbed.

Town Destroyed by Fire

Huntington, W. Va., Nov. 15.—A dispatch from Burk is to the effect that the entire town was destroyed by fire. Burk is a mining town of 2000 population, 150 miles from here. More than 100 buildings were destroyed.

COLLEGE EDUCATION
FREE!

12 Globe Scholarships
And Other Awards
Aggregating in Cash

MORE THAN $10,000

For the Boys and Girls of New England.

A college education is the ambition of the great majority of the boys and girls of New England in these days, however unattainable it may seem to no longer regarded as the exclusive privilege of the few, but is looked upon as the key to the advancement of the many, their main chance to rise in the world.

The Globe, which has so long been the favorite of the young people, always studying their needs and sympathizing with their aspirations, presents a free competition for all the pupils in all the schools of New England.

The territory is divided into four parts, and a separate election will be held in each of the following divisions:

1—Boston.
2—Massachusetts (outside of Boston.)
3—Maine.
4—New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

To the most popular school boy or girl in each of these divisions, based on the number of votes received, The Globe will pay $250 a year for four years —$1000.

To the pupil receiving the second largest vote in each division, $150 a year for four years—$600.

To the third pupil in each, $100 a year for four years—$400.

To the fourth pupil in each, one lump savings bank deposit of $50.

To the fifth, a deposit of $25.

To each of the next five pupils in each division, a deposit of $10.

To each of the next 25 pupils in each division, a deposit of $5.

To the pupil polling the largest vote in the entire election The Globe will pay $250 a year additional.

WHICH WILL MAKE A TOTAL OF $500 a Year

FOR FOUR YEARS

To the Most Popular Boy or Girl in All New England, or an aggregate of $2000, a sum sufficient to meet all the necessary expenses of an education in any university of America or Europe, or of a preparation for any profession, art or science wherever the recipient may choose to pursue his studies, whether at home or abroad.

The Globe is confident that the distribution of all these free scholarships among its youthful readers will be the means, not only of advancing the 12 successful contestants themselves in their life ambitions, but will prove as well a powerful general stimulus toward higher education throughout the schools of New England. At the same time it is hoped that the more than 125 savings bank books to be distributed among the boys and girls at the close of the contest may become positive incentives to lives of thrift and the sure foundations of future fortunes.

The polls are now open, and while only pupils in New England schools may be candidates, EVERY ONE MAY VOTE, old or young, regardless of residence. A reader in one section may vote for a young friend who is a pupil in any school in New England. But the pupil must be a resident in the division in which he or she is entered.

IN STATE OF WAR

Russia Now Has to Cope With Outbreak at Vladivostok

A NEW STRIKE PLANNED

Workmen's Council to Proclaim One Throughout the Empire--Internal Disorders Continue in Many Sections

St. Petersburg, Nov. 15.—A state of war has been declared in Vladivostok. Private advices say that the Chinese quarter has been entirely destroyed and that the uprising is now under control.

In spite of the complete embargo placed on all telegrams from Vladivostok, the news of the outbreak there leaked out in the navy and war departments and became generally known throughout the city. Few details were available to the general public and the city was filled with the wildest rumors as to what was occurring in the eastern fortress. One report circulated on the Bourse had the entire garrison and the sailors of all the ships in the harbor in an emeute. This, following on the heels of the mutiny at Cronstadt, contributed to the demoralization on the exchange.

While the information received by the press goes to show that, though order was partly restored, a large part of the garrison stood firm and the crisis has not been passed. Fears are expressed in admiralty and general staff circles that mob violence has flared out again and that this will necessitate a further resort to armed force.

Martial law has been proclaimed and the authorities say they are confident of their ability to stamp out disorders if necessary.

To Proclaim General Strike

St. Petersburg, Nov. 15.—Russia is on the brink of another general strike. The council of workmen's delegates, in accordance with the program of the Social Democrats, at a meeting last night resolved to obtain a working day of eight hours by revolutionary means if necessary.

The workmen decided that, in view of the condemnation to death of many of the sailors who mutinied at Cronstadt, the delay in carrying out the reforms outlined in the imperial manifestos, the proclamation of martial law in Poland and other repressive acts, a general strike throughout Russia should be proclaimed today.

All employers are determined to oppose the demand, and the situation is critical.

Policemen Lined Their Nests

Odessa, Nov. 15.—Considerable unrest continues to pervade this city. Looting and attacks on individuals occur in various quarters. The new prefect has not taken any drastic measures and consequently the people fear to leave their homes after nightfall. The theatres are open, but are deserted. A number of policemen have resigned and it is openly asserted that they secured sufficient plunder during the disturbances to make them independent.

Attack on a Monastery

Sukumkale, Caucasia, Nov. 15.—The noted monastery on Mount Athos, 15 miles distant, was attacked yesterday by a large predatory band. Troops were rushed to the scene and repulsed the attack, killing one of the band. Disorders broke out in this city last evening and there is constant firing of revolvers. The mart of a Greek merchant was pillaged.

Peasants Resort to Lynching

Warsaw, Nov. 15.—At Pultusk the peasants formed an organization for the purpose of driving out or lynching the thieves who took advantage of the present disturbances to loot and plunder. The lynchers killed 11 and fearfully mutilated 20 of the thieves. The general political strike is still in progress here. The city is suffering from a shortage of wood.

Polish Students Make Trouble

Lemburg, Austria, Nov. 15.—A report that Germany, in the event of a revolution in Poland, intended to assist Russia to suppress it, led to serious street riots last night in which several students and policemen were wounded. A thousand Polish students were finally overpowered by force of arms, but the consulates are strongly guarded, as the students threaten to renew the demonstration.

Universities Not to Reopen

St. Petersburg, Nov. 15.—The universities of Russia will remain closed until Jan. 28 and perhaps longer. At a conference of the rectors and professors of the various colleges and members of the cabinet, it was decided to be useless to attempt to resume studies during the present agitation.

Disorder Still Reigns

St. Petersburg, Nov. 15.—There has been little improvement in the agrarian situation in the central provinces. The peasants in many cases are fighting among themselves and organized bands are attacking villages of considerable size for the purpose of plundering them.

Want Roosevelt to Step In

New York, Nov. 15.—A petition asking President Roosevelt to use his influence to stop the atrocities in Russia, even though there is no diplomatic precedent for his interference, was adopted by the New York board of aldermen.

Dainty Foods Demand It

IN EVERY Receipt that calls for cream of tartar, soda, or baking powder, use the Royal Baking Powder. Better results will be obtained because of the absolute purity and great leavening strength of the Royal. It will make the food lighter, sweeter, of finer flavor, more digestible and wholesome. It is always reliable and uniform in its work.

Alum and phosphate baking powders—some of them sold at the same price and some of them cheaper—will make neither dainty nor wholesome food.

CAUGHT IN ICE PACK

Whalemen In the Arctic, However, May Not Suffer Greatly

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 15.—That the Arctic whaling fleet, in which there are a dozen vessels from this port and which is known to be frozen in the ice for the winter, was caught in the open roadstead between Herschel island and the mouth of the Mackenzie river is the opinion of Mate Gifford of the steamer William Bayliss, the last vessel to escape the ice pack.

Gifford, who has reached his home from San Francisco, says that his vessel had a very difficult time working out through the ice, but the luck which kept with her during the voyage and to which the crew ascribed her big cargo of oil and bone, estimated to be worth $150,000, kept with her to the end. When the Baylies passed through that part of the Arctic ocean the wind had begun to set in from the westward, and the open head through which the vessel sailed closed behind them. The westerly wind prevailed for some days after the Baylies cleared the ice, which, according to Gifford, would pile the ice pack up about half way between Herschel island and the Mackenzie river. "If the fleet got as far as Cape Point they have done well," says the whaleman.

The Baylies wintered at Herschel island, where there is a safe harbor. Gifford says that the Beluga, Herman and Narwhal intended to winter at the island, but that the rest of the fleet was not prepared for a long stay in the Arctic. Still he does not think that any of the crews will suffer.

Charged With Shooting Brother

Eliot, Me., Nov. 15.—Albra Tetherly, aged 36, who was captured after a chase through the Kittery woods, will be arraigned on the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon upon his brother, Fred Tetherly, during a dispute which took place while they were gathering eel-grass along the river at Kittery. Fred, who is 30 years old, received a bullet from a revolver in the groin. Albra says whatever he did was in self-defense.

Press Returns Nearly Correct

Boston, Nov. 15.—From the returns of the recount of the vote cast at the recent state election for lieutenant governor, it would appear that Eben S. Draper (Rep.) was elected over Henry M. Whitney (Dem.) by about 1950 votes. The press returns of the election gave Draper a plurality of 1996, while the returns received from city and town clerks gave Draper a plurality of over 2300 votes.

Eleven Lives Saved by Firemen

Chelsea, Mass., Nov. 15.—Firemen last night rescued 11 persons who had been overcome by smoke from a burning tenement house on Everett avenue. Mrs. Jacob Cohen is in a serious condition, but all the others will recover. The fire started in the basement of a four-story brick building. By the time the firemen arrived it was possible to reach the upper stories by means of ladders only.

Was Squeezed Between Wagons

Boston, Nov. 15.—A verdict of $6230 was awarded Irving M. Norcross by a jury in the United States circuit court in a suit for $25,000 damages brought against the Massachusetts Breweries company for injuries received while crossing Washington street when he attempted to pass between two of the company's teams which were tied together by a rope. The rear wagon ran over him.

Death Caused by Grief

New Haven, Nov. 15.—Grief over the death of a woman who was struck and killed by his car last week is given as the primary cause of death of Archie O'Brien, a motorman, whose body was found in an alleyway. He was prostrated by the accident and had not resumed work, though he had been exonerated from blame by the coroner. He was 54 years of age and leaves a family.

Boy Saw Brother Killed

Swampscott, Mass., Nov. 15.—Irving Morse, 8 years old, with some companions was returning home from a football game and at a railroad crossing they had to wait for a freight train to pass. As the last car rolled by Morse ran across the tracks and was struck by a passenger train from the opposite direction. An elder brother witnessed the boy's death.

Strychnine in Epsom Salts

Presque Isle, Me., Nov. 15.—The coroner's jury in the case of the death of Pearl Barnes of Sprague's Mills, aged 14, whose death followed her taking a dose of Epsom salts, returned a verdict that death was caused by strychnine, placed in the medicine with felonious intent by some unknown person. An arrest is looked for soon.

Opposed to Rate Legislation

Louisville, Nov. 15.—A petition to President Roosevelt and congress against any rate legislation designated to interfere with the fixing of rates by the roads themselves was the result of a meeting of mine owners and operators, representing 53 of the biggest coal mines in Kentucky and 70 coal companies, held in this city. The movement will be spread through other states.

News of Disturbance Confirmed

Washington, Nov. 15.—The state department has received a dispatch from the United States consul at Vladivostok, transmitted by Spencer Eddy, the American charge at St. Petersburg, confirming the press dispatches of the serious condition existing at the former place. The dispatch says there has been serious rioting and general disorder at Vladivostok.

Want Duty on Hides Removed.

Washington, Nov. 15.—Leading shoe, hide and leather manufacturers of the country, including Governor Douglas of Massachusetts, called on the president today and asked that he recommend the removal of duty on hides under the Dingley tariff. It is the unanimous opinion that all should unite on a request for the removal of the duty on hides.

Fever Suspect at Havana

Havana, Nov. 15.—While there have been no new cases of yellow fever, the Las Animas hospital has seven suspected cases under observation. Three of these are of Americans. A Cuban physician said last night that a patient had died supposedly from jaundice, but he now decides that the case was one of yellow fever.

A Municipal Ownership Idea

London, Nov. 15.—The London county council has decided to introduce a bill in parliament under which the council will construct a plant to supply all the electric energy for London and the suburbs at a cost estimated at $40,000,000.

Would Remain Separate From Cuba

Havana, Nov. 15.—The American residents of the Isle of Pines have elected representatives to go to Washington and try to prevent ratification by the senate of the treaty conceding the sovereignty of the island to Cuba.

Savage Raid on Tartars

Tiflis, Nov. 15.—It is reported from the government of Erivan that 700 Armenians from a number of villages attacked the Tartar village of Gors, killed 400 of the villagers and plundered and burned all property.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Thursday, Nov. 16.
Sun rises—6:36; sets—4:22.
Moon rises—8 p. m.
High water—1:30 a. m.; 1:45 p. m.

The cold wave has spread southward to the Carolinas and freezing temperatures prevail as far south as the upper portion of North Carolina. The Lake Superior depression will move rapidly eastward and give snow in north New England, with somewhat higher temperatures. The weather will be fair elsewhere.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed locs-remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

Another bargain day tomorrow in the Scholarship contest which is drawing to a close.

Master Walcott Griffiths of High street is visiting friends in Westerly, R. I., he will not return until Christmas.

Flags are at half mast on City Hall, the Durgin-Merrill block, Coddington school and elsewhere for Henry H. Faxon.

The funeral of Henry H. Faxon will be held tomorrow afternoon from the First Unitarian church at 2 o'clock. The public is invited.

Requisition for Quincy Policemen

Hot time at the Boston caucuses on Thursday evening have been anticipated and Mayor Whelton has made a requisition upon Mayor Thompson of Quincy for six policemen to help in preserving order and to prevent repeating.

Police are also wanted from Chelsea, Somerville, Cambridge and Revere, in all 62 from outside.

These outside officers will have the same authority as the local police, statute law giving them that power. They will be in citizens' clothes, and will keep a sharp watch for suspects from the opening until the closing of the polls.

BALL ON FLAGSHIP

Brilliant Function With Admiral Prince Louis as Host

New York, Nov. 15.—Unique and beautiful was the scene into which Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg welcomed his guests last night at the grand ball on board the flagship Drake. The wealth and beauty of Washington and New York and the ranking officers of the army and navy came together in a garden of flowers and flags, making one of the most brilliant assemblages ever seen in this country.

Half the ballroom was a mass of magnificently gowned women and army and navy officers in brilliant uniforms. The other half of the room was kept clear for dancing, which began promptly at 10.

The dance program consisted of 19 dances, every third one being a two-step, in compliment to the American guests. Between the dances the guests promenaded on the quarterdeck. About the ship were comfortable chairs, where many sat out their dances.

Two suppers were served, one after the 10th dance, shortly after midnight, and the second early this morning. Both were elaborately served at 100 round tables along the lower half of the Cunard pier.

The portable ballroom proved an unqualified success. Built up above the boat-deck, it had a spring which made dancing irresistible even to the old guests. After midnight, when some of the guests had gone, the entire ballroom was given over to dancing. It was long after midnight before the dance ended.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

Hereafter the club department will appear in the Wednesday instead of the Saturday Ledger, as the rush of other news and the printing of several papers at the end of the week makes it impossible for the editor to do justice to the subject. Presidents or Secretaries of clubs, auxiliaries, alliances, guilds, leagues, patriotic or church societies, are invited to cooperate by sending matter pertaining to their organization, which will be of interest to their members or the public. If mailed to the club editor not later than Tuesday noon it will receive prompt attention.—Eds.

Quincy Women's Club

There was an overflow meeting of the Quincy Women's club at the club house on Tuesday afternoon to greet Rabbi Charles Fleischer of Cambridge.

A short business session was held, followed by music and the lecture, opening with a duet by Mrs. Chandler W. Smith and Mrs. Albert R. Moulton, members of the club.

Mr. Fleischer took for his subject "Women in Democracy." He is a most interesting speaker, his clear enunciation enabling every one to hear distinctly in the remotest part of the hall. He took his listeners into new fields of thought, some so different from their usual way of thinking that many were inclined to differ from him, but for the most part there were nods of approval at some of the special points brought out.

He thought women were asserting themselves; that the home was not her only field; that she needed to get out and broaden herself by contact with other women and other ideas, and in this way make the home more ideal and the home relations more equal. He believed men and women equally endowed, varying only as individuals. The time had gone by when women were pets and playthings. They are individuals with power to think and act for themselves as men have for generations.

Many women committed moral and social suicide when they married, giving up their individuality, others with stronger characters were unhappy hence recourse to the divorce courts and separations. The ideal life is the home life, but each must be an individual part of it, free to think and act. Women, that is most women, do not marry now for necessity, they are capable of living their own lives, earning ther own competence.

In these days husbands and wives are comrades, having much in common but each being decidedly individual. In this way would future generations be the stronger and better, and naturally also the home, the city, state and country, would gradually uplift into a larger, broader way of thinking and living.

It is impossible here to bring out all of the good points in Rabbi Fleischer's lecture, but it received the closest attention of his listeners, each of whom probably carried away some special thought to consider.

The afternoon closed with a group of songs by Mrs. Albert E. Avery, a member of the club, after which a rising vote of thanks was given the lecturer and entertainers of the afternoon.

During the social half hour, new members were greeted, and all had the pleasure of meeting Rabbi Fleischer.

Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth, chairman of the Civic Betterment committee arranged the afternoon's program, and had as guests Mrs. Theo Ruggles Kitson and Col. Edward Anderson. Mrs. Morton of the house committee was hostess and received the guests.

Wollaston Club

The November meeting of the Wollaston Unitarian club on Tuesday evening was largely attended. The banquet was served by Seiler, and was followed by an exceedingly entertaining and instructive address by Dr. Marshall L. Perin of Boston University on "Student Life in German Universities." Dr. Perin is also superintendent of schools at Wellesley, and spoke from experience in Germany.

President W. E. Simmons presided, and at the business meeting a new constitution was adopted, and upon motion of Walter M. Hatch a committee on resolutions appointed on the death of Henry H. Faxon. Mr. Hatch spoke in eulogy of Mr. Faxon, and the committee are: Mr. Hatch, ex-Senator E. H. Sprague ond Rupert F. Claflin.

Dr. Perin showed at the outset how German universities differed from American. How the German government encouraged students to become professorsand paid them a salary for life and allowed them the greatest freedom to promulgate what they discovered. How the students go about from one university to another, "buming" it for a year or two the professors simply giving them lectures and exercising no control.

Finally, if there is anything in the young man he settles down to work. There are no classes, and no curriculum; every student must stand on his own merits, and the final examination taken alone is very severe.

He said drunkeness among German students was overated; that duelling is not upon provocation but an athletic sport no more dangerous than American football. What corresponds to our hazing is a great improvement, one senior pupil being held responsible for one green pupil, to the advantage of both.

Neighboring Women's Clubs.

The Arlington Woman's club observed its tenth anniversary last week. The club has arranged for four Monday afternoon lectures by Leon H. Vincent for the benefit of the school decoration fund. Tomorrow Prof. Paul H. Harris of Harvard University is to lecture on What shall the schools teach.

The Quinshipaug Woman's club of Milford is to have a series of eight lectures, an author's reading, a musicale and a guest afternoon, besides six lectures in the social service department and a mothers' meeting, with music at each meeting, making up a pleasant winter's program.

On Monday the New England Women's club observed the eightieth birthday of the club historian, Miss Julia Sprague, by a reception and tea.

At the last meeting of the Brightheln stone club of Allston it was announced that a cource of six lectures on "Household Economics" would be given by Miss Anna Barrows, beginning Nov. 15, with a lecture on chafing-dish cookery by Mrs. Lincoln. French classes, have already been started. The home department announced a luncheon and whist to be given Nov. 16.

The Woman's Charity club meets tomorrow morning in Sewall hall, Boston.

Sam Walter Foss is to give some of his original readings before the Peabody Woman's club on Friday.

The Fitchburg Woman's club is arranging for a course of free cooking lessons for girls the school board having given the club the use of the Crocker Domestic Science laboratory.

On Monday evening Albert Leach, state chemist, gave a lecture on the "Pure Food Question" under the auspices of the Monday club of Weymouth. The lecture was at the Congregationalist church, East Weymouth, and was free to the public.

Played to a Tie

The Quincy High school football team thought they might meet defeat at Malden on Tuesday, because of the record of the Malden High. The home team was also heavier. Quincy, however, played a plucky game and really had the best of it, but the score was 0 to 0.

First President Of City Council

Herbert M. Federhen Dies in Boston

Word was received this morning of the death at his home in Boston yesterday of Herbert M. Federhen a former prominent and well known resident of Quincy, and once an aspirant for the mayoralty.

Mr. Federhen has been in failing health for some time and his death was not unexpected.

Mr. Federhen was a son of John Federhen, at one time a well known Boston jeweller, with whom he was associated in business.

The greater part of his life was passed at Qutncy Point. He always took an active and prominent interest in Quincy and has filled many important positions in the gift of the town and city.

In 1885 and 1886 he represented the Quincy-Weymouth district in the Legislature.

He was one of the committee which framed the City Charter and was a member of the first City Council, serving that body as president. His hard work that year caused the new city government to run smoothly.

During his early career he served on important committees under the town government and was one of the engineers of the fire department for six years. He has also held state commissions.

Shortly before the advent of the Fore River at Quincy Point, Mr. Federhen sold his valuable property on Washington street and moved to Boston where he has since resided. He retired from active business life some years ago.

The body will be brought to Quincy for burial on Friday.

League Game Won By the Blues

The Members' Bowling League at the Y. M. C. A. is in full swing.

The second game was rolled Monday evening between the Blues and Blacks, being won by the former in a close contest. The latter won the last string and was but 17 behind on totals.

The Last Day

The Board of Registrars of Voters are in session today from 12 o'clock noon to 10 o'clock tonight. This is the last opportunity to get names on the voting lists before the Municipal election.

Miss Phebe C. King, who has been visiting friends on Penn's hill, has returned to her home in Westerly, R. I., after spending a short time here, which has been of much benefit to her health.

Main Spring while you wait. Watch cleaned, $1.—Williams.

Whitney and Elcock Gain

The Registrars of Voters completed their recount at 11 o'clock this morning of the votes for Lieutenant Governor and Representatives. As a result of the recount Whitney gains 17 and Draper loses 1.

For Representative: Elcock gains 17, Hultman gains 5 and Sandberg gains 5.

The totals by the recount are as follows:

	Recount.	Returns.
Draper,	1840	1841
Whitney,	1636	1619
Elcock,	1749	1732
Hultman,	1816	1811
Sandberg,	1801	1796

Pound Party And Entertainment

On Monday evening at the parish house of Christ church the members of the Junior Auxiliary received their friends and provided a very enjoyable entertainment for them. The occasion was a "pound party" for the benefit of the Rev. F. W. Merrill's hospital among the Oneida Indians in Wisconsin. Every one who attended brought a pound of some staple groceries to stock the hospital pantry shelves. The donations were very generous, one person bringing a bag of flour and several bringing many pounds of sugar and rice. A barrel full of valuable groceries will be shipped this morning to aid the valuable work among the Indians.

The parish house was well filled with a very appreciative audience and the program enjoyed by all included:

Two violin solos by Andrea Dahl; pianist for the evening, Nellie Drummond.

Hindu symphony, "The Sleigh Ride," given by Eva Barnicoat, Olive Barnicoat, Mary Newell, Edith Denton, Mildred McIntosh, Violet Robertson, Clara Pierce, Marion Clark, Lizzie Curtis and Ethel Prout.

Swing song, a chorus by all the Junior Auxiliary.

An Indian Lullaby by Ethel Rendle, Mary Bisaulso and Mildred Smith.

A visit from Our Heathen Friends, a costumed dialogue, by Margaret Bisson from Japan, Helen Kenn from Hindostan, Ethel Rendle from North Dakota, Mabel Allen from Africa, Annie Denton from Mexico, Flora Deacon from China, and Ruth Dahl from Alaska.

Officers Elected

And By Laws Adopted by New Citizens Association

The Citizens' Association of Quincy is now an assurred fact, the organization was perfected and officers elected at the meeting on Wednesday evening, which was held in the rooms of the Granite Manufacturers' Association, and was attended by a representative body of citizens.

The committee appointed at the meeting a week ago to draft by-laws, reported, and with a few slight amendments were adopted.

Article 1 defines the object of the association to be as follows:

PRESIDENT KINCAIDE

"To promote the interests of the mercantile and manufacturing business of Quincy. To broaden and strengthen its business relations. To enhance the attractiveness of the city as a place of residence. To secure and maintain the highest standard of Municipal government and by all legitimate means to work unitedly for the material prosperity and general welfare of the city."

The by-laws also provide that any individual residing, or doing business in Quincy may become a member.

The membership fee, which shall include dues for the current fiscal year was placed at $5, and the yearly dues thereafter at $5.

Regular meetings of the association will be held on the second Tuesday of January, April and July, and the annual meeting on the second Tuesday of October.

Regular meetings of the board of directors, which includes two from each ward with the President, vice president, secretary and treasurer, will be held at stated periods.

The governing power of the association is invested in the board of directors.

Aside from this there will be sub-committees on the following matters:

SECRETARY BURGIN.

Ways and means; transportation and public service corporations; new enterprises; taxation and insurance; legislation and municipal affairs; highways and local improvements; promotion of local trade; and publicity.

Officers were elected as follows:

President,—Henry L. Kincaide.
Vice President,—Russell A. Sears.
Secretary,—Clarence Burgin.
Treasurer,—Nathan G. Nickerson.

Directors,—Dr. J. F. Welch and Herman F. McIntire of Ward One; John W. McAnarney of Ward Two; John L. Miller and George H. Field of Ward Three; Walter S. Pinkham of Ward Five; Harry W. Read of Ward Six.

The vacancies in the board of directors in Wards Two, Four, Five and Six will be filled at a subsequent meeting.

Before the meeting adjourned it appointed a committee consisting of Paul R. Blackmur, John L. Miller, and Nathan G. Nickerson to appear before the City Council Committee on Public Buildings in the interest of a building ordinance.

The association adjourned for two weeks.

The new association starts off with a charter membership of 25.

Tribute to Henry H. Faxon

Editor of the Daily Ledger:

For fifteen or more of the most active years of Mr. Faxon's life, I saw him daily and was in his confidence. I knew him as one does who sees a man when he is "off duty," as it were—when he reveals himself. Such knowledge as I thus obtained of him who has now gone served only to create and to preserve a profound respect.

He met the natural fate of all positive characters. He was misunderstood and he was unfairly criticised. But this did not disturb him seriously because he knew it to be inevitable. He was well aware that the role of the critic is an easy one, and that the man who acts vigorously in any cause must ever live in the midst of tempest.

Mr. Faxon was in many ways an exceptional man—one whose like is not to be seen often in any community. He had abilities in certain lines altogether unusual; and it was the exercise of these powers which brought to him the measure of success which came to him through life.

That he said some things which others would have said differently or not at all—that he did some things which others would have done differently or not at all—all this is simply to confirm him in all our minds as a human being, with human limitations, human imperfections and human liability to err. Yet, taking him all in all, he will be better and better understood, as the years now pass, as one who deserves well of those who come after him. He fought a good fight for the community—he made his town a better town and his state a better state. He added to the sum of human happiness.

It seems to me that there should be some public recognition of what he did in some enduring way. It would be an honor alike to him and to us.

A. E. Sproul.

Quincy, Nov. 15, 1905.

What the Papers Say.

The late Mr. Faxon was something of a fanatic, but he was a sincere and earnest one. Gen. Collins' famous epigram on the Rev. Dr. Miner might appropriately have been applied to Mr. Faxon also.—Herald.

There will be two basket ball games at St. Mary's hall Saturday evening, the last until Dec. 9. The St. Marys will line-up against the Revere Collegians, and the second team of the St. Marys against the Jamaica Plain B. A. second team.

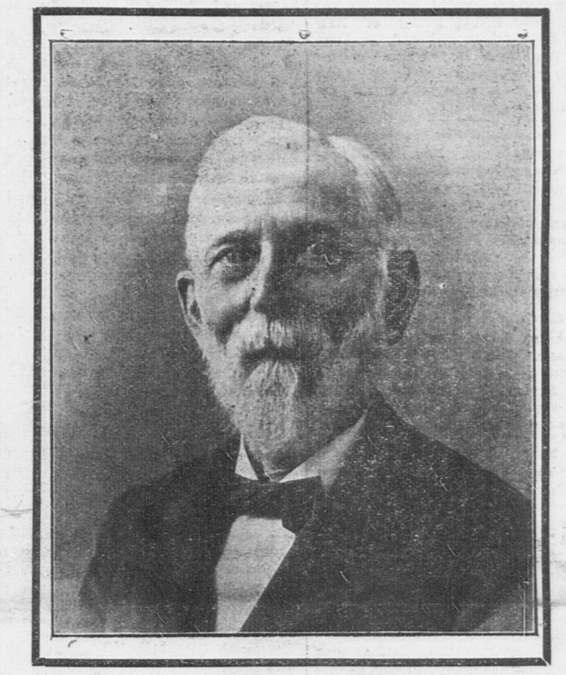
Quincy Mourns Over Death of H. H. Faxon

Business Houses Closed During Funeral Services This Afternoon



HENRY H. FAXON.

The funeral of Quincy's benefactor, Henry H. Faxon, was held this afternoon, from the First church, where during his life he was one of the most constant attendants, and most liberal supporters.

Throughout the city flags have been at half mast since his death on Tuesday, and during the services the business houses generally were closed. Upon the doors were placards reading—"Closed—Out of respect to the memory of the late Henry H. Faxon during the funeral services."

The offices at City Hall also closed during the services.

In compliance with a request of the family the face of the deceased will not be seen, and the services will be of a simple nature. They will be conducted by Rev. Ellery Channing Butler, pastor of the First church.

Prayers were said at the house at 12.45, after which the body was removed to the church.

The bearers were Charles A. Price, James H. Stetson, Thomas Fenno, Dolcevare King, Arthur E. Sproul and Charles H. Johnson. They also officiated as ushers at the church.

Pews at the church were reserved for the employees of Mr. Faxon and for the representatives of the many temperance societies throughout the State.

Among the many persons prominent in the temperance world present are:

Ex. Gov. John D. Long and Rev. Alfred Noon, President and secretary of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society.

Mrs. M. V. B. Knox, State secretary of the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. H. D. Walker and Mrs. M. A. E. Gleason.

Charles E. Dennett and Benjamin R. Jewell of the Sons of Temperance.

S. H. Davis of the Anti-Salon League.

Representatives of the Temple of Honor, and others.

The services will be brief and simple, consisting of scripture reading, brief remarks not of an eulogistic nature, and prayer. Music during the services was by a male quartette.

The burial will be private.

Foresters' Anniversary

St. Francis Court, No. 25, M. C. O. F., observed its twenty-fifth anniversary Wednesday evening by a large gathering of its members with ladies at St. Mary's hall. Chief Ranger, James H. Elcock presided and opened the exercises by a brief address of welcome.

Rev. A. F. Roche congratulated the people upon having such an order; was proud that it paid the widows $1,000 previous to burial. He was proud of being a citizen of Massachusetts and of being a Forester, and with the Catholic church behind it, it was the strongest in the world.

Rev. J. P. Cuffe spoke of the work the organization was doing in caring for members in sickness and death.

Other speakers were Vice Supreme High Chief Ranger Donovan of Brockton, High Treasurer John J. Leonard, Rev. John J. Powers and Rev. Edward E. Mitchell.

Between the addresses there were vocal selections by Richard Callahan and Miss Alice C. Foley, also by a ladies' quartette composed of Miss E. Eicker, Miss Carrie Becker, Miss Thereasa Kamp, Miss Lillie Berle.

A social dance and supper followed.

Some filling in has been done on Claremont avenue, which improves the travel somewhat.

Quincy Police in Boston.

In response to a requisition from Boston, Chief of Police Burrell sent six officers to that city today who will be stationed at different voting precincts in citizens dress to look out for repeaters. The officers sent were Goodhue, Lyons, Curtin, Holloran, Olson and Boutin. Four will be attached to station 11, and one each to station 6 and 12.

Relic Found in Dr. French House

Warren S. Parker in demolishing the old Dr. French house on Chestnut street, has unearthed an interesting relic of by-gone days in the shape of an iron plate, 18 by 21 inches in size and weighing about 50 pounds.

The plate was imbeded in the chimney in the kitchen fireplace. The upper part of the plate has a picture of a lion, while beneath is an inscription. The plate is so rusty, however, that it is impossible at present to read the inscription.

The plate looks as though it were made in a mould and the letters of the in scription were apparently reversed.

The timbers in the house are of oak and hand made nails were used. Opinions differ as to when the house was built, but it is believed to have been upwards of 200 years ago.

Plantation Melodies

It was "Hampton Night" at Bethany chapel Wednesday evening, and a crowded house greeted the representatives of the Hampton Institute who came to tell of the work of this school among the Negroes and Indians.

Rev. E. N. Hardy, the pastor of the church led in prayer and by the way of introductory spoke enthusiastically of the work of the institution.

Dr. Frissel, secretary of the board of trustees of the Institute was introduced, and spoke briefly. He preferred to let students and graduates speak for the school.

A colored male quartette of students was introduced which during the evening entertained with at least a dozen plantation melodies which were much enjoyed by the audience.

Charles Doxon, an Indian, who holds a certificate from the Institution told of the obstacles he had to overcome, being brought up on a reservation until eighteen years of age and ignorant of the ways and language of the white man. It was an interesting story and evidently he is making a success in life.

A Negro young man, who was graduated from the Institute and is now taking a post graduate course in agriculture, told of the ignorance and life of the colored men in Alabama and of the great change that the education of a few was accomplishing. He will return to Alabama, buy a tract of land, develop a farm, and instruct others.

A appeal for funds was made by Dr. Frissell and Rev. E. N. Hardy and a large collection was taken.

New Voters.

The Registrars of Voters added 60 names to the voting list Wednesday, four of which were women. Of the new male voters 17 are from Ward One; 9 from Ward Two; 6 from Ward Three; 11 from Ward Four; 6 from Ward Five and 7 from Ward Six.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

With a Board of Trade and a Citizens' Association something should be accomplished for Quincy. It will not matter if there is a little rivalry. There is much that may be accomplished and one organization may spur on the other.

But a bare majority of the City Council of 1905 have been renominated. For this reason alone all these should be reelected be they Democrats or Republicans. Sometimes changes are very desirable, but there is such a thing as too much of a change.

With 1863 votes in his favor at the Republican caucuses, the reelection of Mayor Thompson on December 5, seems assured, for the totals for Mayor Bryant in 1901, 1902 and 1903 were but 1,547, 2,053 and 2,155. Last year Mr. Thompson's total was 2,582 against 1,518 for Peter T. Fallon and his majority this year may be nearly as large.

Arthur W. Newcomb who has been unanimously nominated by the Republicans at large as a candidate for the School Committee, has always been interested in the public schools; in fact in all city affairs. For several years recently he was a member of the City Council, and an untiring conscientious worker for the best interest of the city and good government. He has looked up the early school accommodations in what is now Ward Two, and in the new Washington school building is a picture of the first school building used in the ward which was presented by him. Mr. Newcomb was born in Quincy; is one of its merchants; a gentlemen of high character, and will make a valuable member of the School Committee.

Few citizens have been as active in public affairs of Quincy as the late Herbert M. Federhen. The rules of order of the City Council of today are practically the same as drafted by him during the first year of the city government. His prominence in the Legislature, and acquaintance with parliamentary procedure started the City Council aright. Near the end of the year of service he was given a banquet.

Previous to the city government Mr. Federhen was usually a member of the committee of fifteen which considered and reported on articles in the annual town warrant, the recommendations being usually adopted. Under the town government the fire department was one of his hobbies and he served for six years on the board of engineers.

It was Mr. Federhen who first conceived the formation of the Quincy Yacht Club, and called the first meeting. For many years he was fleet captain.

He was a strong advocate of street railways for Quincy and was active in the formation of the Quincy Street Railway Company, of which he was superintendent at the start and later president.

His failure to receive the Republican nomination for Mayor, as a successor of Charles H. Porter, was a great disappointment, and his interest in Quincy waned from that time.

A Veteran.

Mr. Ralph Houghton of Randolph observed his eighty-sixth birthday Tuesday afternoon and evening, and many people of that town and the surrounding towns called to extend their congratulations. He received numerous presents, among them being an artificial apple from Maine, containing 86 cents. Mr. Houghton has been an Odd Fellow since 1847 and was the father of Puritan lodge, Braintree.

Vicar Fillingham Again With Us

Boston, Nov. 16.—Rev. Robert C. Fillingham, vicar of Hexton, Eng., who created a sensation in this country two years ago by criticising the ritualism of Bishop Potter of New York, arrived here on board the Iverna. He says he is now laboring for church unification, believing there is a broad platform upon which all denominations can meet.

Successful Fox Hunters

Westfield, Mass., Nov. 16.—Three foxes were killed at the opening of the 18th annual hunt of the Western Massachusetts Fox Hunt club. About 75 men and 30 hounds hunted over nearly 12 square miles of territory and, while many foxes were started, only three came within gunshot. The hunt was conducted on the New England method.

Cattle and Horses Burned

Amherst, Mass., Nov. 16.—A fire of unknown origin last night destroyed a silo and large barn on the George P. Fitch farm, entailing a loss of $8500. Forty-eight head of cattle and two horses were cremated.

To Keep Charge of Philippines

Washington, Nov. 16.—During Secretary Taft's temporary absence in Panama it was reported that matters relating to the Philippines were to be transferred to the state department. The story, Taft declares, originated in the mind of the man who wrote it, as he has no intention of relinquishing supervision of Philippine affairs.

Nobody Hurt In Pistol Duel

St. Pierre, Miq., Nov. 16.—A duel was fought here between Louis Legass and M. Caperon, until lately chief justice of the island. The weapons used were pistols and the distance 45 paces. Neither party was injured. The duel arose out of an old election feud.

Sea-Level Canal Finds Favor

Washington, Nov. 16.—The full board of consulting engineers of the Panama canal had an all-day session here. There seems to be a general impression that a larger number of engineers at present favor a sea-level canal.

Heroic Tots Lost Their Lives

New York, Nov. 15.—Kingston Blauvelt, aged 6, and Abraham Diamond, aged 5, of Jamaica, L. I., lost their lives in saving the life of a little girl. The gate had been lowered at a grade crossing for the passage of a train, but a band of schoolchildren crawled beneath it. The foremost of these was a little girl, who had just reached the rails as the engine was bearing down upon her. To save her the Blauvelt and Diamond boys rushed forward and shoved her across the track and to safety, but there was not time for them to cross or retreat, and they fell beneath the wheels.

Labor Federation's Wants

Pittsburg, Nov. 15.—A determined stand was taken for the enforcement to the letter of of Chinese exclusion laws of the country, the legalizing of the eight-hour day in all work of the government, the abolition of convict labor where it competes with union manufactured goods and the renewal of the agitation for the alteration of the injunction laws of the country by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in its annual report. The executive council, being the mouthpiece of the federation, makes the report an important document.

Testimony Overcomes a Juror

Washington, Nov. 15.—While the trial of Frank Jones for the murder of Kate Norbeck was in progress in the criminal court here, John E. Daily, a juror, declared that he could not go on with the case because he could not keep his mind on the testimony and that his nervous temperament was strung at high tension at sight of the objects placed in evidence and the harrowing recital of witnesses on the stand. The court adjourned the case pending the examination of Daily by a physician and determination as to whether the juror should be discharged.

The One Today In Scholarship Contest Worth Five Votes

High water mark in Scholarship coupons is reached today. None valued at over five votes will be printed during the contest, and only on a few days will there be five-vote coupons, as there are only eight more days.

Vote early and often!

Today, Drug Clerk Maloney makes the largest gain, and is with the leaders. There are other gains in both lists.

Tomorrow will be another bargain day in the contest. Don't wait for a ten-vote coupon, because none will be printed.

The last two weeks of the coupon in the Scholarship contest have arrived. The last coupons will be printed on Saturday, Nov. 25, in both the Daily Ledger and Quincy Patriot. That is positively the last date.

Valuable first and second prizes are offered to both men and women. A $100 scholarship in the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., to the leader in each list, and as a second prize to men a suit of clothes or an overcoat and as a second prize to women a suit or coat. The scholarships take a wide range and many have found them great helps in securing better paying positions.

The Daily Ledger has no favorities. It would like to see all candidates win. It will endeavor to treat all fairly and alike. Wholesale purchases of papers by one candidate will not be disclosed to another. Neither will we agree to supply all demands. First come, first served.

Isle of Pines Contention

Washington, Nov. 16.—Mr. Quesada, the Cuban minister here, called at the state department and seemed to be considerably agitated over the news of the movement in the Isle of Pines to oppose the formal transfer of the island to Cuba. The contention of the American residents of the isle is that as they own in fee simple five-sixths of the ground, the 1200 native residents being non-property owners, they have a right to be heard by this government.

The Meriwether Court Martial

Washington, Nov. 16.—The navy department has announced the detail for the court martial that is to try Midshipman Meriwether on charges growing out of the recent glove fight with Midshipman Branch, which caused his death, at the naval academy at Annapolis. The department has taken the maximum number of 13 for this trial because of its importance.

To Become King of Norway

Christiana, Nov. 16.—The government presented the result of plebiscite to the storthing today. The official figures show that 257,710 votes were cast in favor of Prince Charles of Denmark as King of Norway and 68,852 against him. A telegram has been received from Prince Charles, accepting the offer of the throne.

Result of Personal Quarrel

Washington, Nov. 16.—No boycott, no race feeling, but a mere personal quarrel was the cause of the death of the five American Presbyterian missionaries recently at Lienchow, in China, according to the report made to Secretary Root by the Chinese minister here.

Troops Leaving West Indies

St. Thomas, Jam., Nov. 16.—The Fourth battalion of the Worcestershire regiment, which has recently been stationed at Barbadoes, has left for Malta in partial fulfilment of the government's decision to withdraw its garrison from the West Indies.

Explorers May Have Perished

St. Johns, Nov. 16.—Dr. Grenfell, who has arrived here from Labrador in the mission ship Strathcona, reports no news of Dillon Wallace and Clifford Easton, the Labrador explorers, and grave fears are entertained for their safety.

Prince Taking a Day Off

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Prince Louis of Battenberg is now a guest at the summer home of John J. Astor, near Rhinebeck, where he will remain for a day or two. An informal dinner was tendered the prince last evening.

Election Inspector Arrested

New York, Nov. 16.—George Abenshine, a Republican inspector of election, was arrested last night by deputies from Superintendent of Elections Morgan's office. The charge against him is reported to be bribery.

Methodist Bishop Weds

Cincinnati, Nov. 16.—Bishop Earl Cranston of Washington, a leader in the Methodist Episcopal church, and Miss Lucia M. Parker were married here last night, Bishop Moore of Portland, Or., officiating.

Earthquake In Venezuela

Caracas, Nov. 16.—An earthquake shock of considerable violence was felt at Maracaibo, Arenales and Tocuyo. The two latter towns suffered considerably.

Contributions Pouring In

New York, Nov. 16.—The national committee for the Russian sufferers' fund has received a grand total of $233,925.

BAY STATE'S VOICE

Emphatic In a Demand For Tariff Revision

GUILD TO ROOSEVELT

Would Have the Duty Removed From Iron Ore and Hides--Whitney Denies That He Misquoted the President

Boston, Nov. 16.—Governor-elect Guild said last night in regard to President Roosevelt's statement to a delegation of leather manufacturers:

"On Nov. 10 I sent the president a letter, but in order not to embarrass him I did not give it to the press. I have received a letter from him releasing me from that pledge and permitting publication." The Guild letter says in part:

"The Republican ticket, in my judgment, would have been overwhelmingly defeated if our platform, on which both Mr. Draper and I stood, had not contained a plank endorsing the position taken last spring by our delegation in congress favoring immediate tariff revision.

"In the Dingley tariff there are certain duties that we must all admit are no longer needed. Nothing was said in the campaign here in regard to the iron schedule as a whole. I think, however, that even the iron manufacturers themselves will admit that a duty on iron ore is no longer necessary, and that a reduction on such iron products as we are exporting so heavily could be made without injuring our domestic industry.

"Here in Massachusetts the duty on hides is anathema. It is known that only 23 percent of the hides and skins that come into the United States are subject to duty, and it seems perfectly illogical that calfskins, sheepskins and goatskins should come in free as a by-product not needing protection, while a duty is assessed on the skins of full grown cattle.

"I enclose a canvass of New England on the subject of free hides. It will show you that the shoe manufacturers in this section are not clamoring merely for tariff revision on the products of other states, but that they themselves are willing to submit to a reduction of the duties on boots and shoes if the last remnant of this needless duty can be removed from their material.

"There can be no question of the desire of the overwhelming majority of the people of this state for attention to such matters as this in the immediate revision of the tariff. * * * I deem it my duty, with the trust that has just been placed in my hands, to inform you of the real condition of public feeling in this commonwealth."

Henry M. Whitney, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor in the recent state campaign, issued a statement last night in reference to President Roosevelt's remarks to the committee of shoe manufacturers who visited the White House.

President Roosevelt told the manufacturers, who had called upon him to urge a removal of the duty on hides, that he could not discuss freely and informally the matter, claiming that a year ago Henry M. Whitney called on him with reference to tariff matters and later misquoted what the president had said.

When shown the Washington dispatch, Whitney prepared a statement in which he says that A. G. Webster, J. M. W. Hall and himself, constituting a sub-committee of the Chamber of Commerce committee of one hundred on reciprocal trade, visited Washington last winter for a conference with the president touching especially the matter of the Hay-Bond treaty. Whitney, as chairman of the committee, made an argument in favor of the treaty, and in the argument made reference to the advantage of reciprocal treaties with Canada.

"We understood the president to express himself as not only favorable to the Hay-Bond treaty," says the statement, "but desirous of seeing and favoring also the fullest possible freedom of trade with Canada. I was not aware that this was to be regarded in the nature of a confidential communication—quite the contrary, as we were there, as we stated to the president, as a committee of the Chamber of Commerce committee of one hundred, sent to consult with the president and to report the result of that conference to the full committee, which was equivalent to giving it to the public.

"While we may have misunderstood the president, I do not see how we could have done so. I absolutely deny any 'wilful' or, if I understand his meaning, any intentional 'misrepresentation' of the president's attitude, which, as we understood it, has been subject for congratulation among our people from the time of our visit to Washington until the present. It was, therefore, nothing new and I did not regard my reference to it in my campaign as new matter.

"I regret extremely that the president should consider that I have misrepresented his attitude and especially that he should feel I have intentionally done so, which I aver is not true."

Forty-Two Lynched In a Bunch

Saratoff, Nov. 16.—A band of pillagers drove a herd of cattle into a church in the village of Malinovka yesterday. The villagers, resenting this sacrilege, attacked the pillagers and lynched 42 of them in the square outside the church.

A College Education Free.

A college education is the ambition of the great majority of the boys and girls of New England in these days, however, unattainable it may seem to many of them. A university or technical training is no longer regarded as the exclusive privilege of the few, but is looked upon as the key to the advancement of the many, their main chance to rise in the world.

A scholarship, at home or abroad, amounting to $500 a year in cash for four years, or $2000, is to be the highest award. There will be three scholarships carrying $250 a year for four years, or $1000 each; four will carry $150 a year for four years, or $600 for each; four more will carry $100 a year, or total of $400. Among other contestants the Globe will distribute more than $125 savings bank books, ranging from deposits of $50 down to $5.

The Boston Globe, which has so long been the favorite of the young people, always studying their needs and sympathizing with their aspirations, has opened a free competition for all the pupils in all the schools of New England.

The Globe is confident that the distribution of all these free scholarships among its youthful readers will prove a powerful general stimulus toward higher education throughout New England, and that the more than 125 savings bank books to be distributed among the boys and girls at the close of the contest may become positive incentives to lives of thrift.

The polls are now open and while only pupils in New England schools may be candidates, every one may vote, old or young, regardless of residence.

Read the conditions in the Boston Globe.

Vote early! Vote often!

Mayor Thankful.

Mayor Thompson, when interviewed by the Ledger on the result of the caucuses, expressed himself as highly gratified at the very flattering vote received in every ward of the city, and while he had not expected other than an endorsement, had no reason to believe it would assume such astounding figures. He does not ascribe this result wholly to himself in a personal sense, but rather as an expression of the confidence of the voters in the present administration; and he has every reason to believe the verdict at the election in December will be as pronounced.

Mr. Thompson desires through the press, to extend his thanks to the citizens of Quincy for the result.

$10 for City Hospital.

The Editor of the Quincy Daily Ledger received from Boston this morning a check for ten dollars for the benefit of the Quincy City Hospital. All persons seem desirous that this noble institution should prosper; they know that it is doing good work.

Quite a change in the temperature.

Base ball on roller skates at the Coliseum this evening.

The rain last evening came unexpectedly to those who left home without an umbrella.

Nothing higher than a five-vote coupon will be printed in the Scholarship contest of the Daily Ledger.

The number of votes cast at the joint caucuses on Tuesday evening was 2969, of which 268 were Democratic and 2701 Republican.

Miss Ethel Hill of Walker street has returned from a week's end visit in Somerville, where she was entertained by Miss Bertha Crafts.

Regular meeting of the City Council this evening, when any business will be in order. It is called principally to receive the returns of the State election.

Along the road to Squantum, where the wind has an unbroken sweep, the ice was two or three inches thick along the marsh. This condition is not the result of one cold day, but the freezing winds of several nights past, must have left this evidence of their intensity.

The boys of the Y. M. C. A. will go to Boston on Saturday and will visit the Public Library, the State House, the Boston Y. M. C. A. building and the Youths' Companion building. They will leave Quincy at 9.13 in charge of Raymond W. Noon, the boys' work director.

A Word to Boys.

A mail box at the corner of Atlantic and Squantum streets, has received a coat of green paint. It is to be wondered at that the box did not take unto itself a vivid scarlet on account of the obscene literature which idle hands had scrawled over its surface. If the youthful minds would allow themselves to turn more readily to the pleasing beauties of nature, the sacred comradship of school friends, and the agreeable duties of the home with which every boy and girl is surrounded, they would have no time and less desire to bring the dark side of life into prominence and obscure the sunshine of happy thoughts.

CHARGES OF HYDE

Harriman Denies Them on the Witness Stand

HIS INFLUENCE SOUGHT

Says Hyde Wanted a Diplomatic Position and Suggested Settlement of Odell Suit--Why an Individual Signature Was Wanted In Union Pacific Deal

New York, Nov. 16.—E. H. Harriman, chairman of the board of directors of the Union Pacific railroad, former member of the board of directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society, and connected with many railroads and financial institutions, the former friend of James H. Hyde, against whom the latter charged acts of an unfriendly nature in his testimony, was one of the chief witnesses before the committee on insurance investigation yesterday.

Harriman's testimony was a series of denials of the charges made by Hyde. Contrary to Hyde's statement, Harriman said Hyde came to him about a year ago and asked him to use his influence to have him appointed ambassador to France. Harriman said he would speak to President Roosevelt when he saw him, but added that he did not recommend Hyde for the post.

Upon Hyde's testimony relative to the settlement of the Odell suit being read to him, Harriman denied that he had suggested to Hyde any danger of a repeal of the charter of the Mercantile Trust company, directly or indirectly, and stated that Hyde came to him and asked him to use his influence with Odell toward a settlement of the suit.

Mr. Harriman explained that he wanted Hyde's individual signature to the syndicate agreement of the $50,000,000 Union Pacific pool because no syndicate wants a corporation as a member. He justified this because it was difficult to guard confidences when more than one individual represented the same interest. He denied that he ever advised Hyde to sell his stock until after the report of the Frick committee and said he had offered to subscribe $500,000 to assist Hyde in retaining his stock.

Mr. Harriman said the Frick report never mentioned the Union Pacific deal specifically, but included it under the general statement that Hyde had committed the society in unwarrantable transactions without the knowledge of the committee. He thought it perfectly proper for the Equitable to buy Union Pacific under an agreement to hold it for five years. He did not know that it was Hyde's personal money in this deal, and always supposed it was that of the Equitable. Witness also denied that he had requested that the executive committee be not informed of this deal and when Hyde's testimony on this point was read to him, he replied that "he did not remember."

Mr. Hyde was the first witness of the day. He told of four offers for his stock, beside that of Ryan, to whom he sold. These offers were made by Messrs. Frick and Harriman, by George Gould, by Gage E. Tarbell, representing a syndicate, and by George W. Young. These were made verbally and the largest was made by Young, former president of the United States Mortgage and Trust company, who offered $7,000,000. Hyde said he declined all these offers, because he did not think it to the best interests of the society to accept any of them.

After Harriman had testified, Hyde was called again and asked if he heard Harriman testify. He replied that he had. He reaffirmed his previous testimony and supplied data about several questions concerning which Harriman was uncertain.

Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for Hyde, attempted to cross-examine Harriman, but the committee refused the permission, whereupon Untermeyer asserted the examination had been conducted in a disorderly manner.

Late in the day Hyde threw the room into an uproar by an answer to Assemblyman Rogers, who asked Hyde why Odell was feared when there was no legislature in session and the governor was soon to retire. Hyde replied that some men are more influential and powerful out of office than when they are in.

C. F. Williamson, Hyde's private secretary since 1898, testified that several loans were carried in his name, but that they were not for Hyde. He never knew the purpose of these loans.

Michael Murray, cashier of the Equitable Life, said he became cashier in 1898 and from that time until 1905 he received checks from Controller Jordan drawn to Murray's order by the Mercantile Trust company and deposited as cash to the credit of the Equitable Life. Murray detailed the manner in which Jordan would ask for cash, thousands of dollars at a time, and put a ticket as a memorandum in the drawer. Jordan would then give a check and take up the cash ticket.

Murray said that prior to June, 1905, there was a memorandum account of perhaps $400,000 that was taken up by check. This account was a cash memorandum book, but there was no indication in the book as to who got the $400,000 or of the time at which it was taken. This book was in place of a cash ticket. Murray was asked what the auditing committee did when it came across this book and created much amusement when he replied that Jordan was the auditor. Murray said he had not seen or heard of Jordan since he walked out the Equitable building.

HUB'S HOT CAMPAIGN

It Has Been Marked by Most Bitter Personalities

Boston, Nov. 16.—The most vigorous ante-primary canvass ever waged in this city for nomination to the office of mayor came to a close last night with meetings in every ward of the city. As the end approached the campaign became more strenuous, every device known to politics being used in behalf of the several candidates.

There are five prominent candidates, two seeking the Democratic nomination and three the Republican. Edward J. Donovan has the support of the regular Democratic city organization, and he is opposed by John F. Fitzgerald. On the Republican side Louis A. Frothingham is accredited with being the choice of the Republican city committee, and the other candidates for the Republican nomination are Edward B. Callender and Henry S. Dewey, who recently retired from the municipal bench.

The campaign on both sides, particularly the Democratic, has been characterized with an unusual amount of personalities, the records of the candidates being subjected to the fiercest criticism, abuse and recrimination. The advertising columns of all the papers have been used to an unprecedented extent to set forth the claims of the aspirants and the unworthiness of their opponents.

Because of the energetic campaign, a large vote is being cast today. Fearful lest the fraudulent voting may be resorted to, almost the entire Boston police force, with additions from adjacent cities, are on duty at the precinct polling booths. Twelve men, known to the police as leaders of repeaters, were warned by the police to leave the city and were notified that if seen here today they would be placed under arrest.

Final Warning to Turkey

London, Nov. 16.—It was ascertained at the foreign office that the ambassadors of the powers at Constantinople have presented a joint ultimatum to the porte. The ultimatum, in addition to the financial control of Macedonia, demands a two-year extension of the term of office of the Austrian and Russian civil agents and of the officers of the European gendarmerie. The porte has been given 24 hours in which to reply. A refusal is expected and consequently all the powers except Germany, which will not participate, are preparing to dispatch two vessels each to rendezvous at Piraeus.

Wanted In "Suit Case" Trial

Albany, Nov. 16.—Governor Higgins has signed extradition papers permitting the return to Massachusetts of W. E. Howard and Louis Crawford, who are under indictment for complicity in the Boston "suit case" mystery. The men are now under arrest in New York and the extradition papers were forwarded to the Boston police officers, who are waiting for them in that city.

Resting on River's Bed

Philadelphia, Nov. 16.—As a result of the pilots' misunderstanding of signals the Norwegian steamship Earnford and the British steamship Carthaginian collided in the Delaware river and the Earnford now lies near the scene of the accident with the bow under 20 feet of water.

Federation Endorses Strike

Pittsburg, Nov. 16.—The third day of the American Federation of Labor convention was given up for the greater part to the presentation and consideration of resolutions, but none were of great import outside of the endorsement of structural bridge workers' strike.

No Disturbance In Cuba

Washington, Nov. 16.—The following cablegram from Secretary of State O'Farrill of Cuba has been received here: "The news as to coup d'etat absolutely false; complete tranquility in all the island. There is no fear of public order being disturbed."

Runaway Car Caused Death

Pittsburg, Nov. 16.—A runaway trolley car on a hill here last night caused the death of John S. Moore, a granite contractor, who was a passanger on the car, the probable fatal injury of Peter Bocher and the minor injuries of six others.

Chinese Emperor Going Visiting

London, Nov. 16.—According to a Paris dispatch, the Chinese minister there says that the Chinese emperor contemplates a round of visits to European courts in 1906 and that his first visit will be made to Paris.

Copenhagen, Nov. 16.—The dowager czarina of Russia has postponed her departure for St. Petersburg, the czar wishing her to remain here until tranquility is restored.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The farm house, barn and several outbuildings on the farm of A. S. Spragys, Bridgewater, Mass., together with considerable stock, were destroyed by fire. The loss is $5000.

Football was the subject of discussion at the meeting at Portland of the Church Club of Maine, an Episcopal organization. The game was criticized by Eugene L. Bodge of Portland and defended by Professor Whittier of Bowdoin college.

Horace A. Soper of Bloomington, Ills., was elected captain of the Yale freshman football team in place of R. S. Rose, whom the Harvard freshman athletic authorities have protested.

After an existence of 15 years, the Kentucky and Tennessee board of fire underwriters, with headquarters at Louisville, has gone out of business as an organization and in its stead has been formed an organization known as the Kentucky association.

Three Men and a Woman Rescued From Sinking Vessel

Newport, R. I., Nov. 16.—With her ensign flying union down, with Mrs. William F. Davis, the captain's wife, and two others of a benumbed crew lashed to the deckhouse, and with Captain Davis tied to the wheel in water that continually broke over him, trying to keep the craft head-on to the seas, the Fall River schooner James Parker, lumber laden, from Bangor, Me., for Port Chester, N. Y., was picked up in a leaking condition off Brenton's reef by tug Solicitor and torpedo boat Dahlgren.

Mrs. Davis, with the two members of the crew, Charles Lewis and Manuel Fernando, were taken from their precarious position by launch Columbia, which accompanied the Dahlgren to the scene. They were in a pitiful condition from their long exposure to the seas and gale, and required skilful medical aid as soon as they were safely landed.

Captain Davis stood heroically at his post and with the skilful seamanship of Captain O'Neil of the Solicitor, who, standing well aft on his tug, directed the steering of Davis with motions of his hand, brought the Parker into Newport harbor, where she was beached on the flats barely in time to save her from sinking in deep water. When his lashings were cut away Davis collapsed and was brought to shore in an almost helpless condition.

Women to Replace Men

Boston, Nov. 16.—An innovation on the Boston elevated railroad is the coming substitution of women for men as ticket sellers in the booths throughout the entire system, both at the elevated stations and in the subway. The move is in the interest of economy. The men have been receiving $2.25 a day. The 60 women who are to take their places are to receive, it is said, $9 or $10 a week. The women are to work only in the day time and six days a week. A force of men will work nights and Sundays.

Biddies Are on Strike

Boston, Nov. 16.—Fresh eggs soon will command the fanciest of prices in the local market. From the local henneries few of them are finding their way into the general market, for most of the hens have stopped laying, while from the west there is practically nothing coming in now except cold storage eggs. With a cold storage supply many thousands of cases in excess of the amount on hand at this period last year, Boston seems to be well fixed, barring the situation on fresh eggs.

Seventeen Hours on a Rock

New Haven, Nov. 16.—After spending 17 hours on a flat rock a mile off Branford, in Long Island sound, H. F. Damon, W. Baxter and W. H. Coursen, three Yale students, were rescued late last night by Captain Baldwin, who put out from Branford in a naphtha launch. The students seemed little the worse for their day's experience and said they had had a fine time. They had started on a duck shooting trip when they were overtaken by a fierce wind.

Slugged on the Street

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 16.—Carl Semen, a Greek blacksmith, was cut severely on the head with a pair of lasting pincers in the hands, it is alleged, of Konstantino Pappas, a fellow countryman and shoemaker. The assault occurred while Semen was on his way to work. The trouble arose, it is said, over certain anonymous letters received by Pappas which he attributed to Semen.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

EIGHT MEN KILLED

Result of Explosion of Gas In a Pennsylvania Mine

Monongahela City, Pa., Nov. 16.—Undoubtedly killed and probably blown to pieces, seven men are lying in the depths of the new shaft of the Braznell Coal company, on the outskirts of Bentleyville, while another outside the mine is dead, as the result of a gas explosion.

Two weeks ago it was learned that a pocket of gas had formed in the bottom of the new shaft, which is 185 feet deep. Orders were given for all the men to work with safety lamps and this had been done. Three shifts of men were employed. Last evening Boss Farragut and his six men descended into the mine. Five minutes later a terrific explosion occurred which blew huge pieces of timber out of the mine as high as 150 feet in the air. The tipple and all the mine rigging were torn down and debris scattered in heaps all around.

It is believed that the men were instantly killed and probably fell to the bottom of the shaft. John McCatey, on the outside, was killed by the falling tipple. The mine inspector gave as his opinion that the explosion was caused by fire-damp.

Cruisers on Long Voyage

Halifax, Nov. 16.—The British cruisers Scylla and Sappho sailed this morning on an 18,000-mile voyage to the south. The ships will navigate the whole Atlantic, going down the seaboard of New England, past Cape Hatteras and the Gulf of Mexico, along the coast of Brazil and on to the Rio Grande. They will then cross the Atlantic to South Africa and thence cruise along the west coast of Africa and back to Plymouth in the spring.

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.

Frederick Manuell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '99, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Miss Nan E. Carter is expected home from Westminster, Vt., this week to spend the Thanksgiving vacation.

A number of Quincy people attended the Colonial tea, held at the Weymouth Landing Baptist church Wednesday evening.

Miss Emma Hayden, who is teaching in West Hartland, Conn., is expected home next week for the Thanksgiving holidays.

A. W. Fay, the Wollaston undertaker, will open an office in Quincy in the Adams building in the store now occupied by the post office.

James M. Nowland, master of the Adams and Cranch schools, is slowly convalescing but it will be some weeks before he assumes his duties.

The Y. M. C. A. basket ball team plays its first home game Saturday evening with the Dennison club of Boston at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

Gray walking suits, instep length with gaiters to match seem to be the "fad" of the younger element of Atlantic this fall. Verily the fashion changes.

Thanksgiving day a hare and hound run for all boys in the city will be held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Hares start at 10 sharp, from the Y. M. C. A. building.

Bethany Brotherhood listened to a very interesting and instructive talk on "Coal" and its bi-products at the meeting on Tuesday evening by Charles A. Schmitt, chemist of the Carter Iuk Co.

Miss Ethel Fullerton, a relative of Rev. A. A. Ellsworth of this city, died very suddenly of diabetes at her home in Bellows Falls, Vt., last week. Miss Fullerton's father was at one time pastor of the Congregational church at Bellows Falls.

Work has been resumed on the new bridge at the Atlantic station. Some of the bolts being condemned, they had to be taken out and replaced by more substantial ones. Hancock street on both sides of the bridge is being repaired and regraded.

An Improvement.

Messrs. Sweeney and Kelly are doing a good job on Charles street, between Edison and River streets. They have graded up both street and sidewalks, and if the Commissioner could send the steam roller around some day immediately after a rain it would complete the job. The two gentlemen have taken much pains with their work and may well be proud of it. They deserve the thanks of the abutters for their good work.

To Celebrate Long Pastorate

This evening will be a notable one at Bethany church, when the people will give a reception to their pastor and wife. Rev. E. N. Hardy has completed ten years of service which has been marked in a wonderful way. Few churches have prospered like Bethany, and much credit is due the pastor for the organized efforts in many directions which contribute to the success. The reception is from 7.45 to 10.

Severe Strain on Witte

London, Nov. 15.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph tells of Count Witte attending a cabinet council for many hours on Monday until long after midnight, his physician meanwhile waiting in an adjoining room to see him. Then, being afflicted with a severe headache and unable to sleep, the premier devoted the whole night to arrears of official work. "My private opinion," says the correspondent, "is that unless these conditions change Count Witte's marvelous staying powers will be subjected to a very dangerous strain."

Fighting Fire With Fire

New York, Nov. 15.—The Jewish Defense association met here last night and issued a call to Jews to help their countrymen in Russia to arm and defend themselves. In Poland, where martial law has been proclaimed, the self-defense organization has mapped out the cities into districts, each with a leader. They need more funds in order to purchase more firearms. The call declares that funds for this purpose will be promptly forwarded through secret channels.

Prosecutions Not Unlikely

Pittsburg, Nov. 15.—E. P. Moxey, the special government examiner investigating the affairs of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny, will arrive from Washington tomorrow and it is expected criminal action will be instituted against certain persons in connection with the bank's failure.

Student Won't Reveal Mystery

Mount Vernon, O., Nov. 15.—James E. McGavery, the theological student, who was bound, gagged and robbed at Gambier, is somewhat better. He still refuses to discuss the episode and the attack upon the young man remains unexplained.

Jerome's Election Cost Him Nothing

New York, Nov. 15.—District Attorney Jerome has filed his declaration of election expenses, which he says amount to nothing, he having personally spent not one cent to obtain his election.

A Spool of Thread.

To make a spool of thread, says a manufacturer, is a complicated process. Only the very best cotton can be used for this purpose. The cotton is taken in the raw state and torn all to pieces by a machine called a breaker. It then goes through several other machines, by which it is carefully combed and freed from impurities. A machine called a slipper takes it up and twists it out into soft white yarn. This is carefully combed again, and it is taken into another department, where several small strands of this yarn are twisted into one fine one. Three of these are twisted together, and you then have six cord thread, which, after it is bleached, is ready for the market.

Rough on the Bishop.

Bishop Blomfield discovered one day as he entered the pulpit that he had forgotten the manuscript of his sermon. It was impossible to do as the Scottish minister did in similar circumstances, send for the sermon from his home while the congregation sung Psalm 119. No, he must preach extempore, and did so, taking for his theme the existence of God. Very well satisfied he felt with his effort. As he walked home he overtook one of his congregation, whose opinion of the sermon he invited. "Well, it were a very good sermon," was the reply, "but I don't agree wi' it. I believe there is a God."

Safe With a Dead Wren.

The fishermen of the Isle of Man always feel safe from storm and disaster if they have a dead wren on board. They have a tradition that at one time an evil sea spirit always haunted the herring pack and was always attended by storms. The spirit assumed many forms. At last it took the shape of a wren and flew away. If the fishermen have a dead wren with them they are certain that all will be safe and snug.—London Fishing Gazette.

Letter Writing.

Let your letter be written as accurately as you are able—I mean with regard to language, grammar and stops—for as to the matter of it the less trouble you give yourself the better it will be. Letters should be easy and natural and convey to the persons to whom we send them just what we should say to the persons if we were with them.—Chesterfield.

Style or Physical Culture?

McPryme (whose wife won't let him come to breakfast unless his shoes are polished)—I wonder if Mirandy really wants me to be stylish or if this is only to work up an appetite to eat her biscuits.—Success Magazine.

Charity.

"I looked everywhere for you at the church fair last evening," said her ardent devotee, "but I didn't see you."
"You forget," she answered sweetly, "that I am Charity."—Judge.

Quincy's Old Horse Railway

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

I would like to correct some statements attributed to E. W. Marsh in the Daily Ledger of Nov. 9 about the Quincy Horse R. R. He says "two dummy engines were the first motive power."

Horses were used for several years before the dummy engines were tried. I was conductor of the first horse car that run out of Quincy to Boston, June 14, 1862, with the president, directors, and invited guest aboard. It was run as far as Fields Corner, where the Quincy line ended, then taken through to State street over the Dorchester avenue line, and not by the Metropolitan as stated.

The through fare was twenty-five cents not fifteen cents. I will call Mr. Porter's attention to the fact that he paid fifteen cents to Fields corner on the Quincy line and ten cents on the Dorchester avenue line to Boston.

Albert Keating.

Quincy, Nov. 11, 1905.

A Suggestion To Contractors

Editor of the Ledger:

I feel sure you will be as generous with your space as usual and allow me to make a suggestion or two, as it is now some time since I have taken up my pen for that purpose.

I notice that the contractor for the Metropolitan boulevard is having considerable difficulty in getting permanently settled as to stable accommodations for their teams, having been twice uprooted by the neighbors upon whom they have thrust themselves; first in Wollaston and next in Atlantic.

It seems to me the best thing these poor hunted men can do, is to use seahorses in their work as it lies along the shore.

They can take care of them at night by tethering them a few feet out from the beach in the briny where they can breakfast and sup on fresh sea-weeds.

Also in this day of equal rights I feel sure there are plenty of mermaids who will gladly take care of them for the usual small sum paid women who do men's work.

Trusting you will pardon me if I intrude my opinion unduly—I am, yours for the cause, Jane Elizabeth.

Ward Two Candidate.

Dr. Herman W. Gross, one of the new Ward Two candidates for the City Council, was born in Philadelphia in 1872. In choosing the medical profession for his vocation he followed in the footsteps of his father and grandfather. After completing his school education, he entered the University of Pennsylvania, devoting his first two years to the study of biology, and four subsequent years to medicine. He graduated from the medical school in 1895.

Moving to Boston, immediately after completing his course, he obtained his early hospital experience in the Children's Hospital of Boston and in the Boston City Hospital, receiving diplomas from both institutions.

Early in '98 he located in Brookline, but a few months later was commissioned first lieutenant and assistant surgeon in Sixth Mass. Infantry, U. S. V. and served in that capacity until the regiment was mustered out in '99. He was with the Sixth regiment during the Porto Rican campaign of the summer of 1898. After the close of the Spanish American war, he resumed practice in Brookline, continuing until Sept. 1901, when he gave up his Brookline office and accepted the position of assistant resident physician of the Massachusetts General Hospital. This office he held for about two years.

In January, 1904, he moved to Quincy and has since remained here, his chief work at present being in connection with the accident department of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co.

If enough Y. M. C. A. members hand in their names before the 23d of the month a cross county run with prizes will come off Thanksgiving day.

Political Strike Order Is Obeyed at St Petersburg

POPULACE IS FRIGHTENED

British Embassy Advising Removal of Women and Children --Government Realizes Seriousness of Situation In Poland

St. Petersburg, Nov. 16.—A fierce northeast blizzard and snow which blew down on St. Petersburg last night prevented bloodshed in the Russian capital. The bitter cold, by forcing the strikers to remain indoors, did more to preserve order than all the Cossack cavalry patrolling the streets. Heavy military reserves are stationed in all the industrial districts.

The Social Democrats had an impressive response on the part of all organizations of workmen to their summons for a general political strike to demonstrate their solidarity with the struggle of their Polish comrades for autonomy and to protest against the execution of the mutinous sailors at Cronstadt. The men walked out of all the big mills and factories and the employes of the Baltic and Warsaw railroads, the printers and other classes of laborers struck, but the shops in the centre of the city were not closed.

No dispatches have arrived from the interior, however, to show that the workmen in other cities are respondent to the demand for co-operation, and dissension has broken out among the leaders, some of whom believe the strike to be hasty and ill-advised, and who say if it does not succeed the result will be loss of prestige.

The situation has caused a renewal of the panicky feeling among the inhabitants, whose nerves were already shattered by the events of the last fortnight, and hundreds of persons who had just returned are again leaving for Finland. The foreign residents are becoming more and more alarmed and many of them are hastily preparing to go abroad.

In case the Finnish Socialists should join their Russian comrades and tie up the Finnish railroad, the only egress would be by water, and the freezing of the Gulf of Finland a fortnight hence would close the last exit. The foreign embassies share the public alarm and the British embassy is advising the immediate removal of women and children.

There are all sorts of wild rumors about interference by the foreign powers in circulation, and The Bourse Gazette prints a report that all the great powers have joined in a notification to Russia that they intend to interfere and prevent anarchy.

Count Witte and his cabinet are discussing the situation and a number of prominent Liberals were called in for consultation. The possibility that the government may be compelled if the situation grows worse to declare martial law in St. Petersburg was considered, but as far as has been learned no definite decision in this respect has been reached.

While the League of Leagues is disposed to back up the strike, the workmen are undoubtedly alienating much public sympathy by their recklessness. Many Liberals openly declare that the strike is a tactical blunder which may prove disastrous, but this temperate counsel is rejected.

In government circles it is recognized that the situation in Poland requires a skilful hand at the helm. Governor General Scalon will probably be replaced by a man of Witte's choice.

In response to inquiries Witte is said to have reiterated his assurances that the Jewish question will be referred to the douma for settlement and he is also said to have declared that the czar's will for the realization of the reforms announced in the manifesto of Oct. 30 are inflexible.

Situation at Vladivostok

St. Petersburg, Nov. 16.—Advices from Vladivostok indicate that the mutiny of the soldiers and sailors has been quelled and order partially restored, the commandant having agreed to send home the reservists and time-expired men detained there.

Mr. Greener, the American consul at Vladivostok, telegraphs that 1000 Cossacks have been brought there from Grodekoff to aid in quelling the riots and patrolling the streets. The Naval club, the girls' gymnasium and the entire Chinese quarter of Vladivostok were burned. The Chinese consul and his family are on board a ship with Greener. No Americans suffered.

Twenty-Six Deaths In Mutiny

St. Petersburg, Nov. 16.—The government publishes an official account of the disorders at Cronstadt, which ascribes the origin of the mutiny to the arrest of 40 soldiers who presented a complaint to the commander-in-chief. The account gives the number of mutineers as "several thousand" and minimizes the fatalities, saying that 18 persons were killed, that eight died of their wounds and that 83 persons were wounded.

New Cable to Shanghai

New York, Nov. 16.—A cable has just been completed by the German Dutch company between Guam, Yap and Shanghai, China, connecting at the former island with the commercial Pacific cable system. The new cable affords direct communication with Shanghai.

Membership Contest Is On

The members gathering at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night was a marked success as 120 men participated in the supper.

After the supper President Chase called the meeting to order, and stated its purpose, saying in substance that it was to get the members informed regarding the inner workings of the organization and to arouse a spirit of cooperation on the part of all members. The idea of the association in contrast with the institution was elaborated on, also the fact that when a man joins he joins the whole and not simply a department of it.

It being the occasion of the quarterly meeting, brief reports were given by the various committee chairmen, after which a membership campaign was inaugurated. The following were appointed to lead groups of ten men each as captains: V. E. Fitts, David Martell, H. H. Shultz, Geo. Tupper, C. F. Letteney, J. A. Sparrow, Richard Jones, J. G. Miller, F. A. Manuel and Geo. Newcomb.

Each captain has a group of congenial men with him and every ward and industry of the city is covered. The campaign will run 30 days to Dec. 15, and the goal is 600 members, or 250 new ones.

This can easily be done if all will do their share and enthuse those with whom they come in contact as to the advantages they may secure.

J. G. Miller is sure his group will secure the largest number. V. E. Fitts won't be far behind, however, as he has a band of hustlers. There is no prize and no unhealthful contest will be entered into, but a bit of friendly rivalry will be in order.

Basket Ball Schedule.

A basket ball league has been formed in and about Boston, amongst the Young Men's Christian Association; called the Boston & Suburban League. The Quincy Y. M. C. A. is to play in this league. The first home game to come the 30th of this month with Malden.

THE STAR WITNESS

Hyde Appears Before Insurance Investigators

FAMOUS $685,000 LOAN

Balance of $212,500 Paid by Vice President After Having Practically Become Guarantor at Instance of Alexander--Odell, Harriman and Frick Placed In Unenviable Light

New York, Nov. 15.—James H. Hyde, former first vice president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, whose resignation followed the sensational disclosures in that company last spring which led to the investigation of insurance company methods by the committee of the New York legislature, appeared before the committee yesterday.

Mr. Hyde's manner on the stand was one of composure and deliberation and his replies to questions from counsel were calm and deliberate and oft-times studied. He was fortified with statements and data and was very frank in his explanations.

Mr. Hyde was under examination all day until a few minutes before adjournment was taken. He cleared up the matter of the $685,000 loan of the Mercantile Trust company, which appeared on the books of the Equitable Life under the caption of "J. W. Alexander No. 3 account." Hyde first heard of this account in the fall of 1902, when it was called to his attention by President Alexander, who said that he and T. D. Jordan, former comptroller of the society, had incurred the loan to take up stock that was being bid up to fictitious values, to the detriment of the society, to settle suits that were hampering the business of the society, and for a campaign contribution. This latter contribution was the one to the last campaign and was asked by Henry C. Frick, a director, who suggested it for the benefit of the society. To procure this money Alexander had Hyde write a letter to the president of the Mercantile Trust company, and this letter practically placed him in the position of a guarantor.

Later, when the settlement of the $685,000 loan was forced, Alexander and Jordan raised all they could toward it. In addition the stock purchased with part of the loan was sold to Thomas F. Ryan for $212,000 and paid on the loan. After these payments there was a balance of $212,500 which Hyde paid personally. He did this because he understood that Alexander was financially embarrassed, and in a bitter tone said: "Notwithstanding the strained relations with the two gentlemen (Alexander and Jordan), I felt bound to see that this loan was liquidated by reason of the letter Alexander extracted from me."

Mr. Hyde said that he first received a salary of $30,000, seven years ago. In 1902, when he became chairman of the finance committee, his salary was advanced to $75,000 and in 1903 it was advanced to $100,000, at which it remained until he resigned as vice president of the society.

Mr. Hyde presented a statement showing that in the seven years of his connection with the Equitable Life and the allied corporations his average income had been but a little more than $38,000 a year. This was figured as seven years' salary from the Equitable, amounting to $435,000, from which he deducted his losses in syndicate transactions, amounting to $28,615, and the $212,500 paid on the $685,000 loan, which left a balance of $193,884, or an average annual income of $27,697, to which was added the average income from his offices in the trust companies of $10,500. Witness said he presented this statement to show that he had been misrepresented.

The syndicate operations of J. H. Hyde and Associates were gone into very thoroughly, and it was shown that in 23 syndicates Hyde sustained personal losses of $28,615.

Of the $50,000,000 Union Pacific pool Hyde said E. H. Harriman instigated it, and explained it was to be a holding syndicate for five years. It was understood this was for the purpose of controlling the Union Pacific railroad.

Sensational testimony was given by Hyde concerning former Governor Odell and Harriman relative to the settlement of Odell's suit against the Mercantile Trust company involving shipbuilding company's bonds held by him. Hyde said that Harriman came to him and advised the settlement of Odell's suit, as he feared that otherwise powerful influence at Albany would be invoked in retaliatory measures. Harriman suggested that the revocation of the charter of the Mercantile Trust company might be one of the measures. Hyde knew of no actual steps that were taken, nor of any bill that was introduced, but he was beset with rumors on the subject. The Equitable Life, he said, was not interested beyond the connection it had with the Mercantile Trust company. Hyde said the suit was settled by paying Odell about $75,000.

Charges of conspiracy to get him out of the country were made by Hyde against Henry Frick and E. H. Harriman, in connection with the reported aspirations of Hyde to become ambassador to France. He said Frick inspired the idea. Hyde said he took it as a joke at first, but when Frick brought it up later he was flattered, and both Harriman and Frick promised to use their influence to secure the appointment. Again Hyde grew bitter in his explanation of the extraordinary interest these men had in his absence from the country. He said he thought their idea was "that they would acquit themselves of their friendly stewardship with great profit to themselves" and added that the nature of their interest had since become very obvious.

Odell's Rejoinder to Hyde

New York, Nov. 15.—Ex-Governor Odell last night was asked about the statements made on the stand by Mr. Hyde that he had been paid by the Mercantile Trust company $75,000 to make up his shipbuilding losses. Odell said he did not care to give any formal statement until he could prepare it carefully. When the reporters repeated to him Hyde's assertion that he had received $75,000 because he might take away the charter of the Mercantile Trust company, Odell replied:

"Well, they paid Kavanaugh, did'nt they, and Mrs. Wood and other shipbuilding bondholders. They paid me just like they paid others."

"Is it true, as Hyde testified, that Harriman went to him and represented that you were a very powerful person and 'that the money ought to be paid to you for fear of retaliatory measures?'"

"Well, Harriman will answer that on the tsand," said the former governor, and then he added: "But it's not true—they came to me, I did not go to them. I had sold my bonds long before this settlement."

Rev. and Mrs. Hardy

Given a Reception On Tenth Anniversary

October 31, 1895, ten years ago, Rev. Edwin Noah Hardy was installed as pastor of Bethany Congregational church. In celebration of the long pastorate a reception was given Rev. and Mrs. Hardy Thursday evening in the chapel of the church under the auspices of Bethany circle.

REV. E. N. HARDY.

The pastor and wife were assisted in receiving by the officers and members of the circle in the ladies' parlor, the members relieving each other. In the line were Mrs. J. F. Welch, the president; Mrs. W. E. Blanchard, the vice president; Mrs. C. W. Guy, Mrs. A. H. Gilson, Mrs. E. W. Branch, Mrs. C. T. Sherman, Mrs. James E. Myers, Mrs. Maria McPhail, Mrs. Elizabeth Alden, Miss Thomas, Miss Maud Macfarlane, Miss Alice Dunn, Miss Mary Sampson, Mrs. H. Everett Crane, Miss Alice Hatch, Mrs. Theophilus King, Mrs. George Badger and others.

The parlor was attractive with pine boughs, green vines and flowers used in decoration.

Mrs. Hardy was gowned in a pretty pink crepe de chine with lace and carried a bouquet of roses and violets. Mrs. Welch wore a white lace gown.

Both chapels were used and were lighted by colored lanterns and decorated with flowers.

Mrs. A. H. Gilson and Mrs. E. W. Sheppard were in charge of the refreshments, and at four tables in different parts of the chapel frappe and cake were served by Mrs. H. Everett Crane, Mrs. V. E. Miller, Miss Alice Sampson and Miss Maud MacFarlane. They were assisted by Miss Lillian Pratt, Miss Helen Kingman, Miss Mary Murray and Miss Gardner.

The ushers at the reception were Messrs. W. F. Sidelinger, W. E. Blanchard, John F. Hunt, E. D. Gourd, A. L. Melcher and W. G. Shaw.

Mrs. John F. Hunt kindly presided at the piano during the evening, playing solos and accompaniments.

During the day Rev. and Mrs. Hardy received several substantial checks and flowers from individual friends, some being outside the church.

During the ten years' pastorate 259 new members have been enrolled in the church, more than one-half upon confession of faith. Mr. Hardy has averaged 1,000 calls a year among his people and has probably attended more funerals than any other Quincy pastor.

Immediately after the reception Rev. Mr. Hardy left for New York being one of the 500 delegates to the inter-church conference of the United States. Twenty-seven denominations will be represented. Mr. Hardy will not return until next Tuesday.

Base Ball on Skates.

The base ball game played on roller skates in the rink Thursday evening between the Fore River team and the Tubular Rivet team proved a decided success, being attended by over 1000 lovers of base ball and roller skating. The rooters turned out in full force for both sides, and cheered their men on. The Fore River boys proved too much for the team from Wollaston and won by a score of 7 to 4.

The judges of the ladies' competition find it pretty hard to choose between the many graceful skaters that attend the rink, but may the best one win.

Love of Quincy Placed First

Notable Funeral of Henry H. Faxon Two Former Governors Present

There was a notable gathering at the old First church on Thursday afternoon at the funeral of Henry H. Faxon. Besides a large representation of Quincy people, there were present two ex-Governors of Massachusetts, officers and members of most of the temperance organizations of the State, and others.

Representatives of temperance organizations and others seated together at the church were:

Ex Gov. John D. Long, president Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society.

Rev. Alfred Noon, secretary Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society.

Hon. B. B. Johnson, chairman board of directors, Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society.

Hon. Edward H. Haskell, director of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society.

Mrs. M. V. B. Knox, secretary Massachusetts Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. H. D. Walker, of the Massachusetts W. C. T. Union.

Mrs. M. A. E. Gleason, of the Massachusetts W. C. T. Union.

Mrs. H. E. Britten, president Boston W. C. T. Union.

Mrs. Emma Thomas, secretary Boston W. C. T. Union.

Mrs. M. E. Cheney, of the Boston W. C. T. Union.

Mrs. Coffin, president Quincy Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. Charles Spear, treasurer Quincy Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. George A. Brown president Norfolk County W. C. T. Union.

Dr. C. T. Sherman, president No-License League of Quincy, and other representatives of the league.

Benjamin R. Jewell, most worthy scribe of the Sons of Temperance.

Charles E. Dennett, of the Sons of Temperance.

John B. Lewis, representing the Prohibition party of Massachusetts.

Mrs. Sarah J. Boyden, President Independent Women Voters of Boston.

Mrs. E. Trask Hill, State Secretary of the King's Daughters of Massachusetts.

Henry B. Blackwell, editor of the Woman's Journal.

Ex-Gov. John L. Bates.

Rev. L. B. Bates of East Boston.

Col. Edgar J. Bliss, Mrs. Maude Dudgeon of Boston.

Rev. Albert H. Plumb of Roxbury.

Rev. W. B. Toulmin, chaplain at Deer Island.

R. H. Magwood, Superintendent of the Temperance Department of the Christian Endeavor Union.

S. H. Davis, Superintendent of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League.

To these might be added Brooks Adams and wife, Charles Francis Adams, Rev. D. M. Wilson of Northfield, Dr. T. Haven Dearing of Braintree, Judge Albert E. Avery of Braintree Mayor Thompson and several of the city officials, President Nichols and other members of the City Council, several of the clergymen, business men and friends.

The family had requested that no flowers be sent, but there were several tributes of roses, pinks, lilies, chrysanthemums, etc. Mr. Faxon's pew in broad aisle was vacant, and was marked with a wreath.

HENRY H. FAXON.

The services were opened by the Weber Quartette which sang "Lead kindly light." Rev. Ellery Channing Butler, the pastor, read the Scriptures and the quartette sang "Eternal goodness."

The pastor was requested not to deliver a eulogy of Mr. Faxon, particularly in relation to home and church, but only in a general way. Mr. Butler said God alone is great, but it is given to man to make a signet. As this is done, so our life is rounded into completeness. The worth of life is measured by our fidelity to an ideal. That life is well lived, not that plays a big hand, but plays a poor hand well. Better when it springs from the soil. Life that follows an ideal gets somewhere. New England would not be what it is but for these public characters which make up for the best in men.

Mr. Faxon's life was as open as the noon day. Never one more open. His concern was the welfare of humanity. Much good did he accomplish. His life was a life of agitation. The new generation began to understand and appreciate him.

Above home and friends he placed humanity first. He loved best the old town and the city of Quincy.

Our friend was a typical man. He belonged to a race which is fast disappearing. He was what has been called an old-fashioned New England gentleman. Mr. Faxon valued more than anything else the betterment of humanity. He said to me only a short time ago: "Look out for my people when I am gone. Take good care of them." Such a life as his can never die.

Life is better for us and our possibilities are greater because of him. Keep their memories green. Be grateful. Don't think of their faults, but of their goodness, their wisdom, their philanthrophy.

The closing hymn by the quartet was "Crossing the Bar."

The casket was not opened. While it was being taken from the church by the chapel door the audience stood. The family also departed by the side door.

The burial was in the family lot at Mt. Wollaston.

As the cortege proceded to the cemetery the bell on the First church and also the bell on the Swedish Lutheran church were tolled. Business was generally suspended in the city during the services.

Funeral on Marriage Anniversary

The funeral of Friend Crane was held Thursday afternoon from his late residence on Bent place.

Rev. Edward Norton conducted the services which were of a simple nature and in perfect keeping with the life of the deceased.

Many of the friends of his social and business world gathered about the bier to pay their last respects to him who in life they had known so well. Many an eye was dimmed as they took their last fond look at the face of their friend so quiet and peaceful.

Surrounding the casket was a great mass of flowers. They filled the corner of the room in which the body lay and their fragrance filled every corner and nook. They were beautiful and silent tributes, yet speaking more than volumes of words.

Rev. Mr. Norton spoke of the life of Mr. Crane, contrasting briefly the scene with that of eighteen years ago, that very day, when he was joined in bonds of wedlock by the speaker.

After the services the remains were taken to Mt. Wollaston for interment, the burial being private.

Two Days Fair.

A very successful fair under the auspices of the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Park and Downs church, was held in the vestry Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

The several booths were very tastefully trimmed with tinsel and crepe paper, under the charge of the following ladies: Groceries, Mrs. Gram; candy, Mrs. Daggett; preserves, Mrs. Milbury; fancy articles, Mrs. Atkins; soaps and perfumes, Mrs. Tobey; domestic table, Mrs. Hunter; mystery box, Mrs. McDonald; grab box, Mrs. Keith.

The supper room, in charge of Mrs. Lyons, was especially attractive, refreshments being served from small tables.

The entertainment the first evening was music by Potter's orchestra.

The fair was opened the second evening by an entertainment given in the church, and consisted of trio and duets and an original play written and directed by Mrs. Northrop, the able president of the society.

The pleasant feature of the fair was the presentation to Rev. and Mrs. McGathlin of an autograph quilt. A goodly sum was netted to the treasury of the society.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. I. I. McNeil celebrated the fifth anniversary of their marriage, on Tuesday evening, at their residence No. 156 Whitwell street.

Music was furnished by the Colonial orchestra, and solos were sung by the Whitwell Street Musical club.

The house was beautifully decorated with cut flowers. Mrs. McNeil wore a becoming gown of white muslin over white silk.

Mrs. G. A. Loring and Mrs. G. Putman Hall of Dorchester, Mrs. C. J. Whitney of Waltham, and Mrs. S. J. Brown of Quincy, were received, and entertained in the afternoon by Mrs. McNeil.

Mr. and Mrs. McNeil received many beautiful presents.

Through Cars

Fifteen Minute Service Expected Between Quincy And Dudley Street

It will be good news to Quincy that at last some definite information has been received by Mayor Thompson in regard to through car service between Quincy square and Dudley street terminal. The Mayor has been an earnest worker for this result. He has had frequent interviews both with President Sullivan of the Old Colony system and President Bancroft of the Boston Elevated system.

While both companies seemed anxious for through car service, it was an open question when the matter would go into effect, owing to the failure to agree.

Mayor Thompson had another interview with President Sullivan last week, at which the latter gentleman stated that he was doing all he could to further the project.

The matter has now been settled and the matter of through cars is near at hand as the following letter received by the Mayor this morning will show:

Boston, Nov. 16, 1905.

Hon. James Thompson, Mayor, Quincy, Mass.

Dear Sir: The Boston Elevated Railway Company and this Company have agreed for operation of through cars between Quincy square, Quincy, and Dudley street, Boston.

It is intended to permanently have a new type of car for this service, plans for which are being prepared. In the meantime both companies will use ordinary cars.

I cannot at present state definitely when through-cars will be put into effect, owing to the fact that some changes will be necessary, such as new signs, etc., but this will be only a matter of weeks. When it is known definitely I shall be pleased to advise you. Very respectfully,

P. F. Sullivan, President.

Mayor Thompson states under the through car service it is proposed to run cars every fifteen minutes.

PRESIDENT NICHOLS.

President Nichols of the City Council, also an earnest worker for through cars, has received a similar letter from President Sullivan. The opening paragraph reads: "Owing to the interest which you have taken in through-service between Quincy and Boston, I feel that I owe it to you to state how the matter stands at the present time."

An Ex-Engineer.

The body of Herbert M. Federhen was brought to Quincy, this afternoon for burial. When the funeral cortege entered Quincy 59 blows, his age, was struck on the bells of the fire alarm circuit, he being a former engineer of the Fire department.

V. E. Miller will have an auction sale at his Wollaston market on Saturday evening. Good slightly damaged by fire, smoke and water.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The F's have it, and it is a vote—Frothingham and Fitzgerald being the mayoralty candidates in Boston.

If New York shall succeed in stopping Boss Murphy's profession as promptly and successfully as she has stopped "Mrs. Warren's profession" there will be a great reformation in the political as well as in the theatrical business.

It is stated that the President will recommend interference with the diversion of the Niagara River for industrial purposes. This will be a direct interference with electric light and breakfast food industries.

And now the race question, with Booker T. Washington, the ever central figure has assumed an international shade, for the Austrian Ambassador calling on the President at the same time that Booker Washington was having an audience, came away wearing B. W's overcoat. Such things have happened before. Who has not from festive hall missed his proper hat, or even his proper head? Richard Harding Davis, it is said, left the Winter Palace wearing the crown of the Czar, but it did not sit comfortably on his dome, being three sizes too small and he thrust it away from him and it may now be seen among the imperial bric-a-brac. But the coat fit Baron Hengelmuller and it was a mighty fine coat—scentless, satin-lined. He walked away with it in reverie profound, but in fishing in the pockets for the duty-free, made-in-France gloves which every diplomat has, he is said to have extracted the left hind foot of a rabbit. Then the ambassador realized that he had made a faux pas and he countermarched, and the polite valet of the presidential ante-chamber swathed him in his own proper coat.

New Leader

Miss Peterson Makes a Big Gain Others Move Up

The Daily Ledgers of yesterday with their first five vote coupons were in great demand, and they will be heard from later in the contest.

Today Miss Peterson moves from third place to the top of the ladies' list, and there are gains for Miss Rogers, Mrs. Hayden and others.

Engineer Johnson picks up in the men's list, and Clerk Skinner moves up two places. There are other gains.

The last two weeks of the coupon in the Scholarship contest have arrived. The last coupons will be printed on Saturday, Nov. 25, in both the Daily Ledger and Quincy Patriot. That is positively the last date.

Valuable first and second prizes are offered to both men and women. A $100 scholarship in the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., to the leader in each list, and as a second prize to men a suit of clothes or an overcoat and as a second prize to women a suit or coat. The scholarships take a wide range and many have found them great helps in securing better paying positions.

The Daily Ledger has no favorities. It would like to see all candidates win. It will endeavor to treat all fairly and alike. Wholesale purchases of papers by one candidate will not be disclosed to another. Neither will we agree to supply all demands. First come, first served.

The standing to date is:

Jumped Bail of $5000

New York, Nov. 17.—Something of a sensation was created in the supreme court when John Krup, indicted for illegal voting in the recent municipal election, failed to appear for pleading and his attorneys expressed ignorance as to his whereabouts. Earlier in the day Krup's release had been secured under increased bail, a $5000 cash bond being filed. Justice Davy declared the $5000 bail forfeited.

Soon Tired of Office

New York, Nov. 17.—Russell Harding, vice president of the Erie Railroad company, in charge of operation and maintenance, announces his retirement from the company to go into private business. Harding became an officer of the Erie about a month ago.

Receiver For Steamship Line

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 17.—Upon the petition of the Augusta Grocery company et al, Judge Gann placed the Southern Transportation company in the hands of a temporary receiver. The company runs a line of steamboats between Savannah and Augusta.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Very Rev. Charles D. Williams, dean of Trinity cathedral, Cleveland, was elected bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan on the second ballot of the diocesan convention at Detroit.

The extensive wire weaving plant of the Gilbert & Bennett Manufacturing company at Georgetown, Conn., was threatened with total destruction by a fire which caused a loss variously estimated between $50,000 and $75,000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

An explosion at the Buckeye Powder works, near Peoria, Ills., killed two men and injured two others seriously. The cause of the explosion is not known.

The quarantine restrictions in the south are now all practically lifted and travel to and from all points in the south has resumed under normal conditions.

Relief Fund Passes $300,000 Mark

New York, Nov. 17.—Contributions to the fund of the national committee for the relief of sufferers by Russian massacres amount to a grand total of $302,678 received to date.

CITY BREVITIES.

The Committee on Public Buildings of the City Council will meet tonight.

Work has been commenced widening the street in front of the new Faxon block on Granite street.

Among the talent who contribute to the concert by the Manet club on Wednesday evening, Nov. 22, in Colonial hall, is Mr. James H. Mahan a former member of the First church quartet.

The souvenirs at the whist party of Mrs. Porterfield this week were awarded to Mrs. Young, Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Hicks, Miss Eliza Gordon. Mrs. Baker, and Mrs. Carman. The consolation went to Mrs. Thomas.

The Washington Street Congregational church at Quincy Point will give a reception to the new pastor, Rev. Alfred R. Atwood on Thursday evening next in the vestry of the church. An energetic committee is at work, and it promises to be an enjoyable occasion.

SLOWLY WASTED AWAY

Philadelphia Man With Broken Neck Lived Fifteen Months

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—With the death of George Handforth, 24 years old, at the Methodist hospital, ended what is said to be the most remarkable case of survival of a broken neck known in the annals of medicine and surgery.

For 15 months the injured man lay on air and water mattresses, suffering no pain, unable to move any muscles except those in his forearms, always conscious, but gradually wasting away.

From a strong, stalwart man, weighing 160 pounds, Handforth weighed at the time of his death only 34 pounds. On Aug. 1, 1904, Handforth fell from the top of a tank and struck the ground on his back, fracturing the fifth and sixth vertebrae.

Policemen Bother Britishers

New York, Nov. 17.—Captain Mark Kerr, commanding H. M. S. Drake, flagship of Prince Louis of Battenberg, has complained to Police Commissioner McAdoo of the conduct of policemen on board the ship since she has been alongside the Cunard wharf. McAdoo sent a police captain to the Drake to take testimony against the offending policemen. The Drake's officers declare the ship has been over-run with policemen since coming alongside the wharf and that every day it has been a matter of the greatest difficulty to get the policemen ashore.

Middies Reduced In Rank

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 17.—Midshipmen Fitch and Noyes, who acted as referee and timekeeper, respectively, in the fight between Branch and Meriwether, have been reduced to the ranks from their positions as cadet lieutenants. These two, with four young men who acted as seconds, will be further punished by the academy authorities at the conclusion of Meriwether's court martial, the evidence in that case indicating the degree of guilt in each case.

Army Officer For Municipal Job

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—Major C. E. Gillette of the engineer corps, U. S. A., has been appointed chief engineer of the bureau of filtration by Mayor Weaver, subject to the approval of President Roosevelt and legislation by congress authorizing Gillette to accept the place. Gillette succeeds J. W. Hill, who is awaiting trial on the charge of fraud and falsifying the records of his office in connection with the letting of contracts.

Odell's Ultimatum

New York, Nov. 17.—"I am going to remain the chairman of the Republican state committee," declared ex-Governor Odell last night, when questioned regarding an interview Senator Platt had with President Roosevelt in Washington. This interview, it was reported, had to do with the New York state chairmanship and a possible successor to Odell.

Loss of $150,000 In Cotton Fire

Columbus, Ga., Nov. 17.—More than 2000 bales of cotton were destroyed, about 1000 bales badly scorched and several hundred bales damaged by fire which started in property used jointly by the Central of Georgia railway and the Atlantic Compress company. The fire started from a spark from a switch engine. The loss is about $150,000.

Weaver Man Gets an Office

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—District Attorney Bell of this city has appointed David Wallerstein as first assistant to succeed Owen J. Roberts, who resigned to engage in private practice. The appointment of Wallerstein is regarded as significant, as he was professionally associated with J. G. Gordon, private counsel for Mayor Weaver.

Tug-of-War to Replace Rush

Hamilton, N. Y., Nov. 17.—By the action of the upper classmen of Colgate university the annual cane rush between the freshman and sophomore classes has been abolished. In its place the senior governing board has decided that a "tug-of-war" shall be held.

FITZGERALD WINS

Chosen Democratic Nominee For Mayor of Boston.

THE DEMOCRATIC SPLIT

It May Result In Frothingham, the Republican Choice, Overcoming Nominal Democratic Plurality of 20,000 at Election

Boston, Nov. 17.—At the joint primaries held throughout the city for the choice of candidates for mayor and other municipal offices, former Congressman John F. Fitzgerald received the Democratic nomination over City Clerk Edward J. Donovan by a plurality of 3915 votes, while Louis A. Frothingham, speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives, was the choice of the Republicans by a plurality of 275 over Henry S. Dewey.

The first returns from city hall, where the votes were counted, and the last extras of all the papers gave the Republican nomination to Dewey by a plurality of 38 votes. Crowds waited about the bulletin boards until the announcements were made and went home with the impression that Fitzgerald and Dewey were the winners. Shortly before midnight, however, an error in the count was discovered by the election commissioners, and the correction gave the nomination to Frothingham by 275.

The corrected Republican returns gave Frothingham 9987 votes, Dewey 9712 and Senator E. B. Callender 1679.

Much more than ordinary interest was taken in the several contests and the vote was the largest ever cast at the primaries, the total vote being 73,074. It was also the first real test of the joint caucus act.

The contest within the Democratic party for the nomination for mayor was the most bitter ever conducted in Boston. The local party leaders were almost evenly divided in their preferences. Donovan was supposed to enjoy an advantage in having the Democratic city organization on his side. He was supported actively by Congressmen McNary and Keliher, Martin M. Lomasney, the West End leader, and other well known men. Fitzgerald had on his side Congressman Sullivan, James H. Doyle, the South End leader, John H. Lee and others influential in many of the wards.

Each side held dozens of rallies nightly and all the spectacular inducements to interest the voters were employed. Personal charges were freely made by several prominent campaigners and at some of the meetings the police had a difficult task to preserve order.

The Republican organization seemed to be certain of the nomination of Frothingham and did not begin an active canvass until 10 days ago. Dewey, on the other hand, conducted an independent campaign. Before leaving for Europe some five weeks ago he announced his candidacy. A number of other candidates withdrew in favor of Frothingham, but Dewey refused to withdraw and upon his return to the city less than two weeks ago commenced an energetic canvass.

Politicians are now speculating as to the result on election day, Dec. 12. Although the city is nominally Democratic by about 20,000 plurality, the opinion is expressed that the extreme personalities which characterized the Fitzgerald-Donovan campaign has so embittered the followers of the loser that many of them will vote for the Republican candidate. The leaders, however, have stated that they will support the party nominee.

A number of arrests were made during the day, although none were for attempted fraudulent voting. T. W. Crowley, a Fitzgerald follower, had an altercation with Superintendent of Bridges Lomasney, a Donovan supporter, threatening him with a revolver. Crowley was arrested and held in $3000 bail. A police officer, while attempting to arrest a drunken man at one of the polling places, was stabbed in the leg by James J. Moriarty, a ward politician. The assailant and the drunk were both arrested.

John F. Fitzgerald was born in Boston in 1865. After being graduated from the Boston Latin school, he studied medicine for a time at Harvard. He was identified with Harvard athletics. He has been active in politics since he reached the voting age. After representing ward 6 in the common council, he was sent to the state senate. Later he was elected to congress from the Ninth district and served three full terms. Fitzgerald is of youthful appearance and is a forceful speaker. He is a publisher of the Boston Republic, a weekly paper devoted to politics and Roman Catholic church news.

Mr. Frothingham is 36 years of age and a practising attorney. He is a graduate of Harvard and was captain of the baseball team. He served with the Massachusetts naval brigade in the Spanish war and has been speaker of the house of representatives the past two years. He is a member of the University club and the Country club of Brookline.

Favors Telegraph Companies

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—Judge Sanborn has filed three decisions in which he holds that telegraph companies are only obliged to use ordinary care in determining the identity of senders of messages and that losses sustained by parties whose names are improperly used are not to be held against telegraph companies.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Never permit yourself to become constipated. Whenever the bowels fail to act regularly, the clogging and stoppage generate poisons that sicken and endanger the whole body. It is vitally important to guard against a condition that will soon wreck the health unless the cause is promptly removed.

When troubled with costiveness or constipation do not resort to violent purgatives or cathartics which only injure the delicate lining of stomach and bowels, and have no constitutional effect.

A Safe Laxative

for men and women, old and young, is found in Beecham's Pills. They regulate the bowels more quickly and effectually than any other medicine. They gradually tone the digestive organs, gently stimulate the liver, soothe the mucous membrane of the stomach and bowels, increase the natural secretions and soon establish a complete cure. Unlike other laxatives it is not necessary to constantly increase the dose to get the desired effect.

Beecham's Pills are a natural laxative and may always be depended on to restore normal action to the bowels, liver and kidneys. Buy a box.

President Considers It Paramount to the Tariff

MOVE FOR FREE HIDES

Chief Executive In Sympathy With It, but Many of His Influential Friends Are Opposed to the Removal of Duty

Washington, Nov. 17.—Wide comment has been occasioned by the president's side-stepping the free hide question in his formal remarks to the delegation that visited the White House. It was obviously illogical to decline to express opinions in a carefully prepared speech, read from typewritten manuscript, and issued to the press, because a conversation a year ago without these safeguards had been misrepresented in the recent Massachusetts campaign, assuming that the president is right and Mr. Whitney is wrong in the interpretation of what was then said.

It is plain that the president has been looking for a chance to express disapproval of Whitney's quotation of his views, where they were brought into conflict with Senator Lodge's representation of the president's position, and that Mr. Roosevelt thought it a good opportunity with a delegation containing so many Massachusetts men, and headed by the Democratic governor.

Local feeling aside, it must be acknowledged that the president does not care to identify himself with either party to existing controversies over tariff schedules. There are many reasons for this. He is bending his energies to secure railroad rate legislation and does not want that issue obscured by tariff revision. Moreover, the president is somewhat troubled by the present disposition of all parties with a cause to look to him for aid.

It is obvious that no subject could more legitimately come before him, when his message is under preparation, than this one which the free hide people brought. They were received cordially, though the president did not announce his espousal of their cause. He sympathizes with it because he is a low-tariff man, but his own finance minister, Secretary Shaw, is opposed to the removal of this duty, and numbers of Republicans in states which the president hopes to help him on the railroad question supposedly want it maintained also. Hence the diplomacy of his position. It is not to be wondered at that the stand-patters are going to the White House to congratulate the president.

Representative McCleary of Minnesota, who recently spoke before the Economy club in Boston, came out of the White House saying that he had been there to "congratulate the president on his stand-pat speech." Senators Burrows and Hale and other extremists expressed gratification. They will find themselves mistaken, however, if they think the president has abandoned his desire for tariff revision. That will come as soon as the railroad question is out of the way, but not before.

Governor-elect Guild's letter, in which he acknowledges that Massachusetts would have gone Democratic in the recent election had the Republican state platform refused to come out for tariff revision, has provoked wide comment. It is plain that the "stand-patters" cannot permanently sit on the safety valve without an explosion, but that they will sit there close up to the time of an explosion seems clear from all the activities.

Will Back Rate Legislation

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 17.—A movement to throw the entire organized farming interests of the country to the support of President Roosevelt in his efforts for an adjustment of railroad tariffs has been begun by the national grange, Patrons of Husbandry. Three resolutions, all of them introduced with the idea of unifying the agricultural strength, were referred to committees for revision and amendment.

Unrest In Cuban Cities

Havana, Nov. 17.—An additional company of troops has been ordered to Santiago owing to the prevalence of minor disorders there and to rumors that more serious trouble is impending.

Havana, Nov. 17.—Rumors of anti-government plots have been renewed and the names of more or less prominent Radicals are being connected with them. Minor precautionary measures have been taken.

Bodies Still In Mine Shaft

Monongahela City, Pa., Nov. 17.—The bodies of the seven men who were killed by an explosion at the shaft of the Braznell Coal company have not yet been brought out. There is still 11 feet of water in the shaft. Rescuers reached within 10 feet of the bottom of the shaft and saw two dead bodies entangled in rubbish, but could not extricate them.

"Dead" Printing Falling Off

Washington, Nov. 17.—In his testimony before the joint congressional committee on printing, acting Public Printer Ricketts said that not more than half as much printing is coming to the government printing office this year as is usually sent there from the departments at this season. He attributed the falling off to the investigation.

CLEARING UP A MYSTERY

Crawford and Howard Give Information to the Police

Boston, Nov. 17.—Louis W. Crawford and William E. Howard, charged with complicity in the death of Susanna A. Geary, whose body was dismembered and thrown in suit cases into the harbor, were brought here last night from New York by Superintendent of Police Pierce and Chief Detective Watts.

During the trip from New York Crawford and Howard made a complete statement of their knowledge of the case to the officers, making clear some of the difficulties that surrounded the affair.

Both men were taken to police headquarters and were later placed in jail. They will be arraigned in court on the charge of being accessory before and after the crime. Chief Watts says that bail will probably be fixed at $30,000 each.

Big College Barn Burned

Amherst, Mass., Nov. 17.—The large barn of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, which contained the creamery plant, 500 tons of hay and 300 tons of ensilage, was destroyed by fire this morning, the loss being about $40,000. The horses and nearly all the cattle were saved, but four valuable bulls and all the sheep and hogs were burned. The fire is thought to have been of incendiary origin.

Fought In Mexican War

Spencer, Mass., Nov. 17.—Arva Grinnell, a veteran of the Mexican war, died at his home in this town, aged 79. He was a member of the New England grenadiers. He is said to have been the first man who scaled the walls of Chapultepec and was a witness to the branding and execution of Riley's deserters. He came to Spencer from Rutland, Vt., 30 years ago.

Guests Had to Hurry Out

Holyoke, Mass., Nov. 17.—Just before a majority of the guests at the Yoerge hotel retired last evening a fire broke out in the basement and swept through the building, gutting it completely. There were about 25 guests in the hotel at the time and only a few were able to save their personal effects. The hotel was owned by K. J. Yoerge and was valued at $15,000.

Valuable Jewels Astray

Boston, Nov. 17.—Diamonds worth $10,000 and other valuable family heirlooms, the property of Mrs. M. D. S. Hawley of Brooklyn, were mysteriously stolen from the Adams Express company shortly after being shipped from this city. The police of this city and New York, together with the detectives of the express company, have failed to recover the goods.

Bogus Fives In Circulation

Providence, Nov. 17.—Investigations by United States secret service agents are said to be in progress in this city in an endeavor to locate a counterfeiting plant, which, it is believed, has been manufacturing dangerous $5 silver certificates and placing them in circulation during the last fortnight. The counterfeit bill is excellently executed.

No Change In Bleachery Strike

Saylesville, R. I., Nov. 17.—Matters in connection with the strike at the Sayles bleacheries have not materially changed. A few girls who were temporarily laid off by the company because of lack of work during the early part of the strike returned to their work yesterday. They were not included in the ranks of the strikers.

Alleged Embezzler Caught

New Haven, Nov. 17.—Jacob Simons, 27 years old, was arrested here last night, charged with the embezzlement of $10,000 from Jacob Sinert of Shamokin, Pa. A detective from that place came here later and took Simons away, the latter consenting to go without requisition papers.

Government Job to Be Abolished

Washington, Nov. 17.—It has been decided to merge the stamp agency, heretofore maintained as a separate organization to disburse stamps to the various postoffices, with the regular stamp division of the postoffice department at the end of the present fiscal year. This merger will leave John P. Green of Cleveland, a negro, without his official position as head of the agency.

Tilt In Labor Convention

Pittsburg, Nov. 17.—At Thursday's sessions of the American Federation of Labor convention the only incident tending to relieve the proceedings of their routine character was the tilt between Organizer Sculleen and Frank Duffy, during which Sculleen was severely criticised and accused by Duffy of irregularities.

Sunday Newspapers Attacked

New York, Nov. 17.—At the interchurch conference on federation, Rev. Dr. Buckley, editor of The Christian Advocate, attacked the Sunday newspapers as one of the greatest foes to Sabbath keeping, and declared the religious press has by no means lost its influence.

Twenty-Year Feud Healed

Chicago, Nov. 17.—The management of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, after 20 years of opposition, have recognized the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers by signing the first wage schedule with that organization since a strike of engineers in 1885.

Fund For London's Unemployed

London, Nov. 17.—King Edward has given $10,500 and the Prince of Wales $5250 to the fund for the aid of the unemployed, which was started by Queen Alexandra. The fund now amounts to nearly $140.000.

TIE-UP IS COMPLETE

St Petersburg Workmen Alone In Their Fight For Poland

St. Petersburg, Nov. 17.—Though the industrial tie-up in St. Petersburg yesterday was even more complete than it was Wednesday, and though no break has been manifested in the ranks of the workmen and strikes have broken out at Moscow and Reval, the most important feature of the developments is the failure of the walkout to spread generally outside the capital. Dispatches from the industrial centres of Russia show little inclination on the part of the workmen to take up the cudgels in behalf of Poland.

The factory strike at Moscow, which has assumed considerable proportions, probably 45,000 men being out, has no direct connection with the St. Petersburg walk-out.

In St. Petersburg yesterday passed with complete order. Patrols were visible in all the industrial quarters and Cossacks were trotting up and down the Nevsky Prospect, but the workmen, in obedience to the orders of the strike committee, kept generally indoors and did not attempt demonstrations, so that there was no occasion for a resort to force to avert trouble.

Armenians Carve Tartars

Tiflis, Nov. 17.—In the mountains of Caucasia two Tartar villages were stormed by Armenians. Many of the Tartars were killed and their bodies horribly mutilated, the arms, ears and noses being cut off. The Armenians burned 255 houses and drove off all the stock belonging to the Tartars.

Free Speech Not Allowed

Warsaw, Nov. 17.—Two influential members of the deputation which protested to the governor general against the brutality of the Cossacks in dispersing the demonstration before the town hall have been expelled from the city by the governor general's order.

Criticism of Popular Hymns

Chicago, Nov. 17.—"Lead, Kindly Light," was declared to be unfit as a song of praise and worship of God by Rev. W. A. Patterson of Princeton, Ind., in an address at the United Presbyterian Psalmody convention. Rev. Patterson offered as a substitute the 43rd Psalm. "The song 'Lead, Kindly Light,'" he said, "may mean anything that any man may choose to make it mean, be he Christian, atheist or Buddhist." "Just as I Am" and "We'll Meet on That Beautiful Shore" and other hymns of a like nature were also looked on with disfavor by several speakers, but no substitutes were offered.

Lord Curzon's Frank Avowal

Bombay, Nov. 17.—At a banquet given in his honor here, Lord Curzon, the retiring viceroy of India, said he resigned on no personal grounds, but in defense of two great principles—that there should be an indestructible subordination of the military to the civil authority, and the necessity of paying becoming regard to the Indian authority in determining the needs of India. He contended that in sacrificing himself in defense of these principles he had the great preponderance of Indian opinion behind him.

For Pure Food Legislation

Washington, Nov. 17.—Senator McCumber, chairman of the pure food committee of the senate, presented to the president four leaders in the pure food movement who discussed with the president proposed pure food legislation and urged him to use his influence to secure the enactment of the bill now pending in the senate. McCumber expresses the belief that the measure will be enacted at the approaching session of congress.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all o her diseases put toge her, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Delightfully pleasant.

Tomorrow will be Flag Night at Quincy Music hall.

The big chimney of the Dr. French house, nearly as large as the house itself, disappeared today.

Henry Kolseth of Walker street has been brought home from the hospital and though still under medical treatment, is somewhat improved in health.

A verdict of $134 was given Kerr F. Albertson of New York in his civil case tried at Dedham against James F. Kelly of Quincy to recover for breach of contract to build monument.

Elisha Packard, who was nominated as councilman from Ward One on the Democratic ticket at the caucus Tuesday has withdrawn. It is also understood that Walter M. Packard who was nominated on the same ticket will also withdraw.

Rev. W. B. Barr of this city is assisting Rev. A. K. McLennon of the Boston United Presbyterian church this week at revival meetings with good results. Rev. McLennon and Rev. Barr will exchange pulpits on Sabbath evening.

The broken steps leading to the door of the former pool-room in Music hall, Atlantic, gives the building an appearance of neglect which its interior does not warrent. As long as this hall is the most pretentious building in town, it should be kept up to the standard of excellence of which Atlantic itself does not fall short in its residential portion.

How Student Pierson Was Killed

Mount Vernon, O., Nov. 17.—It is possible that no witnesses will be called by the grand jury to testify in the Stuart L. Pierson case, the Kenyon college student who was killed at Gambier. Prosecutor Stillwell states that the testimony brought out at the coroner's inquest will be presented to the grand jury, and that this evidence will be sufficient to show that Pierson was tied to the railroad track in a secret society initiation.

Mrs. Newwed—"I know now why they call'em safety pins." Mrs. Oldwed—Why so?" Mrs. Newwed—"Baby swalled one last week and it never hurt him a bit."—Northern Budget.

Husband—"Shells invited me today to go with him on a moose hunt up in Maine; but I respectfully declined; I have no desire to get mixed up with a situation where I might be mistaken for the game."

City Council

Grant Firemen One Day Off In Nine Days Other Business

A short but important meeting of the City Council was held Thursday evening. It was an adjourned meeting and was held to receive the report of the State election of Nov. 7.

Councilmen Adams, Barry, Burgess, Chamberlin, Gearwar, Hughes, Hynes and Piper were absent.

PETITION.

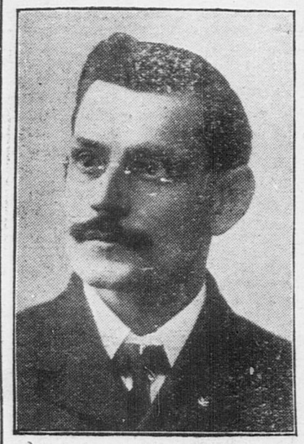
The N. E. T. & T. Co petitioned for attachments on Upland road and Station street. To Committee on Streets.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

The Committee on Elections reported the result of the election of Nov. 7, as amended by the recount. The figures were practially the same as already reported in this paper. Result declared as read.

The Committee on Ordinances reported correctly engrossed on the following orders which were passed to be ordained.

Amending the Fire Department ordinance so as to give the permanent men one day off in nine.



COUNCILMAN STONE
Who was interested in a day off for firemen.

Appropriating $11,300 for laying out Maple place.

Granting the New England Telephone Co. a location for poles on Sea street.

Appropriating $500 for laying out Beacon street.

HENRY H. FAXON.

Councilman Bass offered an order that a committee of five, to include the President, be appointed to take appropriate action with His Honor the Mayor on the death of Henry H. Faxon. Adopted.

The President appointed Councilmen Bass, Stone, Sidelinger and Chase.

MORE FIREMEN.

The order amending the Fire Department ordinance so as to increase the number of permanent men from 14 to 18, took its second reading, and was referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

ORDERS PASSED.

The following orders took their second reading and were passed to be ordained under suspension of the rules.

Granting the Telephone Company a location for one pole on Prospect avenue.

Granting the Telephone Company permission to attach its fixtures and wires to poles on Prospect avenue, Botolph, Main and Copeland streets.

Granting the Electric Light Co. a location for one pole on Hancock street and two poles on Fort street.

Adjourned at 8.23 to meet Nov. 20.

Mrs. Underdone—My husband is complaining again of your cooking, Mary. Mary (reassuringly)—Oh, mum, I don't take any notice of him, for 'tis the nature of him to find fault. Ain't he forever complainin' of you, mum?—Life.

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO.

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out With Herpicide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth, with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Rum in Politics And the Remedy

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

There is one question that comes to the mind of every thinking citizen of our city, of vital importance, and that is "Rum in politics." The reports of such methods often fill us with amazement and we ask ourselves the question, what is to be gained by the aspirant to office who will stoop to employ such methods.

Our answer. First, the No-License vote should convince any man with ordinary horse sense that while there may be a very few voters who are willing to use up all the beer, etc., placed before them, even these men have a wholesome contempt for the man or men who employ such methods to corral their vote. And I doubt if one-half of the consumers of it vote as expected, for in their own minds they must think these people who use such methods expect to buy their honor very cheaply.

Second, what is the effect on the young voter. He is led to suppose by such methods that his dearly bought franchise is worth less than the mess of pottage; in fact to be sold for something that would do him less good. The method has also a demoralizing effect in every way, and it is the duty of every man to come out and insist that such methods must cease in our city.

I have talked with citizens who were expected to be influenced by these methods, and in nearly every instance they have condemned it, and, whereas, had such methods not been employed their support would have been received. They have opposed on this principle only.

There is a remedy for this condition and that is to have it distinctly and emphatically understood, that any candidate for nomination or election who will stoop to such low methods and break the spirit of the law before election, the law he is seeking election to enforce, is beneath the contempt of any decent citizen, and will receive no support, when this is thoroughly understood it will cease and it is the clear duty of every citizen having the welfare of our city at heart to see that it is done.

Dr. French House Built in 1790

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

In your issue of this evening you state that there is some difference of opinion relative to the age of the Dr. French house. By the records of the First Parish, I learn that on June 7, 1790, it was voted—"That Mr. George Mears be admitted to frame his house on the Parish land." As the French house was built and owned by George Mears, and as the parish had then recently bought of Lydia Baxter a parcel of land that extended south nearly to Mr. Mears' lot, it would appear to show clearly that the house was built in 1790.

In the same issue Mr. Keating corrects a statement which he claims was made by this writer, that dummy engines were first used by the old street railway. I made no such statement, as I am well aware that horses were used for some time before the trial of the dummies.

Imperial Vaudeville

The "Imperial Vaudeville" appeared at Wollaston, Thursday evening, and many of those who enjoyed the minstrel show given by the Imperial Company last year, attended to see what the company could do in a variety line.

At eight o'clock sharp, the program began with several selections by Weston's Imperial orchestra, and the curtain then rose revealing Daisy E. Stevenson and company.

Miss Stevenson sang two songs, the first "The String of Pearls" from The Pearl and the Pumpkin, and the second "How'd You Like to Spoon with Me?" from the Earl and the Girl. The string of pearls was a row of pretty young ladies in white dresses and picture hats. In the second song, Miss Stevenson and the two little Robinson girls were seated in swings which were lighted up by colored electric lamps, making a very pretty effect.

Next came the Baker Brothers in black magic. This pair kept the audience laughing from the time they went on till they went off.

Geo. Skalem, the popular black face comedian, sang two songs: "What you going to do when the rent comes round" and "Nobody," sandwiched in with several jokes.

The audience was favored with two very beautiful fancy skirt dances by Miss Florence Barker of Atlantic. Miss Barker's dancing was fine and she got much well merited applause.

The "Comedy Four," a male quartette appeared in "Mixing Things Up." This little sketch included two solos, "On Your Way" and "Hey Mister Joshua," and a selection by the quartette.

Last but not least came the Imperial Burlesque Company in "An Ill treated Trovatore," including the anvil chorus by the whole company. The singing and acting of the burlesque was excellent and the costumes were very beautiful.

Lutheran Fair.

A fair under the auspices of the Swedish Lutheran church was inaugurated Thursday evening at Faxon hall. Tables for the sale of useful and fancy articles were arranged about the hall. In addition to these there were guess contests which created considerable interest. The fair was formally opened by Fritz Swanson, who made a brief address. The only entertainment was music by an orchestra.

TODAY'S COURT.

Odell Contradicts Hyde's Insurance Testimony

CALLED BASE CALUMNY

Hyde Solicited Depew's Influence to Secure Ambassadorship --Light on Equitable "Loans" to Clerks Without Collateral

New York, Nov. 17.—Former Governor Odell and Senator Depew, as witnesses before the Armstrong legislative insurance investigation committee, denied parts of the testimony of James H. Hyde in which their names were used. Odell, in the course of his testimony, called Hyde's statements "base calumny," and when he was asked whether he directly or indirectly had made threats to have the charter of the Mercantile Trust revoked his face flushed and, striking the arm of the witness chair with his fist, he exclaimed: "There is no truth in that statement, so help me God."

Mr. Odell was the first witness of the day. He said no political pressure was brought to bear on the settlement of his suit against the Mercantile Trust company and that it was settled the same as suits brought by others. He said he had been advised by counsel that his claim was a just one and that any court would have awarded him more than he received in the settlement.

He knew of the introduction of the Ambler bill which, it is said, might have affected the Mercantile Trust company's charter and, while he did not suggest its introduction, he saw no objection to it. Odell denied that he ever made a statement to Harriman or any one else that retaliatory measures would be taken against the Mercantile Trust company. The witness said he and Harriman were personal friends, but that they had no business relations. He wrote a letter on behalf of Hyde's candidacy for the post of ambassador to France. This was at the request of W. H. McIntyre, one of the vice presidents of the Equitable Life Assurance society.

Mr. Odell said he had never solicited political contributions, but possibly some moneys might have come to him through the national committee or senator T. C. Platt, as the latter had always gathered together the funds in New York state except in the last year.

Senator Depew was examined with regard to his syndicate participations and his duties as counsel to the Equitable society. Regarding the ambassadorship to Paris, Depew said Hyde came to him and solicited his influence to secure the appointment. Depew brought the matter to the attention of the president, although he told Hyde that he was too young.

The senator advocated in the interests of the public the limiting of risks under insurance policies and favored a public audit of the accounts of companies at stated periods by a chartered accountant. This, he thought, would obviate many suits that are now frequently brought for an accounting on the part of a policyholder.

John Gilchrist, in charge of the security department of the Equitable Life, told of millions of dollars in loans made at the end of the year in the names of clerks of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., to comply with the law that the surplus should be invested or to keep down the cash balances. No collateral was held by the Equitable on these loans and the check which was given for these loans was deposited in the bank and a certificate of deposit received. The check, however, was never cleared, and on the first of the year the check would be taken out and the certificate surrendered. These loans were made at the instance of T. D. Jordan, former controller of the Equitable.

The ownership of the Cafe Savarin by the Equitable was taken up with Daniel M. Junk, secretary and treasurer of the cafe company, on the stand. He said none of the management of the cafe received any compensation from the proceeds of the cafe. They were employes of the Equitable Life and were paid by the society.

Louis M. Bailey, a clerk in the bond and mortgage department of the Equitable, in whose name a trustee account was carried on the books of the society, said he was asked by Squire to permit the use of his name for this account, but he did not know his purpose. Building operations carried on under his name for the Equitable he could explain only on the ground that an individual could build cheaper than a corporation.

McCurdy Reduces Salary One-Half

New York, Nov. 17.—At a special meeting of the board of trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance company, at which a preliminary report of the recently appointed special investigation committee was submitted, President McCurdy announced that at his own request his salary had been cut in half from $150,000 to $75,000 a year. Salaries of the other executive officers of the company also have been reduced, the saving amounting in all to between $145,000 and $150,000 per annum.

Attell Kept Out of Reach

Baltimore, Nov. 17.—At the end of a 15-round fight with Tom Mowatt of Chicago Referee O'Hara gave Abe Attell of San Francisco the decision. Mowatt did practically all the leading and proved himself a remarkably strong fighter, but was unable to overcome the handicap of Attell's clever foot work.

The Social Realm.

The sun set, but not his hope;
Stars rose, his faith was earlier up;
And matched his suffrance sublime
The taciturnity of time.
He spoke, and words more soft than rain
Brought the Age of Gold again;
His action won such reverence sweet
As hid all measure of the feat.

Faxon Park

Beautiful Monument to Henry H. Faxon

Appropriation Needed

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

In a communication to your paper about Mr. Henry H. Faxon, written by Mr. Sproul, Thursday evening, there was a most proper suggestion as to the advisability of perpetuating Mr. Faxon's memory in some permanent way.

While I am in sympathy with any such suggestion, I would like at this time to call the attention of the citizens of Quincy to the gift Mr. Faxon made twenty years ago to Quincy and how we have carried out the conditions of that gift.

In looking over the records of the Secretary of the Quincy Park Commission, I find that on September 24, 1885, a town meeting was held to consider the offer of Mr. Adams to give Merry Mount park to the town of Quincy, and the offer of Mr. Henry H. Faxon to give Faxon park to Quincy.

It was voted: "That the town accept the generous gift of land from Henry H. Faxon, etc., etc." and that "the same be accepted for the public park upon the conditions embraced in said statement," which was as follows:

"First: That said tract of land shall be held as a public park, free to all the inhabitants of Quincy forever.

"Second: That the same shall be called and known as Faxon Park.

"Third: That no intoxicating liquors shall ever be sold on said premises.

"Fourth: That the town shall construct a roadway to be fifty feet wide from Franklin street to Quincy avenue.

"Fifth: That the town shall construct a roadway fifty feet wide from the corner of Quincy avenue and Water, street, following the course, or nearly so indicated on a plan exhibited to the town at this meeting, striking the old driveway of the Job Faxon premises, and following the same to the new street as herein described.

"Sixth: That all fences and walls on the line of the above named new street against the land owned by the grantor in company with other heirs of Job Faxon shall be erected by the town."

Probably everyone will recall how Mr. Faxon has tried for years to get the city to keep its agreement. Until the fifth condition in the above is complied with, Quincy will not have paid its debt to Henry Faxon. Probably nothing that Quincy could do at present would be more gratifying to Mr. Faxon, were he alive, than to construct this road through his old homestead, and complete the transaction begun in 1885.

Faxon park is as beautiful and lasting a monument as anyone could wish. What more appropriate expression of our respect for his memory could be made than the immediate construction of this road and an appropriation sufficient to properly improve and care for the park that bears his name.

Yours Respectfully,
Fred B. Rice.

New Industry.

South Quincy has a new industry. The plant of the company is located on Federal avenue, and the business is the manufacture of concrete shingles. It is claimed for them that they never wear out, and a house once shingled, is shingled for all time.

Hope it Will Live Up to Ideals.

To the editor of the Ledger:

Many residents of Atlantic are rejoicing that a Citizens' Asssociation has been formed in Quincy. If the organization lives up to its ideals it surely may do much toward molding public opinion and creating a better public spirit in our city.

If such a society had existed this last year the residents of Atlantic feel that its influence through public sentiment might have prevented a terrible devastation which has taken place in Ward Six during that time.

To build the boulevard along the shore at Atlantic, a naturally beautiful building section, already thickly settled, has been ruined. In order to procure gravel for the boulevard an excavation has been made to the depth of twenty-five feet and covering a territory of fully an acre of once beautifully level land in the midst of a settled community.

This unsightly hole has become a bitter aggravation to the eye, and a nuisance, and such it must remain forever.

At the present time the commissioners or contractors are endeavoring to buy a vacant lot between two good houses on a thickly settled and beautiful street to ruin in the same manner.

Money is a great temptation especially to non resident land owners and the community's only hope for protection from such vandalism lies in the power of public sentiment.

It seems hard to have to ask protection from depredations which the Commonwealth of Massachusetts is making in the name of Beauty!—But such is the case.

It is a grand work to build boulevards, but dwelling places are a necessity a growing need. Men of moderate means may spend their lifetimes in building up and beautifying a community only to have it runied by one such devastating stroke as this of the boulevard constructors.

It also seems as though some other arrangement might be made as the leveling of hills or the raising of sunken lands as on the Charles River.

At any rate there should be some protection to residents of communities harassed in this manner.

Civic improvement at such a cost is too dearly bought!

Respectfully yours,
Lillian Waterhouse.

Atlantic, Mass., Nov. 15, 1905.

Will Fix Date This Month

Representative-elect Hultman has also taken an interest in the establishment at an early date of a line of through cars between Quincy and the Dudley street terminal of the Boston Elevated.

In an interview by the Daily Ledger he said that the Elevated would within ten days or two weeks fix a date when the service will go into effect.

At the outset the Boston Elevated will loan cars to the Old Colony system which will run as far as Quincy City Square, probably every fifteen minutes.

He says that Quincy will not only obtain frequent service, but that much better time will be made. All annoyances from changing cars will be eliminated, and ladies who cannot hustle quite as fast as men, will have seats from the time they leave Quincy.

New Block.

It is understood that the New England Telephone Co., will commence work in the early spring to erect a brick building on Hancock street, near the High school. The central exchange will be located in this building. The superintendent of the South Shore exchanges will also have his office there.

Heavy Vote

General Shake-up And New Leaders In Both Lists of Scholarship Contest

There was some great hustling today among the contestants for first place in the ladies' list, and Miss Peterson who came to the top yesterday is now number three. Miss Mahoney, who was number five was the first to jump in ahead with a margin of one, and then Miss Bates with 368 new votes moved from third place to the top.

Two large bundles of votes came for Drug Clerk Maloney with a total of over 1200 votes and he jumps from third place to leader of the men's list. Both the Johnsons also make big gains, and increases will be noted for others.

Monday will be another big bargain day in the contest. No coupons good for over five votes will be printed during the contest.

The last week of the coupon in the Scholarship contest has arrived. The last coupons will be printed on Saturday, Nov. 25, in both the Daily Ledger and Quincy Patriot. That is positively the last date.

Valuable first and second prizes are offered to both men and women. A $100 scholarship in the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., to the leader in each list, and as a second prize to men a suit of clothes or an overcoat and as a second prize to women a suit or coat. The scholarships take a wide range and many have found them great helps in securing better paying positions.

The Daily Ledger has no favorities. It would like to see all candidates win. It will endeavor to treat all fairly and alike. Wholesale purchases of papers by one candidate will not be disclosed to another. Neither will we agree to supply all demands. First come, first served.

The standing to date is:

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

CONFLICTING CLAIMS

Bleacheries Strike, However, Has Come to an End

Saylesville, R. I., Nov. 18.—The striking employes at the Sayles bleacheries and Glenlyon Dye works have voted to return to work next Monday. The officials of the Folders' union claim that the management have agreed to make concessions and that the employes have been granted most of the demands which led to the strike. These demands included an advance of $2 weekly for men and women, weekly instead of monthly payments and 58 hours to constitute a week's work. At the office of the bleacheries it is announced that no proposition had been made to the strikers, but the management had heard that those employes not working had voted to return on Monday.

The dyers and finishers at the Glenlyon plant, which is operated in connection with the bleacheries, also voted to return to their places on Monday. The dyers and finishers claim that the management has acceded to their demands.

The strike occurred Oct. 25, when 150 hands walked out of the bleacheries. The strike spread to other departments and, according to the union officials, from 1200 to 1400 out of 2000 were idle. This number included those who were obliged to lay off on account of a lack of material. The management, however, maintain that not more than 600 persons were out of work at the bleacheries.

Death List Reduced by One

Monongahela City, Pa., Nov. 18.—John Shicola, one of the miners supposed to have been killed in the explosion at the Graznell coal mine, was discovered last night alive in his shanty, suffering from only a few bruises. On Wednesday he was checked off by the timekeeper to go into the mine with the others, but he remained above and was hurt by flying debris. Thinking only of his own injuries, he went to his shanty and has been there ever since. The discovery of Shicola reduces the death list to seven.

To Hold Cotton For Fifteen Cents

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 18.—Secretary Westen of the South Carolina division of the Southern Cotton association says: "I am in receipt of instructions from headquarters in Atlanta to institute a movement towards securing pledges from the farmers to hold the cotton which they now have on hand for 15 cents. We must convince the spinners of the world that the price of cotton is to be fixed by the producer and not by the speculator."

Americans Get Little End

St. Johns, Nov. 18.—Latest advices show that the situation is quiet in the herring fishery district. Owing to the scarcity of fish, out of 20 American vessels only one has sailed with a cargo, the others having taken few fish. The colonial authorities claim they have the Americans practically beaten this season, several Canadian vessels, being unrestricted in their operations, being nearly loaded.

Thief Caught at Queer Game

New York, Nov. 18.—A thief who gave his name as John Schmidt entered the Security Storage company's warehouse in an express package and was caught as he was about to leave the warehouse, hidden in the same box along with $700 worth of stolen goods. He had climbed out of his package during the night and after rifling the warehouse again repacked himself and his plunder.

Battle For Next Labor Convention

Pittsburg, Nov. 18.—Notwithstanding the fact that the sessions of the American Federation of Labor seem to drag, it is stated that instead of the usual 15 days required for a convention the present meeting may be completed by next Thursday. The contest for the next place of meeting is being waged vigorously. Denver is now considered Toronto's most formidable opponent.

Objections to British Flag

New York, Nov. 18.—An attempt to haul down the British flag was made by longshoremen at the Cunard line dock, where Prince Louis of Battenberg's flagship, the Drake, is moored. The flag was not on the warship, but floated over the dock in honor of the British guests. The longshoremen were fought off by a dozen policemen, who saved the emblem from violence.

Anti-Trust Law Turned Down

Helena, Mont., Nov. 18.—The Montana supreme court has decided the anti-trust law of Montana to be unconstitutional since it violates the constitutional provision against class legislation. The decision was announced in the case of the state of Montana against meat packers charged with conspiracy.

Liberals Block Legislation

Havana, Nov. 18.—Both houses of congress resumed their sessions yesterday, but in neither house was there a quorum. It is the policy of the Liberals to continue to block legislation unless discussion regarding the death of Congressman Villuendas at Cienfuegos is permitted.

CHIC STYLES.

Corset Cover and Petticoat Combination—Attractive Chemisettes.

Corset cover and long petticoats are often combined in one garment by means of the fashionable princess effect. This style is especially suited to stout figures and is quite essential under some of the new frocks. It generally has two side seams, but not a wrinkle above the waist line in front. All the lace and tucks put on for beauty are arranged about the low cut neck. The skirt is joined to the corset cover by beading through which ribbon is run. It fits closely over the hips, the circular cut giving the requisite fullness about the feet.

Chemisettes have been rushed to death, yet the prettiest of the simpler blouses give evidence that the craze is not over. The separate chemisettes are worn with blouses, but the yoke takes the form of an attached chemisette, the blouse folding over it usually being finished with scallops embroidered by hand.

The convalescent now receives in bed with a dainty boudoir cap on her head, which is nothing more than a glorified version of the old time nightcap. Such a cap is pictured in the cut. It is fashioned from book muslin, the mob crown set with a soft frill of lace tied round with a soft silk scarf.

Italian Country Dance.

In Italy when the country men and women dance together the first thing they do is to toss off their shoes, if they wear any. A man does not go up to a girl and ask if she will dance, but he fixes his eye upon her from a distance and nods. She nods in return, and then both kick off their shoes, advance toward each other and begin to dance.

Why Run the Hazard of accepting personal security upon a bond, when corporate security is vastly superior?

The personal surety may be financially strong to-day and insolvent to-morrow; or he may die, and his estate be immediately distributed. In any event, recovery is dilatory and uncertain.

Because of its greater stability, the United States Government prefers Corporate Suretyship; and many firms require it of their bonded employees.

The American Surety Company, capitalized at $2,500,000, is the strongest Surety Company in existence, and the only one whose sole business is to furnish Suretyship Bonds. Apply to

THAT PESKY B'AR

By LLOYD ROBERTS

Copyright, 1905, by Lloyd Roberts

WHEN Sarah Ann Johnesy and Mary Ann, her little five-year-old, returned from the hayfield to "bile" a cup of tea and to heat up a mess of beans for pa and Andy Ginnis, the "help," they were "mighty took aback" to find a black bear, big as life and twice as natural, sitting on their kitchen floor and peacefully licking the last remnants of the anticipated dinner from off his clumsy paws.

Now, Sarah Ann was not "skeered," though it did "fetch her sort of sudden-like"—not she. "She just up and thought of all the mean, low down things that blamed critter had been a-doin' about property—killin' sheep, upsettin' her bee houses, tearin' down the grapevines and land knows what all besides," while a great rage welled up in her usually gentle heart, and it seemed as if a vengeance swift and terrible was about to descend upon this innocent, sleepy looking creature.

Like a flash she sprang to a low bench just inside the door, seized a wash basin in both hands and flung a gallon of soapy water full in the animal's face. Spluttering and growling, the bear retreated into a back room, and Mrs. Johnesy hastily slammed the door upon her unwelcome visitor, effectually cutting off his means of escape.

This accomplished, she turned to Mary Ann, who had been standing at one side watching the performance with staring eyes and serious face, and spoke to her sharply: "Now, jest yer look here, Mary Ann, and mind what I'm a-sayin' to yer. Sit right down there on that stoop, and don't yer move till I git back and don't yer let no one come in, for there's a awful growed up b'ar in thet back room thet would jest love to eat sech as you. I'm a-goin' to git yer pa to come and kill it dead. Now, mind what I tell yer!" And, with a parting glance at the parlor door, she climbed a snake fence and hurried across a field of stubble, disappearing behind a low hill.

Mary Ann sat dutifully where she was put, with her small mind full of thoughts of the "big doggie," till she saw the tall figure of her pa come bounding over the rise, followed a moment later by ma, and then Andy valiantly waving a hayfork above his head.

When they had all collected in the kitchen Jabez suddenly grabbed his head, while a queer expression spread over his honest countenance. "Sarah Ann Johnesy, if yer ain't the big headedest, all around stupidest female bein' that ever milked a cow! Do you know what yer gone and done? Ye've cooped up the b'ar right along in the same room as my gun, and then yer cal'late thet I'm a-goin' ter shoot him. If thet ain't the women folk fer yer!"

Sarah Ann looked blank, "If we only hed known in time we could 'a' got a-lend of Joe Sansen's gun, but I reckon as how he took it along when he went pa'tridge killin' out back settlement way," she answered in self defense.

Meanwhile Andy had sneaked around the house and had cautiously peaked in the parlor window "to git a squint at the pesky brute," only to discover that the room was empty. He rushed back with wild excitement. "Jabe, Jabe!" he shouted. "He ain't thar! He ain't thar! He's up and cleared out, I tell yer!"

Sarah Ann turned with fury on Mary Ann. "What have yer gone and done with thet there b'ar, Mary Ann Johnesy, thet I left yer so careful-like ter keep yer eye on when I was a-fetchin' yer pa? Now, none of yer lyin' ter me, but speak up quick!" And she grabbed her by the arm and shook her vigorously.

"I didn't do nuffin'—I didn't—I didn't—I didn't!" Mary Ann wailed in a piercing voice, and the last wail was still on the move as the others entered the house for a closer investigation.

"It do seem as if he had jest melted away!" whispered Sarah Ann in an awestruck voice as they peered through the crack of the slightly opened door. "Where could he have got ter?"

They soon discovered his retreat. At one side of the room a trap door led down through the floor into the cold, dark cellar below, and Mrs. Johnesy had forgot to close it after her last descent. Anyway, there hung the gun above the mantelpiece, and she vigorously thrust her husband into the room. "Land alive! Hurry up, pa, and drive the varmint out of thet or he'll have e't up all the winter butter! Oh, he's gone and done it now!" she shrieked as a loud crash sounded from below. "I knew he would!"

Jabez strode bravely forward and was just reaching down the old fashioned muzzle loader when the bear emerged from the trap and ambled swiftly for the open door.

If bruin thought that he was going to escape so easily, with the weight of all his sins upon his head, he was vastly mistaken. Sarah Ann leaped out and slammed the door in his face. A man, a bear and a gun shut together in a space eight feet square! It looked very much as if something ought to happen. Jabez thought so too.

"Holy pokers, Sarah! Open that door quick!" he shouted.

"Shoot him, shoot him!" answered Mrs. Johnesy. "He'll git out if I open the door."

"Gol darn it, let him git out!" the farmer shouted back. "I'm no blamed b'ar hunter, and I ain't a-goin' to be neither!" And then, as this seemed ineffectual, a bright inspiration flashed through his brain. "Do yer want blood and b'ar's grease messed all over yer parlor floor, Sarah, for there will be if yer don't look real smart?"

The door flew open on the instant, while Mrs. Johnesy, having removed herself to one side, piped up in another tune:

"Don't yer hit him—don't yer hit him, Jabez! Let him git outer the house first."

But the bear in the meantime had changed his mind and instead of "gittin' out" sat in the doorway growling and making faces at poor old Johnesy, whose gun was drawing invisible hieroglyphics in the air.

Now, when the bear had made his appearance from below the valiant Andy had squeezed in between the hot stove and the wall and seated himself in a large earthen dish of dough which Sarah Ann had put there to "raise." The good woman suddenly spied a pitchfork and a perspiring red face above the water kettle, and she hurled an appeal to the "help:"

"My land, Andy, git and drive the b'ar out of there before pa messes his dirty carcass all over my clean floor!"

But pa had taken his loving wife's advice and was now in the cellar, with the trapdoor clapped to behind him.

With some difficulty Mr. Johnesy was extricated from his retreat by means of a very narrow window that led into the potato bin, and they all withdrew themselves to a distance to encourage the departure of the guest.

"If yer had shot thet beast in the best room in ther house, Jabez Johnesy, you and I would ha' parted company next minut', I can jest tell yer!" said Mrs. Johnesy firmly. "It ain't as if I hadn't nigh broke my back havin'

"HOLY POKERS, SARAH! OPEN THAT DOOR QUICK!"

it all put to rights again only last fortnight," she went on, keeping her eye on the back door as she spoke. "What can be a-keepin' thet thar b'ar?"

"Gol darn yer hide, Andy Ginnis!" growled the irritated farmer. "An' what was yer doin' all the time, I'd like to know, while I was a-fightin' the dirty brute? Under the bed up in the loft, I reckon, yer white livered pup!"

"Thar yer wrong, Jabez Johnesy, and yer know it. I jest kinder mislaid m'self; thet's all," Andy retorted.

At this point poor little Mary Ann set up a dismal howling.

"I want a cookie—I want a d'ink of milk—I want somefin' to eat! Boo-oo!"

It was getting along near sundown, and still the bear showed no signs of evacuating his position. He knew a good thing when he smelt it, and the house contained many good things in the line of jams and jellies which the thrifty housewife had bottled for the winter, to say nothing of cakes and pies and apples, and it seemed afterward as if his delicate snout had brought to light everything that a bear might love in kitchen, pantry or cellar.

They all stood glowering in silence—that is, with the exception of Mary Ann. Suddenly the old farmer struck up, while a broad grin rolled around his face, and he clapped his hand on his leg.

"I've been a-thinkin' and a-thinkin', and I 'low as somethin' has to be done, and thet real smart, and I reckon as I can do it. Come along o' me, Andy." And he turned and strode off in the direction of the barn.

Andy and Sarah Ann both followed, the latter tugging Mary Ann by the hand.

"Now, jest yer help me catch the critter," said Jabez as he climbed into the pigsty. And Andy obediently obeyed.

"Land, what yer goin' to do with Buttercup, pa?" queried his wife in a voice of astonishment.

"Jest you wait, and you'll see—eh! Shut yer squealin', yer blasted idgit!

DASHED BETWEEN HIS OUTSTRETCHED LEGS.

Nothin' ain't goin' to hurt yer!" This last to the panic stricken porker which he had grabbed and stowed beneath his arm. It was only eight months old.

When they had returned to the back yard the farmer gave minute directions to the hired man.

"Now, see here, Andy, you take the pig around to the parlor window and drop him inside, and I'll wait out here with the gun, and when the b'ar chases out arter the pig I'll ping the brute. Git a hike on!"

It worked perfectly—at least the first part did—for after a few minutes of awful silence a terrible commotion filled the house. First there was a resounding crash, as if the whole sideboard had gone over, followed by ear piercing squeals and noise of falling dishes.

Jabez had just time to yell: "Git outer the way, ma! Holy Jerusalem, here they come!" when the whole circus came streaming out of the house.

Alas for the second part of the arrangements! The terrified fugitive saw the farmer and, after the habit of pigs, sought safety by dashing between his outstretched legs. Jabez strove to leap aside, but it was too late. His feet were knocked from under him, the gun went off into the clouds, and pursued and pursuer disappeared in the distance.

When the last lingering squeals had died away Mrs. Johnesy turned to her bewildered husband with all the contempt, not unmixed with triumph, she could throw into her voice:

"Who's the pig headedest, long leggedest, stupidest born fool now?" she vociferated.

Mr. Johnesy began thoughtfully to brush the dust off his trousers leg.

"Now, see here, Sarah Ann, didn't I 'low as I would git thet thar pesky b'ar outer thar? And didn't I?"

Bathing Season In Nicaragua.

The Nicaraguans do things in quite primitive style. They do not put up at cramped and questionably clean lodging houses, but camp in gypsy fashion, high and low alike, for miles along the shore and pass the time in morning baths, round games, gallops by day and moonlight dances by night on the yellow sands, with partners of every variety of color down to the laughing yellow girls of the native class and the simple Indian peasant damsels of the fields. It is a sight not soon to be forgotten to witness the general rush toward the sea of carts, owners and servants. The government usually dispatches an officer and a guard to superintend the pitching of the annual camp upon the beach, or, rather, upon the forest covered sand ridge which fringes the shore. Each family rigs up its own cane hut, lightly thatched with palm trees and floored with petates, or mats, the whole wickered together with vines or woven together basketwise and partitioned in the same way by means of colored curtains of cotton cloth. The more luxurious ladies send down their neatly curtained beds and make sometimes a certain show of elegance.

Discrimination.

Mrs. Hauskeep—My servant girl doesn't know very much; she's equally careless with the fine china and the common.

Mrs. Hiram Offen—My girl shows considerable intelligence.

Mrs. Hauskeep—Yes?

Mrs. Hiram Offen—Yes; she's most careless with the fine china.—Catholic Standard and Times.

There's Something to Be Thankful For

THAR'S sumthin' to be thankful fur, no matter how things go—
In summer time fur fruit an' flowers, in winter time fur snow.
Thar's sumthin' sort o' pleasant happens to us every day,
An' life's a perfect picnic ef we look at it that way.

Thar's always sumthin' purty fur our weary eyes to see—
The glory o' the sunset or the blossoms on the tree—
An' always sumthin' tuneful fur our tired ears to hear—
The children's voices chirpin' or the robin's music clear.

Thar's always sumthin' ready fur our willin' hands to do—
Sum haltin' steps to help along, sum job to carry through—
No chance to be a-kickin' when our feet are busy goin',
No time fur idle growlin' when we're plantin' seed an' sowin'.

Thar's sumthin' to he thankful fur, no matter how things go—
No end to all our blessin's ef we only count 'em so.
An' even ef you're out o' sorts, or sick, or sad, or pore,
Jest thank the Lord you're livin' ef you can't do nothin' more.

HOW TO COOK A TURKEY.

The Recipe of a Famous New York Chef.

A chef who has for many years presided over the cuisine of one of New York city's best hotels gives this recipe for preparing and cooking the Thanksgiving turkey:

"Slit the neck of the turkey from the back of the head down its whole length and with the fingers separate the skin from it. Cut the skin a little above the middle and pull apart, then cut the neck off at the base. That will leave the skin intact for further use.

"Take the intestines out through an incision in the abdomen, but first take out the crop by inserting the finger where you have cut the neck off. Loosen the strings, or pipes, inside and pull them easily, then the whole crop will come out intact. Wash well, and the turkey will be ready for stuffing.

"For the stuffing soak a small stale loaf of bread in cold water and when soft squeeze all the water out; place in a bowl, add salt, pepper, thyme or sage or both; fry one onion chopped fine in four ounces of butter and a little ham, bacon or salt pork; cut fine, add a whole egg and mix well. Stuff the crop or wishbone part thoroughly and fasten the skin over it on the back of the turkey with a skewer or sew it; the rest put inside. Bake the turkey in a hot oven and cook about ninety minutes."

A Thanksgiving Game.

One of the funniest of the funny games peculiar to Thanksgiving time is called "hunt the turkey."

Go out to the kitchen and take the turkey out of the oven and bring it in and hide it somewhere in the parlor. Under the lace curtains in the windows is a good place or you might shove it down inside of the piano. Then let the guests come in and hunt for it. The person who finds it must hit some one with it before the person can get it back to the other room, which is home base. It is not fair to throw the turkey, as it must be swung by the hands. If a person accidentally knocks over a lamp or breaks a picture or throws the turkey through the window he or she must pay a forfeit.

Of course this game, which is funny and one in which both young and old may join, must not be played longer than half an hour before the time set for the dinner, for the turkey must be taken back to the oven and allowed to finish cooking before being carried to the table. It is not fair to take bites out of the turkey when it is found and it is also against the rules of the game to kick the turkey around the room. It must be held in the hands, right side up, so that the stuffing will not fall out.—New York World.

Making the Proclamation.

There is a good deal of form and ceremony about the making of the Thanksgiving proclamation. It is composed by the president himself and in most instances written out in his own hand. When this is done the document goes to the state department, where it is carefully copied in ornamental writing that is almost like engraving on the official blue paper of that department. The next thing needed on the document is the great seal of the government. This seal is kept by the clerk of pardons and commissions, and it is very carefully guarded under lock and key. Its keeper will not produce it without a special warrant signed by the president, and an impression of the seal is quite a ceremony in itself. When the proclamation has been thus duly signed and sealed many copies are made of it by clerks, and one is sent to the governor of every state in the Union. It is also given out then to the press agents, who telegraph it all over the United States. Each governor, as he receives it, issues one himself for his state.

Had All the Varieties.

Burns (after the great Thanksgiving feast)—I heard that you had a piece of each of the fifteen kinds of pie?

Spurns—Very likely I did. I know that now I'm having about fifteen different kinds of indigestion.

A Turkish Epitaph.

Ah, turkeys part where many meet!
A waistcoat's oft their winding sheet,
And every well fed friend we greet
May be a turkey's sepulcher!
—Puck.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The Daily Ledger invites correspondence on public affairs. Two letters appear in this issue, and four or five appeared during the past week. When the names of the writers are signed as today, they have more weight.

Not only two ex-Governors but three were present at the funeral on Thurday of Henry Hardwick Faxon. In the list printed were Hon. John D. Long and Hon. John L. Bates, but to these should be added Senator W. Murray Crane. Three out of a total of four was a large representation.

The amendment proposed to the ordinance concerning the Woodward Fund and Property will, if adopted, place Quincy in a more favorable light toward trust funds. We do not think any of the city officials should receive any extra salary for work they do on the board of managers, but so long as it is understood, and the money is to be paid direct from the city treasury instead of the Woodward Fund, the amendment is one way of getting around it. If the amount was not limited by ordinance perhaps the managers could vote themselves any salary as formerly.

The letter of John R. Richards in the Daily Ledger of yesterday, and the reorganization of the Citizens No-License League this week for an aggressive campaign before the City election, shows that there are those who purpose to continue the good work of the late Henry H. Faxon for temperance. Beer parties whether in interest of political parties or not should be discountenanced. Candidates who would corrupt voters, should never be elected to office. It cannot be expected that their record will be clean, or that their administration will be creditable to a town, or city, or state. The good work of Henry H. Faxon should be prosecuted with renewed vigor by all good citizens.

Less than two weeks to Thanksgiving. Already the hospitable housewife is planing and arranging for the family's home-coming. Blessed custom and full of promise and relief to home-lovers who oft think of their early home-life though beset by cares and professional duties and perforce denied the privilege of frequent visits to their childhood's home. As the old lady said, "Let us count up our mercies." Let us be more than duly and perfunctorily thankful according to law and pilgrim inheritance, and open our hearts and forget not those that are in need or loneliness, but strive to bring sunshine to our more struggling unfortunate, suffering brother, brighten the lot of some patient uncomplaining invalid or remember some neglected uncared for, or abused child. When we think of the bloodshed and misery in Russia, let us be thankful our lot is cast in free and enlightened America.

Flag Night.

Tonight is Flag Night at Quincy Music hall. Not only is the hall elaborately decorated with flags and palms and Japanese lanterns, but every lady will be given a beautiful flag. These are silk banners, some 4 by 6 inches, and of all the different nations. They are mounted on a black rod, gold tipped, and with a base so that they will stand.

With excellent music, with a perfect floor, with a decorated hall, with the new electric light effects, and with such souvenirs, tonight's dance will surely be a big success.

Post Office Changes.

Postmaster George A. Hibbard of Boston made two promotions yesterday. F. S. Childs, superintendent of the Milton postoffice for several years, has been advanced to the position of assistant superintendent of the money order divition at the central station, and Pierce Maloney, chief clerk at the Dorchester central station, has been promoted as superintendent at the Milton postoffice.

The Late Mr. Faxon

Comments of County Press On His Successful Work

In the death of Henry H. Faxon Quincy loses a valuable and an honored citizen and the temperance cause one of its leading advocates.—Milton Record.

The city of Quincy and the world has lost Henry H. Faxon, who joined the great majority the early part of the week. He may have had ways and methods which at times were not acceptable to all, but he was a man with courage according to his convictions and a philanthropist whose deeds of charity will be remembered by many beneficiaries.—Weymouth Gazette.

Mr. Henry H. Faxon of Quincy, who died on Tuesday, was very well known in this town, especially among the older people. For a matter of 25 years Mr. Faxon's unique methods of getting at the root of the liquor question, have been eagerly watched throughout Norfolk county. Mr. Faxon was a familiar figure in Dedham, especially during court sessions.—Dedham Transcript.

The death of Henry H. Faxon at his home in Quincy this week removes a picturesque and sterling personality. For many years he was conspicuous in the cause of temperance, and it can be said of him in all truth that in his warfare against the liquor traffic he was actuated with the sincerest motive, and in the interest of his fellow men and good citizenship. He made Quincy a no-license town, and by his constant vigilance kept it practically free from the liquor evil. He was certainly a public spirited citizen in every way, and his death will be universally regretted.—Hyde Park Gazette.

The death of Henry Faxon has removed an active life from earth, especially in the political and moral features of the state. He was an exponent, but his fiery nature was engrossed upon the side of humanity. He was not a popular man, because of his peculiar connections, but a good man, and a blessing to society. It was singular, that a strong advocate for water and one who was always in hot water, should finally scald to death by the application of hot water. He was highly respected by friend and enemy, and a universal sadness comes over all at the announcement of his death.—Whitman Times.

In the death of Henry H. Faxon, of Quincy, the cause of temperance loses a staunch advocate. A man of energy, will and wealth he devoted all of these to the great cause which was his dominating passion. He was the leading temperance reformer of Massachusetts, the master-spirit in the war against the liquor traffic. His views were radical and he took no pains to modify them according to the circumstances of the hour, when often it might have been to his advantage to do so. His freely spoken views and radical methods roused bitter antagonism, which seemed only to make him more persistent in his purpose to conquer the liquor traffic. Better to accomplish his purpose he served for years as constable in his native city, refusing to accept fees for his services.

All liquor dealers were dealt with according to the law, regardless of what influence they might have. To drive them out of business when they persisted in evading the law, the buildings they occupied were bought and remodelled into comfortable dwellings or business blocks. Temperance clubs and societies were liberally supplied with money to defray the eupenses of crusade against liquor, and Quincy Reform Club was given an $11,000 building. Money was a small consideration compared with the needs of the cause to which this man had devoted his life, and at one time when the war waxed hottest his gifts to temperance averaged fifty dollars a day. For three years, at his own expense, he sent daily over one thousand sheets of temperance literature. No stone was left unturned, no means was left untried, no path left untrod in the way to the accomplishment of the defeat of the liquor traffic. His energy in the cause was tremendous and untiring; his sincerity was evident and unquestioned.—Randoph Register.

Henry H. Faxon, the well-known temperance advocate and philanthopist, died at his home in Quincy, Tuesday, aged 82 years. The death of Mr. Faxon removes a personality out of the ordinary run of men, who made himself well-known throughout the state. Mr. Faxon liked to be known as an unrelenting foe of the liquor traffic. A man of handsome means, obtained by his own business shrewdness, Mr. Faxon had for many years worked against the liquor traffic in all sorts of ways, beginning at home, and spreading out over the state by means of almost constant publications, which he prepared and published at his own expense. * * * *

His indefatigable labors kept Quincy practically free of liquor saloons, and Mr. Faxon made himself personally responsible for enforcing the laws regulating the sale of intoxicants. He was a keen student of men and measures, and his many expositions of political matters always possessed a racy interest. His large individuality and independence of character made him a difficult man to manage and to work with, so his labors in behalf of temperance were not conducted in connection with any organization. It was as a free lance that he loved to fight, and did his best work. Amid all the bitterness which his attacks invoked Mr. Faxon moved with smiling assurance, treasuring no malice, and constantly surprised that other men should do so.

For long years he was never absent from republican state conventions, and was always crowding what had become to him the supreme interest of his life. He was a man of generous impulses and many a deserving family in Quincy and elsewhere has been the grateful recipient of his bounty. For several years he had given $100 to every church in Quincy, without regard to creed, for charitable work among the needy and deserving. He will be sadly missed not only in his native city of Quincy, but in charitable and philanthropic circles throughout the state.—Milford Gazette.

The Second Night.

The second performance of the "Imperial Vaudeville" was given last night, and the Wollaston Unitarian vestry was packed with an enthusiastic and appreciative audience. The program went off very smoothly with no waits between the numbers. The order was a little different from Thursday evening.

Among those who helped greatly to make the performance a success were: "A String of Pearls," Misses Priscilla Robinson, Gladys Hunt, Dorothy Fay, Margaret Hall, Mildred Lawton, Martha Robinson.

Chorus in "Spooning Song," Misses Martha and Priscilla Robinson, Master Sylvester Brown and Master Raymond Hall.

Burlesque Company, — Miss Edith Chapman and Messrs. Earl Boyce, Ernest Arnold, Ned Hale and Harry Hooper.

A new record for cold weather on November 14 at the Blue Hill Observatory was created Tuesday, when the thermometer registered 11 degrees above zero. Never before in the history of the observatory has so low a point been reached, although this is not a new record for the month. On Wednesday the temperature was not as low as on Tuesday, the official record being 19 degrees. Tuesday night there was a slight flurry of snow in Milton and Wednesday the river froze over for the first time this year—Milton Record.

—After lying for two weeks in the tombs of the New York police headquarters, charged with being accessories, both before and after the fact, in the famous dress suit case mystery, which involved the death of Susan Geary, Louis Crawford and William Howard were landed in the Charles street jail, Boston, on Thursday.

Mr. Baker respectfully gives notice that he has engaged Music Hall for every Wednesday and Saturday evening for the season; also for every holiday afternoon and evening. He hopes to see most of his former pupils (over 500 in Quincy besides a great many from surrounding towns) during the season. This is his sixth season at teaching in Quincy and he hopes this, his first one in Music Hall, will be his most successful. No spectators other than parents of pupils will be allowed at the classes, and the best of order will be insisted upon at the classes and assemblies. He reserves the right to exclude any objectionable parties. Mr. Baker's residence is at 26 Foster street. Oct. 14-tf

THE X RAY'S LATEST.

Pictures of Your Heart and Lungs Taken While You Wait.

Not content with revealing the skeleton in the human cupboard, says the London Pall Mall Gazette, the X rays have now proceeded, in the hands of Professor Rieder and Dr. Joseph Rosenthal of Munich, to take artistic pictures of the lungs and heart. The patient held his breath while his lungs were photographed in less than a second, and afterward, though the patient could not stop the beating of his heart, the operators took their photograph of it so quickly—in one-tenth of a second—that they succeeded in catching it between the beats.

The results no doubt will be of considerable scientific interest and importance, but in this respect at least the popularization of science should surely be kept within limits. Pictures of the inner man displayed for popular inspection may not be altogether to the good in an age when so many of us are addicted to physical introspection to a degree that is not beneficial either to our peace of mind or to our health.

Behind all looms a terrible prospect of a time coming when the snapshot fiend will be able to turn on his X rays kodak and display the hearts of favorite statesmen and actresses in the magazines.

GALVANIZED CISTERN.

A Self Clearing, Mosquito Proof Water Receptacle.

A New Orleans inventor, spurred on by the fear of yellow fever, has designed a galvanized cistern which he thinks will prove itself much cleaner than those now in use and will not be a breeding place for the germ carrying mosquito.

The lower part of the cistern, as shown in the accompanying illustration, is funnel shaped, with a valve at the bottom. Two days after a rain this valve can be opened and all sediment and other impurities will be forced out.

The top is made of galvanized iron and fits closely over a screened framework, which gives ventilation, but no opportunity for mosquitoes to enter. At one side is an escape pipe for the overflow water.

Elevator For Raising Wrecks.

An Italian engineer, Signor Jelpo, has invented a submarine elevator for raising wrecked vessels. The invention was recently put to a practical test, with complete success, in the bay of Naples, where a stone laden barge, sunk a couple of years ago and lying at a depth of about fifty feet, was brought to the surface with ease. The weight lifted was about sixty tons. The apparatus consists of compressed air chambers of canvas and wire, each equal to a lifting capacity of sixty tons, and it is possible to attach as many of these as may be necessary after calculating the weight to be lifted. All the port authorities witnessed the experiment and warmly congratulated the engineer.

Invisible Steering.

M. Branly, one of the foremost of French experimenters in wireless telegraphy, describes in the Comptes Rendus apparatus by which mechanical effects at a distance may be produced by etheric waves—such as starting a motor, lighting a lamp or causing an explosion. It requires only suitable instruments at the distant station to bring about these effects without any human assistance. The idea is not new, though the apparatus is. M. Orloff has shown in this country how a boat or torpedo may be steered by an electrician on shore.—London Telegraph.

An Ideal Golf Links.

Phobus hasn't any gravity. Phobus, by the way, is a satellite of Mars. Because of this lack of gravity and nonresistance of atmosphere, says Professor Moulton of the University of Chicago, a baseball thrown by a pitcher of a Phobus ball club would curve around the little globe three times before it would fall behind the batter. Likewise a good long drive in a golf contest would send the ball around the globe ten times unless some one butted in and stopped it.

This Well Yields Refined Oil.

Great excitement recently prevailed at Rowsburg, O,, over the discovery of oil in a well on the property of S. Hohensil. A most peculiar fact connected with the discovery is that the oil is practically as clear when taken from the well as stove oil. To all intents and purposes it is refined oil and when placed in a lamp burns as well as the best quality.

CITY BREVITIES.

Tonight is Flag Night at Quincy Music hall.

Have you seen the decorations at Quincy Music hall?

Over 3000 votes were cast today in the Daily Ledger Scholarship contest.

The second team of Milton Academy defeated Milton High at football yesterday 22 to 0.

George Burni's second oldest son is very ill with pneumonia at their home on Billings street.

Statements of both the National banks of this city appear in the Ledger today. The resources of each foot up over $900,000.

Today one game in the Merrimac Valley football league is being played at Quincy on the Ward Two grounds,—Fore Rivers vs Lyons. The Quincys went to Andover.

There was a large attendance Friday evening at the second night of the fair of the Swedish Lutheran church at Faxon hall. The only entertainment was that furnished by the orchestra.

Rev. Dr. Kneeland of the New England Sabbath Protective League will speak at the Washington Street Congregational church, Quincy Point, Sunday evening at 7.30 o'clock. All are invited to attend.

The regular meeting of the Hospital Aid Association will be held Thursday, November 23d, at three o'clock, in the Quincy Women's Club-house, 148 Goffe street. A large attendance is especially desired.

The two days' fair of Quincy chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, came to a successful end last night at Greenleaf hall. The attendance was much larger than on the opening night, and most of the articles on the tables were sold.

The Consolodated grocery believe in keeping up with the times. They have just added to their equipment a handsomely painted auto delivery car. The car attracted condiderable attention Friday as it stood in front of their store in the Adams building.

The old reliable Shepard Norwell Co. have a card in this issue, announcing that Walter J. Wellington of Wollaston is now associated with them. Mr. Wellington has been with well known carpet houses for several years, and is an expert in this line. He has many friends in this city and the firm is fortunate in securing his services.

—In Board of Heath of Brookline, it was voted to serve formal notice on the heirs of Eben D. Jordan to remove within fourteen days from the service of notice the nuisance consisting of an unsanitary stable on Bartlett crescent.

More Voters

Gain of 150 Since Recent State Election High Water Mark

There are 5,302 names on the voting lists for the municipal election of Dec. 5, an increase of 24 over the December election last year, and 150 more than at the recent State election.

The lists today shows Ward One is the largest with a total of 1,015, while Ward Three is a good second with 1,001.

In the totals Ward Two and Four are the only ones that do not show a net gain. Ward Two shows a loss of 25, all of which are in precinct one; precinct two showing a gain of 5.

Ward Four shows a loss of 6. The loss was all in precinct two of 9, while precinct one gained 3.

The largest gain made by any one ward was Ward Six, where the net gain is 24 over December last year. Precinct one gained 25 and precinct two lost one.

The smallest gain was in Ward Five, the number being 2.

Ward One has 1015, Ward Three 1001, Ward Four 936, Ward Five 904, Ward Two 752 and Ward Six 694.

The number of names on the lists at the December election of 1904, with those of November 1905 and December 1905 is shown by the following table:

Sons of Veterans.

Col. Oliver W. Peabody Camp, S. of V., was inspected by Sen. Vice Div. Commander, F. L. Kirchgassner and staff at Town Hall, Milton, Wednesday evening. The camp mustered one recruit and after the ceremony a Dutch supper was indulged in by the members and guests. A very pleasant evening was spent with speeches by visiting officers and others. The camp is in fine condition and hopes to have fifty members by next Memorial Day.

CHARITIES

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE

Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

No Confederate Supreme Court.

"It is a curious fact," said a New Orleans man, "that the Confederate congress never created a supreme court. The matter was before the Richmond congress, but no statute was ever passed authorizing such a tribunal.

"It was in a debate over this very topic in the Confederate senate that the personal encounter between Ben Hill of Georgia and William L. Yancey of Alabama occurred. The senate was in executive session. The Georgia senator was speaking in favor of the creation of a court of last resort whose powers should in a way be limited. Yancey looked on this idea with disfavor, and during the course of Hill's remarks he interrupted with the insulting statement that Hill had given utterance to a lie. No sooner had he used the offensive word than Hill, picking up an inkstand, hurled it with great force at his defamer. The glass struck Yancey over the eye, inflicting a severe wound, but doing him no permanent injury, although stories were long current that the blow finally caused his death."—Washington Post.

The Value of a Word.

As soon as the apartment house was ready for occupancy the janitor placed a "Rented" sign in several of the second and third story windows. When the agent saw the placards he said a good many things not exactly complimentary to the discretion of the janitor.

"What did you stick all those notices up for?" he asked.

"Because," was the reply, "the apartments are really rented. I thought it a good plan to let folks know they were going off so quickly."

"That is all right in principle," said the agent, somewhat mollified, "but you didn't go about it in the right way. That is not the proper kind of a notice. Never use the word 'rented' in a high class apartment. Always say 'leased.' It makes a better impression. 'Rented' sounds cheap. Any agent who wants his apartments to bring a big price will tell you that."—New York Press.

The Short And.

Brewer says the sign & is called "anders, ampers or amprus." It is sometimes called "short and." In olden times it was known as ampersand, but that word long ago fell into disuse. It is simply a contracted and rapidly made form of the Latin et. The name ampersand is derived from "and, per see and"—that is, a single symbol which in itself is and. Ampersand, meaning &, is used in chapter 21 of "Adam Bede" (1859); also in a poem in Punch of April 17, 1869. The first stanza in the poem alluded to is as follows:

Of all the types in a printer's hand
Commend me to the ampersand,
For he's the gentleman (seems to me)
Of the typographical companie.
Oh, my nice little ampersand,
My graceful, swanlike ampersand,
Nothing that Cadmus ever planned
Equals my elegant ampersand!

Prussian Dairymaids.

In the great Elbing dairies in west Prussia the dairy maids are not permitted to wear corsets. The different grades of proficiency are indicated by the caps worn. The milkmaids wear white caps, the pupils white also, with the addition, however, of black velvet bands, and the dairy teachers caps with silver lace. Many daughters of the landed nobility take a course in this work, but all alike wear the uniform prescribed. This is not a skirt, but waist and knickerbockers. It is found that this is the most cleanly and comfortable and serviceable in an occupation subject to various accidents.

Risk Versus Security.

There never was a harder master than the uncertain. "Nothing venture nothing win" is a true proverb, and sometimes it is a good guiding principle. If a single question and not a general principle were under discussion we might say that the conditions warrant a venture. As a rule we are profoundly convinced that a sure dollar is better than a possible $10; that comfort is always preferable to wealth in a lottery. The one thing to be avoided above all others is instability of income. This is not to suggest that under all conditions a man should prefer the settled and sure.—Independent.

Strictly True.

"Are you sure that is an orphan asylum across the way?" asked the stranger within the gates.

"Certainly," answered the native.

"But a policeman just told me it was an old ladies' home," protested the stranger.

"Well, that's all right," rejoined the native. "Every old lady in it is an orphan."—Chicago News.

STORIES OF HENDERSON

Characteristics of Man Who Succeeded Reed as Speaker.

EXAMPLE OF HIS READY TACT

How He Calmed and Comforted a Dying Soldier—His Story of the Legless Man—When Henderson Was Shot—Fond of Music and Liked a Rousing Chorus.

Apropos of Mr. Henderson's war experience the following story was told by one of his colleagues recently, which illustrates as well as any of the stories concerning him his ready sympathy and tact, says a writer in Leslie's Weekly: In the days when Dave Henderson was a raw young lieutenant, and before he had lost a leg in the service of his country, he was called to a man who had been mortally wounded by the explosion of a gun. He found the poor fellow lying on the grass swearing a blue streak at the unfortunate accident that would cost him his life, while a callow young chaplain kneeling beside the wounded soldier vainly expostulated with him for such blasphemy and besought him to pray, since he was about to be called into the presence of his Maker. The chaplain's exhortations had no effect upon the suffering soldier, however, who continued to swear more loudly than ever.

"Make way," ordered Henderson, and kneeling by the side of the soldier he said in a voice as tender as a woman's, "Can we do nothing for you, my brave fellow?"

The soldier looked up wistfully at the sound of the sympathetic words. "I'm afraid it's all up," he said faintly.

"Well, if it is, my man, it must be a happiness and satisfaction to you to know that you died for your country. You are just as much of a hero as though you had been killed in the field of battle, and your name will always be revered. God help you, my brave boy!"

"Is that so? Is that so?" murmured the dying soldier. "That's a comfort, sir; it's a great comfort," and, holding the hand of his young officer, the poor lad died.

Mr. Henderson once told how he lost his leg as follows:

"A good many people ask me how I lost my leg. Generally I tell them, but I always think of the story of the Iowan who had both legs cut off by a buzzsaw. One day he was riding in a railroad train, and an old lady who sat across the aisle from him stared at his stumps pretty hard. Finally she said:

"'Pardon me, sir, but will you tell me how you lost your legs?'

"'No, I won't,' the legless man replied. The old lady sighed and settled back in her seat. Pretty soon she began staring again, and, unable to conceal her curiosity, she pleaded:

"'I wish you would tell me how you lost your legs.'

"The man relented.

"'Well,' he said, 'I'll tell you if you will promise not to ask me any more questions. Now, mind, you can't ask another question.'

"'I promise,' said the old lady in a quiver of excitement.

"'Well,' said the legless man, 'I had them chawed off!'"

It is related that when Colonel David Bremner Henderson was a lieutenant in the Twelfth Iowa at the battle of Corinth he noticed a soldier whose gun had been clogged and which refused to work. The poor fellow, in the belief that he would surely be killed with a useless weapon in his hand, became woefully excited and began to tremble as with an ague. "You infernal fool!" shouted Henderson, forgetting conventionalities for the moment. "Here, why don't you pick the tube out with a pin, same as you do when you're shooting prairie chickens?" The words "prairie chickens" in the ear of this native of Iowa sounded so good that it immediately brought him to himself. He at once cleaned out his gun and went into the fight. At the end of the battle the man who had cleaned out his gun had been shot in the hip and Henderson had received the shot in his left foot which compelled him to wear an artificial leg. When the two happened to meet afterward Colonel Henderson said, "Well, old boy, that prairie chicken saved your life, if it didn't your hip!"

One winter a certain person with an ax to grind in the house took rooms at the Normandie that he might be near Mr. Henderson and, if possible, gain his friendship and secure his influence. Soon after he had established himself at the hotel he was fortunate enough to be invited by one of the guests to a little supper after the theater at which the speaker was the principal figure. The company was a gay one, and shortly before separating the speaker burst forth with "The Tinkling of the Banjo is the Only Sound I Hear," everybody joining in the chorus with a gusto save the man with an ax to grind, who sat dumfounded, as though hypnotized by the unusual scene. The chief singer did not seem to observe the stranger's silence, but when, a day or two later, some one proposed bringing him to call on the speaker the latter said he was not at all anxious to meet a man who could not be moved by the spirit of music. The meeting, however, was finally arranged, a friendship established, and at the next singing bee the voice of the man with an ax to grind was the loudest in the whole chorus.

Novelty In Boats.

A Norwegian named Ole Brude has constructed a new kind of small boat which, it is claimed, cannot be sunk and which, it is expected, will be adopted on passenger steamers.

Baking Powder

Made of Cream of Tartar, and Free From Alum or Phosphatic Acid

Royal Baking Powder renders bread, biscuit, cake and all flour foods finer and more healthful.

Baking powders made from alum, phosphates and other harsh, caustic acids are lower in price, but they are injurious to the stomach.

"The injurious effect of alum on the mucous coat of the stomach is positive and beyond dispute; it is both an irritant and an astringent. The use of alum in any article of food or article used in the preparation of food should be prohibited."

Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth entertained at lunch on Tuesday, Mrs. Theo Ruggles Kitson, Quincy's well known sculptor, and Rabbi Charles Fleischer of Cambridge, all going later to the meeting of the Quincy Women's club, where Mr. Fleischer addressed a large gathering.

The engagement is announced of Miss Charlotte Clarke of Dean road, Brookline, and Mr. Carl Otto Zerrahn of Milton.

Miss Vaughn Callahan was again last evening the winner of the first prize for whist playing at the Alpine club, Dorchester. This is the third time this season that Miss Callahan has brought the first prize to Quincy.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. is to have a gentlemen's night on Monday in Association hall, when it is hoped there will be a large attendance as an interesting program has been prepared.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Mrs. Edward C. Runge has been appointed librarian of the St. Louis Medical college.

Miss Stone, the missionary captured by brigands two years ago, is preparing to return to her work in Bulgaria next spring.

Helen Lorensen, a Copenhagen dressmaker seventeen years old, has a record of having jilted eleven lovers in two years, when the eleventh ended her promising career with a dagger.

The mother of the late General Walter Q. Gresham is still living, hale and hearty at the age of ninety-eight, five miles from Louisville, Ky., in the same house where General Gresham was born.

Mrs. Jacob Fales, more than ninety years old, and her two daughters, each more than sixty years old, own and manage their own farm near York, Pa., doing much of the actual work themselves.

In her bankruptcy examination in London the other day Mrs. Brown Potter testified that her average earnings on the stage for several years had been from $40,000 to $45,000 a year. In Australia she made $45,000 in 1897, her most successful season.

Mrs. Fermina Sarras, an old Mexican Indian woman of Esmeralda county, Nev., has sold her mining property to a Boston syndicate for $90,000. The property consisted of forty claims, which she acquired from the proceeds of washing clothes in mining camps.

Former pupils of Miss Annex Walker of Franklin, Pa., have presented her with a purse of $250. Miss Walker has been a teacher in the public schools for more than forty years. In the first seventeen years of her service she never missed a day's time on any account.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

It is said that two-thirds of the sermons preached in New York during the summer months are delivered by preachers from small towns who aspire to a New York pastorate.

Rev. James Everett Frame has been installed Edward Robinson professor of New Testament theology of the Union Theological seminary, New York. He succeeds Professor Briggs.

To Fight the Browntails

Surrounding towns are preparing for a vigorous campaign against the gypsy and browntail moths. In Weymouth the Selectmen have sent out notices regarding the pests with a copy of the statute, which calls for work at once. Arlington has been most active, the town last year appropriating $6000 and this year $5000. It has also a society which is doing great work in recommending reliable men to do the work. It also furnishes to its members free of charge, creosote, brushes, cutters, ladders and scrapers, and has an active chairman in B. C. Haskell.

This winter Quincy will have to put up a good fight as the moths have secured a foothold here.

The Civic Betterment committee of the Quincy Women's club, Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth chairman, is to take the matter up at once and have secured the services of Mr. Kirkland of the Gypsy Moth Commission, who will lecture on the subject on Tuesday evening, Nov. 28th, at eight o'clock in Bethany Church chapel. It is said to be a very interesting lecture, and a great many illustrations by the stereopticon add much to the interest. It is a fine opportunity for Quincy people to post themselves on the subject. The committee has had 500 guest tickets printed.

Unjust Taxation

Editors of Quincy Ledger:

No association will be of any practical benefit to Quincy that does not succeed in reducing the burden of taxation on our people.

The debt of Quincy is so large now that it takes one-half the taxes collected to meet the interest charges alone.

For fifteen years by pen and voice I have been trying to point out the frighful injustice of our taxation laws in this state, which today except the owners of personal property, leaving the whole burden of the tax to fall on the man who pays rent.

It is an up-hill fight, because what is everybody's business is nobody's business. It is absolute nonsense for Mayor Thompsont to talk about an economical adminisiration in this city as long as the state insists on exempting certain forms of property from taxation every year.

In this connection I would like to call your attention to our corporation tax laws. Up to last year when the law was changed, we received practically double the amount of tax than we do under this new law. It is because the stock is almost exempt from taxation under the new law.

I wish our city Council would take up this question of taxation at one of their meetings. They would soon be able to understand how utterly useless it is to talk of economy in a growing city like Quincy with the State continually passing laws to restrict us from taxing tangible property. If our taxpayers only knew how they are being fleeced by unjust taxation in this State they would rise up in their might and demand equal taxation which we have not enjoyed since 1881.

Points of Interest.

Quincy will soon be as famous for pilgrimages as Plymouth and Concord, as parties come now almost daily. Surely there are many historic spots of National interest, and enterprises which are novel to many. A brief list is given below.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Small fee asked.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

MYLES STANDISH CAIRN.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution, of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the indian Tisquantum.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS ADAMS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. In cellar is old town hearse, also box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams At extreme end, under front steps are the vaults of the presidents, a massive stone door closing the entrance. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place, or to the office of L. S. Anderson, treasurer, 9 Savings Bank building, whose office hours are 8 A. M. to 12 M. and 2 to 5 P. M. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

DOROTHY Q. HOUSE.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy. Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock street, across from First Church. Many old stones, among the oldest that of Rev. John Hancock, father of the Patriot, who died May 7, 1744. Was fifth minister of First Church.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

SQUAW ROCK.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

Many other points of interest might be mentioned: Thomas Crane Memorial Hall which is the public library building; Merrymount, the home of Mrs. John Quincy Adams, where Morton erected his famous May pole in 1626; the soldiers' monument at Mount Wollaston cemetery with its tablets; the famous Quincy granite quarries, many of great depth; the granite yards where monuments and statuary are being cut, and the polishing mills where granite is polished. Also the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company where warships are being built for the government.

URGED TO STRIKE

Russian Workmen Appeal to Soldiers and Sailors

ALL ARE NOW BROTHERS

Common Enemies Are Commanders and Those In Power --Strikers to Attempt to Make Final Big Demonstration

St. Petersburg, Nov. 18.—The workmen's organization has addressed the following appeal to the soldiers and sailors:

"Comrades and brothers: For a long time we have misunderstood each other. Your officers taught you to regard us as enemies of the fatherland and as criminals whom you should shoot, beat with your whips and butcher with your bayonets.

"Our struggle for the people's freedom and the people's well being has been depicted to you as a revolution against the fatherland which you are obliged to suppress. Many of you, believing this, have shot your own brothers, filling the streets of our towns with blood.

"The case is now altered. The eyes of many of the soldiers and sailors have been opened. They understand that all of us are brothers and that we are sons of the same nations whose common enemies are your commanders and those in power. They understand that the liberty of the people is their own liberty and the good of the people their own good.

"The men of the Black sea fleet at Cronstadt stood against their commanders and signified that they wanted to lead the lives of men; that they wanted liberty, and they associated themselves with the cause of the people. A hundred sailors at Cronstadt have been handed over to a court martial and today or tomorrow may be executed. Knowing this, we workmen of St. Petersburg struck, demanding the release of our soldier and sailor brothers and the abolition of courts martial and the death penalty.

"Is it possible that you, soldiers and sailors, will not arise and help your brothers at Cronstadt? Is it possible that you will remain hand in hand with the murderers of your brothers at Cronstadt?

"We workmen say: 'The cause of the soldier and the sailor is our cause' and so we have gone out on strike. You must say everywhere 'the cause of the workmen is our cause and the struggle of the workmen our struggle' and you must associate yourselves with the struggling people. You must strike and refuse to perform the duties imposed on you. Do not listen to the word of command calling upon you to put down the workmen's movement. Let not one shot be fired by you against the people.

"Down with your bloodthirsty commanders. Long live a free government and a free people."

At a meeting last night of the council of workmen's delegates, after a long discussion, a motion to call off the strike was rejected, and it was decided to call meetings of workmen in the factories today to lay the situation before them and to abide by their decision.

The leaders, however, are determined not to permit the strike to die without a final great demonstration of their power to render St. Petersburg a "dead city." After the adoption of the resolution calling for a referendum it was decided to bend every effort to close every store, market and office, beginning at 11 o'clock this morning, and to stop all street car and carriage traffic in the streets so as to bring the life of the Russian capital to a complete standstill. The stoppage of the electric plants, which the government had succeeded in getting into partial operation, was entrusted to electrical workers in the various districts, who were empowered to use any and all means deemed advisable for the injuring of the machinery and the short-circuiting of the dynamos, even to the extent of destroying the plants.

The employers have finally informed the workmen that they have decided against an eight-hour day.

The news from Moscow is less encouraging to the strikers. The railroads are still running and the telegraphers have flatly refused to consider a strike for the political aims of Poland, whose endangered liberties are the ostensible cause of the strike in St. Petersburg. Work is being resumed in Moscow and the news from other sections shows that the call of the St. Petersburg committee has awakened little sympathy.

Advancer Not a "Ringer"

Chicago, Nov. 18.—The identity of the trotter Advancer has been fully established by Secretary Knight of the American Trotting association, who has ordered that payment be made of the two $5000 stakes won by the horse last summer. Knight went to Brandon, Vt., to investigate and announces that the horse had not been misrepresented and that all purses which he won would be paid.

Cause of Tragedy Unknown

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 18.—John Buckley, aged 45, who was at the head of the city bridge and wharf department, and Daisy May, 28, were found dead at the home of the latter. It is supposed the man killed the woman and then committed suicide. Buckley leaves a family. The cause of the tragedy is not known.

HELD IN $25,000 EACH

Howard and Crawford Plead Not Guilty in Geary Case

Boston Nov. 18.—William E. Howard, who asserts that his real name is Hunt, and Louis W. Crawford were arraigned in the superior criminal court before Judge Stevens as accessories in the Susanna Geary case. Neither of them showed the effects of the strain which they are reported to have been under since making their first confession in New York. Both wore an air of assurance as they stepped into the dock for arraignment, and answered the clerk with clear and steady voices.

The charge against them is that of being accessories both before and after the fact to the crime of abortion. Howard, who was arraigned under this name, when asked for his plea, replied to Clerk Manning, "I should like to consult an attorney."

"You decline to plead?" asked the clerk.

There was just a moment's hesitancy, and then Howard replied: "I plead not guilty."

Crawford then entered his plea of not guilty. Bail, at the request of Assistant District Attorney Dwyer, was fixed at $25,000 each, and the prisoners were remanded to jail. The proceedings had occupied only two minutes.

Sewell Married Illegally

New York, Nov. 18.—Mrs. Julia T. Sewell, wife of Barton Sewell, vice president of the American Smelting and Refining company, has been granted an absolute divorce in Suffolk county, L. I., to take effect Jan. 14. By the decree the verdict of absolute divorce granted Sewell by the Tennessee courts last January is set aside and Elizabeth Ritchie, whom he married immediately after the decree at Knoxville, is declared not to be his wife.

Millionaire's Son In Trouble

St. Louis, Nov. 18.—Richard H. Kastor, a son of a millionaire, was arrested on an indictment returned by a federal grand jury, charging him with conducting a scheme to defraud in connection with the Merchants' Brokerage and Commission company of St. Louis. It is alleged that the company paid Kastor to prevent the issuance of a postal fraud order against it, and that Kastor worked through a United States senator.

Seeking Shorter Workday

Cleveland, Nov. 18.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, in secret session here, considered plans for reducing the hours of labor for members of the order. The sentiment prevailed that the hours of locomotive engineers are, at times, unreasonably long, and that there should be an adjustment of time limitations as would relieve the engineers of long strains at their posts of duty.

Discontent In Santo Domingo

San Juan, P. R., Nov. 18.—Cruiser Cleveland has arrived here from Samana bay, Santo Domingo, and will return there immediately after coaling. Her officers say that, while the discontent is widespread in Santo Domingo, no outbreaks have occurred and comparative quiet prevails, but it is persistently rumored that trouble may be expected soon.

Many Committee Vacancies

Washington, Nov. 18.—As a result of the last congressional election there are 93 Democratic and 60 Republican vacancies in the membership of the committees of the house of representatives. Although many of these vacancies occur in important committees, there is only one important chairmanship to be filled—that of the appropriations committee.

Charged With Incompetency

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 18.—The Mississippi state board of health adopted resolutions denouncing Dr. Souchon of the Louisiana board of health and Dr. Kohnke of the New Orleans board of health, alleging incompetency and neglect of duty. It declared these officials should be removed from their positions.

Something New For the South

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 18.—The Mobile Commercial club unanimously adopted a resolution calling on Alabama's senators and representatives in congress to support the merchant marine commission's shipping bill. This is the first southern port to declare in favor of ship subsidies.

Marines to Be Relieved

Washington, Nov. 18.—Having just returned from the Isthmus of Panama with Secretary Taft, the cruiser Columbia has been ordered to return there immediately to carry a draft of 250 marines to relieve those who have been stationed along the line of the railroad.

Silver Wedding to Be Exclusive

Berlin, Nov. 18.—It is announced that at the celebration of the silver wedding of the Emperor and Empress of Germany only the members of the imperial family will be present. The foreign courts received notice to this effect, following inquiries made by them.

Woman Takes Her Own Life

Biddeford, Me., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Mary A. Ellis, aged 61, committed suicide by hanging at her home here. She was discovere by her husband, George W. Ellis, to whom she was married eight months ago. Despondency is believed to have been the cause of the suicide.

Some Dainty Embroidered Gifts For Christmas

THE artistic decoration of the bedroom has become a kind of fetich lately, and the more unusual and individual a room of this character is fitted up the smarter it becomes. The girl who is skilful with her needle will find that a pair of embroidered sash curtains will be appreciated as a gift to a chum who is fitting up her bedroom or den. The curtain shown in the illustration is a good example. It is made of casement linen, a sheer and attractive material, and is worked in wash filoselle silk. The design is taken from a piece of old Hungarian embroidery. The coloring is almost barbaric in the blending of its brilliant blues, greens, reds and touches of orange, but is nevertheless wonderfully effective, and in a room that needs brightening a curtain of this kind would be the right thing in the right place. The satin stitch in which the design is worked makes an appearance equally good from either side of the material. Sash curtains could be treated in a simpler way, possibly with a border of conventional character or of natural flowers done on a coarse kind of canvas in a deep shade of twine. This material hangs with admirable softness. Others again might be of clear muslin worked with shadow embroidery. In fact, the idea is capable of endless variations and developments which an inventive worker will be quick to perceive and to turn to account in imparting an individual touch to her curtain.

SILK GARTER.

The dainty little lingerie pillow cover seen in the cut is made of a square of hemstitched linen embroidered in dots in an attractive pattern. It is detachable from the pillowcase proper, which is covered with colored silk and trimmed with a frill around the edges to keep the lingerie cover out firm and fluffy.

EMBROIDERED SASH CURTAIN.

Stocks, those airy, frivolous bits of lace and filmy strips, are fascinating and becoming enough to call down blessings on your head every time the girl you give one to has occasion to wear it. The newest trick this year is to have tiny finely plaited ruffles at the base of the collar that spread out fan fashion and do away with the severe line at the base of the throat.

White is the most satisfactory to give, unless you're sure that the color you choose to make one of will "go" with your friend's clothes.

If she wears garters attached to her corsets (and almost nobody wears any other kind) get her a pair of silk ones and set the elastic in a full casing of heavy ribbon that will stretch out with the elastic. Keep them all in one shade and finish them off with small flat bows. If you want to make them still more effective, put silver clasps on them, for, although the others are really more satisfactory to wear, a girl likes to feel she has the silver clasps. The garter shown in the cut is very pretty and dainty.

LINGERIE PILLOW COVER.

A Sofa Pillow Hint.

Sofa pillows are always splendid Christmas gifts, and the burlap covers that have come out this year are inexpensive and effective without a great deal of a friend's work to them.

PLANNED REVOLT

Diplomacy Practiced by Isle of of Pines Americans

ATTRACTIONS OF ISLAND

They Were Exploited In Advance by Our Own Consul at Havana--Promoters Eager to Lead Colonizing Schemes

Washington, Nov. 18.—Our state department could hardly have been taken by surprise when information came that a small coterie of Americans on the Isle of Pines had assumed control of the governmental affairs and installed an up-to-date territorial government, considerately leaving a few places vacant to be filled by presidential appointment. The surprising thing about it is the confidence with which these territorial promoters take for granted favorable action upon their scheme.

The financial interests represented in the Isle of Pines appear to have anticipated their present move and, in order not to cause too great surprise at home, have been gradually working up a public interest in the island. In the September consular reports, Consul General Steinhart of Havana submitted an exhaustive article on the geography and resources of the Isle of Pines. Of course the consul general was unprejudiced, and it is impossible from this distance to study the sources of his inspiration.

His plain, but interesting, account could not fail, however, to make every territory-loving American long to have Stars and Stripes float over those 521,382 acres. He describes the climate as "one of the finest on earth." "In fact," he says, "the soil, climate and water of the northern portion are ideal. The mercury seldom goes above 90 degrees and never below 58. The average for the year may be stated as 75 degrees. The sea breezes penetrate every part of the island and, passing over the pine forests, are gentle and invigorating, tempering the heat of summer and lessening the cold of winter. The nights are generally cool and pleasant.

"There is no doubt that in time, as the island becomes better known, it is destined to be a most important health and winter resort, as the conditions of the climate and vegetation combine to make it attractive both to invalids and others who are in search of a more uniform temperature, or who may wish to escape severe northern winters."

A lurking suspicion exists that American promoters propose in the future to take the colonizing development of the United States into their own hands. Long years of experience on the part of the state department in settling their difficulties and getting too zealous speculators, representing themselves as American citizens, out of trouble in foreign countries has demonstrated that our people are enterprising enough for this sort of thing.

Many interests which would be glad to escape paying duty on sugar coming into this market were greatly disappointed when our pledge was adhered to and Cuba left to rule herself, but the sub-currents that seemed to be flowing under the foundations of her government may eventually wash the whole business into our lap.

Porto Ricans are clamoring for their freedom of government, but American interests disclaim that this disturbance has any real basis; they say that it is due to the discontent of impecunious Spaniards.

The Commercial World

New York, Nov. 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: A temporary flurry in the money market had little deleterious effect in commercial channels, most reports indicating a further increase in the volume of business. Orders come forward freely for distant delivery, and buyers experience much difficulty in making purchases for quick shipment. Wholesale trade in holiday goods is now well under way.

Pair of Alleged Blackmailers

Chicago, Nov. 18.—W. S. McSwain and William Cole, his brother-in-law, have been arrested, charged with attempting to blackmail J. O. Armour and other members of Armour & Co. for $40,000 in connection with the beef trust investigation by means of letters which they are alleged to have stolen from the files of Armour & Co. McSwain was employed by Armour & Co. as a stenographer.

Storage Warehouse Burned

Boston, Nov. 18.—A large five-story brick building used for storage purposes by the Continental Storage Warehouse company at the South End was ruined by fire last night. Showers of sparks endangered the congested tenement house district in the vicinity and about a dozen families had to abandon their apartments. The loss is about $100,000.

Boys Must Quit Cigarets

Chester, Pa., Nov. 18.—Chief of Police McGann has issued orders to his police officers to confiscate all cigarets found in the possession of minors, and to find out from the boys where they buy their "smokes." He has begun a crusade to close up the violators of the law.

America's Big Contribution

London, Nov. 18.—The fund for the Russian Jews now amounts to $730,000, of which the United States has contributed $400,000.

NOOSE AWAITS WOMAN

Impending Decision In Case of Mrs Rogers Will Be Final

Rutland, Vt., Nov. 18.—Should the United States supreme court fail to grant habeas corpus in the case of Mrs. Mary Rogers, who murdered her husband and whose death by the gallows has twice been held up by Governor Bell's reprieves, she will have to die at Windsor prison Dec. 8, so far as any further efforts on the part of her attorneys are concerned.

Judge Butler, senior partner of the law firm of Butler & Moloney, which has defended the condemned woman, made the following statement last night:

"So far as we are concerned, we are done with the case. The United States supreme court has taken a recess until the 27th, and if habeas corpus is not granted, there can be nothing more done."

Advices from Windsor are to the effect that the gallows is nearing completion and that arrangements are being rushed for the hanging.

Suspected of Many Robberies

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 18.—In the arrest here last night of a man who gave his name as Joseph Pellerin the police believe that they have captured one of a gang who are responsible for more than 40 robberies in eastern Massachusetts during the past few weeks. As Samuel and Louis Dashoff were entering their home late last night they were held up by Pellerin, who pointed a revolver at them and ordered them to throw up their hands. The Dashoffs ran, crying for help. A crowd collected and chased the highwayman, who was finally captured.

Guild's Distinctive Staff

Boston, Nov. 18.—Governor-elect Guild has announced the make-up of his staff for the coming year. The staff is notable in that without exception every officer has held a commission either in the service of Massachusetts or of the United States. Ten have served in the United States volunteers, one in the United States navy and one in the United States revenue marine. The staff also contains four distinguished marksmen, two expert marksmen, six sharpshooters, three first-class and five second-class marksmen.

Will Deport Mission Child

Boston, Nov. 18.—Nooktie Wood, the 10-year-old deaf mute Eurasian girl who came here on the Canopic from India to be educated in Pittsburg for work as a missionary among her people, was ordered deported by Commissioner Billings. Rev. John M. Short of Cambridge appeared in the girl's behalf at the board hearing, and will appeal the case to Washington. Testimony showed that Nooktie Wood was to have been placed in a charitable institution, which is in violation of the immigration laws.

Fire Chief Meets With Accident

Boston, Nov. 18.—While proceeding along Commonwealth avenue on the way to a fire last night District Chief Ryan's wagon was struck by an automobile. Ryan and his driver, Joseph McLaughlin, were thrown to the ground, while both the wagon and automobile were damaged. The two men's injuries are not serious. The occupants of the automobile are not known, as they immediately hurried from the scene of the accident.

Derrick Fell on Workmen

Danbury, Conn., Nov. 18.—While a powerful steam derrick was hoisting a heavy block of stone from the roadbed to a bridge abutment at Patterson one of the wire guy ropes snapped and the derrick fell upon a gang of masons and their helpers at the foot of the abutment. One man was caught beneath the derrick boom and instantly killed and several other men were hurt.

Effort to Save Murderer

Waterbury, Conn., Nov. 18.—A motion for a stay of sentence in the case of Ciriarco Capobianco, whom a superior court jury convicted of murder in the first degree, has been filed by his lawyers, alleging that the jury was influenced by an article in a newspaper here on a "black hand" letter received by one of the witnesses. The motion will be argued next week.

Church's 175th Anniversary

Concord, N. H., Nov. 18.—A three days' celebration of the 175th anniversary of the First Congregational church in this city began last night. In its 175 years of existence the church has had but six pastors. The church was established in May, 1726, by a surveying party from Massachusetts, after a wearisome journey up the Merrimac river.

Railroad Man's Awful Fate

Hyde Park, Mass., Nov. 18.—John McArdie, 48, superintendent of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad interlocking switch system, was struck and killed by a train on the tracks of that road near the Readville station last night, his body being ground to pieces. The circumstances attendant on this are not known.

Lepers Not Yet Removed

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 18.—An effort made by the state board of charity to remove the Wareham and Harwich lepers to the new state leprosarium on Penikese island ended in failure on account of unfavorable weather conditions. It is expected that the transfer of the two lepers will be made today.

Auto Broke Boy's Skull

Lowell, Mass., Nov. 18.—Luther Swain, 8 years old, was run over by automobile No. 3275, owned in Nashua, N. H. His skull was fractured and he died in 20 minutes. The boy ran into the road in front of the machine.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS

Platt to Testify as to Insurance Contributions

JORDAN'S WHEREABOUTS

Cannot Be Told by Son of Former Equitable Controller--Depew's Knowledge of Vouchers For Legal Services Is Limited

New York, Nov. 18.—When the legislative committee on insurance investigation opened its session yesterday it was expected that Senator T. C. Platt would be called. He is wanted to testify as to the collection of contributions to political campaign funds from the insurance companies, Mr. Odell having testified that Platt collected all campaign moneys up to last year. It is now expected that Platt will be heard early next week.

Frank B. Jordan, son of the former controller of the Equitable Life Assurance society, who at a previous session said he did not know where his father was or whether either his father or mother was living, was called again, and said that recently he had received a letter from his mother, who was in Canada, but she said nothing of his father.

Samuel S. McCurdy, assistant registrar of the Equitable, said he had charge of the vouchers for legal service. He told of an incident in California in 1897 when the insurance commissioner of that state demanded an examination of the Equitable. Thousands of dollars were spent by the society in this matter as accounted by McCurdy, and he justified the expenditure on the ground that it would have cost the Equitable about $40,000 had no defense been made, hence the expenditure for counsel.

Senator Depew was called to testify regarding a number of vouchers for legal services, but his knowledge of them was rather limited, and many of the expenditures and signers of these vouchers he declared he had never heard of. One voucher to John A. Nichols for legal services was accompanied by a letter to Depew referring to "our friend who comes around once a year" and "your cantankerous friend up the river." Depew said he knew Nichols had been retained at different times by the Equitable, but he did not know in what connection. Nichols, he said, was once quarantine commissioner and used to be in active politics.

Gage E. Tarbell, second vice president of the Equitable society, was called, and he told of his 26 years' connection with the Equitable and his activities in the interest of the policyholders. He was opposed to money being spent for legislative purposes and thought the policyholders in a body could defeat any legislation inimical to their interests. He said he had tried to interest the New York Life and the Mutual Life in an agreement to appoint a committee of one to look after such matters, but the officers of the Mutual Life said it was impracticable. Tarbell knew of no money expended for legislative purposes.

Squires' Deposition Taken

New York, Nov. 18.—The deposition of George H. Squire, former financial manager of the Equitable Life Assurance society, was taken here before a sub-committee of the Armstrong legislative committee on insurance investigation, in lieu of Squires' appearance before the committee because of his poor health. The deposition was not made public, as it will be read for the record when the sessions of the Armstrong committee are resumed. None of the persons present would give any intimation as to the replies Squire made to the charges that had been made by various witnesses during the investigation, nor would they say in what manner Squire explained the various financial transactions in his name, the trustee account, or the J. W. Alexander No. 3 account, with all of which his name has been connected.

Longshoremen Adopt Flat Scale

St. John, Nov. 18.—The St. John Longshoremen's association last night fixed a new rate of wages for ship laborers' work—35 cents an hour for 12 months from Monday next. The rate last winter was 30 cents an hour, with 10 cents extra on grain and half pay for waiting time. The summer rate was 40 cents. The grain extra and the waiting time charge are now abolished.

Hearst's Campaign Expenses

New York, Nov. 18.—William R. Hearst, candidate for mayor of New York on the Municipal Ownership ticket, certified to the secretary of state that his total campaign expenses were $65,843.25. This breaks the record which was previously held by Governor Higgins, who spent during the last state campaign $22,000.

Popular Soubrette Insane

New York, Nov. 18.—Nellie McCoy, the vivacious little soubrette of "The Earl and the Girl," who has been pleasing the audiences at the Casino with her rendition of "Poor Little Marionette," has become violently insane and is now in the psycopathic ward at Bellevue.

Norwegians Want Prince Charles

Christiana, Nov. 18.—The final result of the plebiscite shows that 259,563 votes were cast in favor of Prince Charles and 69,264 against him. A deputation conveying a formal offer of the throne to Prince Charles will leave this evening for Copenhagen.

The Red Man's Thanksgiving

How Reservation Indians Enjoy the Day. A Pony Smoke Popular—Killing Their Own Meat

INTEREST in Thanksgiving day and its observance is just as intense these days among the reservation Indians as in college towns where great football games are scheduled to occur. Especially is this true in the southwest, where the Indians have had an opportunity to become thoroughly civilized of late years. The white people find no more enjoyment in this day of universal cheer than do these same dusky redskins.

It is a day of feasting, playing and gaming, with a big dance at night. Such sport only comes once a year to them nowadays, when they have had to forsake the scalping knife for the plow. Their wild nature revolted at the idea of work, and it has been with much difficulty that the government agents have made farmers out of the young braves. A day of rest and amusement is considered good for their better nature, and the government authorities are willing that Thanksgiving day shall become a festal time for the reservation wards of the nation.

The Osages hold a big feast at Pawhuska, their capital city. All members of the tribe are invited to take part in the festivities. At the beginning and end of each meal, and there are many, the aged missionary who lives among them is invited to deliver a short prayer, thanking the Great Spirit for the good things which the agent has sent them. The food is cooked by the squaws, and, while it could be prepared in a much cleaner and more tasteful manner, the cooking is an improvement over that of a few years ago.

The Apaches and Cheyennes are in the habit of holding a pony smoke. Often the Osages indulge in this expensive festival. A pony smoke is a friendly meeting of two tribes and is especially appropriate for the occasion. The tribe giving the smoke is supposed to bear all the expenses. They provide the best game and vegetables in the market for their guests, and at the end of the first day's meeting they present a good pony to the head of each family visiting them. As a tribe consists of from 300 to 500 families, the expenses soon mount high. The Osages, being the richest reservation Indians, can better afford to hold pony smokes, and they generally invite several hundred guests from the Poncas, Tonkawas and surrounding tribes. Those accepting the ponies are supposed to return the gift with equally expensive ones later on, but few of them are in the position so to do.

MEDICINE MEN DANCE THEIR APPROVAL.

The Poncas hold every Thanksgiving as a beef issue day. If the agent does not come forward and present them with a herd of cattle for this occasion they mortgage their property and buy cattle of some neighboring ranchman. A beef issue is the most typical and also the most picturesque of Indian Thanksgiving celebrations. For years the government has forbidden the issue of beef after the manner of an old time issue, but on especial occasions they are allowed the amusement of killing their own meat. It is said by the government officers who succeeded in having the practice stopped that beef issues tend to make the Indian wilder and more difficult to civilize.

A hundred cattle are turned loose in a large pasture. The young men of the tribe are mounted on mustangs and have shining guns. With the good wishes of the squaws and medicine men ringing in their ears, they ride out to kill the cattle. The beasts have no chance for life whatever. The chase is accompanied by an undue amount of wild yelling, while excitement grows intense in the camp. The smell of fresh blood makes the squaws wild, as it were. After all the cattle have been shot down then the killers give a signal which means that all of the tribe are at liberty to rush forth and secure their portion. A half beef is awarded to each squaw. The beef is cleaned and cooked on a fire on the open plain, while the medicine men dance their approval and the warriors sing in their glee. The feast follows with more dancing, and the whole day is thus spent, ending late at night with a final gorge.—New York Tribune.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Miss Nan Carter arrived home today for the holidays.

Miss M. Lizzie Furnald is confined to her home on Washington street by illness.

William Warner, commander of Post 88, G. A. R., is seriously ill at his home in South Quincy.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Horton are moving today from Independence avenue to South street, Quincy Point. They will occupy the house just vacated by Mr. Ferrin.

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. will be held in the association building Friday, November twenty-fourth at three o'clock. It is a very important meeting and it is hoped that all the members will be present.

A very pleasant surprise was tendered Arthur McFarland Thursday, the 9th, upon the anniversary of his tenth birthday, when fifteen of his little friends and schoolmates gathered at his home on Arlington street after school hours, and with games, music and refreshments made the event a memorable one.

Three Sales.

The following real estate sales are reported through the office of Herbert T. Whitman.

To William A. McLeod, 11,000 feet of land on Vernon street. Mr. McLeod will erect a manufacturing plant.

To Frederick Barnicoat, 12,000 feet of land on Bradford street. Mr. Barnicoat will erect houses on the land.

To Arthur B. Foster, 5000 feet of land with house thereon on Bay View street, Quincy Point.

TODAY'S COURT.

John J. Ford was arraigned for drunkeness at Quincy. Case continued until Dec. 2.

The liquors seized from Walter A. Pope and John Bean of Weymouth were forfeited.

The liquors siezed from Patrick J. Whalan at Randolf were forfeited.

The continued case of Fred F. Brockaway, for manslaughter, was called and again continued until Nov. 25.

Peter Muranio was fined $50 for violation of the liquor law at Weymouth.

The continued cases of Albert Frazier and Elmira J. Nelson for adultery at Quincy were heard and they were held in $500 each for the grand jury.

BORN.

QUINN—In Quincy, Nov. 11, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Launcelot J. Quinn of 31 Bigelow street.

DYEING.

In case of mourning, Clothes Dyed Fast Black and finished in from 3 to 5 days, at Warshaw's Quincy Steam Dye House.

Established 1892.

1503 Hancock street, Quincy.

BRAINTREE.

Mr. and Mrs. James Chick of Wolfboro, N. H., are visiting their daughter Mrs. H. W. Doane of West street.

It is the general opinion that the new coat of green paint on the mail boxes throughout the town is not so attractive as the aluminum finish.

Mr. F. A. Bates of Union street has been appointed state agent for suppressing gypsy and browntail moths. The right man for that position.

Miss Gertrude Allen was unable to attend to her duties at the Fore River Ship and Engine Co. this week, being confined to her home with an attack of tonsilitis.

Williams & Kneeland's shoe factory is now in full operation and the employees are ready for the new run having enjoyed the long vacation.

On Sunday evening, December third, Rev. John Snyder, author of "As Ye Sow," is to speak in the South Congregational church. A treat is in store for us all.

Thursday evening in the Town hall another of those popular socials of the Braintree Fife and Drum corps was held. About one hundred couples were present and the affair was successful in every respect.

At the selectmen's room Monday morning a hearing was given on the petition of the Old Colony Street Railway for permission to carry baggage on its cars through the streets of Braintree, the representatives of the company spoke in favor of the petition and no opposition came up. The selectmen reserved their decision.

The annual parish social and reception of the South Congregational church and society was held last Wednesday evening from eight to ten. It was a great success. The chapel was crowded with guests all the evening and so close were the people packed that there was every opportunity to get acquainted. The Social was in charge of the pastor's aid committee and so efficiently did they discharge their duty that everybody was delighted.

While riding to his work at the Fore River Works on a bicycle Simon Delorey of Elliot street, East Braintree was run into, upset, and run over. It is feared that there are internal injuries. Seeing a team approaching he turned out and a second team did the mischief.

The Missionary Society held its annual Thank-offering meeting with Mrs. Crathern in the parsonage. The study was well filled with ladies who listened attentively to the account of our mission stations in Africa—a paper read by Mrs. Sprague of Marshfield. A responsive praise service was read, hymns were sung and the thank-offering envelopes collected—with a result most satisfactory to all present. Ice cream and cake were passed by the little daughters of the hostess and a pleasant social hour enjoyed.

In the Town hall, Wednesday evening next, will be given by a very capable cast of amateur actors, that stirring war play, "In Double Peril," relating to incidents during our Civil War. It is one of the strongest plays ever put on the stage of our Town hall. The cast of characters includes:

Edwin Darrington,	Benjamin Woodsum
Lieut. Harmer,	Elihu Oliver
Arthur Toddles,	Frank Allen
Sergeant,	Clifton Bestick
Mildred Vernon,	Edith Brett
Agnes Dale,	Beatrice Borden
Soldiers and Drum Corps

The address by Principal Campbell of Piedmont college, Georgia, on the work of the American Missionary association, in educatiug and christianizing the poor whites of the mountains was intensely interesting. He contrasted the limited ignorant and perhaps vicious and degraded lives of the Mountain whites with the happier lives of our educated, enlightened, though poor citizens of the northern states. A collection was taken at the close of the address. Rev. Robert H. Cochrane conducted the opening service of devotion and introduced the speaker. The antbem "Crown Him" with solos for soprano, mezzo soprano, tenor and bass with a tenor solo "Face to Face" sung with expression by Mr. Eugene Murphy and a Missionary hymn were musical helps to the service.

Rev. William J. Hyde of Weymouth will preach Sunday afternoon at three o'clock in the Mayflower Park chapel.

Wednesday evening, the members of Antietam Camp No. 32. Sons of Veterans went to Randolph and mustered in a new camp in that town. Refreshments were served and with speech-making and socialibility the evening was pronounced a first rate success.

The last lesson of the field class in geology was held on Saturday. The yearly part of the lesson was devoted to the study of the smaller animals in the labratory of the Natural History Rooms, Boston. The class then took the cars to Faneuil, where muskrats' nests were examined. This was the last lesson of the season. Mrs. H. A. Penniman and Miss Sarah L. Arnold attended from our town.

Mr. D. W. Howard of Boston will give an illustrated lecture this evening at the South Congregational church on "Sheridan in the Shenandoah Valley." All colored views. Members of the Grand Army, Woman's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans cordially invited.

The teachers of the Noah Torrey school spent Thursday in visiting out of town schools, hoping thus to gain inspiration and obtain new ideas that would be profitably employed in the advancement of their own school. The enthusiastic principal of the school, beleiving in the development of the body as well as in the development of the mind, intends forming classes in physical culture at once.

Mr. W. H. H. Bailey of Union street is very good at telling fish stories but as a fisherman he has poor luck. About two weeks ago, accompanied by a "silver top" he went smelting. All Mr. Bailey got for his hard day's work was a severe cold which has kept him in bed for two weeks. We are glad to hear that Mr. Bailey is improving rapidly and will be about in a few days.

Mr. J. H. G. Robinson is having a cellar dug for a double tenement house, with modern conveniences, on his land between Sherbrooke avenue and the Baptist church.

The beautiful estate of Mr. T. H. Emerson, so finely situated on Bellevue road, commands an extended prospect on all sides and reveals ever widening views as the trees lose their foliage.

Ancient costumes were in great demand for the old colonial supper and concert at the vestry of the Baptist church, Weymouth, on Wednesday evening.

Miss Wilde, principal of the Jonas Perkins School has received a letter from her pupil, Henry Mullen, who is at the Massachusetts general hospital. The wound on the knee is healing as rapidly as could be expected.

At the Union church last Sunday morning, the audience had the pleasure of listening to an address by President Chamberlin of Piedmont college, Demorest, Ga., on the work of the American Missionary Association among the white people. The collection taken for the work of this association amounted to $30.25.

Dr. O. G. Tinkham of Weymouth has received a two years' surgical appointment as house officer, at the Boston city hospital and will enter upon his service January first. His many Braintree friends wish the young doctor success.

Did your automobile get frozen up? The water in many a boiler congealed beneath the stern grasp of winter's blast. Careful owners removed the water from the boiler, and felt secure during the cold snap, then when next they speeded their auto-car Lo, and behold, the machinery grew hot! Steam hissed loudly, and an explosion threatened, until the boiler was refilled with a proper amount of water. Machinery must be watched, and cared for in sudden changes of temperature.

General S. Thayer Post 87, G. A. R., has decided to hold a fair commencing Tuesday evening, Feb. 6, 1906, and running three nights. They will present a good class of amusements, particulars of which will be advertised in the local papers later on. A strong committee has the matter in charge and will do their utmost to make the fair a success.

Under the auspices of the Baptist church chorus choir, a colonial tea and old folks' concert was given in the vestry of the First Baptist church, Weymouth Landing Wednesday evening. At six o'clock a banquet was served, with covers laid for 200, and an old-fashioned New England supper was had, with 25 members of the choir dressed in the costumes of "ye olden tyme" as the servitors.

Have you noticed how long the orchards keep a show of leaves? The apple trees have still a remnant of foliage clinging to their branches albeit some what withered and sere. Do you feel pensive and sad at the fall of the leaf? Not so the naturalist. He realizes that the leaf buds for next year are already formed and though sheathed and protected by a thick almost impervious covering yet there on the twigs and boughs, they are all ready to burst into leafage after the winter's cold andadorn each tree with new foliage, in the milder air of spring.

The Unity Circle of King's Daughters met with Mrs. C. D. Harlow of Quincy avenue, on Tuesday afternoon.

Peter Levangie, son of W. D. Levangie of Sheppard avenue, is able to see his friends, while at the hospital for treatment. His schoolmates and friends hope for his speedy recovery.

We regret to learn of the serious accident that befell Augustus T. Johnson of Hayward street on Thursday. Mr. Johnson was at work on the battleship at the Fore River Works and fell from the bridge of the mighty ship, striking on his head. He was rendered unconscious.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

A varienty program of exceptional strength and capitally balanced is announced from Keith's for the week of Nov. 20. There will be what is fast becoming the usual enough European acts on the program and many of the most noted vaudevillians of this country. Prominent in the list will be Louis Simon and Grace Gardner, assisted by a competent company in the hilariously funny commedy sketch, "The New Coachman." The surrounding show is an excellent one, containing not a poor act in its entire length, and including the wonderful Dollar troupe, one the best of acrobatic acts; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Truesdell, in the comedy sketch "Aunt Louisa's Advice"; O. K. Sato, comedy juggler; Cabaret's dogs, one of the prettiest canine acts ever seen in the varieties; Thomas and Payne, "real coon" commedians, singers and dancers; Cherry and Bates, comedy and trick bicyclists, and Lillian LeRoy, "the little girl with the big voice." There will be special entertainment for the childen and the usual new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be exhibited in the kinetograh.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

"As Ye Sow" a comedy drama, filled with abundant action and such interesting elements as a deserted wife, missing child, marching soldiers, brother rival to brother, a cheery spinster, an emotional heroine, a manly minister and a host of other characters is drawing the same enthusiastic capacity testing audiences at the Majestic theatre as during the first month of its presentation. The scene is laid on Cape Cod and the local atmosphere is introduced by means of a group of life savers with a jolly, robust captain, who provide lots of fun and finally to bring about a dramatic climax by saving the crew of a wrecked vessel. The fiftieth presentation in Boston of Rev. John Snyder's "As Ye Sow" was marked last Monday night by the presentation to each lady in the audience with a beautiful souvenir in the form of a silver seasoning set. The seventh week of its stay commences with next Monday evening's performance and seats are on sale for four weeks in advance indicating a continuance of this successful engagement.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

The excessive demand for seats for the performance of "The Crisis" at the Empire Theatre has led Manager Morison to depart from the usual custom at this theatre and continue this play for a second week beginning Monday Nov. 20. This action will, without doubt give great satisfaction to those who have yet to gain a knowledge of this most fascinating drama of the opening days of the rebellion. Great preparations are being made for the revival of Joseph Arthur's famous realistic drama "Blue Jeans" which is to follow "The Crisis" at the Empire, and the scenic and mechanical departments of the theatre will show some novel effects in this production.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The production of "Diplomacy" at the Castle Squre theatre next week brings another Sardou play before the Boston public. Only a few weeks ago, his "Cleopatra" was cordially and enthusiastically received, and now his "Diplomacy" will show another phase of the great Frenchman's talent. "Diplomacy" is a highly exciting drama of love and political intrigue, and its successive scenes develop a plot that keeps the audience in a constant state of suspense. The central character is a gifted adventuress in the service of the Russian government, and it requires the united action of almost the entire dramatis personæ to thwart her evil purposes.

Criminal Negligence

Judge Avery Finds Motorman Brockaway Guilty Of Manslaughter

Judge Avery rendered his finding this morning on the inquest held before him Sept. 8, on the death of Joseph A. Vaughn, who died at the City hospital, Quincy, July 24, as a result of the street railway accident at Hingham, July 22.

Vaughn and Patrick F. Larkin, with others, were at work on a tower wagon as the foot of Old Colony hill, Hingham, when a construction car in charge of Fred Brockaway dashed down the hill into the wagon. Larkin died a short time after the accident and Vaughn died the second day after at the Quincy City hospital.

Immediately after the inquest before Judge Avery, Brockaway was arrested for manslaughter. The hearing on the case is assigned for next Saturday. Brockaway is now out under $1,000 bonds.

After reviewing the evidence at the inquest, Judge Avery, in concluding his report, says: "I find the following facts to have been established by the evidence introduced: "That just prior to the accident Fred S. Brockaway, the motorman in charge of the service car, appeared to have been more or less under the influence of liquor:

"That Robert B. Stitt, who was with Brockaway in the front vestibule of said service car just prior to the accident and was apparently taking part in the running of the car was then very much under the influence of liquor;

"That from the top of the Old Colony hill where the car came to a full stop and from the switch at least, it was possible to see the tower wagon standing where it was across the track at the point where, subsequently, the collision happened;

"That the distance from the top of the hill to the place where the accident happened is between 300 and 400 yards;

"That the speed of the car just prior to the collision was at the rate of between 10 and 15 miles an hour.

"That the braking apparatus on this car was no way defective and if the motorman had been careful and attending to his duties, the car could have been stopped within at least 75 feet; under the conditions then existing.

"That the street for a short distance at least before coming to the place where this collision happened was flat and level.

"It appears, therefore, that gross negligence on the part of Fred S. Brockaway of Quincy, contributed to the death of said Joseph A. Vaughn, and that in consequence of said criminal negligence, manslaughter has been committed by said Fred S. Brockaway."

Honesty Rewarded.

Through the honesty of two Braintree young ladies, Miss Maria and Miss Annie Levangie, George Crane of Washington street has recovered his pocketbook containing $345. Mr. Crane, who is at work in South Braintree, was unfortunate enough Saturday night to lose from his hip pocket his pocketbook which contained among other things $345 in money.

The pocketbook was found by the two Levangie girls. They saw Mr. Crane's name among the papers in the pocketbook, and Sunday afternoon walked to Quincy Point and delivered it to him.

Mr. Crane was overjoyed at recovering his property, and he gave each a substantial reward for returning the pocketbook.

The two young ladies live on Dyer hill, Braintree, where they are well known and respected.

Sudden Death Of J. H. Bisson

James H. Bisson whose face has been familar about the Quincy depot for many years, died at the Carney Hospital, Boston on Saturday after a surgical operation. Mr. Bisson had been troubled with his hip for sometime. The ailment was laid to rheumatism and he was treated for that at first. When it was learned that there was a growth on the hip an operation was decided upon.

It was after this operation that he died. Mr. Bisson was in company with his brother Alfred W. Bisson, the firm maintaining a carriage stand at the Quincy depot for many years. He was of a congenial nature, and made many friends, and his death will be regretted by many. He was 42 years of age, and leaves a widow and two children.

Sabbath Protection

Martin D. Kneeland, D. D., for ten years secretary of the New England Sabbath Protective League addressed two congregations in Quincy, speaking at Bethany Congregational church in the morning and the Quincy Point church in the evening.

He claimed that the Sabbath was made for man—mentally, physically and morally. That the open Sabbath and open saloon go together. That there is much unnecessary work on the Sabbath. That the leaders of labor union are unanimous against Sunday work. The speaker said he did not advocate a Puritanical Sabbath, or a reenactment of the "blue laws. He knew the league had accomplished much in stopping unnecessary Sunday work. But the demands on the league were never greater than today.

The objects of the league are to maintain the observance of the Lord's Day, as a civil rest day and a day for religious uses, defending it against the encroachments of business and pleasure. Its methods include organization and agitation, instruction by press, pulpit and platform, education of the young and morally ignorant, the protection and enforcement of Sunday laws, and the securing better legislation in the interests of the workingman and of good citizenship.

Collections were taken to aid in this work.

Birthday Party.

Master Lindall Williams entertained a number of his young friends at his home, 16 Newcomb place, Saturday afternoon, the occasion being his ninth birthday. The time was pleasantly spent with juvenile games and pastimes. During the afternoon a tempting luncheon was served, to which the little folks did full justice. The table was prettily decorated with flowers and at each plate was placed a small souvenir.

When the little guests departed for their homes, they wished Master Lindall many more happy birthdays and left him some pretty remembrances of the occasion.

Among those present were: Elton Chase, Karl Sidelinger, Perry Veader, Raymond Johnston, Edwin Farr, Theo Rice, George Woodsum, Donald Bryant, Harold Round, Richard Hart, Willis Johnston, John Veader, John McDonald, George Round.

Death of Former Resident.

Allan McKinlay, a former resident of Quincy, died Sunday at the Hoffman house, Boston. He was a member of John Hancock lodge, I. O. O. F., and Hodenasaunee tribe of Red Men of Wollaston. He was 38 years of age and leaves a widow.

Granite Shipments.

Returns from the shipping terminals for the month of October, show the amount of granite shipped from Quincy that month to have been 14,572,030 pounds, an increase of 2,372,968 pounds over previous month. The amount from each terminal was; West Quincy, 7,393,845 pounds; South Quincy, 7,178,185 pounds.

No Public Bequests by H. H. Faxon's Will

Leaves All His Property Valued at Million To His Only Son

HENRY MUNROE FAXON.

There will be some surprise, perhaps disappointment, that there are no public bequests by the will of Henry H. Faxon, but one should not be too hasty in criticising Mr. Faxon, who is already one of Quincy's benefactors.

Probably he has given more to Quincy and to our churches and charity than any other benefactor, not excepting the late Thomas Crane, in whose memory the Public Library building was erected; Dr. Ebenezer Woodward, who left a fund for the founding of the Woodward Institute; President John Adams, who founded Adams Academy; Hon. William B. Rice, who founded the City Hospital of Quincy; Hon. Charles Francis Adams, who gave the city, Merrymount Park, or William Coddington, Cotton Centre Johnson, Elias A. Perkins and others, who have generously remembered Quincy.

Mr. Faxon bequeaths all his property to his son, Henry Munroe Faxon, but it is possible that there is an understanding that the younger Faxon will in some way erect a memorial in Quincy to his father as did the sons of Thomas Crane.

As already noted by a correspondent, Henry H. Faxon gave to Quincy some years ago a thirty acre tract on Penns hill known as Faxon Park which will be appreciated more and more as the years go by.

If Mr. Faxon had provided for the expenditure of $1,000 or $2,000 per year on this park, it would soon blossom into a delightful recreation ground.

The Daily Ledger has been unable to interview Henry M. Faxon today, because of his absence from town.

The full text of the will of Henry H. Faxon is given below:

"Know all men by these present that I, Henry H. Faxon of Quincy, in the county of Norfolk and commonwealth of Massachusetts, do make this my last will hereby revoking any and all other wills by me at any time heretofore made.

"I give, devise and bequeath all my estate, real, personal and mixed, of every name and nature, of which I may die seized, possessed, or to which I may be entitled, to my son, Henry M. Faxon, to have and to hold, to him and his heirs and assigns forever.

"I appoint my said son executor of this my last will, and direct that he be exempt from furnishing sureties on his official bond.

"Hereby granting unto said executor full power and authority to sell, assign, transfer and convey the whole or any part of my estate, and to invest and reinvest the proceeds thereof in such manner and upon such terms as he may deem advisable. No purchaser from said executor shall be answerable for the application of the purchase money.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this sixteenth day of February, nineteen hundred and five. Henry H. Faxon.

"Signed, sealed, published and declared by the said Henry H. Faxon as and for his last will, in our presence, who in his presence and at his request have subscribed our names as witnesses hereto.

"Ellen A. Pike,
"James F. Young,
"C. A. Howland, Jr."

In the words of the Herald which can hardly be improved upon, the heir does not inherit the characteristics of his father except that he is a very shrewd and capable business man. He is very conservative in his methods and lacks that aggressiveness which characterized his father in some particulars. He is, however, like his father, a strong opponent of intoxicating liquors.

Mr. Faxon was born in Quincy and has always resided here. He was born May 22, 1864. His mother was Mary B. Munroe, who was the daughter of the late Israel Munroe, for many years president of the Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Mr. Faxon was educated in the schools of Quincy and the English High School of Boston. While at the English High he was an officer of a military company connected with the school.

Mr. Faxon was one of the organizers of the Quincy Electric Light & Power Company, and has been its treasurer almost the entire time since its organization. Through Mr. Faxon's keen business methods the business has steadily increased and until today the company is in a strong financial condition. For the past year he has had the entire charge of his father's vast estate.

Mr. Faxon is an enthusiastic yachtsman and a member of the Quincy Yacht Club. He has done much to increase the standing of yachting and to improve the model of sailing craft. He was commodore of the club in 1893-4. He has built a number of craft, among them being the Rocket, Primrose, Hostess, Marvel, and he acquired the Cleopatra, owned by Fanny Davenport, with which he defended the Crowhurst cup at Manchester. He organized the crew for the yacht Recruit, which was owned and built for Commodore Fred B. Rice, she being the first boat built to defend the $500 challenge cup in the open races. He sailed the craft for Mr. Rice, winning the race, and showed great skill and daring in handling the extreme type of boats built to defend the challenge cup. His last boat was The Flashlight, which he now owns.

Mr. Faxon resides on Adams street, and his home life is of a most happy character. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Curtis Morrison, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Elmer Morrison of Braintree, on August 31, 1893. Four children have been born to them, three of whom are living, namely, Mary, 11 years; Henry, 6, and Dorothy 3. Mr. and Mrs. Faxon are members of the First Unitarian church and active workers. Mr. Faxon is now, and has been for some time past, one of the board of assessors of the church and has done much to promote the work of the church. He is greatly interested in the work of the Sunday school and has done much to promote its welfare.

Mr. Faxon is a man of most kindly nature, and is of a charitable disposition. Everything which he has done in that line has been done quietly, and generally no one has known of it except the recipient and himself. It has always been his aim to avoid publicity.

In early life it was his desire to go to college, but through the influence of his father he gave up his wish in that respect, his father desiring that his education should be practical.

Mrs. Faxon is a most charming woman, and of an amiable disposition, and like her husband is of a very benevolent character. She has a host of friends, and is very popular and highly esteemed by both rich and poor.

Mr. Faxon's only public office has been that of Councilman, having served two or three years.

Dr. Everett's Remedy

Dr. William Everett of this city, a former Congressman, was one of the speaker Friday evening at the monthly dinner of the Massachusetts Reform Club, when the increasing powers of the National Senate, was the topic assigned. The doctor has radical ideas, and is reported by the Globe as follows:

He began by saying that all thinking Americans believe the national senate is usurping powers that do not constitutionally belong to it.

He said that in fear of the President becoming a monarch the founders of the government gave the senate great powers and today it takes both the house of representatives and the President by the throat and strangles both ill they assent to such measures as the senate wants.

The speaker denied that the senate's right to "advise and consent" in the matter of executive appointments authorizes it to reject nominations by the President which are faultless. He discussed and ridiculed so-called senatorial courtesy. He said the senate has been for years not an adviser, but the master of the President in the matter of treaties,

The Senate is really a luxurious club, in which the members legislate largely for their own mutual benefit, he asserted. He wished Theodore Roosevelt had remained till now as vice president and presiding officer of the senate.

The speaker believed there would have been more presiding than there has of late years and that more business would have been transacted. He added that the small number comprising the senate makes the members close of fellowship, arrogant and the objects of fawning and sycophancy on the part of outsiders.

As for the charge sometimes made that senators are sometimes corrupt, the speaker asked, "Why shouldn't they be, when public opinion for generations past has been teaching children that to make money for money's sake is the chief end of citizenship?"

As for the remedy, the speaker said it lay with the people, who will have no difficulty about making their sentiments known whenever they object to the appointment of a bad man as senator.

He did not favor tinkering the constitution, but would have the President negotiate his treaties without regard to the senate and house of representatives, run the risk of leaving the government with less revenue, rather than to allow the senate to dictate appropriation or revenue bills, in violation of the constitution, which gives the house alone the right to originate taxes.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Through cars from City Square to Dudley street every fifteen minutes will give Quincy exceptionally good service. That the patronage of the line will increase rapidly there can be no doubt. The greatest benefit to Quincy will be in attracting new people whose business is in Boston to become residents of this city.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ "There are no buttons on Japanese clothes." Think of it dear wives, not a button on underwear outerwear in Japan! No wonder that family life is quieter and more peaceful in the flowery isles. Moreover, the purity of masculine speech should be greater there than here. Hunt-the-collar button is evidently not a familiar game over the ocean. Who wouldn't be a Jap?—Sciolus in Milford Gazette.

☞ Henry M. Whitney got a square deal for sure from the President. The former went on the stump and misquoted the President on the tariff question, knowing that in a heated state campaign he could not, with propriety, make any denial or response. The surprising thing is that a man of Mr. Whitney's high standing should indulge in misrepresentation, and make the President the victim of adding his great name and influence to a scheme for promoting Democratic success. The rebuke from Mr. Roosevelt was timely and to the point.—Hyde Park Gazette.

MANY LIVES LOST

Ninety-Nine Supposed to Have Perished In Wreck

STEAMER STRUCK A REEF

None of the First Class Passengers Was Saved--So Far as Known There Are But Six Survivors--Disaster Off Brittany

London, Nov. 20.—With passengers and crew numbering more than 100, the Southwestern railway's cross-channel steamer Hilda foundered and the majority of the persons on board were drowned.

The Hilda left Southampton Friday night for St. Malo, on the north coast of France. Her passage was greatly delayed by a fog in the channel, and when nearing St. Malo she ran into a severe snowstorm, apparently missed her course, and foundered on the rocks off Jardin lighthouse, three miles from St. Malo.

The company's steamer Ada, outward from St. Malo, rescued five of the passengers and one of the crew. These are believed to be the only survivors.

A telegram from St. Servan, adjoining the town of St. Malo, gives the few particulars yet available. The Hilda was near St. Malo Saturday morning. She struck the rocks at 4 o'clock Sunday morning in the roadstead off the island of Cezambre. She had missed the tide owing to bad weather and fog. The majority of the crew and passengers were asleep at the time. The top of the Hilda's funnel and her mast are visible at low tide, according to the telegram from St. Servan.

The Southwestern Railway company is as yet unable to give a list of the Hilda's passengers, but they say that a score booked passage at stations between London and Southampton and that to the best of their knowledge 99 persons were drowned and only six saved.

The company is still without reliable details as to how the disaster happened. Its agent at St. Malo only briefly reported: "The Ada has put back and reports the Hilda is a total wreck at Les Portes reef, outside Jardin lighthouse. The Ada's boat saved five onion men and a seaman named Grinter out of the rigging. They appear to be the only survivors."

The Hilda was built at Glasgow in 1882 and registered 848 tons. She was a screw steamer of iron construction and was 235 feet in length.

St. Malo, Nov. 20.—The exact number of lives lost on the Hilda is unknown here. It is understood that there were about 20 first-class passengers, and it is known that all the first-class passengers were drowned. These passengers were English officers and others who were coming to rejoin their families or to spend the season at St. Malo and Dinard (opposite St. Malo).

It appears to be certain that only six were saved, these being five onion sellers and an English seaman named Grinter, and that the total number on board, including the crew, was 105.

The delay in the arrival of the Hilda at first inspired little anxiety, as there was dreadful weather in the channel and as everyone had full confidence in Captain Gregory, an experienced man who was likely to exercise caution in approaching the dangerous coast of Brittany, which he had known for 30 years.

The disaster was first suspected through the washing ashore of a body and the port authorities immediately sent out a tug. It was then learned that the Hilda was wrecked in a treacherous reef close to the island of Cezambre, called "Les Portes." She had apparently struck, broken her back and immediately sank, leaving no time to launch the boats. The Jardin light is quite close to the spot. It cannot yet be explained at what time or how the disaster occurred. The entrance to St. Malo is dangerous, the currents and rocks needing the exercise of considerable caution at all times, but more especially in bad weather.

Many bodies have been washed ashore at different points, some wearing life belts. Six of the survivors, according to a report in circulation here, were rescued by the Ada from the rigging.

Ancestral Worship Concluded

Tokio, Nov. 20.—Emperor Mutsuhito has returned here from the Shinto Temples of Ise, where he went last Tuesday accompanied by court dignitaries to offer thanks to his ancestors for the successful termination of the war and the restoration of peace. The emperor was greeted with enthusiastic cheering. It is not customary for the populace to shout in the presence of the emperor.

Mexico to Have Fibre Trust

Mexico City, Nov. 20.—Henequin, or sisal grass planters of the state of Yucatan, are planning an association to maintain the price of henequin fibre, which is mostly exported to the United States. The project is to be capitalized at $50,000,000. All the details of organization have been settled.

Must Have Tranquility First

St. Petersburg, Nov. 20.—The Official Messenger, in addition to denying that the measures taken by the government in Poland were influenced by neighboring powers, states that martial law in Poland will be repealed so soon as tranquility is restored.

BOSTON IS HELL

The Impression Gained by a Clergyman From Atlanta

Boston, Nov. 20.—"Boston is hell. Put a school on every corner, a university in every square, Boston would still be hell, because it is without the blood of Christ. If half of what your politicians said about each other is true, then the devil might as well remove headquarters and establish himself in Boston." So said Rev. Dr. Broughton at Tremont temple yesterday.

Remarkable revival scenes were witnessed at Tremont temple when Dr. Broughton of Atlanta took for his subject "If Christ Came to Boston."

He prefaced his address with a reference to the acts of the apostles and said: "Personally I have no more doubt about the return of the Lord to the earth than I have of our existence at this time. It may be a strong statement to some of you, but to me it is in thorough keeping with my own feelings. I say again the Lord will return. He will rule the earth for 1000 years, with his throne in Jerusalem.

"There can be no pure government in Boston, no pure society, as long as the devil remains here. The devil has never been in hell. He is here, I say, and the angel of God will arrest him and he will be locked up for a thousand years in the pit."

Duffey Records Stricken Out

New York, Nov. 20.—The Amateur Athletic union's record committee has authorized J. E. Sullivan, secretary of the union and publisher of the record book, to eliminate every mark of distinction and championship performance with which Arthur F. Duffey has been credited, these having been made upon the assumption that he was an amateur, as evidenced by his signing of entry forms, etc. This determination by the committee displaces several records held by Duffey.

Rossa Welcomed to Cork

Cork, Nov. 20.—Several thousands participated in a demonstration of welcome to O'Donovan Rossa, his arrival coinciding with the annual demonstration in memory of the "Manchester martyrs," Allen, Larkin and O'Brien. The new house which has been purchased and furnished by admirers of Rossa was formally presented to him. Rossa is to assume the duties of secretary of the Cork county council, to which he was elected last September.

Depositors Will Lose Nothing

St. John, Nov. 20.—W. E. Stavert, liquidator of the Bank of Yarmouth, announces that depositors of the institution will be paid in full. The bank closed its doors on March 6, owing more than $1,000,000. Under the law the stockholders were liable for 100 percent of their holdings, and through an assessment upon them it is possible to meet all claims. The losses to the stockholders are expected to be heavy.

No Signs of Anarchy

Havana, Nov. 20.—The municipal council of the Isle of Pines issued a lengthy statement denying the charges that the island is in a condition bordering on anarchy and is without proper courts, schools, facilities for the protection of life and property, etc. The statement alleges that the records show the actual ownership by Americans of lands in the island to be far smaller than has been asserted.

Hospitality Well Repaid

Pittsburg, Nov. 20.—Fred Fleck, a locomotive engineer of the Pennsylvania road, has received a letter from Andrew Carnegie enclosing a check for $1000 to pay for a luncheon which Carnegie ate in Fleck's engine cab years ago when he was riding with the engineer. Carnegie, it appears, was ravenously hungry, and gladly dined on the contents of Fleck's dinner pail. He has now paid for that meal.

Result of Vladivostok Riot

Tokio, Nov. 20.—An eye-witness of the recent riot at Vladivostok reports that nearly half the city was burned and that 600 of the garrison were killed; that the jail was thrown open, and that General Kappek is missing. The damage is estimated at $25,000,000. Soldiers from Harbin are reported to have joined the rioters.

Alfonso to Wed British Princess

Madrid, Nov. 20.—The Correspondencia asserts that King Alfonso will be married to Princess Ena of Battenberg in May, 1906.

Princess Ena of Battenberg is the only daughter of the widow Princess Henry of Battenberg, who is the youngest sister of King Edward.

Miss McCoy's Misfortune

New York, Nov. 20.—Nellie McCoy, the actress who was taken to Bellevue hospital, suffering from nervous breakdown, has been taken to a sanitarium at Astoria, L. I. Complete rest and removal from the scenes of her work, it is thought, will result in Miss McCoy's recovery.

Another Riot at Kishineff

London, Nov. 20.—The Bucharest correspondent of The Daily Chronicle reports that on Saturday anti-Jewish rioting took place in Kishineff, resulting in pillage and arson, and that many persons were killed.

Prince's Visit Has Ended

New York, Nov. 20.—Prince Louis of Battenberg's visit to New York came to an end today. Officers of the squadron deny that wholesale desertions occurred from all the ships.

CAUGHT BY FLAMES

Thirty-Nine Men Perish In a Lodging House Fire

WERE ON FOURTH FLOOR

Evidences of Terrible Struggle to Escape--Many of the Survivors Left Without Undercloth-ing--Victims Are Workmen

Glasgow, Nov. 20.—The most terrible fire that has occurred in Great Britain for many years broke out here in a cheap lodging house for men in Watson street and resulted in the loss of 39 lives and the severe injury of many others.

The flames were first noticed at 6 o'clock Sunday morning on the fourth floor of the building, which was occupied by 330 men. An alarm was raised and the firemen were speedily in attendance, but flames and smoke were then issuing from most of the windows on the fourth floor. An extraordinary scene was created by a procession of almost naked men issuing from the door of the building, and against their frantic efforts to escape the firemen had actually to fight for admission.

Reaching the upper floor the firemen found that the narrow passages were becoming congested with men who dropped to the floor overcome by smoke. The fire was confined to the fourth floor, and as soon as the firemen were able to get to work it was speedily extinguished. The flames had been fed by the wooden partitions of the cubicles which threw off volumes of smoke, resulting in the suffocation of the inmates. Many on being brought to the street rallied in a few minutes, but others had to be taken to the hospitals.

The dead were mostly workmen in the prime of life. They presented a horrible spectacle, their blackened faces bearing evidence of terrible struggles to escape.

Many men were sleeping in the attic floor above the burning fourth floor and these had narrow escapes. The flames burst through the floor and it was impossible for the men to descend. The windows were securely fastened and the men had to break them so that they could climb through to neighboring roofs.

By 10 o'clock a search of the building was made and a complete list of the victims obtained, which showed that 39 were dead and 32 injured.

It appears to be the custom of these lodgers to sleep in a nude condition and the march of the survivors to the police station was a fantastic one. Some had snatched the covers of the beds and others their trousers, while many wore nothing. The local authorities had to be called upon to supply the men with clothing and warm meals.

Owing to their migratory habits and absence of permanent homes, many of the dead will never be identified. The identification of others is rendered difficult by the absence of clothing.

Whisky Goes Up In Flames

Broadford, Pa., Nov. 20.—At the A. Overholt distillery here 810,000 gallons of whisky furnished a spectacular fire, entailing a loss of $4,000,000. The main bonded warehouse, four stories in height, was burned to the ground. Flames from burning alcohol shot more than 100 feet into the air. As barrels of whisky burst the blazing liquid was splashed in all directions. The plant is practically owned by H. C. Frick and the Mellons of Pittsburg.

Prisoner's Wife Found Dead

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 20.—While Theodore Neejer was being arraigned in police court on a charge of petty larceny and drunkenness his son-in-law, John Schimmel, Jr., entered the police station and announced that Neejer's wife had been found dead at her home. The body was a mass of bruises and cuts, as though a blunt instrument had been used. Neejer denies that he assaulted his wife. He is in jail.

Bernhardt on a Hurry Trip

New York, Nov. 20.—In the private car Mayflower, Sarah Bernhardt left New York for Chicago last night over the New York Central railroad on a special schedule which the railroad officials say will take her to her destination in 18 hours. The actress and her company are booked to open in the western city tonight. Mme. Bernhardt and her company arrived in New York late yesterday afternoon on steamer La Touraine.

Murdered Brethren Remembered

New York, Nov. 20.—Memorial services for the Presbyterian missionaries who were murdered in Lienchau, China, on Oct. 28 last, were held yesterday at the Brick Presbyterian church. The victims of the massacre were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Peale, Mrs E. O. Machle and her daughter, Amy, and Dr. Eleanor Chestnut, a medical missionary.

Careless Handling of Shotgun

Rochester, Nov. 20.—Frank J. Wirth of this city, aged 21, was accidentally shot while returning from a duck hunting trip. He was with a party of young men and on their way home they were discharging their shotguns at objects along the road. One charge took effect in Wirth's abdomen and he died in half an hour.

Relief Fund of Nearly $500,000

New York, Nov. 20.—A total in subscriptions to the Jewish relief fund of $493,651.17 is announced by the national relief committee.

INSTANTLY KILLED

Young Woman Gets Contents of a Gun In Her Back

Great Barrington, Mass., Nov. 20.—Timothy Jackson, 35 years of age, is locked up at Canaan, Conn., charged with shooting and instantly killing Ophelia Penfield, 23 years old, of Sheffield, at the former's home in Falls Village, a small town 15 miles from here just over the state line in Connecticut.

Jackson claims that the shooting was the result of an accident. He had returned from the village to his home about midnight in a quarrelsome mood, and soon became involved in a dispute with his wife. Miss Penfield, who was visiting at the Jackson house, was present during the quarrel.

Jackson had been hunting earlier in the day and his gun stood in a corner of the room. Grabbing it up, with the intention, as he says, of frightening his wife, the weapon was discharged, the contents lodging in Miss Penfield's back, causing death instantaneously. All the parties concerned are negroes.

Motorman Killed In Collision

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 20.—The great majority of those injured in the Longmeadow trolley accident of Saturday, in which Motorman George A. Charron was killed, are pronounced out of danger, most of their injuries being cuts and abrasions. The head-on collision occurred on a curve on the Springfield and Hartford trolley line. The cars were telescoped, and Charron was pinned in the debris, both legs being crushed off below the knees. The motorman of the other car jumped just before the collision and escaped with slight injuries.

Bangor Loses Distinguished Citizen

Bangor, Me., Nov. 20.—Dr. Augustus C. Hamlin died at midnight at the age of 76 years. He was widely known as an author, artist, and as an authority on tourmalines, of which he is said to have owned the best collection in existence. He attained the rank of lieutenant colonel and medical inspector of the United States army in 1863 and served at the front during several engagements in the Civil war. In 1870 he was made chevalier of the Order of St. Anne by the Emperor of Russia.

No Pews Rented or Sold

Boston, Nov. 20.—The new Church of the Disciples, a parish founded in this city by the late Rev. James F. Clarke, was dedicated yesterday, free of debt. Rev. Charles G. Ames, the pastor, conducted the exercises. The Church of the Disciples is the only independent Unitarian society in Boston in which no pews are either sold or rented. The new building cost $114,000.

Nothing Suspicious Found

Newton, Mass., Nov. 20.—An autopsy was performed upon the body of Mrs. Louis W. Crawford, wife of one of the men held in the Susanna Geary case. While Chief of Police Mitchell, who was a witness at the autopsy, would not state the exact cause of the woman's death, he said that there was nothing criminal discovered in connection with her demise.

Bridge Destroyed by Fire

Newtown, Conn., Nov. 20.—Fire destroyed a bridge of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad over the Housatonic river at this point and it will be a month before another structure can be built. In the meantime passengers will be transferred over the highway bridge, 50 feet away. The bridge was 200 feet long.

Whitney Gains 471 Votes

Boston, Nov. 20.—On the recount of the votes cast for lieutenant governor at the recent state election returns show that Henry M. Whitney (Dem.) gains 725, and Eben S. Draper (Rep.) gains 254, making a net gain for Whitney of 471. The recount is practically over.

To Retire From the Pulpit

Rutland, Vt., Nov. 20.—Dr. George W. Phillips, for 20 years pastor of the First Congregational church here, read a letter of resignation yesterday. Dr. Phillips retires from the ministry on account of his age.

Russia Threatens Turkey

Sofia, Nov. 20.—Disregard by the Turkish government of Russia's oft-repeated protests against the strengthening by Turkey of her fortifications in the Bosphorus and the Black sea littoral has resulted in a demand by Russia for the immediate payment of the arrears of the Russo-Turkish war indemnity, threatening in the event of non-payment the occupation of a point on the Turkish coast.

Not Agreeable to Shippers

St. John, Nov. 20.—A dispatch from Montreal quotes Secretary Robb of the Canadian Shipping Federation as saying the stevedores will not concede the demands of the St. John Longshoremen's association for 35 cents an hour and that arrangements have been made to bring 300 Montreal longshoremen here in case of the St. John men refusing to agree to last year's rates.

Probably Murdered For Money

Bristol, Pa., Nov. 20.—Raphael Maylies, a night track patrolman, was found dead near the tracks five miles above here. The body had been riddled with buckshot. Maylies was last seen talking to two Italians. He was known to have carried a money belt and as this is missing it is believed he was murdered.

Torpedo Boat Sunk

Kiel, Nov. 20.—Divers have discovered that the torpedo boat S 126, which, during the maneuvers in Kiel bay Friday night, sank after colliding with the cruiser Undine, is lying in the mud with a list to port. Four bodies have been recovered.

ON LEVEL WITH SEA

Commission's Decision as to Isthmian Canal

FREEZEOUT FOR COLON

San Cristobal, on American Territory, Will Become Chief City of Canal Zone--Total Cost of Construction Is Estimated at About $230,000,000

Washington, Nov. 20.—During this week a committee of three members of the board of consulting engineers of the isthmian canal, with General Davis as their chairman, will make a rough draft of the final report of the plans adopted by the commission on Saturday which will then have to be worked out in detail and is expected to be ready about the end of December.

The sea-level canal which has been voted upon by the members will have a width at the bottom of 150 feet, except in the Culebra cut, where that width will be 200 feet. The greater width in the Culebra cut is necessary to allow two ships to pass each other safely between the high banks of the canal, which will be formed by the very deep excavation.

The plan as advocated by the board would make Limon bay one of the greatest harbors of the world. Almost through the middle of the bay a breakwater will be built, and a shorter breakwater will be built from San Cristobal, which is American territory, thereby leaving Colon, which belongs to the republic of Panama, outside of the American canal works.

Under the plan as adopted by the board, San Cristobal is expected to become the chief city on the Atlantic side of the canal and the promontory on which arises the statue of Columbus will be covered by official buildings, docks, coaling stations and all the works necessary for an important harbor. The canal constructed by the French began at San Cristobal.

It is now proposed by the board to build a short direct canal from Mindi to Limon bay, thereby making the distance shorter by a few hundred yards and also facilitating navigation and making it possible for ships to sail into the canal without having to make any difficult turns.

The breakwaters necessary for the formation of this harbor of San Cristobal will be an item of great expense. They were the subject of lengthy discussions in the meetings of the board. They would have been necessary, however, in case a lock canal had been chosen.

On the Pacific side at Panama the plans as adopted are also different from those of the French canal company. The French canal ends at La Boca and it was found as one of the difficulties that the Rio Grande with its many branches crosses the canal and in the rainy season inundates and does great damage to the works already constructed by the French. Therefore, it was decided that the canal should be built nearer to the city of Panama and should run between two hills, one called Sosa and the other the well known Ancon.

Ancon is the higher of the two. On it the American hospitals are built and it is one of the most healthful places on the isthmus. At this place the one lock necessitated through the differences in the tides of the Atlantic and the Pacific will be built. This lock, however, will not retard the progress of ships through the canal. In the first place, ships coming from the Pacific will have to stop some time anyway to be visited by health officers and by civilian authorities, and furthermore, during a large part of the day this lock will be entirely open, as the levels of both oceans will be equally high. At the Panama side no plans have as yet been made for breakwaters.

The plans for constructing a lock canal at 60 feet altitude were never discussed and from the beginning the board was divided into the two groups of eight and five members, one in favor of the sea-level plan and the other in favor of a lock canal. A compromise plan was never brought up at any time.

The cost of the sea-level canal is estimated by the engineers at about $230,000,000. It was pointed out in the meetings of the board that a lock canal would necessitate between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 as payment for the private grounds and the lands belonging to the republic of Panama, which would be inundated by the construction of the lock canal system. This item, in the view of the majority of the board, is entirely done away with by the adoption of the sea-level canal.

As for the time it will take to construct the sea-level canal, several members of the board express the opinion that the construction of the sea-level canal will not in reality take so very much more time than that of the lock canal and that if no unexpected difficulties are met with it should not require more than two or three years additional.

The majority of the engineers take the position that the building of the sea-level canal should not take more than 15 years. It is expected that ships will be able to go through the canal under their own power. When two ships will have to pass in the canal, one will have to stop and wait to allow freer navigable conditions for the individual ship in the restricted space.

SOCIALISTS BEATEN

Strike For Eight-Hour Day Will Not Occur at St Petersburg

St. Petersburg, Nov. 20.—The conservative leaders in the council of workmen are again victorious. At 2:55 o'clock this morning they carried a resolution against any attempt to introduce a movement for an eight-hour day.

After the severe reverse which they suffered early Sunday morning when, at the end of a seven-hour debate, the council of workmen decided to abandon the industrial strike, the leaders of the extremist Socialist factions of the St. Petersburg workmen made a hard fight in defense of the resolution for an eight-hour day, which was the slogan of last week's strike, but which was abandoned at the last moment in favor of an appeal for the lives of the mutineers at Cronstadt and the liberty of Poland.

The refusal of the affiliated organizations in the interior to respond to the call and the revolt of many of the better class of workmen here against the dictation of political agitators and walking delegates by no means represents the full measure of the real defeat of the strike movement. The strike, by alienating public sympathy and opening the eyes of intelligent Liberals and Moderates to the fact that the first duty of the hour was to stand by the government in its efforts to tranquilize the country and to make head against the tide of Socialism and revolution which was threatening Russia with anarchy, aided greatly in the formation of the new "law and order" party, which has now sprung into formidable being.

Two Men Strangly Laid Away

Philadelphia, Nov. 20.—At the Midvale Steel works Sunday a 40-ton ingot of steel permeated with the flesh, blood and bones of two workmen, John Forkin and Joseph Gazda, was buried with the solemn rites of the Roman Catholic church. The two laborers, who met a horrible death a week ago, were in a pit near a cupola containing many tons of molten steel. A plug gave way and 80,000 pounds of the fiery liquid poured from the cupola and overwhelmed them. The men were completely incinerated and not a trace of themselves or their clothing was left. The Midvale company was averse to using the steel for the purpose it was intended, and it was decided to bury it with the rites of the church to which the men had belonged.

Probable Victims of Cannibals

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 20.—The fate of Henry Miller and Gus Olinder, who went on an expedition to Tiburon island in the Gulf of California nearly a year ago, has probably been disclosed. On the desolate shores of the Gulf of California, near a deserted Indian village, a herder found the trappings of Miller and Olinder and a pair of dried human hands which may have been those of one of the men. A few feet away was found the charred remains of a huge feast fire and the circles of an Indian war dance. It is believed the men were slain by hostile Indians, who inhabit that portion of Lower California.

Great Prospects For Immigrants

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 20.—The special commission of the German government sent to the United States to observe immigration possibilities in the south express themselves as highly pleased with the conditions. The commissioners are accompanied by the German consul for the south, who said: "The prospects for immigrants in Alabama are something I had never expected. When I go to answer my future inquiries from Germany I will know where to point the thousands who want to come to America."

New Jersey Man's Weird Story

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 20.—A man who says his name is Roy Goodrich says he found a man piling ties on the Camden and Atlantic railroad tracks near Absecon, a few miles from here, last night. He attacked the man, he says, and was beaten unconscious, and when he recovered he was lying between the rails tied with a rope, with three railroad ties upon him. He got out his penknife, he says, and liberated himself.

Chinese Sovereignty In Thibet

London, Nov. 20.—The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Telegraph understands that an Anglo-Thibetan treaty has been signed and that, briefly stated, it provides that Great Britain shall acknowledge Chinese sovereignty in Thibet, in return for which China will pay an indemnity.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

The coupon in the Scholarship contest will appear only five days more.

Mrs. W. G. Chubbuck is confined to her home on Foster street quite ill.

Mrs. A. W. Willsher of Beacon street is the guest of friends at Brockton for a few days.

Positively no coupons will be printed by the Daily Ledger after Saturday of this week.

The Quincy W. C. T. U. will meet Tuesday in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 3 P. M.

Mrs. David Brown, of Fayette street, Wollaston, will entertain the Brownie whist club, on Wednesday afternoon.

A. P. Gillette secretary of the Boston & Maine R. R. Y. M. C. A. at Association hall of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. tonight. Everyone invited.

The ladies of the Wollaston Baptist church and congregation were invited to meet in the chapel today to sew on articles for benevolent work.

Jesse F. Curtis and family are to move this week from Miller Style road to the new home recently purchased by them from Julius Johnson on Upland road.

The building at the corner of Chestnut street and Revere road which is now known as Faxon hall, was dedicated 61 years ago today (Nov. 20, 1844) as a Methodist church. It has since been used for various purposed and has been remodelled.

The three days' fair at Faxon hall, under the auspices of the Swedish Lutheran church, closed Saturday evening. There was a very large attendance that night and the attractions were well patronized. The entertainment was furnished by the Swedish orchestra.

Public hearings will be held before the City Council tonight on accepting Newcomb place and Dixwell avenue as public ways of the city, and on granting the Old Colony street railway a relocation and extension of its tracks on Hancock and Sagamore streets.

A very enjoyable and well patronized subscription dance was held in Wollaston hall Saturday evening by Herbert Percival. Young people from Wollaston, Quincy and Atlantic were present. Miss Clara Thayer and Mrs Merrill were the matrons.

The regular meeting of the Wollaston Young People's Religious Union was held Sunday evening in the Unitarian vestry. Prof. Park was to have spoken on "A visit to a Negro church," but was unable to be present. Mrs. Park spoke on this subject and as she spoke from personal reminiscence, greatly interested her audience.

The dearth of students for the ministry is causing the Evangelical church of Germany considerable inconvenience. The Roman Catholic church, on the other hand, is receiving an unwonted number of recruits into its ministry.

Bishop O'Connell, whom the pope is sending to Japan, is a member of the University club in Boston and the Cumberland club in Portland, speaks French and Italian as fluently as English, is a charming talker, composes music, improvises it on both the organ and piano and sings.

Y. M. C. A Boys Do Boston

The Quincy boys who are in the Y. M. C. A. boys' department do not have very much spare time on their hands these days.

Saturday forty-five boys went to Boston on a little trip to interesting places. They left on the 9.13 train and from the South station marched up Essex and Boylston streets to the Boston Y. M. C. A., where a delegation of six from the Orient Height's Boys club of East Boston joined the party.

The regiment of boys then marched to the Youth's Companion building where they were most admirably entertained for an hour and a half. Mr. Duram, the guide, took the boys all over the building, to the offices, the engine rooms, the press rooms, folding rooms, mailing department, composing rooms, art department, etc., explaining everything. All boys registered in the library.

After the building had been covered all the boys were given several sample copies, and left the building after giving three cheers for the Youth's Companion.

Other places visited were the Public Gardens and the Common, the Boston Public Library, the Shaw Memorial Monument, the grounds of the State House, King's Chapel and the Boston City Hall. From there the boys marched to the South Station, passing the Boston post office and other interesting places. Arriving home in good season, those who wanted to, enjoyed a shower bath at the Association and all declared that they had a most enjoyable day.

Much of the success of the party is due to Stanley Sherman, Glover Howe, and Albert Jones who were lieutenants of the regiment, assisting the boys' work director in many ways, Other such trips are planned to the Navy yard, the Watertown arsenal, and other places.

Saturday evening the members of the Boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. and their friends listened to an extremely interesting talk by Claude E. Patch, one of the Spanish war soldiers who was stationed at Porto Rico. The talk was illustrated by an excellent electric stereopticon which was well operated by Master Wesley Beckford. One hundered and seventy-five boys were present and all were extremely interested.

FOR THE BABY.

Christmas Gifts That Will Please the Infant's Mother.

Gifts other than toys are sometimes difficult to find for the wee baby at Christmastide. The pretty bootees seen in the illustration are a novelty in this line. In shape they resemble the kid bootees, but these eyelet worked ones have no lining or foundation of any kind. They are buttonholed around the edge and held together at the toe by three buttonholed rings and at the ankle by two short straps, which are fastened and held in place by a ribbon bow.

BOOTEES FOR BABY.

Though coat hangers are not new, a dainty affair intended as a gift to a baby was a miniature holder, first padded with perfumed cotton, then with shirred white satin. The hook was covered with twisted ribbon, and at its base a bow of broad ribbon was tied, one end decorated with a spray of forgetmenots, and across the other "Baby" was worked in blue silk. Though a trifle, it is a gift that will bring much pleasure to the mother, as showing thoughtful kindness.

An attractive little present for a baby is made by wrapping a very small embroidery hoop with ribbon. Across the center form a wheel with quarter inch ribbon, and sew on these spokes tiny gilt sleighbells. These bells are also put at intervals around the hoop.

A Friendship Calendar.

A friendship calendar at Christmas time was a source of much pleasure to an elderly lady living alone. Fifty-two of her friends, representing the fifty-two weeks of the year, furnished material for every day of the seven in his week.

Each one followed out his own idea for the week's calendar, contributing favorite quotations, short poems, anecdotes and reminiscences, some even adding cherished recipes. In many instances the contributions were original. Others were illustrated with small pictures cut from current magazines.

The result was a perpetual calendar, each day representing the loving thought of a friend.

DOLLARS AND POLITICS.

The renewed talk of big campaign contributions suggests the importance of abolishing big campaign funds. Why not try it in 1908?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Governor Folk declares that the dollar is not so potent in politics as it used to be. In other words, the price of votes has increased along with everything else.—Washington Post.

Closely Bunched

On Home Stretch in Scholarship Contest

It would be almost impossible for the first four in the ladies list to be closer than they are today. Miss Merritt's 200 put her right with the others, only 129 votes separatihg the four. The possibilities of "dark horses" however is illustrated by the fact that Miss Helen Grant Holbrook today moves up 21 places and is now No. 11. Others not entered may be beard from in the final result.

Engineer Johnson makes a handsome gain today of half a thousand and he will push the leaders hard. There are other gains down the list.

This is the last week of the coupon. Today a five vote coupon is published and there may be another before the week expires. Nothing over five votes will be printed. Undoubtedly there will be some hustling this week. Those who get the largest reserve will win, and there may be many surprises.

The last week of the coupon in the Scholarship contest has arrived. The last coupons will be printed on Saturday, Nov. 25, in both the Daily Ledger and Quincy Patriot. That is positively the last date.

Valuable first and second prizes are offered to both men and women. A $100 scholarship in the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., to the leader in each list, and as a second prize to men a suit of clothes or an overcoat and as a second prize to women a suit or coat. The scholarships take a wide range and many have found them great helps in securing better paying positions.

The Daily Ledger has no favorities. It would like to see all candidates win. It will endeavor to treat all fairly and alike. Wholesale purchases of papers by one candidate will not be disclosed to another. Neither will we agree to supply all demands. First come, first served.

The standing to date is:

NORFOLK ss. PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of

HENRY H. FAXON,

late of Quincy, in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Henry M. Faxon of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham, in said County of Norfolk, on the sixth day of December, A. D. 1905, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

A said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventeenth day of November, in the year one thousand nine hundred and five.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Stunning Suits For Schoolgirls In Empire Style—Plush Wraps.

For schoolgirls in the grammar grades coats in three-quarter length cut in the empire style with slight modifications are very good models. A pretty coat of this description has a straight panel back and front, with an arrangement of straps across the side indicating the short waisted effect of the empire. Such a model has bretelle straps on the shoulders and a flat, round collar of velvet trimmed with braid. The sleeves have a good deal of fullness at the shoulder and are brought into the cuff band by a series of tuckings. The small turnover cuffs are round at the upper edges and faced with velvet which has several lines of silk braid upon it. Odd metal buttons trim the straps and fasten the coat in double breasted fashion down the front.

A stunning jacket that will appeal to the schoolgirl is of three-quarter length made of dark green kersey. It is full in box style, with double breasted front. The neck finishes with a small shawl collar trimmed with soutache braid put on in a scalloped design. The turned over cuff is trimmed in the same way, and handsome metal buttons serve as fastenings. There are capacious pockets on each side of the fronts, and the coat is lined throughout with changeable silk. The skirt that accompanies this jacket is a round, plaited model.

Plush, velvet and fur wraps are to be much worn this winter for evening. Plush is so delightfully warm that it is a wonder it has staid out of fashion so long. Delicate mauve and faint unusual tones of pink are most attractive for this wrap, while blue from palest robin's egg to turquoise is effective.

The evening gown illustrated is of white silk. The skirt has an exquisite border of lilac blossoms worked in natural colored silks. The bodice has a tucker of lace and bretelles of pink velvet caught with choux. The sleeves are of pink velvet and lace.

THE COUNTRYMAN'S RETURN

[Original.]

The first frost had come and the leaves were turning. Through a meadow flowed a shallow stream lazily. A road wound around the base of a wooded hill, dividing it from the meadow. The only sound was an occasional cawing of a crow far up among the tops of distant trees.

A man in the prime of life came walking down the road. He was city dressed and had the quick motions of a city man, but as he walked he slackened his pace, now and again pausing to take in some feature of the view long ago familiar to him. He had often walked this same road as a country boy. Again he drove the slow moving cows. Again he held the reins behind the horses with which he had plowed since dawn on the way to the barn. Is it strange that his quick city step should have slackened to that of a country lad?

Caleb Cox was about to put in practice the dream of years. As a boy he had been restive under the hardships, as he called them, of country life and went to the city to better his condition. He was of an energetic type and succeeded. Slowly he accumulated till by a lucky stroke he secured ample means with which to work. From that time money making had been easy, and at thirty-five he was rich. Then he determined to visit those he had left behind and help them. He would place his old father and mother where they would end their lives without the necessity for work. Then when he had seen them in perfect comfort he would retire from business, go abroad to see the world and leave labor to those who were obliged to labor. This was the dream that had inspired Caleb Cox for eighteen years.

Passing around the hill, he came upon a snug farm. The gate clicked behind him, and, entering the farmhouse door, he took an old white haired woman in his arms.

"Mother," he said, "don't you know me? I'm Caleb. I've come back after my long absence to make you and father comfortable. I've got all the money I want and don't intend to make any more."

"I'm glad to see you, my dear boy. It's been a long while that you have been away. I've longed for you all these years. Why haven't you ever come to see us, Caleb?"

"Why, mother, I couldn't get away. There was no one that I would dare put in my place for a minute, but never mind that. I have been rewarded for my sacrifice—your sacrifice. I'm going to take you to the city and put you in a fine house with plenty of servants to wait on you—you and father. Just think of it! You can get up when you like and go to bed when you like, and nothing to do but amuse yourself."

The old woman drew away and looked at him with a kind of fright. "My dear boy," she said, "what would I do in a fine city house? And what would your father do? Could you give us the comfort we have here? Would a stony street be the same to us as the stream yonder? Would we like to hear the noises of the trolley cars as well as the songs of the birds? And what would we do without the barn and the spring house, the stock and the chickens?"

Caleb stood looking at the old woman, a load settling upon his heart. Was this the outcome of his dream? Was this what he had struggled for and what had kept him so many years from his dear mother? When he left her her hair was brown, in her cheek was color. Since then eighteen years had brought her to the close of her life, eighteen years of separation that could not be lived again.

There was a step on the walk, and the father came in. After the greetings Caleb began again the story he had been telling his mother, but this time in a faint hearted tone, and, instead of informing his father what he proposed, asked the old man what he could do for him.

"Nothing, dear boy, nothing. Time was when I would have jumped at the money to pay off the mortgage, but since it has been lifted I notice that my last object has been taken away. Don't deprive me of what spur for action there is left me in my old age."

"But father, mother, you are obliged to rise with the sun, and at evening you are so tired that you go to bed when people in the city find relaxation from labor. With you it is all work and no play."

"My boy," said the old man, "with us our work is our play. We never hurry to get through our labor so that we may play, for we do our work breathing the pure air and listening to the sweet sounds that surround us. Hardships we have, but were it not for the hardships our lives would be a dead level, without contrast, consequently without enjoyment."

Caleb, loath to give up what he had so long struggled for, argued that in the city a new life would open to the old people that would afford them an interest which would not be exhausted so long as they lived. He offered to take them with him on his travels. All was of no avail. They said that the noises of the city would bewilder them and they would die if deprived of the home in which they had spent their lives.

Caleb Cox went back to the city a changed man. Instead of selling out his business he promoted some of his employees to be co-managers with him. Then, after a brief season of travel, he returned and devoted himself to his business, not as he had done before, but in moderation. A large portion of his summers he spent on the farm with his old father and mother.

City Council

Want to be Assured That Through Cars Will Be Run

Councilmen Barry, Gassett, Hughes, Hynes and Stone were absent at Monday night's meeting of the City Council.

Assisted by Councilman McLane, City Clerk Keith drew the following jurors for the United States grand jury: Robert Magee, George D. Cahill and John Ferieta.

A TRANSFER.

The School Committee requested the transfer of $196.50 received for tuition to the school appropriation. To Finance Committee.

PETITION.

The N. E. T. & T. Co. petitioned for attachments to poles on Intervale street. To Committee on Streets.

Applications for minor licenses were received and referred.

CODDINGTON SCHOOL LOT.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported ought to pass on the order for $3,200 to purchase additional land for the Coddington school lot. To Finance Committee.

POLICE TRANSFER.

The Finance Committee reported ought to pass on the order making a transfer of $450 in the Police department. Rules suspended and order passed.

MORE FIREMEN.

The Committee on Ordinances reported correctly engrossed on the order increasing the number of permanent firemen. Passed to be ordained.

LOAN ORDER.

The Committee on Finance reported a loan order for $13,700. Ordered to a second reading.

ELECTION ORDER.

Councilman Gearwar offered an order for the municipal election on Dec. 5. Adopted.

SIDEWALK.

Councilman Sawyer offered an order for $150 for a gravel sidewalk on Edwin street. To joint Committee on Streets and Finance.

BOUNTY ORDER.

Councilman Bass offered an order for $1000 to pay bounty on seals tails. To Finance Committee.

COUNCILMAN BASS.

Thus far this year the city has been called upon to pay $3 each for 218 tails, claimed to have been caught off Houghs Neck by six Indians who hailed from Pleasant bay, Maine.

The State law requires Norfolk county to reimburse Quincy, but payment need not be made until 1906.

NEWCOMB PLACE.

A public hearing was held on accepting Newcomb place.

Charles H. Hardwick favored. It was a short street, thickly populated. There was great need of having it accepted. Property on the street was assessed for $50,000. It would not entail much expense to accept as it was in very good condition.

T. L. Williams also favored. He owned a house on the street. The street now looks like a Chinese street with a gutter in the middle. It would not cost a great deal. There were twenty or more houses on street.

E. W. Newcomb favored. It was 20 years ago last April since first house was built. Over 500 people used the street every morning in going to work. It was about 1000 feet long and 33 feet wide. Abutters had never received one cent benefit since the street was built in 1886.

Thomas Hewson favored. There was a puddle in front of his house, and it was dangerous passing in the winter.

Hearing closed and order recommitted.

DIXWELL AVENUE.

A public hearing was held on accepting Dixwell avenue.

Herman F. McIntyre favored. The street was already built and graded and would entail no expense. It was in a residential section and had $40,000 or $50,000 taxable property.

Hearing closed and order recommitted.

DOUBLE TRACK.

A recess was taken until 8.20 at which hour a public hearing was held on the petition of the Old Colony street railway for a relocation and extension of its tracks on Hancock and Sagamore streets at Atlantic.

A public hearing was held on the petition of the Old Colony street railway for a relocation and entension of its tracks on Hancock and Sagamore streets, and double tracks over the bridge.

Supt. Conway said all were familiar with the situation and there was not much to be said. The company wished to put the tracks through to conform with the streets as relocated.

COUNCILMAN NICHOLS.

In reply to a question by Councilman Bass, Mr. Conway said his company expected to commence through car service soon. He could almost say as soon as the paint dried. In reply to a further question, he said, he thought the line would be in operation within two weeks.

Harry W. Read hoped any location asked for on Sagamore street would be granted speedily. Many had no idea how Atlantic people had been inconvenienced for a year.

Councilman Bass was called to the chair, and President Nichols taking the floor, said: Two years ago promises were made to the city about through cars as soon as the company could get ready. He was inclined to think that the work on the bridge had interferred somewhat. The time has now come when there is no reason why cars can not run through.

He read a letter received by him from President Sullivan. The letter was the same as already published in the Ledger. He had conversation with the president of the Boston Elevated, in which the latter confirmed the agreement. He saw no reason now why the order should not be recommitted to the committee.

The hearing closed and the order was recommitted.

Upon motion of Councilman Gearwar a recess of ten minutes was taken.

After recess the Council referred back to reports of committee.

The Committee on Streets reported an order granting the Old Colony Street Railway Company a relocation and extension of its tracks on Hancock and Sagamore streets. Ordered to a second reading.

JOHNSON TURKEYS.

Councilman Adams offered an order for expending the income of the C. C. Johnson fund. Adopted.

Adjourned at 9 o'clock until Dec. 4, the eve of the City election

A Growing Plant.

The Tubular Rivet & Stud Company is excavating for a large addition on Weston street, and the gravel is being used for the improvement of Weston, Wayland, Chester and other streets in the vicinity. Several new houses are being erected in this neighborhood.

—It is a monstrous condition of things if the laws of an enlightened community like Massachusetts do not provide for the criminal prosecution and punishment of one who dissects and dismembers a dead body for the purpose of concealing the true cause of death.—New York Sun.

May Be An Agreement

Henry M. Faxon sole legatee under the will of the late Henry H. Faxon, was interviewed this morning by a representative of the Daily Ledger. When asked if he had any statement he desired to make relative to the will of his father he said he had none.

When it was suggested to him that the public thought that perhaps there was some agreement with his father relative to a memorial of some nature, Mr. Faxon said that he could not answer at present.

The inference may be that there is an agreement and that after the will is probated there will be some developments.

Concealed Weapons.

If heavy fines will break up the habit some men have of getting drunk and having loaded revolvers in their pockets at the same time, Judge Avery will accomplish something.

Nick Cessto and Richard D. Gibbons were arrested Monday night by Officers Broberg and Lyons for drunkenness. When searched at the police station both had loaded revolvers in their pockets.

When the facts were made known to Judge Avery he ordered warrants issued against them for carrying concealed weapons. He then fined them $6 each for drunkenness and $15 each for carrying concealed weapons.

Trial of the Virginia

The battleship Virginia, built at Newport News is today having her preliminary test over the Owl's Head course off Rockland, Maine, where the battleship Rhode Island was recently tested.

The Virginia left Newport News Saturday noon and was sighted from Whitehead early Monday morning. After such a good run the builders are confident she will make the required 19 knots. There is some rivalry to exceed the fastest mile of the Rhode Island which was 19.33 knots per hour.

A Troublesome Pupil.

George M. Wadsworth, master of the Pope grammar school on Washington street Somerville, and formerly a Quincy principal, has decreed that John B. McKenna, Jr., 13 years old, cannot return to school until he consents to accompany him into the basement and "take his punishment," as a result of the complaint of a teacher, Miss Alice I. Norcross, that the boy called her names.

Acting upon the advice of his father, John B. McKenna of 15 Merriam street, the boy has thus far refused to submit to the punishment. Master Wadsworth, in turn, has refused to allow him to rejoin his class. An investigation was begun by the superintendent of schools on Saturday.

Slight Fire

The alarm from Box 56 at 1.08 this morning was for a slight fire in a new house of George W. Taylor on Newport avenue. It was caused by the floor under a salamander stove becoming overheated and taking fire. It was seen by some one passing along the avenue who gave the alarm. Damage $15.

A will written by a former judge of the Supreme Court in Pennsylvania, has been declared void because of non-compliance with certain legal requirements. It will be remembered that Samuel J. Tilden's will was defective for the same reason.

MURDER IS CHARGED

Maine Woman Accused of Causing Death of Stepdaughter

Fort Fairfield, Me., Nov. 21.—Deputy Sheriffs Dinsmore of this town and Huson of Presque Isle last evening arrested Mrs. Isaac Barnes on the charge of murder in putting strychnine in Epsom salts, thereby causing the death of Pearl Barnes, her little stepdaughter. The child's death occurred on Oct. 29.

Mrs. Barnes was arrested at the home of Percy London in Presque Isle, where she has been staying since the child's death. The warrant for the woman's arrest was issued by Judge Fessenden on complaint of County Attorney Powers.

Mrs. Barnes reached here at 8 o'clock last night and was immediately arraigned before Judge Nicholson. She pleaded not guilty and the case was continued until Wednesday next. The charge against the woman being murder, bail was denied. Mrs. Barnes says that she is unjustly accused. She professes to have no knowledge of the affair.

The authorities express the opinion that Mrs. Barnes did not intend that the child should take the poison, alleging that Mrs. Barnes mixed the poison with the medicine in the belief that it would be taken by her husband, from whom she had been separated for some time.

Freight Train Broke Apart

Freeport, Me., Nov. 21.—A freight train broke apart at the top of the grade west of this station last evening and the half dozen cars that ran back down the grade were met and four of them telescoped by a special freight train that was following. No one was seriously injured. The engine of the special train, which met the runaway freight cars head-on, was badly smashed, but the engineer and the fireman both jumped in time. The damage to the rolling stock is $25,000.

Christmas Tree Shipments

Rockland, Me., Nov. 21.—Barges bound south in tow of tugs, with their decks massed in brilliant green, has been a spectacle in the lower harbor and the Musseleridge channel during the past few days, as well as showing a new method of shipping Christmas trees out of Maine. In former years trees cut along the lower Penobscot have been sent away by railroad until the woods in the vicinity of the lines have become well thinned.

Big Deal in Cotton Mills

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 21.—It is reported here that the sale of the Fall River manufactory to the Pocasset Manufacturing company has been agreed upon. Both companies make cotton cloth and their mills are near each other. The Pocasset company operates four mills and has a capital of $600,000. The Fall River manufactory has but one mill and a capital of $240,000. It also has $240,000 bonds and assets of $547,023.

Record Year For Boston Commerce

Boston, Nov. 21.—Figures representing the amount of the duties collected and the valuation of the imports and exports indicate a record year for the port of Boston, particularly in regard to imports. The record for the first 46 weeks of this year is nearly $2,000,000 ahead of last year in duties, over $20,000,000 in valuation of imports and more than $21,500,000 in the total appraised valuation of imports and exports.

Cider on the Black List

Somerville, Mass., Nov. 21.—Chief of Police Parkhurst has notified all the grocers in his city that cider is intoxicating and has warned dispensers of flour and potatoes that the old-fashioned grocery of the New England backwoods towns where a keg of cider is an attraction is not for Somerville and that the sale of apple juice is prohibited.

Young Roosevelt on Side Lines

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 21.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., has had all the football he can stand for a while. He did his duty nobly when the Crimson freshmen played the youngsters from New Haven Saturday, but when the eleven lined up against the sophomore team in the class contest, young Roosevelt was on the side lines.

Schooner Was Ready to Sink

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 21.—The schooner Race Horse of Rockland, Me., Weymouth, Mass., for Bangor, came into the lower harbor leaking 3000 strokes an hour and her skipper was obliged to beach his vessel on Kittery flats to keep her from sinking. The Race Horse met heavy seas between Cape Ann and here.

REQUEST IS DENIED

Whitney Asked Roosevelt to Grant Him an Interview

HE CHARGED INJUSTICE

President Sees "Additional Evidence of Wisdom In Refusing to Communicate" With Bay State Advocate of Reciprocity

Boston, Nov. 21.—Henry M. Whitney, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor at the last election, made public last night correspondence which passed between President Roosevelt and himself concerning the subject matter and statements made by the president during an interview last winter which was granted to a committee from Massachusetts on reciprocal trade relations.

The president informed a Massachusetts committee which called upon him last week in favor of free hides that Whitney had deliberately misrepresented what had occurred at last winter's conference. With this experience in mind, the president declined to enter upon a discussion of free hides with the free hides committee, the chairman of which was Governor Douglas.

The statement of Whitney during the recent canvass in Massachusetts that the president told him he favored reciprocity with Canada was that to which the president took exception. After the president had made public his address to the hides committee Whitney maintained that the president had certainly spoken in favor of reciprocity with Canada on broad lines during their interview.

In the correspondence made public last night the letter from Mr. Whitney to the president, dated Nov. 17, follows:

"You have done me a great injustice in publicly asserting that I have wilfully misrepresented your attitude on the question of reciprocity with Canada, and that this was done in cowardly fashion, by saying what I did under conditions which the dignity of your high office prevented you from denying. I think I am not open to this charge. I claim in my humble way to be a fair fighter. I believe I have a well established and well deserved reputation in this community for fairness and justice. I may have misunderstood you and hence may have been led into error. You have charged me with an offense of which I am not guilty; you have condemned me unheard.

"I appeal to your sense of fairness for a personal hearing. My public utterances touching your attitude on this question are very few and very brief. I will bring them with me if you grant me this request. I will have the passages marked and it will not take you two minutes to read them. I trust therefore that you will grant my request; and whether you do or do not I shall regret more than anything else in connection with this matter that the righteous cause of reciprocity with neighboring countries, of so much value to our people and to the whole of the human race, is not to have the endorsement of your (my) great name, and the benefit of your (my) potent aid.'

"Nothing that I have said at any time has given you the slightest warrant for making this assertion; and when, in the very letter asking for an interview and denying that you ever wilfully misrepresented my previous remarks, you incorporate another deliberate misstatement, you can hardly wonder that I decline to see you. Nor would there in any event be the slightest point in such an interview. In your speeches you pretended to quote from memory certain statements made in the course of a long conversation occurring nearly a year previous. You quoted portions of what I said—even as to these portions your language was inaccurate, and all the context was suppressed. As a result you as completely misrepresented me as in the sentence of your present letter which I quote above.

"It matters little whether this was due to a deliberate purpose of deception, or to a lack, in both your companions and yourself, of a nice sense of propriety and of the power of exact thinking and of correct apprehension and repetition of what was said. In either event I feel that it would serve no useful purpose again to see you or further to correspond with you. You are at liberty to make this correspondence public if you choose."

Your Sick Child

can't tell you what it has or how it feels—it only shows it is sick and miserable. If it is restless and peevish, doesn't sleep well, has pains in the stomach and bowels or has an erratic appetite the trouble undoubtedly is stomach or pin worms. Give the little one a few doses of that famous old life saver

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

IN USE 54 YEARS.

If worms are present they will be expelled. If no worms exist this wonderful medicine acts gently, yet positively, in toning up the whole system to rugged health.

DR. TRUE,

DEAR SIR:—I wish to inform you of the success I have had in using your Elixir. I gave it to my children and after the third dose, one of them, a boy six years old, passed a long round worm which I believe is more than six inches long, what you call a stomach worm. I also wish to say it is one of the safest and best medicines to have in the house for children. I would not be without it now. Sincerely yours, Mrs. Henry C. Joy.

SUNK IN RAGING SEA

Norwegian Steamer and Crew Lost Off Coast of Nova Scotia

Clark's Harbor, N. S., Nov. 21.—The Norwegian steamer Turbin, with her captain and crew, is believed to have foundered in the gale that swept over the Nova Scotian coast on Friday last. Steamer Edna R brings news that on Friday last about 5 p. m. a large steamer, supposed to be the Turbin, struck Black Rock ledge, backed off in a few minutes and then disappeared in the raging sea.

Not a living soul could be discerned aboard the ill-fated craft and so quickly did the steamer go to her doom that no opportunity was given the crew to fight for their lives. No boat could have lived an instant in the sea that was running. While the craft hung on the rocks the seas made a clean breach over her, then a giant comber came which seemed to fairly lift her from her resting place and the next instant she took the fatal plunge, carrying all down with her.

The people of the island have no means of communicating with the shore until the steamer calls there, or the weather is sufficiently moderate to permit them to launch their own boats, and in consequence of this the first news of the wreck only reached the mainland last evening.

The steamer was bound from Sydney with a cargo of coal for Yarmouth, N. S.

The Edna R did not remain at the island very long and therefore it is impossible to secure more details from the eye-witnesses of the disaster.

A New Jersey Court Episode

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 21.—By donning disputed skirts in open court and fitting them to her trim and neat figure in a manner that showed unmistakably they were made for her, Mrs. Eugene Smith freed her husband from a charge of stealing the garments and disproved the claims of the complainant, Mrs. Clara Dunkel. Mrs. Dunkel followed Mrs. Smith's example, but the garments bunched and pulled up over the rather massive form of their would-be wearer, and the jury decided that she had never owned them.

White House Political Conference

Washington, Nov. 21.—Governor Higgins of New York was a dinner guest last night of President Roosevelt at the White House. Invited to meet and dine with the governor were Messrs. Root and Cortelyou. The conference, admittedly important, began at the dinner table and continued until a late hour. The whole New York political situation was considered with special reference to the disclosures made before the insurance investigation committee, but details of the conference were not made public.

London "Poverty Parade"

London, Nov. 21.—There was another "poverty parade" in the streets of London yesterday afternoon. Some five to six thousand unemployed men and a few women marched along the Thames embankment to Hyde Park. Red flags were seen and banners bearing such devices as "Curse your charity; we want work" and "There is a limit to human endurance." The march, however, was quite orderly and the strong force of police on duty had little to do.

Shot Was Intended For Wife

Falls Village, Conn., Nov. 21.—Ernest Jackson, a negro, who shot and killed Sylvia Penfield, was bound over to the superior court without bail on the charge of murder in the first degree. At the inquest it developed that Jackson had intended to kill his wife and that by accident he shot Miss Penfield in the back.

Explosion Started Bad Fire

Sprague's Falls, Me., Nov. 21.—Thomas Blaney was perhaps fatally burned, and six horses were incinerated in a fire that last night destroyed the stable of Frank B. Gilbreth, a contractor. The fire originated through the explosion of a lantern carried by Blaney.

$3,000,000 Bequest to Museum

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 21.—The feature of the will of Stephen Salisbury, which was filed for probate last evening, is his bequest of more than $3,000,000 to the Worcester Art Museum. His estate is estimated at $5,000,000. Several public bequests are made.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which—despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere,—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart.

You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys the germ, and healthy hair is the sure result.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co. Detroit. Mich.

PLOTTING IN CUBA

Several Uprisings Said to Be In Contemplation

PALMA'S LIFE IN DANGER

A Political Movement Which Would Even Countenance Assassination of the President--Prominent Men Implicated

Havana, Nov. 21.—Evidence obtained by the commission which is investigating the discovery by the secret police of a considerable quantity of arms, ammunition and accoutrements in a house in the Cerre suburb is tending to implicate a few men of some prominence. The government has no doubt that the materials came from the United States, and it is now seeking to learn who were the purchasers.

Government officials now admit that they have received various secret advices regarding contemplated uprisings before election day in various parts of the island, particularly in the provinces of Santiago, Santa Clara and Pinar del Rio, with a probable attack on the palace in Havana.

The object of the latter, according to these officials, appears to be the removal, possibly by assassination, of President Palma. The plotters, it is pointed out, are well aware, since there is now no vice president, that the election of Palma's successor would, according to the constitution, be in the hands of congress, and that the Liberals, with the help of a few Independents, could control both houses.

The government has not revealed its information as to the extent of these plots, but special measures have been taken for guarding the palace. The fact that the president and his family are remaining at home and that troops are being sent to the points where, according to reports, the plotting originates, are considered significant. So far as known, however, these plots are not generally backed by any large party and, whether they are widespread or otherwise, the active watchfulness against any form of uprising is believed to have squelched any ambitions of the plotters.

One theory is that these rumors of plots are intended by his opponents to imbue President Palma with the idea of resigning and that there are no actual plots to do him physical injury.

German Debt Accumulates

Berlin, Nov. 21.—It is semi-officially declared that the finances of the German empire are not in a satisfactory condition. The imperial debt, which in 1877 was $18,000,000, now amounts to $875,000,000, and this will be supplemented by the coming army pension bill, the increase in the estimates for army and navy supply, etc., by $61,250,000 to $62,500,000. The necessary new revenues must be covered by additional taxation and customs duties.

Philippines Belong to Us

Kansas City, Nov. 21.—Secretary of War Taft, guest of honor at the annual banquet of the Commercial club, in responding to the toast "The Philippines," said that the Philippine islands must be ours for more than a generation, and that probably those called on to act as legislators would not live to see the day "when separation consistent with the welfare of the Philippines can be made."

Unhurt by Eighty-Five-Foot Fall

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 21.—Henry A. Smith of Everett, known as "Steeple Jack" Smith, while sweeping out the chimney in the Sagamore building, fell 85 feet down the inside of the chimney, landing on a pile of soot, and did not receive even a scratch. Smith had just started at the top of the chimney when his foot slipped and he was precipitated to the basement.

Express Train Wrecked

Jamestown, N. Y., Nov. 21.—An east-bound Atlantic express drawn by two engines in charge of Engineers Kreiger and See, left the track at Falconer last night. The engines tipped over, burying the engineers, who were killed. The passengers escaped with a severe shaking up. The cause of the derailment is being investigated.

Frothingham Leads Dewey

Boston, Nov. 21.—At the completion of the recount of the ballots cast for the Republican nomination for mayor at the primaries here last week it was shown that Louis A. Frothingham had won over Henry S. Dewey by 196 votes. Dewey may run for election as an independent candidate.

Russian Harbors Frozen Over

Washington, Nov. 21.—Secretary Eddy, charge at St. Petersburg, has cabled the state department that the strike in St. Petersburg has ended. He adds that Cronstadt and St. Petersburg are ice-bound, thereby precluding any possibility of any American vessel visiting those ports.

Roosevelt's Aid Invoked

Boston, Nov. 21.—The Boston board of aldermen adopted resolutions condemning the recent outrages upon Jews in Russia and urging President Roosevelt to take some action in the matter.

Throne Tendered to Charles

Copenhagen, Nov. 21.—The throne of Norway was formally tendered to Prince Charles of Denmark and was accepted by King Christian in behalf of his grandson.

STEAMFITTERS WIN

Break From Plumbers' Union After Years of Wrangling

Pittsburg, Nov. 21.—After a wordy battle lasting five hours on the floor of the convention of the American Federation of Labor, the International Association of Steamfitters, composed of members of that trade exclusively, was practically voted a charter by the Federation, independent of the Plumbers' union, which for the past three years has fought bitterly every effort to this end. The vote was nearly two to one in favor of granting the charter, and, while it merely approved the recommendation of the committee on resolutions that the executive council issue a charter to this organization, it is believed the council will not go against the opinion of the convention as a whole.

The difficulties arose some years ago between the steamfitters' trade and the plumbers' trade. The former were in the majority, but they had to work under the Plumbers' union and were used as a main backbone to the plumbers' body. The steamfitters finally declared they would not remain members of the Plumbers' union. They withdrew and formed a national body and appealed to the Federation for a charter. The annual conventions at San Francisco and Chicago both refused to grant the charter.

Britishers Thank Americans

New York, Nov. 21.—The following telegram from Prince Louis of Battenberg was received via the Marconi wireless station at Babylon, L. I: "The rear admiral commanding, captains, officers and men of the British squadron, now regretfully on its way to Europe, desire to express their most cordial thanks to all those who, by their warm welcome and splended hospitality, have contributed towards making the stop of the squadron in American waters truly delightful."

McLeod's Trial Next Week

Boston, Nov. 21.—Monday, Nov. 27, has been set as the day on which the first trial of an alleged participant in the greatest crime in the annals of Boston's courts will begin. On that day will be inaugurated the trial of Dr. Percy D. McLeod, who, according to the confessions of Crawford and Howard, performed an operation on Susan Geary, the "suit case" victim, in the hope of saving her life, and then, as further alleged, assisted in the dismemberment of her body.

Young Burglar Sentenced

Boston, Nov. 21.—Robert Johnson, Jr., son of a former state legislator and railroad president, was sentenced to the Concord reformatory for an indefinite term by Judge Stevens after the young man had pleaded guilty to an indictment charging burglary. The prisoner was charged with being connected with a series of breaks in the Back Bay district. An accomplice is now serving a two years' term for his part in the burglaries.

Traveled in a Hurry

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Sarah Bernhardt last night appeared here in "La Sorciere." Although suffering fatigue from her rapid journey from Paris to Chicago without stopping to rest in New York, Mme. Bernhardt gave a representation that won unstinted praise. When she arrived in Chicago she had completed a journey of 9000 miles that began in Rio de Janeiro on Oct. 10.

Strike of Longshoremen

St. John, Nov. 21.—The St. John ship laborers are practically on strike for 35 cents an hour, the new rate adopted last week to go into effect Nov. 20. The Parisian, the first of the winter steamers, docked last night with considerable cargo from Liverpool. Five gangs of laborers were on hand to discharge her, but refused to work for last year's rate of 30 cents an hour.

Engineers to Consult Stevens

Panama, Nov. 21.—John F. Stevens, chief engineer of the Panama canal, will leave Thursday next for Washington, whither he is called by the board of consulting engineers. He expects to remain in the United States for three weeks, most of his time to be taken up in consultation with Chairman Shonts of the canal committee.

City Loses Heavily by Fire

Shreveport, La., Nov. 21.—The Shreveport city hall, the police station, market house, two saloons and several small frame buildings were burned and Walter Woods, an aged cripple, was burned to death. The loss totals $100,000. Many valuable records of the city were destroyed.

Three Senatorial Aspirants

Louisville, Nov. 21.—At least three men will seek election as United States senator from Kentucky when the legislature convenes. The candidates are W. B. Haldeman, editor of the Louisville Times, Senator Blackburn, incumbent, and Judge Paynter of the Kentucky court of appeals.

No Report of Revolution

Washington, Nov. 21.—Cablegrams from Santo Domingo received at the war department make no mention of revolutionary disturbances. Full reports upon the condition of the island are expected by the end of the week.

Overdue Ship Reaches Port

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 21.—The British ship Travencore, long overdue from Hong Kong and reinsured at 24 percent, has arrived in the Royal roads.

HILDA DISASTER

Victims of the Steamer Wreck Known to Number 128

STORY OF A SURVIVOR

Seaman and Five Passengers Picked Up After Having Endured Twelve Hours of Agony --Twenty In the Rigging When the Ship Foundered

London, Nov. 21.—One hundred and twenty-eight persons lost their lives in the wreck of the London and Southwestern Railway company's steamer Hilda off the northern coast of France, according to an official estimate given out by the officers of the company. This death roll includes 21 saloon passengers, 80 French onion sellers and 27 of the crew.

St. Malo, France, Nov. 21.—Realization of the full extent of the disaster to the cross-channel steamer Hilda was borne in upon the people of this town as reports of finding of bodies came in from different points along the nearby coast. In all over 60 bodies have been washed up, including that of Captain Gregory, the commander of the wrecked ship. Thirteen bodies of saloon passengers have been identified. The survivors are rapidly recovering.

James Gunter, the only seaman of the Hilda saved from the wreck of that vessel, says there was no panic on board. The rough sea made it impossible to lower boats. Gunter clung to the fittings of the topmast with nine others below him who died during the night of exposure.

The Hilda first struck at 10 o'clock Saturday night. She was going dead slow. Rockets were sent up, but there was no response. Seven minutes later the ship broke amidships and her decks were swept bare with the exception of the few survivors who clung to the mast. They were rescued by the steamer Ada at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, after having endured 12 hours of agony.

In response to the captain's appeal, when he found it would be useless to attempt to launch the boats, all the women and children were mustered in the main hatch and the stewardesses fixed lifebelts around each of them, the French onion sellers assisting in the work. Everybody was very quiet. Gunter says there were about 20 persons on the rigging when the vessel foundered. He describes pathetically how the men gradually dropped off, exhausted by the terrible cold, and says the roar of the elements was awful. Gunter himself fought against a strong inclination to sleep and says that before the rescue of himself and five passengers he cared little what became of him.

The entrance to the harbor of St. Malo is one of the most difficult known to mariners. On Saturday night a blinding snowstorm, with haze and high wind, prevailed, and it is little wonder that even so experienced a navigator as Captain Gregory lost his reckoning, especially as at the point where the Hilda struck only a few yards' deviation from the regular course meant destruction. Torpedo boats dispatched to the scene of the wreck ascertained that there is no hope of salvaging the vessel.

Many Widows and Orphans

Southampton, Nov. 21.—All the members of the crew of the ill-fated Hilda were residents of this town and the most pitiful scenes were enacted at the offices of the London and Southwestern Railway company. The officials there were unable to extend any hope to the relatives. Most of the men leave wives and children. The mayor of Southampton has started a relief fund and is receiving a ready response to his appeal.

Shaw Not to Leave Cabinet

Washington, Nov. 21.—President Roosevelt's attention was attracted to some recent publications that Secretary Shaw had presented to him his resignation, to take effect next February, and yesterday he had a conference with Shaw about the matter. After their interview it was announced that Secretary Shaw had consented to continue as secretary of the treasury until the close of the approaching session of congress and perhaps some time afterward.

Russians Seeking New Homes

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—Among the 671 passengers who arrived here on steamer Merion, from Liverpool and Queenstown, were a number of the sailors of the Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkin, whose crew was in mutiny in the Black sea last summer. The men were met by friends and taken to New York. About 200 Jews from various parts of Russia were also passengers on the Merion.

Boxer Uses Pistol on Wife

New York, Nov. 21.—Patrick J. McDermott, well known as a teacher of boxing, and his wife separated some years ago. Last night McDermott went to his wife's home in Brooklyn and shot her in the cheek, inflicting a painful wound. McDermott escaped.

Work Resumed at St Petersburg

St. Petersburg, Nov. 21.—Normal conditions of life are being resumed here. The workmen are returning to work, the electric light plants are in operation and telephonic communication has been restored. The newspapers reappeared this morning.

Polish Governors' Warning

Warsaw, Nov. 21.—The temporary governors who have been appointed in the 10 provinces of Poland have issued manifestos threatening with severe punishment those who issue seditious manifestos, take part in seditious gatherings, carry concealed weapons or ask the Russian officials to speak the Polish language.

War Veteran Accidentally Killed

Natchez, Miss., Nov. 21.—Major Simon Mayer, aged 68, who served as major general on the staff of General Chalmers in the Confederate army, was arising from bed when his revolver accidentally slipped from under his pillow and discharged a bullet which lodged behind his right ear, producing instant death.

Taking Time by the Forelock

Nashville, Nov. 21.—Although his present term does not expire until 1906, United States Senator Carmack formally opened his campaign for re-election here last night. He spoke before a packed house, hundreds of people being unable to find standing room. Senator Carmack's opponent is former Governor Taylor.

New Isle of Pines Election

Havana, Nov. 21.—Persons arriving here from the Isle of Pines say that the Americans there have given 10 days' notice that they will hold another election for territorial officers, as they claim that the last election was illegal, owing to insufficient notice of their intention.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of

JABEZ STEER,

late of Waterbury, in the County of New Haven and State of Connecticut, deceased:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Ernest J. Steer of Montclair, N.J., with certain papers purporting to be copies of the last will and testament of said deceased, and of the probate thereof in said State of Connecticut, duly authenticated, representing that at the time of his death, said deceased had estate in said County of Norfolk, on which said will may operate, and praying that the copy of said will may be filed and recorded in the Registry of Probate of said County of Norfolk, and letters testamentary, without giving a surety on his official bond, thereon granted to him.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the thirteenth day of December, A. D. 1905, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, Mass., the first publication to be thirty days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court this sixth day of November, in the year one thousand nine hundred and five.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

The No-License campaign is on.

The afternoons will be but six minutes shorter.

Chief of Police Burrell is confined to his home with pneumonia.

The municipal campaign has been awful quite since the caucuses.

The main building of City Hall is being connected with the public sewer.

The Semper Eadem club will hold a dance in Colonial hall on Friday evening.

The two houses on the corner of Elm and South Walnut streets are nearly completed.

Positively no coupons will be printed by the Daily Ledger after Saturday of this week.

Mrs. Ellen Pitts has charge of the new restaurant in the Thayer block on Washington street.

Commencing Wednesday evening, whist tournaments will be held every week at the Granite City club.

Several columns of home-made Christmas gifts will appear in the Daily Ledger the next few weeks, many are illustrated.

People find it rather disagreeable travelling on Washington street between Chubbuck and South. The steam roller is at work on the crushed stone.

The Committee on Poor of the City Council request that all persons knowing families deserving of turkeys, forward their names to the chairman, George E. Adams.

A report of the very enjoyable gentlemen's night of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. last evening has been received and will appear in the Club department tomorrow.

A grand fancy dress carnival is advertised to be held at the Coliseum skating rink Thanksgiving eve. Six prizes in all will be given, three to ladies and three to gentlemen, for the best dressed, most comical and most original.

The degree staff of Neponset lodge, I. O. O. F., will work the second degree in hall of Mt. Wollaston lodge this evening. Tomorrow evening the Mt. Wollaston staff will work the third degree at Wollaston in the hall of John Hancock lodge.

New Leader

Miss Peterson At Top of Ladies List Other Gains

Today in the Scholarship contest, Miss Peterson, who occupied third place yesterday becomes the leader and Miss Merritt moves from No. 4 to No. 3. There were also gains for Miss Tilton, Miss Pitt, Miss Souter, Miss Nightingale and others.

The largest gain in the men's list was by Fred S. Sheppard, but increases will be noted for Thomas C. McDonnell, Daniel Colbert and others.

Another five-vote coupon will be printed tomorrow.

Notice is hereby given that no Daily Ledgers with coupons will be sold at wholesale after Friday, Dec. 1, at 5 P. M.

The last week of the coupon in the Scholarship contest has arrived. The last coupons will be printed on Saturday, Nov. 25, in both the Daily Ledger and Quincy Patriot. That is positively the last date.

Valuable first and second prizes are offered to both men and women. A $100 scholarship in the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., to the leader in each list, and as a second prize to men a suit of clothes or an overcoat and as a second prize to women a suit or coat. The scholarships take a wide range and many have found them great helps in securing better paying positions.

The Daily Ledger has no favorities. It would like to see all candidates win. It will endeavor to treat all fairly and alike. Wholesale purchases of papers by one candidate will not be disclosed to another. Neither will we agree to supply all demands. First come, first served.

The standing to date is:

THE COOKBOOK.

Buttered and salted popcorn is often used as a substitute for salted almonds.

Don't melt butter for cake or cookies. Let the butter stand in a warm place until softened sufficiently.

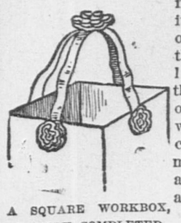
A point to be remembered in broiling fish is that fish must not be turned while broiling. Put the inside of the fish next to the coals and let it cook through. When done, hold the skin side to the fire just a moment to brown, and serve at once.

Always allow cold water to run over sardines before using them for sandwiches or serving them whole. The oil used to cover them is rarely of the best, and sometimes it is positively bad. The delicate flavor of the fish is not affected by the cold water.

SQUARE WORKBOX.

An Odd Christmas Gift—How It Is Made.

A wonderfully clever way of manipulating cardboard is seen in a workbasket, though the process is extremely simple. If you can find a box about ten inches square and four deep, all well and good; if not, you must make the flat square for the bottom and the four sides to fit it. In the case of the box, open the corners and lay the whole thing flat. Cover on both sides with art demin, cretonne or any material on hand, and neatly bind all edges.



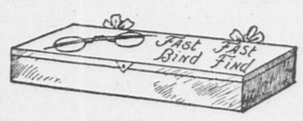
A SQUARE WORKBOX, PARTLY COMPLETED.

Punch holes in the corners and tie with narrow ribbon, once more forming a box. Now each corner is marked off with pieces of cardboard cut to fit, creating four little receptacles. The basket is thus square as to shape on the outside and octagon in form inside. A pincushion is sewed on between two of the corner pieces, and opposite it is a needlebook, two small bags occupying the same position on the two remaining sides. Lastly, three cornered covers are made to fit on the boxes in the corners. First, covered with the material, holes are punched through one side, with corresponding holes on the cardboard crossing the corners.

A SPECTACLE CASE.

Useful Christmas Gift and How It Is Constructed.

To make an attractive spectacle case cut two pieces of stiff cardboard 7 by 2½ inches, two 7 by 1½ inches and two 1½ by 2½ inches. Lay over one side of each piece, that which will make the inner part of the box, a thick layer of perfumed wadding. Cover each carefully with heavy linen on the outside and india silk on the inside. Then overhand the bottom, the sides and the ends neatly and firmly together and attach the cover with two bows of narrow ribbon. Paint on the cover a pair of spectacles, with some appropriate motto or any other form of decoration you may prefer, if you are an expert with the brush. If not, embroider on the linen before covering the box some suitable design.



SPECTACLE CASE.

Old red, olive green, old blue and dull gold color all can be found in the agra linen, and any one will make a useful as well as an attractive box. For the young girls who are too busy to undertake elaborate gifts this simple but eminently serviceable trifle is peculiarly good. The work is only such as any one of them can do, and no more is entailed than it is wise that they should undertake.

Major Angelo

[Original.]

During my college days our family lived in Washington, and as they left it before the beginning and returned after the close of hot weather I was not there in vacations. During this period I understood that my sister had a love affair, but since she was older than I and I was at an age when neither my sympathy nor my judgment was in demand very little was said to me about the affair.

A few years later the Spanish-American war broke out, and I, being a lieutenant in the national guard, went out to fight the dons. In the very first encounter in which I took part I was wounded and taken prisoner. I had the good fortune to be located near one of the best Spanish hospitals, to which I was taken and treated with every attention. One morning the officer of the day went through the ward where I was lying in company with the surgeon. When the officer passed my bed I noticed that my face caught his attention. Indeed he stared at me as if he had known me before. The next day I received a basket of fruit to which was attached the card of Major Adelberto Angelo.

Major Angelo came to see me every day after that and loaded me with attentions. Naturally I became very fond of him. I endeavored to gain from him the cause of his having noticed me and of his attentions, but failed signally. He declared that it was the result of fancy. The intimacy lasted five weeks, at the end of which time I was discharged from the hospital and very soon after exchanged.

The next time I saw Angelo he was lying mortally wounded on the battlefield. We were pressing the Spaniards before Santiago, and having cleared a way directly in front of our regiment with a Gatling gun we pushed forward over a field. Stepping over what I supposed was a corpse, I glanced down to be sure that I should not touch it, and looked into the livid face of Major Angelo. It was not permissible for me to leave my company, but I did. Stooping, I raised his head. Angelo opened his eyes, and a loving smile told me that he recognized me. I saw him try to move his lips to speak, but the effort was a failure. Then he fell back—dead.

I went home, like most of my comrades, sick, but it was not long before I was on my feet again and joined the family in October in Washington. My sister had for some time been going into a decline, and my mother forbade me to excite her with accounts of my war experiences, especially my stay in hospital. When I went into Adele's room to greet her after my long and eventful absence, I was puzzled at the look she gave me. It was a hungry look, a look as if I might have news to tell her that she longed to hear. I was shocked at her appearance, and saw that she was doomed. She wished me to talk about the war, but I agreed with my mother that it would not be well to do so, and, though Adele kept turning to it, I held to other topics. Indeed, on account of my sister's condition, I was not asked to recount war's horrors, as most of my comrades were, and I was glad of it. Such experiences are more agreeable to the narrator when mellowed by distance, and in my case, with the shadow of death over us, I did not wish to dwell upon them.

One day I was sitting by Adele's bed chatting with her on ordinary topics when she said suddenly:

"You were wounded and taken to a hospital when you were in Cuba, weren't you?"

"Yes."

"And a Spaniard was very kind to you?"

"Yes. But you have heard nothing about it from me or from father or mother, because I have not told them a word about it. How did you"—

"Hush. Don't tell them that I mentioned it."

"But tell me"—

At the moment mother came into the room and broke in upon my question. The next time I was alone with Adele I endeavored to reopen the subject, but an expression passed over her face that warned me to desist, and I never referred to it again.

One evening between day and dark I was passing through the lower hall when I saw a figure of a man come in at the front door. Since his back was to the light, I could not see his face, but it was familiar. He appeared to be a gentleman and walked through the hall as if perfectly familiar with the premises. For this reason I did not regard him as a thief, but permitted him to go where he liked, following him from a distance. He mounted the staircase, and I noticed that though there was but the bare wood to walk on his step was so light that I did not hear it. He was considerably in advance of me and had turned and disappeared down the upper hall before I reached the top of the staircase. When I did reach it he was nowhere to be seen. He must have entered some room on that floor, and since Adele's was one of them I hurried toward it. Just before reaching her door, which stood open, I heard the word, spoken in a voice familiar to me:

"Come!"

Entering the room, the fading light coming through a window showed me Major Angelo raising Adele in his arms. I passed my hands before my eyes to clear my vision, and when I had done so I saw Adele lying alone, stiff and stark. She was dead.

A few days later my mother told me that Adele's affair of the heart was with Senor Adelberto Angelo, who was at the time an attache of the Spanish legation. C. AUGUSTUS PORTER.

Dorothy Quincy

Famous Daughter Of Judge Edmund Quincy Who Lived in Quincy

In commenting on the engagement of Miss Dorothy Quincy of Dedham and Mr. Frederick R. Nourse, the Boston Herald goes back to the original "Dorothy Q," a daughter of the late Edmund Quincy of Quincy, who became the wife of the patriot John Hancock and the historic facts will be of interest to Daily Ledger readers:

But the Dorothy Quincy that is equally well known and whose romance was as thrilling as anything in fiction or drama, was John Hancock's wife.

It was in a house on the south side of Summer street, Boston, where this Dorothy Quincy was born May 10, 1747. Her father was Judge Edmund Quincy. When little Dorothy was about 4 years old he removed his family from Boston to the ancestral home at Quincy (near the present High school.) Here his five daughters grew up to womanhood.

It became noised about that Judge Quincy's daughters were rarely beautiful, particularly the youngest, Dorothy. The young men of highest social standing of Boston and Braintree paid court to them at the splendid old Quincy mansion, one of the finest country houses of that time. Among these suitors, who afterward became famous, were John Hancock, John Adams, Gen. William Greenleaf and Samuel Sewall. The latter two soon carried off the elder sisters, Sarah and Elizabeth.

John Hancock, 10 years older than Dorothy, fell in love with her when she was a mere slip of a girl of 13. But he bided his time, warding off other more youthful suitors, in his own masterful way. His father was only a poor minister, but his rich uncle in Boston, Thomas Hancock, adopted the sturdy, level-headed John Hancock and made the young man heir to his wealth.

About this time the ominous rumblings of the revolution were heard. In the lurid light of that time beautiful Dorothy Quincy and sturdy John Hancock became dramatic figures. The young patriot had persuaded his fiancee to come to the protection of his Boston home, the famous old Hancock house, when her father, under suspicion by the British was compelled to flee from Quincy and take refuge in Lancaster. John Hancock's Aunt Lydia became Dorothy's chaperon.

Then John Hancock himself fell under the ban. The windows of his Beacon street house were broken by the soldiery. Its fences were hewn and the coach house destroyed. Hancock, in obedience to public duty, made his way secretly to Concord early in April, 1775, to attend the meeting of the Provincial Congress. He had first arranged for his aunt to convey his precious treasure "Dorothy Q." to a safe retreat at Lexington, in the house of the Rev. Jonas Clark. John Hancock joined them there after the adjournment of the Congress on April 15.

Here the lovers imagined themselves to be in safety. On the evening of April 18 they had even been planning for their early wedding. That night, at 12 o'clock, came the clatter of horses' hoofs down the street, and a loud knocking at the door, arousing the patriots for the next day's battle, hardly a fitting omen for wedding bells!

John Hancock bustled out, as ready to become soldier as bridegroom, and wanted to stand at the head of the band of yeomen forming on the green to resist the coming attack of the British redcoats. But older and wiser heads counselled that he and his friend Sam Adams should flee, as they were the prizes the British general most desired to capture and forward in chains to England as traitors. So Hancock and Adams were hustled off in a coach-and-four to Woburn. Dorothy and Aunt Lydia Hancock were left in the temporary care of Parson Clark.

There the brave girl watched the oncoming regulars knowing it was for the capture of her own lover that their guns were primed. From the windows of the Clark house, in the gray dawn, horror-stricken, Dorothy Quincy saw the red line of British soldiery fire the first volley into the minute men on the green. Then she fell fainting into Lydia Hancock's strong protecting arms.

As the firing of battle ceased, and the British pushed on to Concord, Mme. Hancock hurried her precious charge into a coach and set out to rejoin John Hancock at Woburn. In these dangers Dorothy Quincy felt a longing to be with her own people. Her mother was dead, but her father she now learned had returned to Boston, and she expressed a desire to her affianced to return and see him. In this stress and excitement came the first lovers' tiff.

"No, Dolly," said John Hancock, "you shall not return so long as there is a British bayonet left in Boston."

"Recollect, Mr. Hancock," retorted the high-spirited girl. "I am not under your control yet. I shall go to my father tomorrow."

She stamped her little foot, rushed into her bed room, and, between her sobs declared to Aunt Lydia she wished she were rid of that obstinate John Hancock!

But Lydia Hancock was equal to the occasion. Against the girl's will, making her almost a captive, the imperious aunt set out by relays of carriages to Fairfield, Ct., where the duenna and her fair charge were welcomed to the home of Thaddeus Burr.

John Hancock had been obliged to go to Philadelphia to attend the Continental Congress. There he was fretting his heart out, fearful of the breach that had started between himself and his sweetheart. He knew, too, that dashing, gallant Aaron Burr, nephew of Thaddeus Burr, was even then paying court to his fair Dorothy Q.

She, fretting under the restraint of Mme. Hancock, considering that she had been really abducted by a designing lover and his emissary, was in fit mood to revolt, So she struck up a desperate flirtation with the handsome Aaron Burr.

That was a time fraught with more danger to John Hancock then when the British were pursuing him on his flight from Lexington. He wrote anxious love letters, one of which ran like this:

"My Dear Dolly: I am almost prevailed on to think that my letters to my aunt and you are not read, for I cannot obtain a reply. I beg, my dear Dolly, you will write me often and long letters. I will forgive the past if you will mend in future. Do you make up and send me a watch string. I want some little thing of your doing. Adieu, my dear girl, and believe me to be with great esteem and affection, yours without reserve."

Then it was that the inborn loyalty of Dorothy Quincy rose to the surface. Throwing aside her figure, and moving aside the polished but treacherous Aaron Burr, the traitor-to-be, she turned again to the sturdy, honest John Hancock. Released for a short time from the cares of state, he came to Fairfield and married Dorothy Aug. 28, 1775.

The love and joy of the reunion and wedding day blotted out all past differences. Dorothy Quincy Hancock presided with queenly grace and dignity over the Philadelphia establishment of her husband, president of the Continental Congress, becoming in that position the "first lady of the land," What more romantic wooing and happier marriage could be imagined than fell to the lot of this second Dorothy Q. ?

There have been "Dorothy Q's" in nearly every generation since then, each by some strange benediction of fate, embodying the graces and beauty of their distinguished ancestors, as if Dorothy Q. indeed bore a charmed life of perpetual youth.

Municipal Politics

Several Independent Nominations Have Been Filed

Only thirteen days to the Municipal election of 1905. A third candidate has appeared in the field this week for Mayor, but has caused scarcely a ripple on the smooth sea. It has been remarkably calm since the caucuses.

The mayoralty votes for three years follow:

IN 1904.
James Thompson, R.	2582
Peter. T. Fallon, D.	1518
Gustave B. Bates, S.	189
IN 1903.
Charles M. Bryant, R.	2155
George H. Wilson, D.	1860
Charles H. Sargent, S.	135
IN 1902.
Charles M. Bryant, R.	2053
George H. Wilson, D.	1821
William T. Richards, S.	283

Whiting For Mayor

The Socialists have filed nomination papers for Mayor, Councilman at large and School Committee at large, as follows:

For Mayor,—William J. Whiting.

For School Committee at large,—Herbert F. Binney.

For Councilmen at large,—William T. Richards, Albert G. Coffin, Charles J. Axberg, Daniel F. Shea and Jeremiah W. Donovan.

Mayoralty Candidates.

In several Massachusetts cities candidates for mayor and other offices were made yesterday. The mayoralty candidates are:

SOMERVILLE.
Abraham A. Elston	Democratic
Charles A. Grimmons	Republican
NEWTON.
Edgar W. Warren	Republican
CAMBRIDGE.
Charles H. Thurston	Democratic
Warren K. Blodgett	Nonpartisan
MALDEN.
Charles G. Warren	Republican
LOWELL.
*James B. Casey	Democratic
Frederick W. Farnham	Republican
WORCESTER.
Melvin G. Overlock	Republican
MELROSE.
*Sidney H. Buttrick	Republican

* Renominated.

DR. ALFRED H. GILSON.

One of the new Ward One candidates for the City Council.

Packard a Candidate.

Walter M. Packard, who was nominated by the Democrats for Councilman from Ward One, by having his name written on the ballot, has decided to become a candidate. Zenas S. Arnold and Samuel W. Ellsworth who were nominated in the same manner have not as yet withdrawn.

Two Nominations.

Papers have been filed with the Registrars of Voters nominating John A. Hayes and John B. Sutherland as Democratic Citizens' candidates for Councilmen from Ward Three.

City Auditor.

One of the important questions that will be submitted to the voters at the Municipal election is to see if the city will vote to accept the act which provides that the City Auditor shall be elected for a term of three years. Inasmuch as the City Auditor retired this year and will not accept a renomination, the question is an important one.

Ward Two Candidate

Papers have been filed nominating Daniel Higgins as Citizens' candidate for councilman from Ward Two.

Sweetest Place At Wollaston

One hundred pounds or thereabouts of honey is the result of bees swarming in the house of Francis H. Corey at 32 South Central avenue. For some time Mr. Corey has noticed bees in his house disappearing behind the partition. He paid but little attention to it at first. Gradually, however, his interest became aroused until it reached a point of investigation.

Then the partition was taken down and the sight that met his eyes made his mouth water. Behind the partitions was quantities of honeycomb filled with honey. Mr. Corey is possessed of a generous nature, and his neighbors have been regailing themselves with pure honey.

Beautiful Tribute.

The funeral of James H. Bisson was held Tuesday afternoon from his late residence on Water street. The services were largely attended. There was a profusion of beautiful flowers which included a massive wreath on a stand, composed of roses and chrysanthemums, sent by his friends at the Quincy depot. The burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery where the committal service was read by Rev. W. E. Gardner of Christ chuch.

Slight Fires.

Tuesday was quite a busy day for the firemen.

An alarm was sounded at 2.36 from Box 47. This was for a brush fire off Grove street.

The central station combination was called to Dimmock street between 6 and 7 which was for a brisk fire near the railroad bridge.

The alarm from Box 446 at 8.54 Tuesday night was a false alarm.

The City Council Committee on Finance will meet Thursday night and the special committee on municipal gas on Friday night.

Fore River Social Club

Last evening in the First Presbyterian church was held the second open meeting of the Fore River Presbyterian Social club. The vestry of the church was well filled with members and friends.

The program was in the hands of Mr. Bowers, the president of the club. Rev. Mr. St. Aubin, who has become well known and a general favorite among Quincy Presbyterians, gave a most interesting, instructive and pleasing informal talk on Canada, especially the Province of Quebec, the customs and manners of the French Canadian people.

Much pleasure was derived from the vocal and instrumental music furnished during the evening by club members and their friends, also from the humorous recitations.

After a rising vote of thanks had been given the presiding officer and those who had contributed to the evening's entertainment, refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed by all.

The club was formed by employees of the Fore River shipyard some two months ago with a charter membership of twelve. Since that time it has increased in numbers until now there are eighty members. Although started by those employed at the shipyard, a cordial invitation has been extended to all male members and friends of the congregation to join and no doubt the good work of the club will go forward with added strength.

THE PEOPLE ALL

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes," Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. MILLINERY MATTERS.

Exactness a Characteristic Feature of Smartly Made Winter Hats.

A noticeable feature of the season's millinery is that so many of the hats are hard. Soft plateaux are used, but not so much as formerly, and exactness may be said to be a characteristic of the winter millinery modes. There is no bending and denting to suit the wearer, for if the hat is not becoming to the face at once there is nothing to be done but to put by that chapeau and try another shape.

Beavers really stiff, yet soft looking, are happy combinations that will be much in evidence this winter, and they will be trimmed with flowers, feathers and wings.

Ostrich feathers, that formerly were used only on large hats, are now to be seen on the smallest shapes. For those who require something more serviceable than the ostrich tip there are quills and wings in many shapes and sizes. Flowers, too, in dull tones are much used as bandeau trimmings, and quite often a wreath of delicately tinted roses is laid around the crown of a broad brimmed hat and the bandeau finished with ostrich plumes.

A little felt hat of a pale tobacco brown is trimmed with roses in dahlia color.

There are special auto hatpins quite ugly enough for the purpose for which they are intended.

Velvet hats will be fashionable for the winter, and the height of the crown will depend very much upon the taste of the milliner.

Extremely stunning is the hat illustrated of soft black beaver faced with white velvet. About the crown is an artistically arranged fold of white chiffon velvet fastened in a knot at the back. Under the back brim is a panache of white ostrich feathers.

President Considers New York Political Situation

HE GIVES FRANK ADVICE

Believes the People Are Ready to Revolt Against the Existing Conditions--Desire to Know About Campaign Contributions Will Be Complied With

Washington, Nov. 22.—The White House conference on the political situation in New York is a subject for general comment at the national Capitol. It may be said on excellent authority that the president will not take a hand personally in straightening out the perplexing complications, but his close friends will undertake to do what he believes ought to be done.

It is understood he gave advice with frankness. The precise recommendations of the president will probably develop from time to time, as his supporters are able to put into effect plans that have been matured. It is said on excellent authority that the president feels that there must be a "new deal" all around. He undoubtedly believes the people of New York state are in a mood to revolt against existing conditions.

Just what to do about the contributions to the Republican national committee by the insurance companies is a puzzling question. That something must be done is the fixed judgment of the administration. Postmaster General Cortelyou, chairman of the national committee, is more determined than ever not to surrender the chairmanship to Harry S. New until the contribution scandal is cleared up.

It is now believed that whether the money is returned to the insurance companies or not; whether the companies voluntarily replace the money in the funds from which it was drawn, Cortelyou will in time give out a statement explaining in detail the national committee's contracting with the reception and expenditure of that money. Something of this kind must be done, it is said by those who know, to satisfy the people of New York.

Odell Would Have Halpin Retire

New York, Nov. 22.—The Evening Post prints an interview with former Governor Odell, chairman of the state Republican committee, on the subject of a statement credited to Governor Higgins to the effect that President Roosevelt is solicitous about the political conditions in New York county and is anxious that a man of the highest character and reputation be selected for chairman of the county Republican committee. Odell said that if the president desired a change in the chairmanship he should send for Mr. Halpin, the present chairman, and ask him to retire. "I have no doubt that Halpin would acquiesce," said Odell.

A Great Deal In Coal

Pittsburg, Nov. 22.—A contract has been closed between the Pittsburg Coal company and the Republic Iron and Steel company for six years by which the former company secures the right for the exclusive supply of all fuel for the Republic mills. The total contract, it is said, will be at the rate of 1,000,000 tons a year during a greater portion of the contract period. The price upon which the coal is sold will slide upward and downward with the mining cost.

Warrant For Alleged Plotter

Havana, Nov. 22.—As a result of the investigation into the discovery by the secret police of a quantity of arms, ammunition and accoutrements in the suburb of Carro, a warrant has been issued for the arrest of Julian Betancourt, a Liberal congressman from the province of Pinar del Rio. He has not yet been arrested. Reports from various rural districts say that many groups of Liberals are talking defiantly against the government.

Robbed Bank, but Go Free

Fayetteville, N. C., Nov. 22.—Former Cashier Haigh and former Teller Myrover of the Bank of Fayetteville, indicted for embezzlement of the bank's funds, pleaded guilty in court here. As the result of representations that satisfaction has been made to the bank and the bonding company, the court suspended judgment on payment of costs and the defendants were discharged.

Russian School Reforms

St. Petersburg, Nov. 22.—The admission of women to the universities on the same conditions governing the admission of men is declared by Count Tolstoi, the new minister of education, to be part of his policy. The minister says he is also in favor of instituting reforms in the universities and the higher schools, which he declares are in "an abominable state."

Resolution Favoring Yankees

Clark's Harbor, N. S., Nov. 22.—Station No. 3 Fishermen's union last night passed a resolution by a unanimous vote in favor of permitting American fishing vessels to purchase bait and supplies in Nova Scotia without license fees. The resolution will be forwarded to the Canadian government.

Soldiers to Subdue Sailors

Syzran, Russia, Nov. 22.—Disorders broke out here among sailors who were returning from the Far East. Troops were hastily sent to guard the naval station so as to prevent pillaging.

FOR MAYOR OF BOSTON

Judge Dewey Announces His Independent Candidacy

Boston, Nov. 22.—The Boston mayoralty contest is somewhat complicated by the announcement of Judge Henry S. Dewey that he will become an independent candidate for the office. There is also talk of an independent Democratic candidate, but as the person mentioned is out of the city the rumor cannot at this time be verified.

Judge Dewey was a candidate at the primaries for the Republican nomination against Louis A. Frothingham, who defeated Dewey by only 196 votes. An effort was made to have Dewey accept the decision of the primaries, but this he has refused to do and gave out the following statement:

"I believe that I am well informed, both as to practical politics and as to theoretical politics, and that I appreciate the meaning of the phrases "square deal" and "decent campaigning," as well as the phrases "good government" and "party allegiance," and I hereby declare that I am a candidate for the office of mayor of Boston and that it is my purpose and intention to continue to be such candidate until election day."

The Republicans had hoped to secure the united vote of the party for Frothingham and also to attract a considerable number of Democrats, but the determination of Dewey to be a candidate is liable to split the Republican vote and make the campaign easier for the Democratic candidate, John F. Fitzgerald.

Another Alleged Leather Thief

Haverhill, Mass., Nov. 22.—Another arrest in connection with the theft of leather last summer from many of the local shoe factories, and for which three men are now serving sentences, was made yesterday at Toronto, when George E. Newburgh, formerly of this city, was taken into custody on a charge of receiving stolen property. During three months last summer local shoe factories lost leather valued as high as $100,000.

New Battleship Sets a Record

Rockland, Me., Nov. 22.—The new battleship Virginia, a product of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock company, in her screw standardizing tests, made one dash over the measured mile off Owl's Head at the speed of 19.74 knots an hour, a new American mile record for ships of her class and .31 of a knot faster than that made by the Rhode Island three weeks ago. The trial was made under good conditions.

Girl of 14 Elopes

North Adams, Mass., Nov. 22.—Dressed in two suits of clothes in order to escape without causing the comment in carrying a bundle, Miss Florence Barlow, 14 years old, of East Cheshire, met Walter Jenks, 24 years old, the Barlows' "hired man," boarded a Pittsfield car with her escort, and has not been heard from since this occurred, Saturday afternoon.

Jews Ask Aid of Christians

Boston, Nov. 22.—Three Jewish rabbis of this city, representing the Russo-Jewish committee, yesterday sent a letter to the pastors of all the city Christian churches soliciting "the sympathy and co-operation of the Christian churches in behalf of our suffering co-religionists in Russia." In response to a former appeal already nearly $15,000 has been subscribed.

Taken on Forgery Charge

Boston, Nov. 22.—Gerald J. O'Keefe, aged 31, of New York, said to be a fugitive from justice and wanted for uttering an alleged forgery to the amount of $5000 from the office of the controller of taxes in New York city, was arrested here. A New York detective left with the prisoner last night for that city.

An Unusual Occurrence

Boston, Nov. 22.—For the first time in the history of the Massachusetts state prison several inmates were confirmed in the Roman Catholic faith yesterday. The services took place in the prison chapel and Bishop Brady performed the ceremony for the benefit of the 33 men who were confirmed.

Weavers Give Up Strike

Valley Falls, R. I., Nov. 22.—After having been out on strike for 10 days, because the management refused their demands for advance in wages, 65 weavers returned to their work at the Samoset cotton mills without the advance being made.

Westfield's Aspiration

Westfield, Mass., Nov. 22.—At a special town meeting last evening it was decided to petition the state legislature for a city charter. Westfield has a population of 14,000, and the agitation for a city charter has been going on for some time.

Schooner In Serious Plight

Norfolk, Nov. 22.—Schooner William Converse, lumber-laden, from Port Royal to New York, was towed into Norfolk harbor late last night by the steamer Rescue with all her sails gone, her crew exhausted and water pouring through strained seams at the rate of one foot an hour. From the time the Converse left Port Royal heavy seas and adverse winds had held her at their mercy. All the way up the coast she had battled with them.

A Remarkable Holdup

St. Pefersburg, Nov. 22.—Three editors of The Workmen's Gazette, the official organ of the workmen's council, boldly entered the composing room of The Novoe Vremya with revolvers and compelled the compositors to set up their paper, making prisoners of such persons who entered the room. Later, going to the press room, the visitors compelled the pressmen to run off 30,000 copies of The Workmen's Gazette.

CITY BREVITIES.

The afternoons will commence to lengthen before Christmas.

A quieter city election than the present one since the caucuses has never been known. It looks as though everybody was satisfied that Mayor Thompson was to be returned for another year.

If practice makes perfect, the Athletics of Atlantic will be able to beat any football team in the vicinity of Boston. The report of contesting elevens is that the Athletics play a strong, fair game and are made up of excellent material for success in this line of sport.

The Newell and Snowling construction company show no quarter in the use of Atlantic streets for the parade of loaded teams bearing gravel and creating it, but stalwart Dennis O'Neil keeps up with the procession with a steam roller, thereby reducing the ravage to the minimum. Through his efforts, something is reserved for the citizens of Quincy after the Park Commission has taken its bite from local possessions.

Torture as Sign of Mourning

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 22.—The Indians of Neuchavalitz are holding a sorrow dance, in which the women scratch their cheeks and breasts until blood is drawn as a sign of mourning for the Indian hunters of the overdue sealing schooner Fawn. The Fawn carried a crew of six white men and 21 Indians.

Racer's Depreciation In Value

New York, Nov. 22.—The price of $70 for a race horse which once won a $10,000 purse was paid at the auction block of the Old Glory horse sale. Star Lilly, once a grand circuit favorite, was the sacrifice at this price. This mare is now 21 years old and has not raced since her 14th year.

Russian Bishop Criticised

Milwaukee, Nov. 22.—At the Milwaukee Episcopal diocesan council resolutions were passed that it was the sense of the council that the action of the Russian Bishop Tikon in ordaining to the priesthood a deposed priest of the Angelican communion is to be profoundly deplored.

Had No Competitors

Washington, Nov. 22.—The only bid received by General Crozier, chief of ordnance of the army, for 36 automatic machine guns, calibre .30, was from the Vickers Sons & Maxim, who offered to supply the guns at the rate of $1536 each. The bid will be accepted.

Fisherman Piloted Warship

Dover, Eng., Nov. 22.—The United States cruiser Minneapolis has arrived here. The ship encountered a thick fog, and, it is said, struck ground off the French coast. She was piloted across the channel by the master of a trawler from Rye.

Yellow Fever Fatality

Havana, Nov. 22.—Mabel Israel, an American Jewess, 15 years old, died at Las Animas hospital from yellow fever. Two new suspected cases were taken to the Las Animas hospital yesterday.

FEARED ACTUARY

Insurance Men Had Agent to "Take Care" of Him

PLATT GIVES TESTIMONY

Equitable Gave $10,000 a Year to Campaign Fund--Mutual Company and New York Life Also Contributed a Share

New York, Nov. 22.—The identity of Senator Depew's "rantankerous friend from up the river" was disclosed in the legislative insurance investigation committee by the testimony of John A. Nichols, a lawyer under retainer by the Equitable Life Insurance company.

Mr. Nichols had written Depew a letter referring to an individual in the above terms, and this letter was read Friday when Depew was on the witness stand. Depew was unable to recall who was meant by the rantankerous friend, but yesterday Nichols disclosed a series of payments to W. S. Manning of Albany, a former actuary who had been connected with the investigation of insurance companies in 1877.

Mr. Hughes enquired as to a report that Manning had been in possession of information that was suppressed during this investigation and that, according to report, would have been detrimental to the Equitable. Nichols could not recall the suppression of the information, but he detailed the payment of sums of money over a considerable period to Manning as an inducement to give up his business as actuary, in which capacity, according to the witness, he was a menace to the Equitable Life.

Mr. Nichols said he was paid a retainer from the Mutual and the New York Life for the same duties, that of "taking care of Manning," as Hughes characterized it. The payments by the Equitable for Manning were made to Nichols on vouchers bearing false names, which Nichols said was done to protect Manning.

Aside from the testimony of Nichols the interesting testimony of the day was that of Senator T. C. Platt, who did not hesitate to tell of the contributions of the insurance companies to state campaigns. The Equitable, the Mutual Life and the New York Life were the only insurance companies that made such contributions. The Equitable Life, Platt said, contributed regularly $10,000 a year to the state campaigns, the Mutual Life the same sum frequently, and the New York Life a sum not as large, and occasionally. These moneys were always delivered in cash to Platt's office by messenger, and he turned them over to the state committee. Platt said he supposed he was expected to influence the legislature when any legislation appeared that was hostile to the insurance companies, but he has never been asked to do so, nor had he done so. Platt said he believed he had asked President McCurdy of the Mutual Life for a contribution when the needs were very great. He knew nothing about contributions to the national campaign.

Gage E. Tarbell, second vice president of the Equitable, was also a witness again. His testimony Friday was interrupted by the adjournment, and yesterday he continued his explanation of the agency system, of which he had charge, and the manner of arriving at the commissions. He detailed a history of the agencies of insurance companies and his own efforts to reduce the cost of getting business.

During his testimony Tarbell made a very extensive explanation of the good that insurance companies have done and the difficulties under which the work is carried on. One part of his testimony caused much amusement when he described a fight with the New York Life over the taking of agents. In this statement Tarbell told how he won over a general agent and 200 sub-agents of the New York Life in this city without the cost to the Equitable of so much as one dollar. The only inducement offered was that the agents could make more on a commission basis than under the salary of the New York Life. Tarbell said that he closed the deal on a Sunday. He thought it was a good job and it was done on a good day.

Mr. Tarbell's testimony was interrupted again when Assemblyman Apgar was called. His card with the inscription "Mr. Hyde says to pay him" was attached to a voucher for $1000 which the Equitable paid Thomas D. Husted, and the voucher bore Husted's endorsement. Apgar knew absolutely nothing about the money, nor did he know how his card came to be used for such a purpose, nor had he ever heard of any moneys being paid by the Equitable or anyone else. Apgar said his relations were somewhat strained with Husted and as Husted is dead he asked to be excused from entering into any extensive explanation of the matter.

CAUGHT IN A GALE

Unknown Steamer Strikes Rock Off Nova Scotia

AN EXPLOSION FOLLOWS

Ship Immediately Disappeared, Leaving No Trace of Her Crew --Further Details of Wreck of the Steamer Turbin

Halifax, Nov. 22.—The violent storm which swept the coast of Nova Scotia the latter part of last week has apparently claimed another victim. A two-masted steamer went to the bottom off Beaver Harbor on the east coast, 55 miles from Halifax. Her identity has not been established and so far as can be ascertained not a man of her crew survived.

News of the disaster, which is one of the strangest in the shipping history of the province, was brought to Halifax by the steamer Kilkeel, commanded by Captain Allan, from Port Hastings, C. B., with a cargo of coal. The Kilkeel on Thursday morning ran into a gale which kicked up so vicious a sea that Captain Allan decided to run for shelter.

Heading for Beaver Harbor, he observed behind him another steamer, with two masts and heavily laden, approaching, apparently also seeking shelter. The gale was then blowing at a terrific rate and the seas were breaking heavily on the numerous shoals which stud that bleak coast.

When the Kilkeel reached the haven the unknown steamer passed west of Horse island, near the harbor entrance, which hid her hull. Suddenly a great cloud of smoke or steam shot upward and when it cleared away the masts of the incoming steamer had vanished. The officers on the Kilkeel who had been watching the approaching steamer are positive that she went to the bottom and equally as positive that no boat could live in the sea which prevailed. They believe that she sank and struck a rock and as she foundered her boilers exploded. Nothing could be ascertained to establish her identity. It is improbable that any of the crew escaped.

Off Ship Harbor, 30 miles west of Halifax, a large schooner bottom up was passed on Saturday morning, making the fourth wreck reported on the Nova Scotia coast in two days. Not in recent years has such a number of marine disasters been reported and it is feared that a large loss of life has occurred in Nova Scotian waters.

When the Kilkeel came out of Beaver Harbor after the sea had moderated some, the captain and his officers had their glasses on the place where they thought the disaster had occurred and they saw what they took to be the funnel of a steamer sticking some distance above the water. There was such a heavy sea running then that he could not approach the dangerous shoals.

Wreckage From the Turbin

Clark's Harbor, N. S., Nov. 22.—Part of the deckhouse with electric wires attached and pieces of the bridge which washed ashore in this vicinity are the only sad souvenirs here of the wreck of the Norwegian steamer Turbin with all on board on Friday evening. Fishermen who patrolled along the coast found this wreckage, but none of the bodies was recovered.

Eighteen miles northeast from Cape Sable lies Mud island, the scene of the disaster. Directly south of it is Seal island and further seaward in about the same line is Blond rock, which has cut short many vessels' careers. These islands stretch far across the track of vessels rounding the cape and bound into the Bay of Yarmouth, 25 miles beyond. The two-mile gap between, called the Hospital, is a convenient passage at all times even for large craft, as it shortens the course which otherwise would be a wide berth of Blond rock. One mile north is Black rock ledges, a great mound of rough rocks, bare at half-tide with a line of shoals running westerly from it, covered by three fathoms of water. Rapid currents rush past these reefs and in stormy weather the waves are a huge foaming cataract, for no buoy or other mark warns the mariner of danger.

The ill-fated steamer took this road at low tide near sundown on Friday in the teeth of a howling gale. The fishermen on Mud island watched her making fair headway against it. When near Black ledge she stopped suddenly and a deluge of sea pounded over her. Then she swung back for a moment, shook from stem to stern, then keeled over and disappeared. There was no time to clear away the boats and nothing could be made out after that from the island. No boat could pass through the surf on shore and no help could be rendered.

The steamer was owned in Norway. She was valued at $50,000, and her cargo of coal was worth $3500.

NURSE TELLS STORY

Important Witness In Suit Case Tragedy Is Found

Boston, Nov. 22.—The Post says: The most important development in the "suit case mystery" for several days was the discovery yesterday that the nurse who had attended Susan Geary had been found and that she had told all she knew of the case to District Attorney Sughrue.

The nurse in question, about whose identity the utmost secrecy is maintained, is not the Mrs. Dean who kept the house in which the girl died. The nurse is a young girl who was employed by Mrs. Dean to care for the patient, and she attended Susan Geary up to the time of her death. She was present when the victim died and she was present when the operation was performed, though it is understood that the officials do not hold that she was criminally implicated in it. She has no idea where Mrs. Dean escaped to.

Lawyer W. C. Maguire, who has been retained to look after the girl's interests, when seen last night by a Post reporter, said:

"You must excuse me from talking about this matter in detail. My client in my presence made a full and frank statement to Mr. Sughrue of all she knew concerning this suit case matter. I must refer you to him for any further information."

Another Industrial Crisis

St. Petersburg, Nov. 22.—Despite the decision arrived at by the council of workmen on Nov. 20 not to attempt the introduction of a movement for an eight-hour day, the question of shorter hours is taking a critical turn. At several important works the men have adopted a course of dropping their tools after they have labored eight hours. The employers last night resolved to stand firm against the demands of the men. The local works will be closed unless the men consent to the old system of 60 hours a week.

Fulfilled Husband's Mission

Quebec, Nov. 22.—After months of privation and suffering in the very lands where her husband met his death, Mrs. Leonidas Hubbard, widow of the magazine writer and explorer, returned to Quebec from her explorations in Labrador and reported success in exploring the lands which caused her husband's death. She has penetrated into a land never before visited by white man or woman, and succeeded in traveling from the Labrador coast to Hudson bay.

Politician an Alleged Repeater

New York, Nov. 22.—James A. Maguire, chairman of an election board, was arrested last evening. He is accused of leaving the polling place in his district (19th) on election day and of going to the 20th election district and voting there under the name of Harry W. Jennings. Maguire was held in $5000 bail. He is a Tammany lieutenant.

Tax May Be Eliminated

Washington, Nov. 22.—Upon satisfactory showing to the secretary of the treasury that the recent big fire in the Overholt distillery at Bradford, Pa., was purely accidental and that the spirits were destroyed without fraud, there may be an abatement of the internal revenue tax due on them, aggregating between $700,000 and $800,000.

Korea Under Japanese Control

London, Nov. 22.—The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says that the details of the negotiations at Seoul show that the Koreans had no alternative but to accept the treaty drawn by Japan. General Hasegawa, now commander of the Japanese troops in Korea, will be the Japanese governor general of Korea.

Cigarmakers Quit Work

Key West, Fla., Nov. 22.—A general strike of 2000 cigarmakers has gone into effect. Several conferences were held between the manufacturers and the Cigarmakers' union, but they were fruitless. It is not improbable that a sympathetic strike of all branches of the trade will be ordered.

Four Men Killed In Explosion

South River, N. J., Nov. 22.—Four men were blown to pieces by an explosion at the laboratory of the International Smokeless Powder and Chemical company at Parlin. What caused the explosion will never be known, as only the four men were in the building at the time.

Burglar Murders a Woman

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Miss Maud Reese, an employe of the law department of the general offices of the Union Traction company, was shot and killed last night by a burglar whom she found in her apartments when she returned from work. The burglar escaped.

Overdue Vessel Safe

Halifax, Nov. 22.—A private cable announces the safe arrival at Buenos Ayres of the barkentine Stranger, after a passage of 74 days from Bridgewater, N. S. Some anxiety had been felt for the vessel, as she was long overdue.

GRAFT AND BLACKMAIL

Charges In Connection With the Union Labor Souvenirs

Pittsburg, Nov. 22.—The principal feature of Tuesday's sessions of the American Federation of Labor came when the section of the grievance committee's report was presented asking for the abolition of the souvenir program in connection with union labor events.

Smaller labor unions throughout the country were charged with grafting, forgery and threatening the employers with strikes and boycotts in getting out souvenir books for Labor day and other occasions.

Many of the leading delegates to the convention talked on the question and, while the names of the labor unions against which the charges were made were not uncovered, labor leaders in almost every city were accused of the practice. A resolution was offered and adopted condemning the issue of souvenir books by the labor unions.

The exposure came about as a result of a resolution offered condemning the Philadelphia Central Labor union for using advertisements of firms whose names had been placed on the "unfair list" in the souvenir program issued last Labor day. Some of the delegates from small towns were opposed to the resolution prohibiting the issuing of the souvenir books, claiming that it was in this manner that the bulk of the money used by the organizations was raised.

Sad For Yankee Fishermen

St. Johns, Nov. 22.—Inspector O'Reilly, in charge of the enforcement of the fishery laws against American herring vessels on the west coast, reports that the Americans have only loaded a single vessel thus far. Two Canadian vessels, with the largest cargoes of herring ever taken from the bay, sailed this week bound for Gloucester, being chartered by American traders. These vessels bought their herring from local fishermen and will pay import duty on foreign fish when entering American ports.

Says She Can Conquer Death

New York, Nov. 22.—Martha Craig, after a lecture on "Death a Mistake" at Brooklyn, declared: "If a child with a good mind was given into my care, and would learn and follow the truth, there would be no reason for its ever seeing death." Miss Craig demonstrated her theory by taking the place of the electric wire and transmitted through her frame messages sent both by wireless telegraphy and the telephone.

Contest Over Pierson's Death

Mount Vernon, O., Nov. 22.—President Pierce of Kenyon college has demanded of Coroner Scarborough a transcript of the testimony taken in the inquest held on the body of Stewart L. Pierson, the student who was killed by a train while awaiting initiation into a college fraternity. Scarborough refused to comply with the request until the testimony had been submitted to the grand jury.

Wrongfully Placed In Asylum

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Albert V. Deane-Reid, who was taken from her husband by her brothers soon after her marriage and placed in Bloomingdale asylum, was set at liberty last night by Justice Platt, who decided she had never been insane and never should have been sent to the asylum. Her husband is now awaiting trial in New York on a charge of bigamy.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, ☞ Main Spring while you wait. Watch cleaned, $1.—Williams.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

Hereafter the club department will appear in the Wednesday instead of the Saturday Ledger, as the rush of other news and the printing of several papers at the end of the week makes it impossible for the editor to do justice to the subject. Presidents or Secretaries of clubs, auxiliaries, alliances, guilds, leagues, patriotic or church societies, are invited to cooperate by sending matter pertaining to their organization, which will be of interest to their members or the public. If mailed to the club editor not later than Tuesday noon it will receive prompt attention.—Eds.

Quincy Women's Club.

On Tuesday the twenty-eighth, the regular date for the meeting of the Quincy Women's club, the meeting will be held in the evening in the chapel of Bethany church, instead of at the club house in the afternoon. It will be a lecture, under the auspicies of the Civic Betterment committee, by Mr. Kirkland of the Gypsy Moth commission, illustrated by the stereopticon. Members will be admitted by their blue membership tickets and may procure guests tickets for their friends and the public in the usual way according to the club by-laws. Mrs. Wadsworth and her committee and Miss Prescott have guests tickets.

The Musical committee of the Quincy Women's club is starting at once into active work having held meetings to consider forming a choral society, so that a fine concert may be looked forward to at some future date.

By request the Quincy Women's club is to run a series of whist parties at the club house.

Junior Friday Club.

The Junior Friday club goes to Wollaston on Monday afternoon to meet with Mrs. Jesse I. Litchfield of Brook street, hostess for the afternoon. The literary program will be in charge of Miss Etta M. Prescott, the subject being the Philadelphia period in American literature, Benjamin Franklin and Charles Brockden Brown.

Social Science Club

Tuesday a regular meeting of the Social Science and Literary Club was held at Mrs. A. L. Thompson's home, 11 Squantum street. Mrs. George Wilcox read a very interesting paper on "Chinese Immigration," followed by discussion. At the club meeting Nov. 7 "Municipal Ownership" was discussed, and proved very interesting. The study of "Hamlet" was conducted by Mrs. Thompson.

Hospital Aid Association.

The Hospital Aid association will meet on the 23d instead of the last Thursday in the month, that being Thanksgiving day. The association has accepted the invitation of the Quincy Women's club and will hereafter hold their meetings at the club house on Goffe street, where a pleasant room will be at their disposal, also a large linen closet for their sewing materials.

Women's Branch Alliance.

A meeting of the Women's Alliance of First church will be held in the chapel of the church on Monday afternoon, Nov. 27th, at three o'clock. Rev. Albert Lazenby of Lynn, an Englishman and a student of Martineau, will be the essayist, speaking on Martineau and modern Unitarianism.

St. Margaret's Guild.

Friday evening Mr. Stanton King of the Sailors' Haven, Charlestown, is to address St. Margaret's Guild at its social meeting in the parish house of Christ church.

Granite City Club.

Commencing tonight, Nov. 22, the Granite City club will hold a series of Wednesday evening whist tournaments. The game will start promptly at eight. Refreshments and a social time will follow the game.

Women's Auxiliary.

It was Gentlemen's Night at the regular November meeting of the Women's Auxiliary Monday evening. Nearly eighty ladies and gentlemen assembled in the hall of the Y. M. C. A. building to listen to a very interesting program arranged by Mrs. Eben Sheppard, the president of the auxiliary.

The meeting was opened by singing and a prayer by Rev. E. D. Webber of the Wollaston Baptist church.

Mr. Albert Hayden rendered three beautiful solos in his usual pleasing style.

The president asked Secretary Gay to say a few words and in her introduction spoke of the good, conscientious work Mr. Gay is doing among the boys. She thought he should have the hearty support of the fathers and mothers of the boys, and should receive words of encouragement and cheer from them as well.

Mr. Gay spoke briefly of what the association is doing. The bills are being paid promptly; the dormitories are all filled, and there is a waiting list besides.

The mechanical free hand monumental and modeling classes are well attended, seventy-five men being enrolled.

The Association is touching 350 men in a religious way through the men's meetings, Bible work and business men's classes.

Following Secretary Gay, Secretary Noon was called upon and spoke very enthusiastically of the work being done in the boys' department; of the interest manifested by the boys; the good times they have and the real good being accomplished.

P. P. Gillette, secretary of the Boston & Maine R. R. Y. M. C. A., the speaker of the evening, was then introduced and told in a very entertaining manner the work of the Y. M. C. A. among railroad men. He said there are over 70,000 members and 130 Association buildings put up for railroad men.

Good work is being done along social, intellectual, religious and physical lines. The railroad officials heartily cooperate with them, giving much financial support, having appropriated $260,000 towards the work, believing as Hon. Paul Morton says: "The Railroad Young Men's Christian Association is good for the men, better for the company, but best of all for the public."

Mrs. Sheppard, in behalf of the auxiliary extended a vote of thanks to Mr. Gillette and all others who had assisted in making the evening very enjoyable.

The meeting then adjourned. Hot coffee was served in the association parlors and a social hour enjoyed by all present.

Woman's Relief Corps

At the last meeting of W. R. C. 103, memorial services were held on the death of Mrs. Mary A. H. Crane.

The W. R. C. Sewing circle will meet at G. A. R. hall Thursday.

Wollaston Unity Club

The next meeting of the Wollaston Unity club will be held Friday evening. The subject will be "The Metropolitan park system," and Mr. John Woodbury of the Metropolitan Park Commission will deliver an address, illustrated by the stereopticon. The musical program will consist of vocal duets by Mrs. Page and Mrs. Collyer, and solos by C. Ralph Taylor.

King's Daughters

The Unity Circle, King's Daughters, have contributed twenty-five dollars to fund for Nurses Home, thus giving fresh evidence that our City Hospital has the interest of our associations as well as of individuals. The fund now amounts to nearly one thousand dollars.

The W C T U

The Wollaston W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Gilbert Rhodes, No. 9 Old Colony avenue, next Tuesday afternoon at 2.30. Reports from National Convention.

Neighboring Women's Clubs

"Home Sanitation" is to be the subject discussed by Mrs. M. B. Tobey of Brookline before the Ousamequin club of Bridgewater on Monday afternoon.

Last week was a busy one with the Brockton Woman's club. On Tuesday the current topics course was begun by a talk on current events by William G. Ward of Boston. Thursday the first meeting of the music class was held, when "Russian Music" was the subject. Saturday a sewing school was started by the ladies of the social service committee, which promises to be very popular with the children of the city. As an incentive to good work a number of silver thimbles were purchased with money given by the late Mrs. Hattie E. Shaw.

The Women's Afternoon club of Abington have a musicale on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. H. J. Hayward, president of the Woman's club of Woburn will tell the story of Siegfried illustrated with musical selections.

Tomorrow the Old Colony club of South Weymouth is to have an afternoon with the poems and songs of Robert Burns with Mr. M. J. Dwyer as the lecturer.

The first literary and social afternoon of the literary and entertainment committee of the Woman's Charity club will be held at the Vendome Thursday, Nov. 23, from 3 to 5 o'clock. Mrs. John F. Wood, chairman of the committee, has arranged a fine program. Mrs. Marian Longfellow O'Donoghue will read from her latest book of poems entitled "Contrasted Songs," also some of her short stories. Miss Anne Abbott, the well known violinist, and her trio will furnish the musical numbers.

The Hyde Park Current Events club is arranging for a presentation in January of "A Mock Session of the Senate" which promises to be a great social success.

The Salem Woman's club had an exceedingly interesting meeting last week, when Dr. Anita McGee, supervisor of nurses in the Japanese army, told of her experiences. The lecture was finely illustrated by colored lantern slides. Dr. McGee was the recipient of a rare honor, the Emperor bestowing upon her the order of the Sacred Crown. She closed her lecture by singing the Japanese national hymn.

Brighthelmstone club of Allston is considering the matter of a club home and have received a most liberal offer from the Unitarian parish of the church property on Cambridge street. A committee has been appointed to take steps to secure the property.

TODAY'S COURT.

Daniel Mack was arraigned for attempting an assault at Holbrook, and was held in $500 until Dec. 2.

John W. Moran was arraigned for breaking and entering at Weymouth and the larceny of two hens from Henry L. Lovell. Case continued until Thursday morning.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

CHARITIES.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000 but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

NORFOLK ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of

HENRY H. FAXON,

late of Quincy, in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Henry M. Faxon of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham, in said County of Norfolk, on the sixth day of December, A. D. 1905, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JAMES H. FLINT, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventeenth day of November, in the year one thousand nine hundred and five.

Engineer Johnson

Gets Up More Steam In Scholarship Contest

Evidently Engineer Johnson has moved the ball on the safety valve out a little further and shovelled on considerable more coal, as he is now neck and neck with Drug Clerk Maloney with an even 5000 vote.

Conductor Johnson, Clerk Skinner, Messenger Bowditch and others in the men's list also gain today.

In the ladies' list Miss Merritt has moved up to No. 2 and there are good gains for Miss Tilton, Miss Holbrook, Miss Spaulding, Miss DeCoste and others.

Another five-vote coupon is printed today and perhaps the last.

Notice is hereby given that no Daily Ledgers with coupons will be sold at wholesale after Friday, Dec. 1, at 5 P. M.

The last week of the coupon in the Scholarship contest has arrived. The last coupons will be printed on Saturday, Nov. 25, in both the Daily Ledger and Quincy Patriot. That is positively the last date.

Valuable first and second prizes are offered to both men and women. A $100 scholarship in the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., to the leader in each list, and as a second prize to men a suit of clothes or an overcoat and as a second prize to women a suit or coat. The scholarships take a wide range and many have found them great helps in securing better paying positions.

The Daily Ledger has no favorites. It would like to see all candidates win. It will endeavor to treat all fairly and alike. Wholesale purchases of papers by one candidate will not be disclosed to another. Neither will we agree to supply all demands. First come, first served.

The standing to date is:

Where Is Cash?

Query Is Answered Today Conductor Also Moves Up

Yesterday there were inquiries where is Clerk Cash, who appeared to be over 1000 behind the leaders in the contest. There has been a general shake-up today, and when the smoke of battle disappeared it was found that Mr. Cash was on the top of the heap, with a total of 5489 to his credit. Conductor Johnson also passed Clerk Maloney and Engineer Johnson. The quartette have now over 5000 each, and the race on the home stretch promises to be exciting. May the best man win.

Five others in the men's list also make gains today.

It is a quiet day in the ladies' list, but Miss Merritt's friends added 100, and there were gains for Miss Pitt, Miss Souter and others.

Here are a few dates to remember:

Nov. 25,—last coupons will be printed.

Nov. 25,—last standing of candidates will be published before the award.

Dec. 1,—last day for purchase of Daily Ledgers with coupons.

Dec. 7, at 5 P. M. last date and hour when coupons will be received at office of Daily Ledger,

Dec. 12, award of prizes.

Valuable first and second prizes are offered to both men and women. A $100 scholarship in the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., to the leader in each list, and as a second prize to men a suit of clothes or an overcoat and as a second prize to women a suit or coat. The scholarships take a wide range and many have found them great helps in securing better paying positions.

The Daily Ledger has no favorities. It would like to see all candidates win. It will endeavor to treat all fairly and alike. Wholesale purchases of papers by one candidate will not be disclosed to another. Neither will we agree to supply all demands. First come, first served.

A Grand Success

Unusual Demand for Goods at Atlantic Fair

The supporters of Memorial church met the challenge of their bounty at the annual fair of the Ladies' Benevolent Society Wednesday afternoon and evening at Music hall, Atlantic, by a rush of personal enthusiasm. The attractive booths and enticing counters were swept clear of their choicest wares before the less fortunate visitors of the following day were able to avail themselves of this exceptional opportunity to satisfy the needs of the present and of the future.

The national colors flaunting from the twelve booths made attractive with original decorations, enhanced the felicitious faces of buyer and seller.

The entertainment Wednesday evening was furnished by the children and the Boys' Brigade.

The general committee for the Fair were: Mrs. William Cummings, chairman; Mrs. Stephen Bennett, Mrs. Chas. Safford, Mrs. Elijah Hall, Mrs. S. C. Butler, and Miss Louise Kolb.

The tables were:

Pink Combine In Trouble

Everything is not smooth financially for the "pink granite combine," or the Milford Pink Quarries Company, as it is known legally. Application was made in the United States circuit court before Judge Colt, Wednesday, for a receiver for the company, on application made by the Franklin Trust Company of Brooklyn, trustee under a mortgage.

Judge Colt called attention to the fact that the bill did not set forth that the quarries were not able to carry on their business, and, inasmuch as there was no default on the bonds, the court indicated an unwillingness to appoint a receiver. The court intimated, however, a willingness to hear counsel further at a later date.

The combine was formed about the first of last April and its advent was the signal for a considerable boom in the granite town of Massachuetts. The organization was affected by George Otis Draper, son of Ambassador Draper, and was capitalized at $2,000,000 under the laws of New Jersey. Its purpose was to work the quarries formerly owned by the Milford Pink Granite Company, the Norcross Bros., the Deerbrook Company and the Cutting Company. One of its first successful acts was the underbidding of all competitors for the contract to provide $1,600,000 worth of granite for the new Pennsylvania railroad station in New York city. The trust controls, it is said, over 90 per cent. of the peculiar pink granite in quarries known to exist.

Was a Good Lesson

Rosa Paraguas, Romenica Progoni, Thomas Mullaney, Harry Gould, William O'Neil and Francis B. DeYoung, the juveniles who were arrested for setting fire to the old granite sheds on Canal street and who have been under the care of the probation officer for several weeks, had their cases disposed of this morning. All the cases were placed on file on payment of costs. Rosa, who has since married, paid $4 and the others 88 cents each.

Boys Arrested Tampered with Wires

During the past three months the Old Colony Street Railway Company has encountered considerable trouble, in the various towns through which their high tension feed wires run from their central power station at Quincy Point to the various sub-stations, as far as Fall River. Many of the insulators have been broken either by stones or guns, which in two or three instances resulted in stalling a certain section of their system for a considerable time.

The company felt that this destruction was the work of mischievous boys and instituted a thorough investigation in the different towns where it was found necessary. This resulted in bringing four juvenile offenders before Judge Read in the Brockton court last Monday morning, who let them off with a nominal fine on account of their ages, ranging between thirteen and fourteen.

The officials of the company are determined to prosecute those responsible for this destruction. The breaking of these wires would not only result in shutting down the sub station, and inconvenience travel, but the current is of such a voltage that it might prove fatal to the offender, or anyone coming in contact with it.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ How righteous, even finely scrupulous, these insurance presidents become when they have been caught. One will return certain money to the policyholders out of his own pocket if it is not secured otherwise, and a second will have his own salary cut in two. How beautiful it is to see these rusty old consciences burnished to exceeding brightness under the cleansing rays of concentrated public attention.—Columbia State.

☞ Judge Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, who is himself credited with receiving a salary of $100,000, is quoted to the effect that that salary may not be too large a figure for certain men in certain positions: "It is not that the salaries paid to the heads of great business corporations today are too large; the real question is whether the right men are drawing the salaries." Yes; there is first the trouble of finding a man able to earn so much, and next is the trouble of keeping him worth so much. In the insurance business the big salary has been proved to be a demoralizing influence; its tendency is to unright the "right" man after he has been found.—Springfield Republican.

☞ It is possible that the voters acted hastily in rejecting the Luce caucus law after a single trial. There was dissatisfaction, to be sure, but in view of subsequent events the feeling obtains in many quarters that another trial would have overcome some of the objections, and that on the whole the law would have been found an improvement over the method adopted last Friday. The presence of Democrats in the large caucuses was a scandal, and the hands that controlled them were so openly visible that even those of the party that profited by their presence were ashamed of the spectacle. But the action of the caucus officials was also open to criticism, and before another year rolls around there should be some way invented or provided to secure competent counters who are willing to do the work, and who will not abandon it until the result is ascertained.—Lynn Item.

☞ Where will the poor men get off, in the language of the day, in political combats in the future if the expense accounts of the candidates are necessarily as high as some in recent historic contests? The $80,000 admitted to have been spent by Mr. Hearst in New York is the high water mark, but others hav come mighty close to his record in the way of money spending. We have all seen examples of large expenditures of money to carry various elections in this State. We know that gold flows like water in the endeavor to sweep away dangerous looking opposition when political bosses are sometimes threatened with the loss of a battle. We are all aware that there are few men so strong, so popular and so well established in the good graces of their neighbors that they can sit back in a campaign and confidently hope for election on their own unaided merits. Organization, the making of a good fight, the rousing up of the slothful or careless voters, the ringing in of new voters, the converting political enemies into political friends, the rallies and the advance work before the caucuses, the advertising that is now so strong a feature of campaigns—all these things mean the expenditure of a lot of money. The only way the poor man can get this money to spend is to have wealthy influences of some kind back of him, and this means that he must be a tool and a puppet for those interests.—Brockton Enterprise.

GIFTS FOR PRESIDENT

Abyssinian Official Delivers Them at the White House

Washington, Nov. 23.—El Hadjie Abdallah Basha, minister of commerce for Abyssinia, called upon President Roosevelt and presented to him a personal letter from Emperor Menelik. He also brought certain gifts for the chief magistrate. The Abyssinian was in full court uniform of dark blue so thickly embroidered with gold lace that the texture of the goods could scarcely be discerned, with fez and with a curving scimitar in a golden scabbard. He came to the White House escorted by Major John Carson, chief of the division of manufactures of the census bureau, and R. M. Jereissati, a Philadelphia merchant, who accompanied the basha to translate his Arabic tongue into English for this occasion.

The president extended a cordial welcome to his visitor, who at first handed him the emperor's letter of greeting. Unfortunately this screed was in the Abyssinian language which no one could interpret and the president was obliged to defer for the moment the reading of the message. Then the basha presented in behalf of Emperor Menelik three elephant tusks, one being a gigantic specimen nine feet long and of great rarity and value. As his personal offering, the basha gave the president the skin of a magnificent Numidian lion. The president returned thanks for these gifts and indicated his purpose of placing the tusks in the National museum and keeping the lion-skin in his private collection.

Thieves Took Safe and Contents

Paterson, N. J., Nov. 23.—A safe containing $7000 in jewelry was dropped from a second-story window here last night, carried to one of the busy streets adjoining and taken away, it is believed, in an automobile. The safe belonged to Frederick W. Cooke. All the members of the family were absent at the time.

Sympathy For Afflicted Brethen

Chicago, Nov. 23.—The central conference of American rabbis has issued an appeal to the Jews of the country that a memorial service be held for the Jews murdered in Russia. Each rabbi is urged to request his people to close their places of business at 4 p. m. on Dec. 4 and meet in their houses of worship at 8 p. m.

Report of Wreck Discredited

Halifax, Nov. 23.—A report received from Beaver Harbor casts some doubt upon the accuracy of the news indicating that a steamer had been sunk last Thursday night. The steamer Strathcona, which passed the vicinity yesterday, made no report of sighting a wreck or wreckage.

FIRE IN A SCHOOL

Panic Among Five Hundred Small Children

TOP FLOOR HEMMED IN

Many Who Were Caught In What Seemed Sure Death Trap Tossed From Windows Into Life Nets Forty Feet Below

Lawrence, Mass., Nov. 23.—Wan faces of little ones peering pitifully from pain-easing cots into those of anxious parents in many North Lawrence homes give graphic evidence of the most frightful school fire panic that ever took place in this city.

One child is at death's door as a result of the catastrophe, while dozens of others lie painfully bruised.

St. Anne's school, under the jurisdiction of the parish of St. Anne's French Catholic church of this city and controlled by the Sisters of the Good Shepherd, consists of three buildings, two large and of brick, and a smaller three-story wooden structure situated in the rear of the first named two. In this latter building seven sisters preside over some 500 little children, ranging in ages from 5 to 12 years. It was in this building, a structure erected over 15 years ago and minus fire escapes, that the fire panic took place.

The little ones, all girls, were in their classrooms on the different floors and at their studies when the fire broke out. One of the pupils of Miss Lord, a lay teacher in a room on the first floor, was the first to discover the fire, as small eddies of smoke curled up through the hot air flues in the basement. The alarm was given and the engines called.

The sisters remained remarkably cool and directed their scholars in leaving. All filed out in order, leaving coats and hats behind, with the exception of those on the top floor. So quickly did the flames spread and the smoke rush to the top of the building, however, that teachers and children on this floor were caught and escape seemed impossible.

All managed to get out, nevertheless, from the third floor, with the exception of those in Sister Mary's room, into which the whole crowd of scholars of the smoke-laden floor poured.

Here they were caught in what seemed a sure death trap. They began rushing to all the windows and appealing, faces blanched, to those below for help, until the cool teacher, going from window to window, caught the frenzied children one by one and tossed them to the life nets 40 feet below.

On the east side of the building the longest life net in the service of the department was stretched, and into this most of the children were tossed or jumped, but on the other sides of the building only small nets were held, and in some cases nothing but the outstretched coats of the firemen.

In their descent to these lifesaving contrivances many of the little ones either shot through the arms of those who stood ready to catch them or were missed completely by would-be rescuers and landed on the hard ground, three stories below.

It was in this way that Eva Brosseau received frightful injuries from which she may die. She slipped through the arms of a rescuer and landed head first on the ground.

Drs. Magee and Lavoie were at the scene of the fire panic with the firemen and rendered valuable aid. The injured children were taken into neighboring houses and cared for until they could be sent to their homes or taken to hospitals.

Mitchell's Services Appreciated

Boston, Nov. 23.—The trusttes of the Boston university have appointed Professor H. G. Mitchell as instructor of Semitic languages and literature in the graduate school of the university. Recently Mitchell was removed from his chair in the Theological school of the university by the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church for alleged heretical interpretation of the Scriptures. Resolutions were passed by the trustees commending Mitchell for his 22 years of faithful services to the university.

Poor Cause For Shooting

Nyack, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Because they objected to his attentions to their sister, W. H. Jones last night shot and killed Harry Britton and probably fatally wounded his brother Frank. Jones, who is about 35 years old, is said to have been infatuated with the Britton boys' sister, Jessie, who is 16 years old. The girl was annoyed by Jones' persistence. Jones has fled.

Death In Ammonia Fumes

Houston, Tex., Nov. 23.—Eight negro workmen were caught in the cellar of the Houston Packing company when an ammonia pipe broke and all of them were overcome by the fumes. It was necessary to dig through the wall to reach them. Four of the men probably will recover. The accident was caused by a leaky pipe.

Fishermen Get Big Fares

Chatham, Mass., Nov 23.—Some of the heaviest fares of codfish ever landed at this end of Cape Cod were brought ashore last evening by local fishermen. The fall fishing this year has been unusually good, but during the past few days the catches on the banks, 15 miles off shore, have been exceptional.

Tax Clerk an Alleged Thief

New York, Nov. 23.—A $1500 check stolen from the office of the receiver of taxes has been found through statements of Gerald J. O'Keefe, the tax office clerk, who was arrested at Boston, charged with taking $3500 worth of checks from the New York tax receiver's office. The $1500 check found by the police when O'Keefe was brought to New York places the amount of his alleged theft at $5000.

Was Slated to Kill McKinley

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 23.—Samuel Lipson, who claimed that he had been selected to assassinate President McKinley, died at his home here last night. Lipson was a Hebrew cobbler, about 30 years old, who came to this country from Russia 10 years ago. Lipson's statements had never been made public, but police officials state that "he had more trouble than anyone imagined."

Rioters Too Strong For Troops

Kursk, Russia, Nov. 23.—The agrarian disorders in the district of Subzha have assumed such violence that the troops are unable to cope with them. The whole northern half of the district is in the hands of peasant rioters, who are pillaging the estates and burning the harvested crops. During the pillaging of one estate a company of Cossacks looked on, being unable to interfere.

"Death by Misfortune"

Providence, Nov. 23.—"Death by misfortune" was the report of the coroner's jury in the case of John Rose, the sailor who jumped overboard from the barge Hamilton Fish in the local harbor after an altercation with Captain Lanier. It is understood that the case against the captain will be dropped when it comes up by continuance.

Looking Over Road Conditions

New York, Nov. 23.—Chairman Goddard of the newly formed routes and maps committee of the American Automobile association has left New York on the first trip which he is to make in the interest of that organization. Goddard headed for Boston and will investigate road conditions in the Cape Cod district and north from Boston.

New Episcopal Bishop

Concord, N. H., Nov. 23.—Rev. Edward M. Parker of this city was elected coadjutor bishop of the Episcopal diocese of New Hampshire at the ninth annual diocesan convention held here. There were many prominent clergymen named as candidates for the office. Bishop Parker was born in Cambridge, Mass., in 1855.

Italians In Strikers' Places

St. John, Nov. 23.—No trouble has resulted between the steamship owners and longshoremen, who are striking for 35 cents an hour wages. Police squads guard the wharf near the steamer Parisian, where several Italians who were brought from Montreal have gone to work.

Millionaire's Son Shot

Chicago, Nov. 23.—While cleaning a gun preparatory to going on a hunting expedition, Marshall Field, Jr., son of Marshall Field, the well known dry goods merchant of this city, accidentally shot himself. He will undoubtedly die from his injury.

Two Young People Killed

Newburgh, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Clara Rudolph, aged 17, and George Adams, aged 10, her cousin, were killed at a street crossing of the West Shore railroad. They were driving across the tracks when their wagon was struck by a train.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Standard Oil company has advanced the price of Ragland crude oil 6 cents a barrel, making the price 55 cents.

About 2500 acres of land in Indiana, on the shore of Lake Michigan, has been purchased in the interest of the United States Steel corporation for manufacturing purposes.

A Chinese fireworks factory at Seattle was wrecked by a terrific explosion which severely injured three persons. Parts of the building were blown a block.

CITY BREVITIES.

The old Dr. French house is fast disappearing.

If you want to be in style you must have a head cold.

Miss Estelle Tirrell has accepted a position in one of the Boston stores.

The contest at Quincy Point for Ward Councilmen promises to be quite lively.

The widening of Granite street in front of the new block makes quite an improvement.

Rumor has it that a quiet wedding will take place at Quincy Neck on Saturday evening.

You can order your groceries by telephone of R. E. Foy & Co., and have them delivered promptly. They quote a few sample prices today.

Mrs. Laura F. Tirrell will give a musicale this evening at her rooms in the Adams building. She will be assisted by Walter Paine, the only male Patti.

The members of Brotherhood of Bethany church are in active rehearsal for the mock session of the City Council to be held Wednesday evening, Dec. 13.

The central station combination was called out on a still alarm at 4.20 Wednesday afternoon for a grass fire near the residence of John Q. A. Field on Independence avenue.

Agent Arthur Parker has noted increased receipts at the Atlantic station for some time. October, however, proved to be the banner month, for the receipts exceeded in amount any previous month at that station.

The weekly whist tournaments under the auspices of the Granite City club, commenced Wednesday evening. Seven tables were in play. John Lennon had the highest per cent with James H. Penniman a good second. Refreshments were served.

The Italian colony which works on the boulevard as introduced into Atlantic, does not add to the looks of the town for all it has increased the population. For all our democratic spirit does not foster suspicion of foreigners, the fact remains that lonely walks with such an element about lose favor for this very reason.

The enviable comradeship between a certain young miss of Atlantic and her brother deserves public mention. Their love of sport and out-of-door life, their interest in school and above all their close friendship for each other might well be an example for every boy and girl to follow. A brother's or a sister's love is a dear haven of refuge in these days and cannot be too highly valued even in days of extreme youth.

School Attendance.

The average attendance at the public schools of the city for the four weeks ending Nov. 3 was 5382,—just 80 larger than the number of voters in Quincy. The High had 656, and led in percentage:

New City.

Westfield with a population of 14,000 has decided to petition for a city charter. Soon half the cities of Massachusetts will be smaller than Quincy. There are now 19 larger and 13 smaller.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all o her diseases put toge her, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

DEATH OF BRANCH

Court Martial Begins the Trial of Meriwether

NAVAL ACADEMY "CODE"

Outside of Authoritative Regulations, but Apparently Binding--One Middy Refereed Nineteen Prearranged Fist Fights

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 23.—Midshipman Minor Meriwether, Jr., of Lafayette, La., a member of the naval academy, was put on trial here before a naval court martial on charges that include that of manslaughter in having caused the death of Midshipman James R. Branch, Jr., of New York, as a result of a prearranged fist fight which took place on the evening of Sunday, Nov. 5, last. An operation was performed on Branch the next night, but he died on the following Tuesday morning.

The first and gravest charge is manslaughter in having caused the death of Branch, but there are two other charges, the second supported by two specifications and the third by one. The second charge is of violation of the third clause of the eighth article of the rules for the government of the navy. The first specification is that Meriwether applied to Branch the names of "sneak" and "coward" and the second that he assaulted him. The third charge, of conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline, specifies that Meriwether engaged in a fight with Branch.

The sad incident of the death of Branch under such circumstances has been widely noticed and has called attention to the existence at the naval academy of an unwritten code governing the student body, but quite outside the authoritative regulations and generally in violation of them. Under the "code," every detail of these fights is fixed, the midshipman on duty abstaining from reporting them and excusing from formation those connected with them. These facts were very clearly brought out.

In fairness to the midshipmen, it should be said that every one of them gave indication of endeavoring to be perfectly frank and of either believing that there was nothing about the "code" system that they need conceal, or if there were, that they would tell it all notwithstanding. Midshipman Fitch, who refereed the fight which was followed by Branch's death, stated that he had officiated in 19 such contests, and Midshipman McKittrick testified that he had taken part in nine. Detailed accounts were given of the arrangements by which midshipman on duty acquiesced in absences without leave and other derelictions, in order that the fights might go on, and the testimony showed that, although frequently severe injuries resulted from these fights, and the recipients often had to be taken to the hospital, nothing further was ever heard of them. This the defense brought out on cross-examination, it being evidently intended to show that the authorities also winked at the code and the prearranged fights under it.

Interesting sidelights to hazing or "running," as it is called at the academy, developed from the testimony of one of the midshipmen. Meriwether had been generally disliked, he said, because he did not abide by the rules laid down for the government of the lower class men. Some of these were that he should never enter "lover's lane," an academy walk; that he should turn all corners at right angles, should not look at an upper class man, and should answer most respectfully when addressed by one of them; that he must never touch the table nor ask for anything during a meal, and under no circumstances be in the society of young women.

These rules and many others are contained in that part of the code relating to the government of under classmen. Branch had been one of the midshipmen who, according to the testimony, determined to punish Meriwether because he would not abide by these rules, and from that the enmity arose.

Jews Leaving For Palestine

St. Petersburg, Nov. 23.—Dispatches from southwestern Russia indicate that the Zionist movement has been given a powerful impetus by the anti-Jewish disorders. Hundreds of Jewish families are leaving or preparing to leave for Palestine. Three hundred sailed from Odessa on one steamer yesterday.

Plan to Preserve Buffalo

New York, Nov. 23.—To prevent the extinction of the buffalo prominent naturalists and men interested in zoological matters have planned to organize an association to be known as the American Bison society. It is proposed to place a new herd of 15 buffalo on the Wichita forest reserve.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 23.—In Chihuahua, Mex., Judge Rios sentenced C. T. Richardson, C. S. Harle and William Mason, Americans, to be shot. The men were accused of murdering two men for life insurance money.

NEWSPAPERS WARNED

Must Not Comment Upon Boston's "Suit Case" Tragedy

Boston, Nov. 23.—Judge Stevens of the superior criminal court, who will sit at the trial of the famous "dress suit case," summoned representatives of the local newspapers to the court clerk's office and issued to them a statement of his views regarding news paper handling of the case. He said:

"The case of the commonwealth vs. Crawford and others has been assigned for trial next Monday. My attention has been called to an article in a newspaper which has a tendency to prejudice both the case of the commonwealth and of the defendants. This case has received great publicity and great public interest has been manifested in it. It is of the utmost importance that it be tried by an absolutely impartial and unprejudiced jury.

"Hereafter newspapers should not publish any news or make any comment upon this case. They should publish no news whatever about the case until the trial, when, of course, they have a perfect right to publish the proceedings. I give this notice now so that hereafter the newspapers may govern themselves accordingly."

Miss Macgregor's Sudden Death

Boston, Nov. 23.—Miss Helen Macgregor, aged 24, leading woman of the company presenting "As Ye Sow" at the Majestic theatre, died at the Massachusetts Homeopathic hospital yesterday afternoon. She was operated on Sunday for a slight deafness and the operation was perfectly successful. Her death was due to a general weakness which caused the patient to yield to the shock. Miss Macgregor was just at the zenith of her professional career.

Would Wed Victim's Wife

Adams, Mass., Nov. 23.—Frank Blasejoski was before the court charged with conspiring to murder Frank Presnal, a fellow countryman, and was held under bonds of $1000. Friends of Presnal claim that Blasejoski and Mrs. Presnal have been on intimate terms. It is said that he made the statement to certain friends that he would marry Mrs. Presnal when her husband had been disposed of.

[The Durand Inquest

Waterbury, Vt., Nov. 23.—Investigation into the death of Peter Durand, an aged inmate of the state insane asylum here, who died Nov. 1, has ended. Various witnesses testified that Durand persisted in rising from his chair, and that finally two attendants, Coon and Dennis, struck him. Dr. James said in his opinion the primary cause of death was the blows inflicted by the two defendants.

Neglected License Formalities

Oxford, Me., Nov. 23.—Game Warden Stanley arrested Horace McKeen, William Wallace and Frank M. Ramsdell, all of Boston, for evading the Maine game laws. They had been hunting in the towns of Paris and Oxford without non-resident hunting licenses, it is charged. The three sportsmen were fined $25 and costs each. They had shot only a few partridges.

Enters Valley of the Shadow

Windsor, Vt., Nov. 23.—Mrs. Mary M. Rogers, the silent, forlorn, despondent woman, over whom a death watch has been set, has been told by one of her attorneys, E. B. Flinn, that only a decision of the United States supreme court in Washington, which may be given next Monday, can save her from death by hanging on Dec. 8. She heard the news with indifference.

Snell Saved From Death Chair

Boston, Nov. 23.—Angles Snell, who was convicted of the murder of Tillinghast Kirby at Gooseberry island, off Horseneck beach, Westport, and sentenced to be executed during the week of Dec. 10, will not die in the electric chair. Governor Douglas has commuted his sentence to life imprisonment, and the executive council approved the commutation.

Started Fire With Kerosene

Hartford, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Florence Dussey of Northampton, Mass., was probably fatally burned last night at the home of her sister, Mrs. Bertha Dyer, of this city. Mrs. Dussey attempted to light a fire in the stove by the use of kerosene and in an explosion which followed her clothes caught fire.

Shooting Over Politics

Chelsea, Mass., Nov. 23.—William F. Cronin was arrested last night, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon on William J. Burke. The arrest grew out of a quarrel at a political meeting, when Cronin is alleged to have shot and wounded Burke. The wounded man is now in a hospital.

Miraculous Escape From Death

Danvers, Mass., Nov. 23.—George Whittier, a carpenter, fell from a staging, received an electric shock of 2000 volts by clutching a live wire, struck a second staging and then landed on the ground uninjured except for slight burns on the hands and insignificant cuts on the head.

Six Cases of Smallpox

Westbrook, Me., Nov. 23.—The public schools are closed until after the Thanksgiving recess and the libraries probably will be closed soon because of the discovery of two new cases of smallpox, making six in all, divided among three families.

Reward For Arrest of Firebug

Middletown, R. I., Nov. 23.—The town council has offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the supposed firebug who is responsible for the several incendiary fires which have occurred during the past three weeks.

PLAN OF TARBELL

Publicity as a Remedy For the Insurance Abuses

TALKS OF COMMISSIONS

Got What Would Have Gone to Agents In Taking Insurance on His Own Life and Members of His Family--He Says That the Practice Is Customary

New York, Nov. 23.—After being on the witness stand before the Armstrong legislative committee on insurance investigation for the greater part of three days, Gage E. Tarbell, second vice president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, finished his testimony and just before adjournment submitted a list of suggestions for the remedy of existing abuses in the management of insurance companies and for legislation designed to give the state proper control over the companies and to insure the confidence of the policyholders. Prominent among these suggestions was absolute publicity. While admitting that wrong had been done by life insurance officials, Tarbell said he had no apologies to make for any of them and that he hoped they would be punished.

Mr. Tarbell was on the stand the entire day and was questioned as to the system of agencies and the commissions and other compensations allowed them for getting business. The fact was brought out that Tarbell had taken out insurance on his own life and on members of his family and had received the agents' commission on the premiums as well as renewal commissions. He said that since he became an officer he had taken out $200,000 on his own life in the Equitable. Besides his policies in the Equitable he had taken insurance in the New York Life, the arrangement being made with George W. Perkins, and on this, too, he received the commission on the premiums. He had also a policy in the Aetna and the Travelers, on all of which he collected the commissions. He said he carried $400,000 on his own life and $100,000 on members of his family.

Mr. Tarbell was strenuous in denouncing the system of rebating by agents and stated that any agent of the Equitable who gave rebates to get business was dismissed. When he told of getting the commissions Assemblyman Cox asked if that was not rebating, and Tarbell said it was not, that he thought he was entitled to it.

Later, when Mr. Hughes took up this same subject with the witness, the latter justified the taking of the commissions as being similar to the case of a merchant who purchased goods of a fellow merchant in the same line, perhaps to fill an order, and got those goods at cost, or of a professional man treating another and charging less than the regular fees. Witness said further that the commissions were paid to get the business and that when the business was done without soliciting there was no expense and that therefore he was entitled to these commissions. Tarbell said this was the custom of insurance companies and their officers, adding that if he had done wrong he was sorry, but that he had acted in good faith.

Mr. Tarbell bore out in a measure the statement of James H. Hyde when on the stand relative to the fairness of the Frick report. The subject of advances to agents was under investigation and Hughes read some figures of the amount of advances to one agent in this city. Hughes asked where the Frick committee got the figures and Tarbell replied with marked asperity that he did not know.

"They did not get the figures from my department or the auditor's; they made their report without ever making an investigation of the department," he said.

When Tarbell was excused he was followed by Gerald Brown, who is at the head of the bond and mortgage department of the Equitable. He was examined about the real estate of the society and was on the stand when the committee adjourned.

Salary Cut Down to $75,000

New York, Nov. 23.—At a regular meeting of the trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance company, the offer of President McCurdy to have his salary reduced from $150,000 to $75,000 was accepted, and further reductions were made, amounting altogether to $150,000. The names of the officials affected were not made public. It was also decided to place all general agents on a salary instead of a commission basis.

$10,000 Worth of Silks Stolen

New York, Nov. 23.—Silks to the value of $10,000 were stolen from the William Skinner Manufacturing company on Monday afternoon and last night. Three men and a woman were arrested, charged with receiving stolen property. Most of the plunder was recovered. One of the prisoners confessed to his part in the robbery and told where the silks had been disposed of.

To Fight "Sympathetic" Strike

Chicago, Nov. 23.—Bituminous coal operators from Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Michigan and Indian Territory met here and formed a national organization which will combat labor unions in the effort to put an end to the "sympathetic" strike.

PROPOSALS REJECTED

Warships Will Now Make a Demonstration Against Turkey

Constantinople, Nov. 23.—The porte has rejected the proposals of the powers for the international control of the finances of Macedonia.

Vienna, Nov. 23.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the reply of the porte, which was handed the Austro-Hungarian ambassador last evening, rejects the proposals of the powers on all points and declares that the public opinion of Turkey would not countenance their acceptance.

London, Nov. 23.—The Vienna correspondent of The Times says it is reported there that the Sultan of Turkey appealed to Emperor Francis Joseph to postpone the naval demonstration in Turkish waters and that the emperor replied that further delay was impossible.

Athens, Nov. 23.—The warships of the powers which propose to make a demonstration against Turkey have arrived at Piraeus. The commanders of the vessels are awaiting instructions.

Alleged Thefts From Railroad

Boston, Nov. 23.—For some time past, officials of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company state, valuable goods have been stolen from the company's docks, and in connection with the alleged thefts four arrests were made here. A. B. Crocker, freight clerk at pier 2; J. A. Fitzpatrick, a steamship clerk, and W. F. Parker, a teamster, are charged with the larceny of bales of cotton, and M. J. Finn, a junk dealer, is said to have received the alleged stolen property.

Mrs Barnes Under $10,000 Bail

Fort Fairfield, Me., Nov. 23.—Probable cause was found at the hearing on the murder charge against Mrs. Isaac C. Barnes for the alleged poisoning by strychnine of her step-daughter, Pearl Barnes. Judge Fessenden held Mrs. Barnes for the April term of the criminal court at Houlton, but gave the prisoner an opportunity of going free until that time by fixing bail at $10,000, which has not yet been obtained.

Japanese Naval Expansion

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 23.—The Japanese admiralty has entered upon an elaborate scheme of naval expansion, according to advices received here. The Jiji Shimpo says the battleships of the future navy of Japan will displace 22,000 tons and have an armament of 14 12-inch guns and a speed of 20 knots, while the future cruisers will displace 15,000 tons and have a speed of 25 knots.

A Rather Expensive Joke

New York, Nov. 23.—George Charton, a clerk, was charged with attempting to vote illegally under the name of John Rockefeller in the recent elections. Wharton was discharged from his arrest on election day for this offense, but the grand jury took up the case yesterday and refused to consider it a joke and indicted him. Wharton was arrested and his bail fixed at $5000.

Anarchists Stirring Up Strife

Rome, Nov. 23.—At Spezia, the principal station of the Italian navy and the location of the chief naval arsenal, the police discovered and confiscated several hundred anti-military manifestos issued by a New York group of anarchists in which the recruits are urged to desert. It is thought that similar manifestos have been sent to other parts of the country.

Will Not Discuss Mission

Washington, Nov. 23.—Homer C. Hurlburt, who is said to be one of the agents sent out by the Korean government to appeal to the powers of Europe and the United States for assistance in maintaining the integrity of Korea and especially to prevent its absorption by the Japanese government, has arrived here. He declines to discuss his mission.

President Hadley and Football

New Haven, Nov. 23.—President Hadley of Yale, referring to an article in the Philadelphia Press declaring that he had taken a stand against a general conference for reform in football, states that "no action by any college president or group of presidents likely to lessen the evils of football has ever been presented for his consideration."

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

The winter of 1905 is in marked contrast with that of 1836. In the latter year sleighing commenced on Nov. 23, and continued until the last of March. But it feels like snow today.

George H. Brown of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. was elected on Wednesday a member of the executive committee of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Everyone interested is invited by the Unity club of Wollaston to its meeting tomorrow evening when Secretary Woodbury of the Metropolitan Park Commission will give an illustrated lecture on the park system.

There will be two home games in the Merrimac Valley football league on Saturday when the Andovers come here to play the Fore River team at Quincy Point, and the Lynns play the Quincys on the Ward Three playgrounds.

New Post Office Next Week

The store in the new block on Granite street to be occupied by the post office is already for occupancy. Postmaster Hammond says that the car containing the office fixtures is due in Quincy tonight. The fixtures will be set up immediately and the new office will be ready for occupancy Dec. 1.

Another Milestone.

Galen Vinton Bowditch, the veteran newspaper messenger, had another birthday on Wednesday; his 68th. For a man of his age he is unusually spry and there are many men much younger who cannot keep up with him. For the past few years he has been the messenger for the Boston newspaper men and his face is a familiar one at those offices. Just now he is interested in municipal affairs being a candidate for Councilman at large and sanguine of success.

Two Ways of Putting It.

"So you persist in wanting me for your mother-in-law?"
"Alas, madam, it begins to look as if I would have to, since I am resolved to marry your daughter."

—Do you want vegetable or flower seeds? Your senator or congressman will supply you with them. 38,000,000 packages will be ready for distribution by the first of next month. For this work, and work connected with it, Congress appropriates $290,000 each year.

Manet Club Concert

There was a large gathering of members of the Manet club and their friends at Colonial hall Wednesday evening for the concert given in the series of entertainments by the club. Miss Isabelle J. Bill arranged the concert, having entire charge of the program, and secured fine results.

The concert opened and closed with singing by the Mozart quartet, composed of B. F. Newton, J. H. Mahan, C. F. Mahan and J. R. McLeod. Their singing was much enjoyed, the selections being pleasing and the voices blending harmoniously.

One of the best numbers was the soprano solo by Miss Elsie R. Litchfield of Weymouth, accompanied on the 'cello by John Ramseyer and on the piano by Wendell H. Luce. Miss Litchfield has a pleasing voice, of good timbre and sweetness.

No concert is complete without a reader and Miss Georgiana B. Carty gave several readings, responding each time to encores.

Miss Sarah K. Douglass of Brookline gave a group of songs, her selections being well chosen for her clear soprano voice, and an encore was responded to.

Although Mr. Ramseyer's 'cello solo, "The Lost Chord," was heartily encored, he could not be prevailed upon to give another selection.

Among the most enjoyed numbers on the program was the group of songs by Mr. J. H. Mahan. Many are familiar with his singing as he has until recently been tenor in the quartet at First church. His selections were pleasing and the applause most appreciative.

Much of the success of the concert was due to the effective work of Wendell Luce at the piano. His accompaniments were always sure and adequate. Mrs. Daisy Bemis Sampson also accompanied in her usual pleasing manner.

The ushers were Dr. Clayton R. Marstin and Arthur C. Peverly, and the patronesses were Mrs. W. E. Gardner, Mrs. S. I. Wood, Mrs. John F. Welch, Mrs. Joseph W. Johnson, Miss Mary W. Holden, Mrs. Frank Brewer, Mrs. Henry L. Kincaide, Mrs. Clarence B. Underwood, Miss Annie L. Prescott.

Quincy Business At Probate Court

At the session of the probate court at Dedham on Wednesday, the will of Mary A. H. Crane of Quincy was allowed.

Administrations were granted on the estates of Mary Austin and John Hall of Quincy, Ellen Williams and Morrel Williams of Braintree.

Fred B. Rice was appointed guardian of Winsor Harlow, a minor of Quincy.

Inventories were filed on the estate of W. H. McLaughlin of Quincy for $3085.

Conference And Social

The Christian Endeavor socities of First Boston and Cambridge United Presbyterian churches met with the Quincy United Presbyterian society Tuesday evening at 7.30. A well arranged program was carried out.

Mr. Archie McKeegan of Boston discussed the subject "What can we do for our church." He emphasized the necessity of greater devotional spirit in the society carried into the church. To sit in the front seats and look the pastor in the eye and give him inspiration to preach. To be present at every service. Also emphasized the point of more generously supporting the offerings of the church.

He was followed by the pastor of the Quincy church on the same subject.

"Our greatest need" was discussed by Herbert Chase of Cambridge. He said it is to feel our personal responsibility to God for the work of God, and to be filled with the spirit of God. He was followed by Rev. A. K. McLennon who emphasized the study of the word of God as our great need.

Mr. Malcolm McKenzie of Quincy gave a good paper on "What constitnted a successful society." First, not in numbers and show; but to the extent that it is fulfilling the divine commission to the church. Second, it is one which trains its members to take the place of their fathers and mothers in the church, and keeps its C. E. pledge and is faithful to God as soul winners.

He was followed by Rev. J. A. Alexander with some timely remarks.

The round table talk on committee work in our societies brought out some very helpful suggestions.

This was followed by refreshments and a social time. The evening was one of the best the societies have enjoyed together, as they meet once a year. Cambridge brought 32 of their number, and East Boston 19 of their society. The choir rendered an anthem and duets were sung by Edward Barr and John McLean, and Jessie McLean and Mary Collins. Mrs. McKenzie sang a solo, "Whiter Than Snow," very beautifully.

Funeral of James H. Bisson.

The funeral of Mr. James H. Bisson was held Tuesday afternoon from his late residence at 235 Water street. The services and burial which were attended by many of his friends, were conducted by the Rev. W. E. Gardner of the Episcopal church at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

The pall bearers were: John Foley, William Kelly, Alex. McKee, David Donahue, J. J. Keniley and Robert Smith.

The flowers included:

Crescent of pink roses from his sisters, Sadie and Hattie and his brother Alfred Bisson.

Loving friends, weep not for me
I long to be at rest,
How happy, happy I shall be,
When pillowed on my Saviour's breast
Oh! the hope, the hope is sweet,
That we soon in Heaven may meet,
There we all shall happy be—
Rest from pain and sorrow free.

Professional Beggar

Professor Jeffrey R. Brackett, director of the School for Social Workers, and benefactor of the Quincy Womens Club, who is giving a course of lectures at Simmons College on the methods of dealing with the various types of needy persons, took as his subject on Tuesday the "Professional Beggar," and is reported by the Transcript as follows:

He is a parasite by choice. He could work but he prefers begging because it is an easy way of getting a good living. This is not a new problem by any means, for history recalls many attempts at its solution.

Investigators who in order to study the problem have turned beggars have stated that beggars are robbers of the poor, for they pervert the public mind. They are not large in numbers, but their malignity discourages work among the deserving. These investigators state that we should practically never give alms to unknown persons.

Professor Brackett went on to give the result of the investigations carried on by the Associated Charities in Boston. Many supposedly deserving cases proved to be frauds, and in less than a year nearly nine-tenths of those arrested were convicted. Years of experience in New York have shown that to cope with this problem special officers are needed. The best results have been obtained when the special agents of the Charities have cooperated with special appointees of the Board of Police.

It is too much to expect that every patrolman is a student of these problems. He is human, and when he enforces the law, does it from his own standpoint. The point of view of the officer is vital. Should he desire to do this work, he would be limited, because of lack of time after the performance of other duties, and also because of the limitations of his district.

In New York the small squad detailed for this work of investigation has no limitations of district, so can follow up every case wherever it happens to be. To be sure, the number who are rehabilitated is not very large, but it is our duty to do the right things, independent of the success attending our efforts.

There are two institutions closely connected with professional begging, the selling of small wares and the cheap lodging houses. It is a safe guide to hold that all who sell small wares, shall not use their physical infirmities as stock in trade. There are legitimate peddlers, and their rights should be guarded. The problem of the cheap lodging-house is one of the most difficult that must be met. Many prominent workers consider that the very existence of these lodging houses where rooms rent for from twenty-five cents down to five cents a night, with no questions asked, counter-acts the good done by the reading rooms and the other educators. The difficulty here is in drawing the line between the legitimate house which offers cheap rooms to poor, but deserving workmen, and the house which is often the centre of physical and moral contagion.

Here in Boston the number has been kept down by the strict requirements of a license, and a certificate of health from the Board of Health and one of safety from the inspector of buildings. This seems to be a most wise provision. In any community of even professional beggars, there is a certain per cent. who can be changed into good citizens, and these few make the work worth while.

Prof. Brackett in his course is beginning with the so-called "submerged classes," and will lead up to more hopeful types of work, such as child saving and neighborhood work.

A gang of men is at work in the First Church yard today clearing the trees of the gypsy moth nests.

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit innoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.

It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.

Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.

MILTON.

A special harvest service will be held at the Mission of Our Saviour church on Sunday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

The fire department was called out Sunday afternoon and again on Wednesday noon for grass fires.

Mrs. Charles Thompson will entertain the ladies afternoon whist club next Monday.

Miss Betts of New York is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. W. Clark of Eaton street.

A private dancing party was held at Ellsworth hall Wednesday evening by the Viscaria Oculata club. The matrons were Mrs. John Connell and Mrs. John McKay.

E. J. Tinker has gone to Vermont on a business trip.

A cake and candy sale was held by the ladies' society of the East Milton Congregational church Wednesday afternoon and evening at the church. There was a pleasing entertainment in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George House, of Canada, are the guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Tinker.

Nat C. Goodwin is the guest of his mother during his present Boston engagement.

Miss Mattie Ritner and Miss Annie Pollister of Bangor, Me., have been the guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bearse.

There was a very large attendance at the East Milton Congregational church, last Saturday evening, at the reception given by the church to Rev. Edward Anderson. Reverend, or Colonel, as he is familiarly called, was assisted in receiving by his daughter, Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth. The affair proved to be a very enjoyable one to all present.

TODAY'S COURT.

John W. Moran was sentenced to three months in the house of correction for breaking and entering at Weymouth.

Frank P. Cronin was sent to the State farm for drunkenness at Weymouth.

The continued cases of Rosa Paraguas, Dominico Frogoni, Thomas Mullany, Harry Gould, William O'Neil and Francis B. DeYoung, the juveniles arrested for burning the old Paterson sheds on Canal street was called and the cases placed on file on payment of costs. Rosa paid $4 and the others 88 cents each.

The Intermediates and Juniors of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. met on Wednesday on the association alleys and the former had a close call. The Juniors captured the first string by 9 pins the totals being 406 and 397. The second string of the Intermediates was as good as their first, while the Juniors weakened and the former won 396 to 364, giving them a lead of 23 pins. In the rubber the Intermediates weakened and lost 362 to 355, but on grand totals they led 148 to 1132.

New Pastor And Wife

Given a Reception At Quincy Point Church

The reception which was given at the Washington Street Congregational church on Thursday evening to Rev. and Mrs. A. R. Atwood promises well for the church, and the new pastorate. The attendance was large and enthusiastic, and there was cordiality and buoyancy which are sure to bring about results.

A general invitation had been extended to the people of Ward Two. The guests entered by the front door and left their wraps in the church auditorium. When they entered the vestry they found it had been very prettily decorated with pine branches. The committee on decoration was: Miss Grace Lapham (chairman,) Miss Gertrude Foster, Miss Beatrice Adams, Miss Auwelda Smith and Messrs. Carl Sherburne, Frank Melville and James Melville.

The new pastor and wife were assisted in receiving by Deacon and Mrs. Charles H. Sherburne and Mrs. T. B. Thomas representing the Ladies' Aid Society. They were stationed in a corner of the ladies' parlor, with a tree for back-ground.

The ushers were Frank Melville, Harold Newcomb, Marcus Wight and Carl Sherburne.

The committee on refreshments were Miss Etta Lapham (chairman), Mrs. George Bailey, Mrs. H. H. I. Smith, Mrs. E. R. Stone, Mrs. Clara Hayden and Mrs. Charles Damon.

Frappe was served during the evening by Miss Beatrice Adams, Miss Auwelda Smith and other young ladies.

There was also instrumental music by James Melville on violin, and the following on piano: Miss Esther Sidelinger Miss Nellie Barnes, Miss Maria Johnson, Miss Helen Lincoln and Miss Auwelda Smith.

Besides the five clergymen who spoke, there were present Secretary Gay of the Y. M. C. A., Councilman Stone and others.

Mr. T. B. Pollard was chairman of the entertainment committee. After expressing pleasure at the large attendance, and enthusiasm over the new pastor, he introduced as the first speaker Rev. L. H. Austin, who recently retired as pastor after a service of four years.

Rev. Mr. Austin was pleased that the church had so speedily united on a pastor. He complimented the Ladies' Aid society as a loyal band of workers for the church and told the new pastor he would find a field here full of great possibilities.

Rev. E. N. Hardy brought the greetings of Bethany Congregational church and promised cooperation. He told of the inter-church conference at New York from which he had just returned. No church, he said, had greater opportunities than this one at Quincy Point. He noted also that pastors of the church were in line of promotion as Revs. Youtz, Turk and Anderson for example. His remarks were spiced with stories, and pleased the audience.

Rev. H. C. Alvord of South Weymouth, whose pastorate of nearly 20 years is the longest in the conference, brought the greetings of the conference and the neighboring town of Weymouth. With a personal acquaintance of Rev. L. P. Atwood, the father of the new pastor, he felt that he could heartily recommend the son to Quincy people. He knew that he had many of the qualities essential to the upbuilding of the church.

The pastor's father, Rev. L. P. Atwood, who lives at South Weymouth, was next introduced. He preferred that the works of his son should speak for themselves. He was pleased at the cordiality of the reception given, and the earnestness of the church.

Rev. A. R. Atwood, the new pastor, was the last speaker. As the people and pastor worked together, they would be successful in there labors, he said. He had noted that there was a live ladies' society and complimented them, also the gentlemen. The business energy displayed and the cordiality were pleasing. The opportunity was great.

Before adjournment, many got better acquainted with the new pastor and his wife.

Incendiary Fire At Crusher Plant

The alarm from Box 137 at 9.18 last night called the department to another fire in the old stone crusher plant off Centre street. Almost as many attempts have been made to burn this structure as there has to burn the McKenzie & Paterson sheds on Canal street.

During the day the department was called out two or three times on still alarms to extinguish fires at the structure. Someone seems determined that the building shall be destroyed by fire.

It got a good start at the evening fire, and when the alarm sounded was burning briskly.

It made a bright illumination that could be seen for miles. The plant is situated some distance off Centre street, and it is difficult for the fire apparatus to reach it.

It was badly gutted and not much of it is left. When Quincy gets a building inspector he could order such structures torn down.

How Cars Will Run

Through Cars For Wollaston As Well As Hancock Street

That Quincy will enjoy through car service between City Square and Dudley street within a very few days there is no doubt. The exact date has not been set as yet, but it would not be surprising if the new line went into effect on Dec. 1.

One of the Old Colony cars was run through to the Dudley street terminal one night this week to see if it would take the curves all right. From what can be learned the trip was very satisfactory although the cars would not take the loop on the Elevated structure.

This, however, will not matter much as under the present schedule the Neponset bridge cars do not run onto the Elevated structure but the line ends in an enclosed space beneath the L which passengers reach by a flight of stairs. No transfer is required to take an L train.

It was on account of the congested condition of the L structure that it was found necessary to have the Neponset line end in an enclosure beneath.

Under the new schedule all lines of cars will end at City Square. That is the cars from Brockton, West Quincy and Weymouth Landing which now run through to Neponset, will end at City Square where close connection will be made with the through cars for Dudley street.

As has been before stated there will be a through car leave City Square every fifteen minutes, viz: 2, 17, 32, and 47 minutes past each hour. The cars which leave Quincy at 2 and 32 minutes past the hour will run via Wollaston, and the cars leaving at 17 and 47 minutes past the hour will run via Hancock street.

Returning, the cars are due to leave Neponset for Quincy at 10, 25, 40 and 55 minutes past the hour, cars alternating between Wollaston and Hancock street.

The car now leaving City Square at 30 minutes past the hour for Neponset via Norfolk Downs and leaving Neponset on the even hour for Quincy via Norfolk Downs will run as now.

This means that City Square will be a busy place, especially in the summer time, but it is more than probable that the Nantasket cars will run through to Neponset if not to Dudley street.

Wild—McPherson.

Mr. Ernest Edward Wild of Newton, Mass., and Miss Katharine McPherson of this city were united in marriage by Rev. W. B. Barr at the home of Mr. Angus McDonald on Granite street, Wednesday evening at six o'clock.

The best man was Mr. Malcolm McPherson of Mattapan, a brother of the bride, and Mrs. Malcolm McPherson was bridesmaid.

The bride and groom will make their home at Newton. Mr. and Mrs. Wild have the congratulations of their many friends.

Evangeline Illustrated.

Rev. A. T. Kempton delighted a very large and enthusiastic audience in the Wollaston Baptist church on Tuesday evening with his illustrated lecture on "Evangeline." A historical and geographical sketch of Acadia illustrated by a few views made so true to life by the stereopticon. Mr. Kempton acquainted the listeners with the setting of the poem and then followed the romantic tale of the youthful lovers which Mr. Kempton won a reputation for himself in Wollaston last April when he gave a similar lecture on Hiawatha. "Evangeline" was the first in a series of entertainments to be given by the Social and Benevolent society of the Wollaston Baptist church during the winter.

—The latest bulletin of the Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics show that the state has approximately 1325 unions, with about 30 state branches or national or international secretaries and organizers. As compared with the figures for 1904 the 1905 presentation shows a loss of over 100 organizations.

Tom Platt's testimony before the insurance investigating committee in New York makes mighty interesting reading. Such evidence of wholesale corruption and bribery was never before given to the American people. The question is, Will the McCurdys, McCalls and their satellites have to pay the penalty for their sins of commission and omission, or will they be whitewashed?

Banquet to Representative-Elect

Upwards of thirty members of the Quincy Associates No. 1., tendered Edward J. Sandberg, Representative elect a banquet in Johnson's hall, City square, Wednesday evening.

Caterer Philip of West Quincy had the tables arragned in a tempting manner, and at 9.30 all present sat down to one of the most apetizing spreads ever offered in Quincy.

George Ruxton was toast master and after a few congratulatory remarks to Mr. Sandberg and the members present, called on His Honor Mayor Thompson, who responded with an able and comprehensive speech, which was appreciated by all present. At the conclusion there was rousing applause. The rest of the evening was given to vocal and instrumental music and was altogether a very enjoyable occasion.

Battleship On Fire

About 6 o'clock, Thursday night, a volume of smoke was seen issuing from the battleship Rhode Island at the Fore River shipyard. The yard fire department was quickly assembled, but it was with some difficulty that the fire was located. It was finally traced to the machine shop. A stream of water was turned on, and the flames were soon extinguished. It was found that the leather belting of the machinery, which was about all there was inflammable had been burned. Some of the water, however, worked into the engine room.

It is thought that the fire started from a lighted candle left by one of the workmen. The damage was not large.

The Daily Ledger will bulletin the result of the Harvard—Yale football contest Saturday afternoon.

Registration for the municipal elections in several cities shows a falling off, but this is not true of Quincy, which marches steadily on in voters, population, valuation, school children, postal receipts, improvements, etc., etc.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Rear Admiral Evans, the redoubtable "Bob" of the American navy, says:—"With the way my fleet is equipped and manned, I am not afraid to stack up against anything in the whole world. If it will be any comfort to the American people to know it, they can have it from me, straight from the shoulder." Well, it is quite a comfort to know that the commander of the fleet has so much confidence, and it may be a comfort to fighting Bob to know that the American people have implicit confidence in his courage, in his ability, and in his fleet. They are not aching to see him put to the proof, but they feel that if he is ever tested the American flag will not be the one to come down.—Lynn Item.

MINISTRY TOTTERING

Balfour and Some of His Colleagues Expected to Resign

London, Nov. 24.—Tremendous activity has developed in political circles consequent on the circulation of a well founded report that Premier Balfour has decided to bring his ministry to a close and to directly or indirectly appeal to the country.

Rumors regarding the resignation of the cabinet and the dissolution of parliament have been thick for three months past, but when two of the leading government organs "suggested" the immediate resignation of the premier on account of the unmendable breach in the Unionist party over the fiscal question, the "suggestion" was looked upon as having been inspired by Balfour himself.

This was strengthened by the knowledge that prior to the publication of the editorials Balfour met certain influential persons at his official residence in Downing street. These two facts led to the belief that the premier had intimated at the conference his intention to resign, and, as he had just returned from a visit to King Edward at Windsor castle, it was believed that the king had been informed of Balfour's intentions. Beyond this, however, there is no official confirmation of the report.

All political interest now centers in the cabinet meeting to be held today, at which it is understood the situation will be discussed. Some well informed persons go so far as to say that Balfour will go from the meeting to King Edward with the resignations of himself and the other members of the cabinet.

An Unwelcome Reception

Westhoughton, Eng., Nov. 24.—Lord Stanley, the postmaster general, was booked for a speech to his constituents here last night. On entering the hall he found it packed with members of the labor party and was unable to find a place on the platform. The meeting unanimously passed a resolution of want of confidence in the government. Lord Stanley later endeavored to deliver an address from the balcony of the Conservative club, but was howled down.

Husbandmen on Labor Acts

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 24.—Before adjourning sine die last evening the national grange, Patrons of Husbandry, adopted a resolution declaring that "it is every man's privilege to work as many hours as he wills for pay; that energy, thrift and activity are entitled to encouragement and should command rightful compensation for services rendered." This is taken as a direct aim at labor unions which fix on eight hours for a working day.

HUSBAND MISSING

Woman's Body Found Doubled Up In a Trunk

WAS COVERED WITH LIME

Woman Was Wealthy and Well Past Middle Life and Is Said to Have Been Extremely Jealous of Young Husband

Albany, Nov. 24.—What appears to be a murder committed nearly two weeks ago was discovered here when the badly decomposed body of Mrs. John Hammond was found wedged in a trunk in a room of the house on South Ferry street where she lived with her husband. The trunk stood in the fireplace. The body within was heavily sprinkled with chloride of lime, and the disinfectant was strewn thickly all about the three rooms comprising the flat. The cover of the trunk was propped open with the evident idea of having the odors of decomposition escape up the chimney.

John Hammond, the woman's husband, has not been seen for nearly two weeks. He is 25 years old, and a cabinetmaker. The dead woman was 57.

Whether the woman died a natural death or was strangled or was poisoned remains for an autopsy to disclose. There are no evident marks of violence on the body, which was fully clothed excepting shoes, and was doubled up in a sitting posture, with the face down upon the knees. The body was bound in this position with a clothesline.

Disagreeable odors drew the attention of the first floor family to the Hammond rooms, whence not a sound had been heard for at least 10 days, and last evening the police broke in and discovered the body.

A picture of Hammond was found by the police and his description has been sent broadcast. He is described as five feet 10 inches high, weighing 165 pounds, with coarse features, very thick lips, unusually heavy black hair, rather straight and parted in the middle. When last seen he wore a black moustache.

Within the rooms there was no evidence of a struggle, but many indications that the ordinary life of the couple came to an abrupt end. None of the jewelry which the woman was reputed to own in considerable quantity was found, but all of her clothing and the furniture and bric-a-brac were in their accustomed places.

The woman was well known in Albany for many years, under the name of Mrs. Wilber Cramp, as the owner of a hair dressing establishment. She was married two years ago to Hammond. She was believed by the neighbors to be wealthy and owned the house in the South End where her body was found. She is said to have been extremely jealous of Hammond, and objected even to his going out daily to work, preferring to support him in comparative idleness.

Where Retaliation Hurts

St. Johns, Nov. 24.—As indicating the effect of the retaliatory policy against American fishermen, the colonial customs department has published a statement showing that 30 American fishing vessels with cargoes aggregating 45,000 barrels of herring cleared from the Bay of Islands up to Nov. 23 last year, where only one American vessel with 1300 barrels has sailed to this date during the present year.

Thug May Have Been Killed

New York, Nov. 24.—Paul Kelly, leader of the notorious East Side band of that name, may himself be a victim of the shooting affray in "The Naples" early Thursday in which William Harrington was murdered. A bullet hole was found in a hat believed to have been worn by the leader and it is intimated that Kelly is either dead or in a critical condition in a hiding place provided by one of his associates.

$16,000,000 Needed For Canal Work

Washington, Nov. 24.—It is stated at the war department that, while congress will be asked to appropriate a total of $16,000,000 to meet the needs of the Panama canal work to June 30 next, it is not expected that congress will appropriate it in a lump sum, as congress would probably investigate and learn how the money thus far expended has been used before appropriating the full $16,000,000.

Seeking Light on Mystery

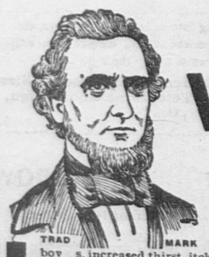
New York, Nov. 24.—G. G. Hastings, counsel for Mrs. Frank Tousey, only daughter of Mrs. Margaret Todd, whose mutilated body was found on railroad tracks near Philadelphia, has increased the reward previously offered for information as to how the woman met her death to $5000.

Peace at Vladivostok

Vladivostok, Nov. 24.—There have been no further disturbances here and order has been completely restored. Ships are arriving daily and their cargoes are piled high on the docks. The warehouses have been burned and nearly all the hotels have suffered from the torch.

Venezuela's New Gunboat

New York, Nov. 24.—The Venezuelan gunboat Restaurador, which was formerly George J. Gould's yacht Atalanta, last evening passed through the narrows bound for the sea. A crew of Venezuelans was sent to this country to man the gunboat.



UNSUSPECTED WORMS

are the cause of numerous little things that go wrong with children. When they are sick you rarely think their sickness is caused by worms. They are rarely treated for worms. Yet worms are the cause either directly or indirectly of over 75 per cent. of the ailments of children. They are also frequent cause of illness in adults. The familiar symptoms of worms are disturbed health, deranged stomach, furred tongue, variable appetite and bowels, increased thirst, itching of nostrils, indolence, malaria, irritability, disturbed sleep, grinding of teeth, slow fever and often in children, convulsions—

"JUST TIRED OF LIFE"

Young Maine Couple Loved, Lived and Died Together

Claremont, N. H., Nov. 24.—"Anything that may be found in our pockets, money, etc., please forward to Mrs. Mary J. Leavitt of Lisbon Falls, Me. Myself and wife have loved, lived together and now decide to die together—not insane, but just tired of life. Goodbye to all."

Such was the note found beside the dead bodies of a man and beautiful young woman entwined in each other's arms, both well dressed and showing little of hardships, which were found in the woods, the woman with three bullet wounds in her head, the man with another in his brain. He clutched a revolver, but one shell remained loaded, four had been fired.

Though no one has positively identified them as yet, it is now believed that the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leavitt and they formerly lived in Oakland, Me., where he was employed in the Oakland woolen mills, and where he met his young bride, Miss Alice Ward.

From the appearance of the bodies when found it was apparent that they had been dead for several days. Beneath a big pine tree the man had spread out his overcoat. Then entwined in each other's arms they reclined on it.

Apparently the man had then taken the revolver, put it to the side of his wife's head and fired the three shots that must have caused instant death. Then he turned the gun on himself, and together they died.

Panic at Moving Picture Show

New Milford, Conn., Nov. 24.—The big celluloid film of a moving picture machine, which was being shown in the town hall here last night, caught fire when the hall was in total darkness and the sudden burst of flame and smoke set the 400 persons in the audience in a panic. A mad rush was made for the door and in the scramble to get out of the building many women and children were trampled on, but none was fatally hurt. The two operators of the machine were burned. It is stated that an electric spark from a crossed wire started the fire.

Alleged Violation of Honor

New Haven, Nov. 24.—At a meeting of the freshman class of the Yale Medical school Horace B. Garnsey, president of the class, was requested by a majority vote to resign his office because of alleged speculation in football tickets for the Yale-Harvard game. He was charged with selling nine tickets to speculators. Garnsey is said to have made no explanation of the matter, though he declined to resign the class presidency.

Contract Requirements Exceeded

Boston, Nov. 24.—The battleship Virginia completed her official speed tests in a four-hour endurance run down the coast, during which she slightly exceeded her contract speed of 19 knots an hour, by maintaining an average revolution of her propellors of 129.5 a minute. Her speed was 19.01 knots an hour. The Virginia, after dropping the trial board off Boston light, kept on to her builders' yard at Newport News, Va.

Convicted of Manslaughter

Colebrook, N. H., Nov. 24.—After a three days' trial Plummer Bacon was convicted last night of manslaughter in the first degree in causing the death of John Sawyer and was sentenced to not less than 15 nor more than 20 years' imprisonment in the state prison. Bacon was charged with the murder, by shooting, of Sawyer in Whitefield.

Illegal Registration Charged

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 24.—Sergeant Gordon of the police department appeared in the office of the registrar of voters last night and protested 300 names of men who, he claims, are illegally and incorrectly registered. Gordon acted under orders from Mayor Daly. It is said that 200 more names are to be protested.

Retains New England Championship

Manchester, Conn., Nov. 24.—In one of the best wrestling matches ever held in this state, R. J. O'Connell of New Haven successfully defended his title as lightweight champion of England by defeating Leon Filler of this place, two falls out of three. The men wrestled catch-as-catch-can style, at 138 pounds.

Sea Captain Kills Himself

Boston, Nov. 24.—Captain William Lockhart of the bark J. E. Graham of Windsor, N. S., aged 55, committed suicide by shooting on board the vessel at Mystic wharf. The other officers of the Graham say that Lockhart had been despondent of late. The captain's wife has been with him on the vessel.

Went Through Thin Ice

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 24.—Sigurd Bostrom, 14, and Louis Makowski, 12, were drowned, having broken through the ice on Hermitage pond. Levi Bergtund, 14 years old, in trying to save the Magowski and Bostrom boys, broke through the ice, but was rescued by two men.

Serious Charge Against a Pauper

New Haven, Nov. 24.—Charged with manslaughter, Daniel C. Moriarity, a blind pauper, was bound over to the superior court under bonds of $3000 as responsible for the death of John McGill, his room-mate at the Springside almshouse. He waived examination.

Stole Gold From Government

Washington, Nov. 24.—Chief Wilkie of the treasury secret service has been advised of the arrest of George Adams, cashier of the assay office in Seattle. Wilkie says Adams confessed to having stolen $35,000 in gold since last March. Twelve thousand dollars in currency was found on him.

Could Not See Turbin's Hull

Yarmouth, N. S., Nov. 24.—Steamer Marina returned here last night from the scene of the wreck at Black Rock ledge. The steamer stopped at Mud island and picked up half a dozen men who had seen the steamer Turbin disappear and then proceeded to the spot indicated by the men. On their arrival there they found the gaff and near it a broken spar under the water. The hull could not be seen, owing to the rough water.

Cost of Roosevelt's Inauguration

Washington, Nov. 24.—To inaugurate Mr. Roosevelt president last March cost $145,491, a greater sum than was ever spent for any previous inauguration. The details of this cost are made public in a report by Chairman Wilson of the inaugural committee. It cost $17,999 to decorate the pension building for the inaugural ball, which was the largest item of expense.

Wants Odell to Get Out

New York, Nov. 24.—Senator Platt issued a statement last night on the New York county Republican committee chairmanship, in which he said that Odell's retirement would be the necessary consequence of his loss of the "New York county machine" and that "there is not a politician with half an eye who does not see that this has already been accomplished."

MUST MAKE GOOD

Powers Cannot Afford to Back Down In Turkey

NAVAL DEMONSTRATION

First Act Will Be to Seize Harbors and Custom Houses--Sultan Threatens a Holy War In Retaliation

London, Nov. 24.—The persistent refusal of the Turkish government to accept European control of the revenues of the vilayets of Macedonia, notwithstanding the ultimatum presented by the allied powers, is about to lead to the putting into operation of the threat of a naval demonstration with the view of compelling the acquiescence of Turkey in the European control of the administration of and the proposed reforms in Macedonia.

The obduracy of the sultan apparently is based on the belief that he has the passive support of the Emperor of Germany and upon the jealousies supposed to exist among the powers interested. In diplomatic quarters it had been supposed to the last that the sultan would yield, and even now it is expected that he will do so before the international fleet takes active measures.

It is understood that the sultan appealed vainly to Emperor William, Emperor Nicholas and Emperor Francis Joseph against the projected demonstration. The combined fleet of the powers now assembling at Piraeus consists of six large and four small vessels, commanded by Admiral Von Jedina of the Austrian navy. Great Britain is represented by the armored cruiser Lancaster and the scout ship Sentinel, Austria by the armored cruiser St. Georg and the torpedo cruiser Szigetvar, Italy by the armored cruiser Guiseppe Garibaldi and the torpedo boat destroyer Ostro, and France by a cruiser and a gunboat.

Germany's abstention from participation in the proposed demonstration makes the situation increasingly interesting.

The powers are said to have agreed as the first part of their procedure on the seizure of the harbors and custom houses of the island of Mytilene, the island of Lemnos, in the northern part of the Aegean sea, and the island of Tenedos, on the west coast of Asia Minor.

The fact that the session of the council of ministers at which the proposals of the powers were rejected was a stormy one and that all the ministers except the minister of war favored yielding to the ultimatum leads to the belief that the sultan may eventually yield at the first show of determination on the part of the powers, after satisfying his people that he is yielding to superior force. This is said to be the view of Count Goluchowski, the Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs.

In the porte's note rejecting the proposals of the powers for the international control of the finances of Macedonia is a warning that the action of the powers in resorting to a naval demonstration may precipitate an internal uprising by Mussulmans against the Christian population of Turkey. This may be regarded as a threat, as it is known that no demonstration of Mussulmans against Christians can occur unless it has the silent acquiescence of the Turkish authorities.

The tone of this reply, like that of the last three Turkish notes, seems designed rather to provoke a conflict than to pave the way for a compromise. The powers cannot recede from the position they have taken up without abandoning their prestige and influence in the Near East. Failure to enforce the scheme of financial control upon Turkey would mean the bankruptcy of the Austro-Russian policy of staving off a settlement of the Macedonian question by reforming the Turkish administration in the three vilayets, and would thus tend to precipitate what seems to be an inevitable conflict between Bulgaria and Turkey.

The sultan yesterday issued an irade approving the decision of the council. Vice Admiral Husni Pacha has started on a special steamer for the Dardanelles, presumably with instructions for the commander of the forts regarding the latter's conduct in the event of the appearance of the international fleet. Similar instructions have been sent to the governors of the Turkish islands in the archipelago.

Ready to Set Sail

Athens, Nov. 24.—It is understood that the international fleet will sail today. The foreign ministers yesterday paid visits to the commanders of the warships of their respective countries. The commanders later held a conference on board the Austrian flagship.

Vienna, Nov. 24.—Baron Von Calice, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Constantinople, has telegraphed Admiral Von Jedina for a portion of the international fleet to sail immediately, proceeding either to Mytilene (an island of the Grecian archipelago belonging to Turkey in Asia), or for Besika bay (near the entrance of the Dardanelles).

Bulgaria's Threat

London, Nov. 24.—The correspondent of The Daily Chronicle at Vienna says that the Bulgarian government has notified one of the signatory powers of its determination to march troops into Macedonia if the powers fail to carry out their measures for Macedonian reforms.

KILLED BY BLOWS

Doctors Testify as to the Cause of Midshipman's Death

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 24.—The prosecution used its heavy artillery in the line of medical testimony during Thursday's session of the court martial which is trying Midshipman Meriwether for manslaughter in connection with the death of Midshipman Branch.

The operation upon Branch, consisting of lifting and folding over a portion of the skull in order to remove such blood-clots as might be formed, was performed by Drs. Finney and Thomas. Dr. Byrnes was called in consultation with Dr. Stone shortly after Branch had been brought to the hospital.

Much evidence of a deeply interesting, though technical character, was given by the medical men. The injury was of the nature medically known as "contre coup," the blows to the skull on one side of the head having the effect of forcing the brain against the walls of the skull on the other side and causing the compression in that way.

All the medical officers gave it as their very positive professional opinion that the blows and nothing else had contributed to Branch's death. The medical witnesses also belittled any possible effect of the treatment Branch received after the fight and gave it as their opinion that no treatment could have saved his life. The absence of an autopsy was explained by Surgeon Byrnes, who stated that Branch's father refused his permission.

Workmen Hurt In Explosion

New York, Nov. 24.—Seventeen men at work in the tunnel which the Long Island railroad is excavating were injured this morning by the explosion of a stick of dynamite at the bottom of a 70-foot shaft. Six of the workmen were removed to a hospital, while 11 others, suffering from cuts and bruises, had their injuries attended to by surgeons. One of the employes operating a drill in the tunnel accidentally struck a stick of dynamite. Immediately there was an explosion which shook many buildings in the vicinity.

To Support Czar's Government

Moscow, Nov. 24.—One immense stride towards a peaceful establishment of the civil liberty of Russians pledged by the czar's recent manifesto was taken when the zemstvo congress adopted measures practically pledging its support to the government. By a scanty majority of 20, the congress accepted the first sections of the resolution drafted by the executive committee declaring the solidarity of the congress with the principles of the imperial manifesto of Oct. 30.

To Oust Oil Companies

New York, Nov. 24.—Subpoenas have been issued for John D. Rockefeller, Henry H. Rogers, Henry M. Flagler and other financiers to appear as witnesses in the two suits pending in Missouri to oust the Standard Oil, Republic and Waters-Pierce Oil companies from doing business in that state. The subpoenas direct the witnesses to appear on Dec. 4 before F. H. Sanborn of this city, who was appointed by Governor Folk to act as commissioner for the state of Missouri.

A Norwegian Celebration

Christiana, Nov. 24.—One of the most brilliant political demonstrations ever witnessed in Norway took place last night, when the citizens of Christiana gave a banquet to the members of the government and the leaders of the storthing. Premier Michelsen made a speech on the subject of Norwegian independence. The banquet was followed by an imposing torchlight procession.

Asked to Pay $1,500,000 Damages

Washington, Nov. 24.—Ambassador Durand called on Secretary Root regarding the question which has come up through a claim of the Manila and Dagupan railroad for $1,500,000 damages. This railroad is in the hands of English capitalists, who claim that the use of the railroad by the United States for military purposes made them suffer damages to the extent of $1,500,000.

Charges Are Turned Down

Chicago, Nov. 24.—President Johnson came out of the annual meeting of the American Baseball league vindicated of the charges made against him of trying to wreck the organization by bringing about an amalgamation with the National league. In a resolution voted for by every club in the league, Johnson's management of the affairs of the league was endorsed.

Dougherty Will Plead Guilty

Peoria, Ills., Nov. 24.—Newton C. Dougherty, former superintendent of schools and now in jail on the charge of embezzling several hundred thousand dollars of the city's money, has told his attorneys that he will plead guilty to the charge of embezzlement.

Robbed a Church

Boston, Nov. 24.—Convicted on a charge of stripping a church of all available metal, including the plumbing and baptismal tank, and of selling the material as junk, Henry A. Kelley was sentenced by Judge Stevens to the house of correction for 20 months.

Mercantile Company Goes Under

St. Paul, Nov. 24.—F. A. Theopold and H. S. Theopold, doing business at Faribault, as the Theopold Mercantile company, have filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. F. A. Theopold's liabilities are $362,913 and those of H. S. Theopold are given as $345,276.

INSURANCE WORK

Manning Served Only In the "Interest of the Business"

ONCE ACTED AS EXPERT

Found That Reports of Previous Investigation Were Untrue--Published a Volume Which Sold at Fifty Dollars a Copy

New York, Nov. 24.—Late yesterday afternoon Mr. Hughes, counsel of the legislative insurance investigating committee, called to the witness chair William S. Manning of Albany, referred to in letters addressed by John A. Nichols to Senator Depew and read at a previous session as the "rantankerous friend up the river."

Mr. Manning was questioned closely by Hughes as to his connection with life insurance. He detailed his work for various companies for many years, and worked gradually up to the time when he took up insurance work in Albany, and, as he testified, was paid $450 a year by John A. Nichols "to protect life insurance interests, always in the interests of the business, but not in the interests of the officers."

After several years, he said, this amount was reduced to $300. He did not know, he said, where Nichols was getting the money, and had never inquired. He denied he had ever received money from the Equitable Life Assurance society. When his fee was reduced, however, he said, he understood that the Equitable, with the Mutual Life and the New York Life, had each paid $150, and that the reduction was due to the fact that the New York Life dropped out of the agreement.

An interesting part of his testimony was reached when Hughes inquired concerning the state insurance investigation of 1877. Manning said he acted as an expert there and found that the reports of the proceedings were "garbled and untrue." He testified that he secured a corrected report of the proceedings from the official stenographer and had a volume printed, the alleged garbled parts being printed in italics. This report was sold to some insurance companies for $50 a copy. The volume was copyrighted, but Manning declined to admit that this copyright was secured to prevent the publication of testimony contained in the work. He denied also that he had ever made arrangements with insurance companies to stop the publication of his book. "I just gave it up," he said, when Hughes inquired.

Grave Removed From Campus

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 24.—The grave of Katherine Bullock has been opened and the casket and its contents removed, thereby destroying one of the oldest landmarks on Princeton campus. The small tombstone was located behind the home of President Wilson and bore the date of June 27, 1794. Recently a Philadelphia family discovered that its members were related to Katherine Bullock and asked the right to take charge of the dust.

Will Check Border Marriages

Toronto, Nov. 24.—Marriages of American couples at border points which have been productive of considerable revenue to issuers of marriage licenses will be practically stopped by a decision handed down by the attorney general, which states that the law provides that one of the contracting parties shall have been a resident of the municipality for at least 15 days prior to the date of application for license.

News of Amund's Expedition

Dundee, Nov. 24.—George Cleveland of New Bedford, Mass., returned to Dundee from a whaling expedition in Davis strait, bringing news from Eskimo sources that Captain Amund's Arctic expedition ship Gjoa had been crushed in the ice at Boothia Felix (the northernmost part of the mainland of North America) and that the explorers escaped and have been living with the natives.

One Way to Stifle Revolt

Warsaw, Nov. 24.—Governor General Skallon has ordered the temporary military governors recently appointed in the 10 Polish provinces to consider agitators and rioters as insurgents and to shoot them down until they are all exterminated and also to disperse public meetings by the use of firearms.

Insurance Man Killed

Sparta, N. J., Nov. 24.—George F. Blackmore, superintendent of agencies of a life insurance company, stumbled and dropped a shotgun, which went off on hitting a rock. His right arm below the elbow was almost blown away and the contents of one barrel entered his right side below the ribs, causing his death.

Official Vote of Ohio

Columbus, O., Nov. 24.—The canvass of the official vote at the late election in Ohio, finished last evening, shows the official plurality of John Pattison, Democratic nominee for governor, to be 42,647. The total vote cast in the state was 961,505 against 1,026,229 last year.

Trains In Head-On Smashup

Chicago, Nov. 24.—During a dense fog a gravel train and a work train came together in a head-on collision near Albion, Ind. Two men were killed, the fate of two others is in doubt and four were injured.

The Conductor Now First The Engineer Is Second

Again it may be asked, "Where is Cash?" Early this morning Engineer Johnson opened the throttle and added 500 pounds pressure which took him to the top, but Conductor Johnson was busy all night and collected over 600 fares which again puts him first.

Fred S. Sheppard is probably happy, because he has passed the 1,000 mark and also Charles E. Lyons of West Quincy. The latter, however, made a gain, and both may have a big reserve.

Both the leading candidates in the ladies' list have strengthened their positions today and there are gains for Miss Nightingale and others.

All the candidates will want to make a good showing tomorrow as it will be the last day the standing will be printed before the final award.

Here are a few dates to remember:

Nov. 25,—last coupons will be printed.

Nov. 25,—last standing of candidates will be published before the award.

Dec. 1,—last day for purchase of Daily Ledgers with coupons.

Dec. 7, at 5 P. M. last date and hour when coupons will be received at office of Daily Ledger,

Dec. 12, award of prizes.

Valuable first and second prizes are offered to both men and women. A $100 scholarship in the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., to the leader in each list, and as a second prize to men a suit of clothes or an overcoat and as a second prize to women a suit or coat. The scholarships take a wide range and many have found them great helps in securing better paying positions.

The Daily Ledger has no favorities. It would like to see all candidates win. It will endeavor to treat all fairly and alike. Wholesale purchases of papers by one candidate will not be disclosed to another. Neither will we agree to supply all demands. First come, first served.

The standing to date is:

Dangerous Grass Fire.

The alarm from Box 75 at 10.36 this morning called the department to a brisk brush fire on South street, on land of the Bigelow estate now owned by Julius Johnson. The fire burned over considerable territory. There was a high wind and burning embers set fire to the L of the house occupied by T. J. Collins. Some of the shingles were burnt off but the fire was extinguished before any great damage had been done.

Whist at Wollaston.

At the whist party given by the committee of the Improved order of Red Men in I. O. O. F. hall, Wollaston, Thursday evening, twenty-five tables were in play. The successful winners were: Mrs. Charles Bean, Mr. C. Loner, Miss M. Lizzie Furnald, Mr. L. W. Taylor, Mrs. Lizzie Thomas, Mr. James Thomas, Mrs. James Thomas, Mr. Murray McLeod, Mrs. E. Waterhouse and Mr. R. B. Holmes.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Quincy, Nov. 21, 1905. 12t

An Independent Platform

Editor of the Ledger:

Will you kindly permit a few lines in your paper. I have been asked if I would accept a nomination for Councilman from Ward Two. I replied that I would under certain conditions. Those were, that I would run on a Citizens' ticket, to be tied to no party or politics, but free to act as I saw best; that beer, cigars or money were not required of me; that I must go on my own merits. If elected, to give my services to the best of my ideas as to the interests of the ward and city.

They accepted my reply, and got out papers with about seventy signers. Now it's up to the voters whether I go or stay. Why I accept is this. Where is the enormous expense and indebtedness of this city leading to? Over-valuation of your homes; heavy debt and increasing.

Is it not incompetent and careless officials, and whose fault is it? It is the voters. I think it is about time to wake up to the necessity of the hour. The election will soon be here, and it is up to you whether things shall go on growing worse or for the better.

Nov. 23, 1905. Daniel Higgins.

Special mention of the life of the late Henry Faxon was made by Rev. E. D. Webber in his sermon last Sunday morning in the Wollaston Baptist church.

A Gentle Servant

[Original.]

Colonel Colinwood commanded the —th Haidarabad native infantry. The colonel was a large, florid man who well illustrated the English proclivity for not being able to learn from others. His father had been a small tradesman in London who in some way had put a member of the cabinet under obligation to him and the obligation was repaid by a commission for the son. Nearly all the young man's brother officers were gentlemen born, and many of them younger sons of nobles. Colinwood was snubbed for twenty years, and as soon as he was promoted to the command of a regiment commenced a systematic snubbing of every officer beneath him in rank excepting those connected with the nobility.

The colonel was especially hard on his servants. He seemed to consider any servant as a necessary evil and a native Indian servant as a worm of the dust. Among those who attended him were an Irishman named Malony and a native named Haroutune. Malony treated all natives as his master treated his inferiors. Haroutune was very different from both the colonel and the Irishman. He was as gentle as a woman. He was married to a soft eyed young Indian, and they had three children, on whom they both doted. They were very frugal, their one supreme object being to accumulate something for their little ones.

One day Colonel Colinwood missed a valuable diamond that he had bought, expecting to make a display with it when he returned to England. The only two persons who had access to the room where it was kept were Malony and Haroutune. The colonel, who had perfect confidence in Malony, had Haroutune arrested, and the courts in the neighborhood were so afraid of the autocratic soldier that he had little trouble in having the Indian convicted. Haroutune was sent to prison to serve a term of fifteen years.

Not long after the loss of the diamond Malony left the colonel's service to return to the British isles. Eight years later Colinwood, having been invalided home, found his former servant living "in clover." Setting detectives on his track, the colonel unearthed the fact that he had disposed of a valuable diamond, and his prosperity dated from the sale. Colinwood, finding it to his interest to accept the remainder of the thief's fund on condition that he would not prosecute, made the compromise.

A few years after this the colonel returned to India with a wife and two little children. He debated the matter as to what he should do in making amends to Haroutune and decided that to say anything about the mistake would place him in an unpleasant position. Haroutune now had but a few years to serve. Besides, he was nothing but a low caste native, and a prison was as good a place for him as anywhere else. So the colonel concluded to do nothing in the way of justice.

Meanwhile Haroutune was languishing in prison. He was so gentle in his manner that one of the prison officials took him into his service. This gave the poor fellow a great deal of liberty. Not long before his term expired a snake charmer gave an exhibition at the prison, and Haroutune saw him perform. Among other things, the snake charmer would place a bird in the same apartment with a snake. On its master's order the snake would steal up to the bird and strangle it.

One day when Colonel Colinwood was at dinner with some friends he remarked that the time for the expiration of the man who had stolen his diamond must have arrived. Some of the party said that the natives were prone to take revenge for punishment and it behooved the colonel to be on his guard. Colinwood declared that if he were inclined to fear any Indian he certainly would not fear Haroutune, who was more woman than man. Had the colonel realized that the prisoner, who had served fifteen years for an offense of which he knew himself to be innocent; that he had come out of prison to find his wife and children, having been deprived of his support, had succumbed and were all dead—had the colonel known this he might have feared that even a worm will turn. Mrs. Colinwood did not share her husband's want of faith in Indian revenge and shuddered.

The very next day Elsie Colinwood was found dead in the garden. The children were permitted to play there, since the place was surrounded by a high wall. The little brother who made the discovery said that he had seen a snake pass from a tree on to the garden wall. There was no mark on the body, though the throat gave evidence of strangulation.

A month later the boy was found dead in his bed with no more marks on him than had been found on his sister. The mother, on the verge of insanity at her loss, besought her husband to resign his position and return to England. He promised to do so, but before he could make his arrangements his wife had met a fate similar to that of her children. The distracted man followed her to her grave and completed his preparations to leave a country that had become a horror to him. The night before he was to sail he was awakened by a choking sensation and, grasping what was coiled about his neck, tore it away and threw it to the other side of the room. The next morning a servant went to awaken him and found his dead body terribly swollen. He had been bitten on the hand by one of the most deadly snakes in India. ETHAN T. HOWE.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in General Court Assembled.

THE Undersigned petitioners, citizens of Quincy, respectfully represent that public convenience and travel require a bridge over Quincy Town River in the city of Quincy.

THEREFORE your petitioner asks that a bridge be built over said river from a point on land or wharf belonging to Fallon Brothers, off Field street, to a point of land bordering on the easterly side of said river owned or controlled by the Quincy Dock Company, or from and to such other points as may be deemed expedient.

Arrested for Larceny.

Lieut. McKay and Inspector Bradley arrested Alfred R. Barstow and Charles Talbot at the skating rink Thursday for the larceny of lace curtains from some person unknown.

The two young fellows were seen at Rock Island on Tuesday by Officer Olsen. At the time when the officer saw them they were seated on the piazza of a cottage. As the officer approached they ran away, leaving behind them a box and a dark lantern. When the box was opened it was found to contain some lace curtains that had evidently been taken from some cottage. Barstow and Talbot were arraigned in court and held in $300 each, until Dec. 1.

When questioned as to how the curtains came into their possession, Talbot and Barstow said that they had found them under a boat.

Basket Ball League.

The opening games in the Y. M. C. A. basket ball league were played Thursday night. The two teams from the Quincy Association went to Somerville, and met defeat. The senior team score was: Somerville, 35; Quincy, 10. The junior score was: Somerville, 20; Quincy, 4.

There will be an at home game next Thursday night between Quincy and Malden.

At Cambridge the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. defeated Lynn by a score of 34 to 12.

TODAY'S COURT.

Charles Talbot and Alfred R. Barstow were arraigned for the larceny of lace curtains from some person unknown at Quincy. They were held in $300 bonds until Friday, Dec. 1.

Park System

Secretary Woodbury Explains Improvements

The regular meeting of the Wollaston Unity club was held in the Unitarian vestry last evening. Hon. Eugene H. Sprague had charge of the meeting.

The speaker was Secretary John Woodbury of the Metropolitan Park Commission who spoke on "The Metropolitan Park System."

Mr. Woodbury first gave a short history of the origin of the commission and then decribed the sites and highways around Boston that have been greatly improved by it.

Pictures of all the locations including Blue Hills, Hyde Park and Middlesex Fells were thrown on the screen by a stereopticon.

Mr. Woodbury greatly emphasized the necessity of the improvements which are being made along the Charles river and showed by pictures how changes of this kind have been made in Hamburg, Germany.

M. Woodbury gave due credit to the late Charles Eliot the landscape architect who was one of the first instigators of the system of improvement.

The music of the evening consisted of two vocal duets by Mrs. Page and Mrs. Collyer, and two solos by Mr. C. Ralph Taylor.

In conclusion he spoke of the work which the commission has done at the principal beaches, and took Revere for example. He showed a picture of Revere in its dilapidated condition before the improvements, and of the beach today with its fine State bath house.

Abbott vs. Littlefield

The Great Harvard-Yale Foot Ball Game is On

Since 1895 and 1896, when there were no games, Harvard and Yale have each won four football contests, but in the last three year Yale has been victorious.

Today the Blue and the Crimson met on the Soldiers Field at Cambridge, in the presence of a record-breaking crowd which filled the great stadium to overflowing. It was an ideal November day for outdoor sport, the mildest since Oct. 18, the noon temperature being 64.

THE LINE UP.

The teams will face each other as follows:

HARVARD.	YALE.
Leary, l. e.	r. e., Shevlin
Brill, l. t.	r. t., Biglow
Burr, l. g.	r. g., Tripp
Parker, c.	c., Flanders
Kersberg, r. g.	l. g., Erwin
Squires, r. t.	l. t., Forbes
Knowlton, r. e.	l. e., Cates
Starr, q. b.	q. b., T. Jones
Foster, l. h. b.	r. h. b., Morse
Wendell, r. h. b.	l. h. b., Roome
Carr, f. b.	f. b., Flinn

1.45 P. M. The great crowd begun to arrive early and there has been a constant stream of spectators entering the gates. The seats are fast filling up and nearly everybody is in their allotted seat.

1.55 P. M. The weather conditions for the great battle are ideal. The gridiron is in the pink of condition, and everybody is anxiously awaiting the signal to begin.

2 P. M. The hour for the great game has arrived and every eye is trained on the gate by which the gladiators will enter the stadium. Upwards of 43,000 are in attendance.

2.10 P. M.—The teams have just entered the stadium. Both teams received a great ovation.

YALE KICKS.

2.20 P. M.—The game has just been called. Harvard has the south goal, and Yale the north. Yale kicks off to Harvard.

2.30 P. M. Yale has ball on Harvard 20 yard line.

2.40 P. M. Harvard has the ball.

2.43 P. M. Yale has ball on Harvard's 35 yard line.

2.46 P. M. Yale has ball on her own 35 yard line.

2.50 P. M. Harvard has ball on Yale's 35 yard line. Harvard kicks for goal but does not succeed.

2.54 P. M. Harvard has ball on Yale's 40 yard line. One Harvard man knocked out.

NO SCORE.

3.14 P. M.—First half over. Neither team scores.

—Are you going to get one of those long stem roses at Music hall tonight?

Mrs. A. L. Busch of New Suffolk, Virginia, is visiting at The Greenleaf this week.

—Landlord Whipple intimates that it may be necessary to close the Hotel Touraine in Boston if he is not allowed to sell liquor illegally in that hostelry. It would be a pity to close this fine hotel but there is no good reason why liquor should be sold there illegally, any more than in the lowest dive in the city. It is absurd to have laws which operate as does the 400 foot statute in this case, but as long as it is a law it ought to be respected. There cannot be one law for the rich and another for the poor.—Banker and Tradesman.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

HAMMOND MURDER

Woman Was First Brutally Beaten or Kicked

THEN CHOKED TO DEATH

Strong Evidence Against Youthful Husband of the Victim, Who Is Believed to Have Fled to Canada--Arrest Is Expected

Albany, Nov. 25.—The police believe they have a complete case against John Hammond, the missing 24-year-old carpenter, the body of whose 57-year-old wife was found huddled and decomposing in an old trunk in the prettily furnished parlor of their home on South Ferry street.

James Mangini of Cohoes, the husband of Hammond's sister, was taken into custody there, brought to Albany, and has confessed to the police of both cities that on Tuesday, Nov. 14, two days or more after the murder must have been committed, he accompanied Hammond from Cohoes to Rouse's Point and that on the journey Hammond, who, he says, was in a condition bordering on nervous collapse, told him that he had killed his wife and hidden her body in a trunk. Mangini is being held both as a witness and an accessory after the fact of the murder. He says Hammond also made a confession on the 15th to an uncle at Rouse's Point. The police say that Hammond will soon be arrested. Albany detectives are in Canada searching for him.

The autopsy upon the woman's body has shown that she was strangled with great violence and that before death she was brutally beaten or kicked. There seems to be little doubt that the murder was committed on the afternoon of Sunday, Nov. 12, for neighbors on that day heard the piano being played by Mrs. Hammond. She was a musician of considerable ability. They say that the playing stopped abruptly and after that no sound was heard from the Hammond apartment, though Hammond himself was seen about the house later that day. He told the woman living down stairs that his wife had gone down the river to buy a farm and would be gone several days.

It is learned that on Nov. 10 Mrs. Hammond drew upward of $800 from a savings bank, at first receiving a New York draft, but the next day exchanging it for cash. Important in this connection is the fact that on Nov. 13 a man declared to be Hammond ordered from a leading clothing house an expensive fur overcoat. They could not fit him and asked for a deposit on the order. He left what was supposed to be two $10 bills, but when the clerk examined them after Hammond had gone he found the bills were $100 each. At another place he bought other clothing and left his name and address.

When the house was searched a new pocketbook was found behind the piano. It had a small lock, but had been cut to pieces. It is believed that this contained the large sum of money drawn from the bank by Mrs. Hammond.

The house where the murder occurred was formerly used as a police station and at least three suicides and several fires are said to have occurred there. The families now living there are all quiet, respectable people.

It became known last night that at least $2400 was probably taken by the murderer of Mrs. Hammond. The police have learned that Mrs. Hammond drew out of the banks three sums aggregating this amount and Mangini, Hammond's brother-in-law, says that Hammond showed him a roll of money counting up to $2000.

Mild Weather Checks Trade

New York, Nov. 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that fundamental conditions are unchanged, although higher temperatures at many points again checked retail sales of heavyweight wearing apparel and other seasonable merchandise. Activity continues at textile mills, but the primary markets for cotton goods were decidedly disturbed by the violent advance in raw material.

Burton Trial Closes Today

St. Louis, Nov. 25.—Under instructions from Judge Vandeventer, the case of Senator Burton of Kansas, charged with violating a federal statute by practicing before the postoffice department while a senator, must be submitted to the jury today. There remain the arguments for the defense and the final argument for the government.

Jordan Not In Cotton Deal

Atlanta, Nov. 25.—President Jordan of the Southern Cotton association denies a report that he had been concerned with a prominent cotton speculator in New York and that in the recent rise in prices he had been a winner to the extent of several millions of dollars.

No Longer Under Cover

Havana, Nov. 25.—Reports of rumors of a conspiracy against the person of President Palma having proved to be unfounded, the president and his family no longer refrain from appearing in public.

New King Enters Norway Today

Christiana, Nov. 25.—King Haakon and Queen Maud will make their formal entry into the kingdom today. Prince Henry of Prussia is a guest of their majesties on their yacht.

SEXTUPLE MURDER

Iowa Man Accused of Killing His Whole Family

Independence, Ia., Nov. 25.—Mrs. William McWilliams and her five children, ranging from 3 to 18 years in age, were slain at their farm home and the husband and father was arrested in Independence last night, charged with killing the members of his family. He declares himself to be innocent.

A dairyman called for milk at the McWilliams farm. On entering the house he says he found Mrs. McWilliams and the five children dead on the floor. Each person had been killed by a hammer blow on the head. Mrs. McWilliams was atrociously beaten, and knife thrusts had been inflicted on the crushed body. In the woman's rigid arms lay the corpse of the 3-year-old baby, its hood, coat and mittens on, and a piece of buttered bread in one hand. The baby had been killed by one blow of a hammer on the head.

The other children lay about the house, dressed in working clothes. It is thought that the mother and baby were killed first and that then the children had been called into the house one at a time and struck dead with a hammer. Only the wife and daughter, 16 years old, seem to have resisted, each sustaining knife wounds in the hand. There was little evidence of a struggle.

McWilliams could not be found about the farm, but a suit of clothes said to be his was found smeared with what is said to be blood. A rural mail carrier reported at the house that he had met McWilliams on the way to Independence and that McWilliams had said that the family had been killed by someone. The sheriff arrested McWilliams in Independence.

Police Quelled Democrats

Boston, Nov. 25.—Several conventions were held here last night to nominate candidates for the Boston school board, but only one nomination was made, that of Charles L. Burrill, by the independent women voters. The Republican convention delegated its power of nomination to a committee of 25, while the Democratic convention called for police interference and broke up in disorder with the result that two tickets will be put in nomination by the opposing factions.

Mary Rogers Breaks Down

Windsor, Vt., Nov. 25.—As the day for her execution approaches Mrs. Mary M. Rogers shows signs of a complete mental and physical breakdown. She rests little and while asleep continues to moan. Frequently in her sleep she springs from her couch, screaming at the top of her voice, and tells of remarkable nightmares and of great mental torture. Sheriff Peck has made a direct statement that no newspaper men will be permitted to witness the execution.

Steamship Man Won't Arbitrate

St. John, Nov. 25.—Neither side shows signs of yielding in the longshoremen's strike, but the situation is more tense. Of the 42 men brought down from Montreal for the Donaldson line steamer but three are at work. The local union is boarding the remainder pending developments. H. A. Allan of the Allan line said, in reference to the suggestion to arbitrate, that he would not do so.

Cornell Has Fast Runners

New York, Nov. 25.—From a field of 42 contestants, W. J. Hale of Yale won the individual championship of the Intercollegiate Cross Country Association of Amateur Athletes of America over the Travers Island course. The team championship honors went to Cornell. This was the seventh annual meet of the association and the team honors were won by Cornell for the sixth time.

Ready to Draft Canal Report

Washington, Nov. 25.—The final meeting of the board of consulting engineers of the isthmian canal commission took place yesterday afternoon. The outlines of the report which the board is to make to the isthmian canal commission were discussed and Chairman Davis and Messrs. Noble and Burr were appointed a committee to draft the document.

Exposition Fever Hits Gotham

New York, Nov. 25.—At a public meeting here last night to consider the establishment of a permanent international exposition in this city to celebrate the tercentenary of the discovery of the Hudson river, which occurs in 1909, resolutions were passed in favor of the establishment of such an exposition.

Barred From National League

Cincinnati, Nov. 25.—The sale of Thomas Owens by the Brooklyn National league club to the Rochester club has been set aside by the National baseball commission, which declares that "the player is a contract jumper pure and simple. He is ineligible to play with any national agreement club."

Went Down With Four Men

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Nov. 25.—A dispatch from Newfoundland states that schooner Columbine, bound from Charlottetown for Newfoundland ports, foundered with all hands in Fortune bay during the recent gale. The schooner carried four men.

No Charter For Stogiemakers

Pittsburg, Nov. 25.—The American Federation of Labor refused to grant a charter to the National Stogiemakers' league because the trade is so closely identified with cigarmaking.

MODISH ODDS AND ENDS.

Long Mousquetaire Gloves to Be Worn All Winter—Smart Colors.

Mousquetaire gloves will be worn all winter, for the short and three-quarter length sleeves make them a necessity. When worn with elbow sleeves the sixteen button length is required, and eight is the length for three-quarter or long sleeves.

In light mousquetaire gloves the new shades are charming, ranging from soft grays to pale blues, pinks and violets.

Walking gloves are heavy, square cut, mannish affairs this winter, but nevertheless are perfectly stunning. They fasten with one or sometimes two clasps. The backs are decorated with three welts, each one ending with an oblique welt pointing downward toward the wrist. Dull finished gloves, such as suede, are worn with materials having no gloss—chiffon, etc.—while glace kid accompanies costumes of glossy silk and velvet.

DRESS OF GREEN CHEVIOT.

All calling and dressy frocks of the season have their skirts made with a "dip."

The costume in the cut is of striped green cheviot. The skirt has fans of plaits inset at intervals that give a pretty flare at the bottom. The jacket is plaited from a yoke and plain front empiecement. A belt of soft green suede keeps the fullness in place. The turnover collar is of velvet barred with silver braid. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Of No Avail.

The Victor—You said you were looking for a fight. Now you ought to be satisfied.

The Vanquished—Y-es, but I only wanted to see it from a distance.

A Position of Responsibility.

"Does he occupy a position of trust and responsibility?"

"I should say he does! He is the man who weighs out the steak in the meat store."

A Possible Explanation.

"I wonder why Wisely added the 'e' to his name after inheriting a fortune?"

"He probably figured out to his own satisfaction that rich people are entitled to more ease than poor people."

WITHOUT A REASON

Syndicate Profits Due New York Life Were Deducted

HAMILTON GOT $59,310

Sum of $40,000 Paid on Another Occasion to Perkins, No Entry of the Transaction Being Made on Books of the Company

New York, Nov. 25.—Startling developments were brought out at Thursday's session of the Armstrong legislative committee on insurance investigation in the course of a minute inquiry by Charles E. Hughes, counsel to the committee, into the syndicate transactions participated in by the New York Life Insurance company.

The most important witness of the day was Milton M. Madison, a bookkeeper of the New York Life, during whose examination it was brought out that in the United States Steel corporation syndicate, the managers of which were J. P. Morgan & Co., there appeared in one instance a profit due to the New York Life of $87,187 from which was deducted, no reason being given, the sum of $59,310 paid to Andrew Hamilton, who has been described in the course of the investigation as the "insurance legislative generalissimo."

It appeared from records produced by Hughes that an account of J. P. Morgan & Co. with Hamilton showed that in December, 1901, that firm had advanced to Hamilton the sum of $56,720, that on Oct. 1, 1902, this account amounted with interest to $59,310, and that it was then cancelled by the entry of that amount to Hamilton's credit. The entry of this amount in the account of the New York Life read: "As per cancelled statement and arrangement with Mr. G. W. Perkins."

It also was developed that the participation in the syndicate by the New York Life was effected through the New York Security and Trust company, which retained one-fourth of the profits of the former company.

Pressed by Hughes to tell whether he knew of any other instance of money due the New York Life being paid to a third party as in the Hamilton case. Madison recalled the payment in 1904 of $40,000 to George W. Perkins, representing the profit on a loan of $930,000 to the Boston firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co. The profit, witness said, came in the form of a check on the First National bank, which he cashed, giving the money to Perkins. What the latter did with it the witness did not know, as no entry of the transaction was made on the books of the New York Life.

Other witnesses examined during the day were George T. Wilson, fourth vice president of the Equitable, Francis W. Jackson, auditor, and Gerald Brown, in charge of the bond department of the Equitable.

To Hold Autopsy on Branch

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 25.—The prosecution's case in the Meriwether court martial is now closed, but evidence can be adduced in rebuttal after the defense has closed. Long lines of further testimony and cross-examination are opened up by the order to exhume Branch's body and perform an autopsy, at which there will be present not only the medical officers of the naval academy staff, but two who will be in a measure representatives of the defense.

Bank Robbers Foiled

Buffalo, Nov. 25.—A bold attempt was made to rob the Traders' bank of Bridgeburg, a village on the Canadian side of the Niagara river, opposite Buffalo. A gang of men tried to break down the front door of the bank and scores of shots were exchanged before the would-be robbers were frightened away by the appearance of villagers, who were attracted by the noise of the conflict.

Steamer Kershaw Libelled

Norfolk, Nov. 25.—Lewis Luckenbach of New York, owner of the barge Frank Pendleton, which was rammed and sunk in this harbor Nov. 11 by the Merchants and Miners' Transportation company steamer Kershaw, has libelled the Kershaw, claiming $40,000 damages by reason of the sinking of the Pendleton, which went down loaded with 2113 tons of coal.

Went to Sleep and Died

Beverly, Mass., Nov. 25.—John McGann of this city, aged 35, accompanied two friends to Lawrence with a load of furniture, and on the return trip he crawled into the back of the wagon to take a nap. When his friends tried to arouse him it was found that he was dead. McGann was apparently in good health.

Thinks Balfour Will Resign

London, Nov. 25.—The Times says it is thought in well informed political circles that after a careful consideration of existing conditions, Premier Balfour will be confirmed in his view that he can no longer hold office with advantage to the country or with credit to himself and that therefore he will resign.

Mutiny In Black Sea Fleet

London, Nov. 25.—A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram company from St. Petersburg says it is persistently reported that there has been a mutiny in the Black sea fleet and that portions of the Sebastopol garrison have mutinied, killing the chief of staff and wounding a colonel.

TRAINS IN COLLISION

Infant and Engineer Killed and Many Persons Hurt

Wayland, Mass., Nov. 25.—In a collision between a freight and a passenger train here a child was killed, the engineer of the passenger train received fatal injuries, while four other persons were seriously hurt.

Pauline Adams, 1 year old, was thrown from her mother's arms by the shock of collision and was crushed to death in the wreckage. Engineer Gifford died last night at the Massachusetts general hospital in Boston. He sustained internal injuries, severe cuts on the head and a fractured leg.

The two trains came together on a siding. Exactly how the accident happened is not clear, but it evidently was due to a misplaced switch. The passenger train had entered the yard limits and was running at reduced speed as it approached the siding. Instead of proceeding along the main track, the passenger train entered the siding and crashed into the freight.

The force of the collision demolished the engine of the passenger train, and badly damaged the freight locomotive. There were only two cars in the passenger train, but the forward car had its forward end torn apart and was splintered and twisted for half its length. The tender of the passenger locomotive was forced back into the forward passenger car for nearly 20 feet. Three freight cars were derailed and overturned in the ditch at the side of the tracks. The engineer and fireman of the freight train escaped injury.

Shot Husband While Insane

South Norwalk, Conn., Nov. 25.—During a fit of insanity last night, Mrs. Edward Gustafson shot her husband, the bullet causing a wound which will probably result fatally. Mrs. Gustafson approached her husband with the revolver under her apron and fired when two feet from him, the ball entering his abdomen. Gustafson ran out of the house with his wife in close pursuit and as they reached the yard his wife again shot, but failed to hit him. Mrs. Gustafson re-entered the house and shot at her husband, but missed again. She then ran into the woods nearby and escaped.

Will Invoke Aid of Law

New Haven, Nov. 25.—The constitutional right of a college faculty to expel a student for speculating in football tickets will be called into the case of Orace B. Garnsey, president of the freshman class of the Yale Medical school, according to Garnsey. He says that he will get out an injunction preventing the faculty from expelling him, as professors of the medical school say that they will do, for his sale of nine tickets for the Yale-Harvard game to speculators. Garnsey refused to resign as president of the freshman class, which had requested his resignation.

Triple Drowning Accidents

Barre, Vt., Nov. 25.—John and Francis Bianchi, Arthur Broderick and James Cruikshank, who were among a large party of skaters on the mill pond at North Barre, broke through the ice while skating together. John Grumbold, a stone-cutter, working nearby, jumped into the water and saved Cruikshank, but the others drowned.

Thomaston, Conn., Nov. 25.—Three small boys lost their lives by drowning while sliding here. They are Edward Lundrigan, 12; Edward Carney, 12, and Bolion Schweider, 9 years old.

Admission Granted Mootkie Wood

Boston, Nov. 25.—The Washington authorities have decided to allow the admission of Mootkie Wood, a young girl from India who was detained at this port by the immigration officers last week. The girl, who is deaf and dumb and an orphan, was sent from India by an American missionary to be educated in Pittsburg. The local officials held her, but an appeal was taken to the secretary of commerce and labor.

Killing Diseased Cattle

Clinton, Mass., Nov. 25.—Five more cows suffering from tuberculosis were killed in Harvard yesterday by orders of Dr. Plaskett, agent for the state cattle bureau. Twelve cows have been killed within the past week in Harvard, all suffering from tuberculosis. In Bolton three were killed, in Hudson four, and Lancaster three, all during the past week.

Charged With Killing Aged Man

Waterbury, Vt., Nov. 25.—P. D. Coon, a former attendant at the state hospital for the insane, has been arrested on a charge of manslaughter in causing the death of Peter Durant, an aged inmate of the asylum. Coon waived examination and was held in $1800 bail for the grand jury. F. J. Dennis, also being held for the grand jury on the same charge, has secured bail.

Farmers Drank Wood Alcohol

St. Albans, Vt., Nov. 25.—Nelson Royston and Marshall Bliss, two Richford farmers, both said to have been drinking men, drank wood alcohol, thinking it straight alcohol. Both died last evening. Royston was 40 years old and Bliss was much older.

Child Burned to Death

Providence, Nov. 25.—Flames spurting from a connection joint of an unused drain pipe in which a fire had been kindled by several small children ignited the clothing of Nellie Domenico, aged 3, causing fatal injury. The child's body was terribly burned.

Football Kills a Schoolboy

A PURITAN FESTIVAL.

How Thanksgiving Was Celebrated In Old New England.

Mrs. Ruth Merrill Clark Hardy of the National Society of New England Women gives in the New York Tribune the following account of a real old fashioned Thanksgiving dinner in vogue in New England when she was young:

"For weeks," she says, "the preparations were going on for this great and only Puritan festival, when the children and grandchildren, from far and near, gathered under the old family rooftree.

"Dinner was not served, as now, in courses, but all sorts of good things were placed at once on the table. If the dining table could not be lengthened sufficiently to accommodate the increased family group, then smaller ones were placed around the room. The snowy linen was that which had been spun and woven in the house.

"Puritan simplicity did not see the need of table adornments outside of the fine white linen, the pears and rosy cheeked apples and the abundance of food. In the center of the table was a roast pig, at one end a big turkey, the choicest of the flock, and at the other a luscious goose. There were cold roast spareribs and always a chicken pie. The rich crust of this pie was decorated on top with the words 'Give Thanks,' in pastry letters. For vegetables there were potatoes, onions, turnips and squash; for appetizers, homemade pickles, cider apple sauce, pepper and melon mangoes. There were plates of delicious white and brown bread and the sweetest of butter. Then followed plum pudding such as only a New England woman can make, mince, pumpkin and apple pie, cranberry tarts and baked sweet apples, hickory, butter and hazel nuts.

"Tea and coffee were served throughout the meal, with the richest of sweet cream, and great pitchers of sweet cider were in evidence, not only at the dinner, but at all times during the day, as was popcorn, which was always enjoyed by the young folks."

AN ARMY THANKSGIVING.

The Famous Plum Pudding of the Hawkins Zouaves.

"In November, 1862," said the veteran who was a drummer boy in the famous Hawkins' zouaves, "we were in camp at Falmouth, directly opposite Fredericksburg, where many of our command fell a little later. We could get nothing but the ordinary rations, but we had prepared for that by starting a company fund several months before for the purpose of supplying a Thanksgiving dinner. There must have been something like $40 in the fund, and our cook kept the disposal of this fund a profound secret.

"It seems ridiculous now, but I don't believe that any child ever waited for the coming of Christmas morning with a keener excitement than we did for that Thanksgiving dinner. When it came at last, we found that the great dish was nothing more or less than a good old fashioned plum pudding, rich and savory. I'll never forget that pudding, but it was the only thing we had. It had taken all the company fund to buy the flour and other ingredients for the pudding.

"I tell you, though, it seemed mighty good to our stomachs, which had endured a steady diet of hard tack and coffee for weeks. I don't believe that a band of street ragamuffins ever tackled a feast with a keener relish than we poor fellows felt when we devoured that pudding."

Porto Rico's Thanksgiving.

In Porto Rico at Thanksgiving time men who go about selling chickens and turkeys carry them in bundles wrapped with jagua palm. Out of the end of the bundle stick the turkey's long tail feathers, looking like a feather duster. Moreover, these bundled turkeys are still alive, and the woman who purchases her Thanksgiving bird is compelled to board it until she or her lord and master is ready to kill it for cooking.

In that climate refrigerators are rare, and fowls do not keep as long as one might wish. In the markets of Porto Rico the housewife can buy any good things that are possible in America. The market is usually found on the wide plaza, where buying and selling are attended with much din. Black faced women in white, with gay bandanna handkerchiefs about their heads, do the selling, sometimes a couple of little black children tumbling about at their feet. They squat upon the ground among their fruit and vegetables. Pumpkins may be purchased there of a size that would amaze the American housewife.

New Jersey's First Thanksgiving.

When, in 1763, the Dutch established themselves in New Jersey for the second time they reorganized the various town governments and set up new governments "under the stijle of Schont and Schepens," "bij virtue of a commission from ye High and mighty Lords the States Generall and his Serene Highness the Prince of Orange." On the 15th of the succeeding November the Dutch authorities issued what was probably the first Thanksgiving proclamation issued for New Jersey, and which is the more interesting because Thanksgiving here in New Jersey, as elsewhere, is generally considered of New England origin.—Newark Call.

Thanksgiving In Japan.

The Japanese, often called the "Yankees of the east," have a Thanksgiving day, Oct. 17, on which thanks are given for bounteous harvests.

Pretty and Useful Christmas Gifts Made at Home

No matter how many workbaskets a woman owns, she is always pleased to have another pretty one added to her stock in trade.

Singularly attractive and new is the basket illustrated.

A base is made, six sided, nine or ten inches wide, with each side measuring four to five inches. A bag seven inches high, half as wide again as the base, is gathered to it and slashed down half the way at every point of the hexagon. Then they are secured and finished exactly like separate bags, with the division line carried all the way down by brier stitching, and a narrow ribbon is run through a casing in each bag which draws up independently of the rest, or six little bags can be made and set on and then joined part way up from the base.

CORSET BAG.

The center is used as a workbasket where scissors and cotton and thimbles are to be found, while each little bag holds its kind of work entirely separate and out of a general disorder.

They are pretty in almost every material, but the newest are of scrim.

Other new bags come of cretonnes in small designs cut into four oblongs and the seams joined on the outside and bound with tape. A pocket is put on each side, with a flap that buttons down flat, and the whole bag is sewed on a square base. Tapes instead of ribbons to match the binding tapes are used for drawing strings.

Shoe bags, just plain bags about a foot long, are made of cretonne in the plainest of bag fashions and drawn up with tapes. A set of half a dozen is a pretty, inexpensive gift and are a luxury to a girl who travels a good deal and who knows the bother of wrapping her shoes up in paper.

Corset bags are a great protection to that best pair of corsets. They are long, slim affairs, just big enough to snugly cover up the corsets when they're rolled from each side toward the tapes. Six inches wide, sixteen inches long, is the best length to make them. Some are of thin nainsook simply made up over pink lawn and with a narrow casing made by two rows of brier stitching with embroidery cotton. Dotted swiss over a color is equally pretty, while the most elaborate are of white satin, painted with roses in delicate colors, or of brocaded silks. But the simple ones are the prettiest of all and a little more in keeping with the piles of snowy underclothes, delicate lingerie or sturdier things that share a drawer with it.

Renaissance has been called in for everything from table covers to hats, but the newest, prettiest idea is to make fans of it. The creamy braids and the white ones are equally pretty, and designs with great butterflies spreading their wings seem particularly appropriate to the frivolous toy that is meant to flutter as gracefully as they. Lovers of renaissance work will welcome this new departure, and the girl with a dilapidated fan, but a pair of lovely fan sticks—mother-of-pearl or ivory—will achieve a rare gift if she makes the lace and mounts it on the discarded sticks.

Umbrella handles are greatly in vogue as presents, and some of the newest are exquisite works of art in crystal, jade and enamel, with circlets of tiny rubies and diamonds cutting the center of the ball. The charming idea of inclosing the miniature or a photograph of the "beloved one" in the flat circular case forming the top of the umbrella stick or cane is truly Parisian. This is certainly a graceful fashion, especially as a present for a fiance.

Guest books are especially appropriate for the people who are just married or are moving into new homes. Stunning ones can be found in the shops, bound in leather and mounted in silver, but the prettiest of all are handmade, embroidered or painted or done in burnt work. Sheets of paper are tied inside—a paper that will take ink well. Sometimes a gay little penholder is tied to it or run through ribbon loops. The idea is for each guest who comes to the new home to write a verse or a sentiment and sign his name and the date.

Spools of thread for handy use are kept in all sorts of contrivances. There are tiny little basket hampers that will hold two spools and a diminutive emery. When filled they are most convenient for traveling. They are lined with a pretty, plain silk, and the tiny emery is attached to a corner of the basket by a fine silk cord. Flannel leaves for needles are fastened to the cover.

$52,000 in one dollar bills was drawn by one man from a bank in New York the day before election. Can it be that 52,000 voters in New York sold themselves for a dollar each ?

The proposed election of a City Auditor for three years is contrary to the spirit of the Quincy city charter and the new act of the Legislature, to be submitted to the voters, should not therefore be accepted. There is no necessity or demand for the change. If the present City Auditor was a candidate for reelection the voters might feel different, but whoever is elected may not fill the bill, and a change might be desirable after one year. This office should be under the immediate control of the City Council.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ A Washington clerk started with 75 cents and is now worth a fortune, all secured by playing the "ponies." That's the story that is attracting some attention at the present time. Just follow that fellow until the ponies begin to buck, as they always will, and see where his fortune goes to. If he isn't counting his fortune in cents instead of thousands before he gets through with the game, he will have done something that absolutely no other gambler of the races ever did.—Haverhill Gazette.

How an Orang Outang Travels.

It is a most interesting sight to watch an orang outang make its way through the jungle. It walks slowly along the larger branches in a semi-erect attitude, this being apparently caused by the length of its arms and the shortness of its legs. It invariably selects those branches which intermingle with those of a neighboring tree, on approaching which it stretches out its long arm and, grasping the boughs opposite, seems first to shake them as if to test their strength and then deliberately swings itself across to the next branch, which it walks along, as before. It does not jump or spring, as monkeys usually do, and never appears to hurry itself unless some real danger presents. Yet, in spite of its apparently slow movements, it gets along far quicker than a person running through the forest beneath.—Popular Magazine.

Sickened of the Scalpel.

An extraordinary event led Lassone, physician to Louis XVI. of France, to abandon his anatomical studies. While selecting from among some dead bodies a suitable subject for dissection he imagined that one of them showed doubtful signs of death and sought to revive a life which was perhaps not extinguished. His efforts were crowned with success. He cured the man, and as he was poor nourished and supported him, but the idea of having been on the point of committing a crime so affected Lassone that he felt himself unable to pursue his accustomed labors, and from that time forward the study of natural history and chemistry took the place of that of anatomy.

Miss Avah Gilson of Linden place was also a winner in the Kimball piano contest receiving a certificate of credit, amounting to $90.

CITY BREVITIES.

A private dancing party was held at Colonial hall last evening.

The sewer mains are being extended through Baxter street.

Mrs. Blanche C. Richardson will be the soloist at the Universalist church Sunday morning.

Many Quincy people are witnessing the Harvard-Yale football game this afternoon.

It is too bad that work cannot be commenced this fall on the foundation of the addition to the High school building.

Just because the weather is mild today, people should not leave off the heavy garments they have been wearing or get careless.

The Harvard-Yale football game has attracted many Harvard men Cambridgeward this afternoon and Boston is gay with Harvard crimson.

Charles W. Damon of Atlantic who has been quite seriously ill has greatly improved this week and an early recovery is hoped for.

The Central Labor Union of Quincy and vicinity have declared themselves in favor of municipal ownership of gas and electric lighting plants.

A regular meeting of the Citizens' Association will be held next Wednesday evening at the rooms of the Granite Manufacturers' Association.

A Thanksgiving service will be held at Christ church at 9 A. M. on Thanksgiving day. There will be a sermon by the rector, Rev. W. E. Garbner.

Rev. F. M. Gardner of South Boston will speak at the Y. M. C. A. Men's meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Frank Varney will be the soloist.

The Sunday school of the Unitarian church will give a harvest concert on Sunday at 12 o'clock, to which public generally is invited. There will be recitations, readings and music.

Miss A. M. Gove, matron of the Quincy Day Nursery. won the prize offered by the Boston American for the best bill of fare for a Thanksgiving dinner. The menu was published in the edition of Friday, Nov. 17.

Friends of Richard Freeman of Wollaston will be glad to know that he is recovering from an operation for appendicitis which was successfully performed this week at the Quincy Hospital. He hopes to return to his studies at Harvard in a few weeks.

Look after your dog as dog thieves are about. The owner of a valuable dog caught a man walking off with his dog, the other day just in time to save it. When confronted the thief tried to tell a plausible story of finding the dog, looking for owner, etc.

Among the flowers at the funeral of James H. Bisson were the following which were omitted from the list published Thursday, a pillow with "Husband" from the wife, snd a standing wreath from friends at Quincy depot.

The New England Telephone Co. is furnishing its subscribers promptly with news of the Harvard—Yale game today. An operator was stationed at the stadium and every play promptly telephoned to the central office from which point it was furnished to subscribers.

Tomorrow at twelve o'clock the Sunday school of First church will hold a Thanksgiving service. This morning quantities of vegetables were brought to the chapel which have been used for decoration and after the service will be distributed to the needy as a Thanksgiving offering.

Because of the national interest in the great Inter-church Conference on Federation held last week in New York City many will be glad to know that Rev. Mr. Hardy who was a delegate to the conference will speak of the results of the meetings at Bethany church tomorrow morning.

A free entertainment for the members of the First church Sunday school has been provided by Supt. Johnson, through the kindness of a friend. Prof. Coles, the blind entertainer, has been secured, and he is very successful as a humorist, ventriloquist, and impersonator. Friday eveningo, Dec. 1, is the date.

HERPICIDE PRODUCES MARVELOUS RESULTS.

The lady whose photograph is here reproduced--writes the following letter about

Newbro's Herpicide

"the original remedy that kills the dandruff germ."

The Herpicide Company,
Detroit, Mich.

I am sending you my photograph to show what Newbro's Herpicide has done for me. Since I first tested it thoroughly on my own hair. I have used it exclusively in giving scalp treatments, and with wonderful success. I would not think of trying to get along without it.

Yours sincerely,
MRS. ANNA CONNOR.

Hair and scalp specialist

MRS. ANN CONNOR,
2807 Archer Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The natural beauty and abundance of this lady's hair is a striking illustration of what Herpicide will accomplish, and this is only one of the thousands of letters that the Herpicide Company have on file from people all over the world who are pleased to tell of the marvelous results obtained by the use of Herpicide.

The Only Positive Safeguard Aginst Baldness is in the Use of known throughout the world as "the original remedy that kills the dandruff germ." Herpicide is a new, scientific nonirritant germicide and prophylactic for the scalp—and positively cures dandruff, stops falling hair and prevents baldness. No one wants to lose their hair and it is a mighty serious matter to comtemplate. Well, why trifle with unknown or so-called Hair Growers, when you are absolutely guaranteed that Herpicide will not only save what hair you have, but will restore it to its natural luxuriance. It is the dandruff germ, which infests the scalp, that causes the hair to fall out. Herpicide will eradicate this microbic disease of the scalp and protect it against re-infection, and your hair will then grow as nature intended. NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE has reached the pinnacle of fame as a hair preparation and enjoys a distinction strictly its own. As a Hair Dressing—Herpicide is truly exquisite on account of its dainty and refreshing odor which is characteristic—it beautifies the hair and leaves it soft, glossy, light and fluffy—it contains no oil, grease or sedimentary substance, neither doees it stain nor dye the hair.

Stops Itching of the Scalp Almost Instantly.

DANDRUFF IS AN ACTUAL DISEASE

and a very serious one, for it leads sooner or later to chronic baldness, which is incurable—the disease must be treated in a thoughtful, persistent and scientific manner. The dandruff germ must be destroyed and kept out of the scalp with NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE, because it is the only remedy that will actually kill the dandruff germ.

Getting Real Lemon Oil.

A dealer in spices in New York held up a small bottle filled with a pale amber liquid. "Smell it," he said, drawing the cork. The visitor inhaled an odor which seemed to call up visions of orange and citron groves of ancient Greek fame.

"It's the genuine oil of lemons," said the dealer in response to a look of inquiry. "That is all I have left of a pound of the oil, and it took 1,200 lemons to produce it. Rather expensive stuff, almost equal to that of attar of roses. The method of obtaining the oil is tedious. A man has a big, dry, clean sponge before him on a table. He takes strips of the lemon peel, gives them a certain twist which breaks the cells and sends the oil out in a fine spray on the sponge. He has to work quickly to avoid evaporation.

"When the sponge has taken up the sprays of about a hundred rinds it is wet enough to be squeezed out. An ounce or so of clear and fragrant oil then flows from it."

Irving's First Success.

In 1874 Henry Irving achieved an immense success by his performance of "Hamlet" at the London Lyceum theater. His interpretation of the part was so striking and unusual that the play had a run unprecedented at that time, continuing for 200 nights. Of his experience in playing this part Sir Henry gave, some years before his death, an interesting account.

"I can always tell," he said, "when the audience is with me. It was not with me on the first night of 'Hamlet,' which is perhaps curious, considering my subsequent success. On the first night I felt that the audience did not go with me until the first meeting with Ophelia, when they changed toward me entirely. But as night succeeded night my Hamlet grew in their estimation. I could feel it all the time, and now I know that they like it—that they are with me heart and soul."—Harper's.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Date for Through Cars

Mayor Thompson received a letter today from President Sullivan of the Old Colony street railway, which states that through cars between Quincy and the Dudley street terminal in Boston will be inaugurated next Saturday unless something unforeseen intervenes.

The through street car service to Boston will give Quincy something that there has long been a demand for namely a late car for Boston. Under the new time table that goes into effect next Saturday the last through car for Boston will leave Quincy square at 12 minutes of 12, and returning the last car for Quincy leaves the Dudley street terminal at 11.37 and Neponset at 12.07.

Now that the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., have bought land enough south of the River street crossing to put in a long freight track and an attractive freight house it is hoped they will make the changed without delay.

Wednesday and Thursday evenings Nov. 22 and 23 the ladies of the Rebekah circle offered the Kalendar Kermess to the residents of Braintree, at the Town hall. It has been sometime since these ladies have been before the public, but the remembrances of other days was the assurance that all would be amply repaid for attending. The capacity of the hall was taxed to the utmost both evenings.

The Social club connected with the Union church held a Harvest sale or fair Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The table of useful and fancy articles was presided over by the Ladies' Benevolent circle, Mrs. J. F. Sheppard, president. The King's Daughters took charge of one table. A box table was cared for by a class of young misses. A cake table and a booth for home made candy, adorned with red and yellow crepe paper, with an ice cream table under the efficient care of the men—were all well patronized.

Thursday evening Mrs. Abbie Howes of Middle street, was pleasantly surprised by neighbors and friends, the occasion being her sixty-seventh birthday. His Best Monument

Peace and Prosperity Of Quincy Due To H. H. Faxon

The comments of Fibre and Fabric, the journal of the American textile industries, on the life work of the late Henry H. Faxon, will be of interest to readers of the Dally Ledger. The editorial is reprinted in full.

There passed away in Quincy, Mass., a few days ago, a man who, while not great in the usual sense in which that word is employed, was nevertheless able to so impress himself upon the time in which he lived that his work will not soon perish, if indeed it ever does.

We refer to Henry Hardwick Faxon—chiefly and most widely known for his advocacy of the temperance cause.

It is noteworthy that while he lay for the last time upon his bed as a living man, there issued from the printing presses of an important and highly conservative newspaper in the city of New York — the Journal of Commerce — an article beginning with these words:

"Massachusetts has had an educational qualification for the suffrage for more than half a century, and in the average intelligence and education of her people she doubtless holds the foremost place in the Union. Many reform agitations destined to prevail have had their beginning there."

It is nothing new, of course, for Massachusetts to be eulogized because of her forward movement toward human betterment, but it is significant that a tribute such as that just quoted should appear at this time, since it gives evidence that this state is not resting upon its past record but is recognized as being a present and active force for public good at the day and hour in which we now are.

Mr. Faxon was assuredly one of those reformers who have helped to maintain this lofty standing of Massachusetts in the world's eyes. No better example could be given of prolonged and unwavering devotion to the furtherance of a high purpose than his career as an advocate of temperance affords.

The revered head master of a great English school once said to his pupils, "Boys, don't fight; but if you do fight, fight as long as you can stand and see."

It was with Mr. Faxon as it is with all of us, and ever must be. While the fight physical may be avoided, the fight spiritual is all about us from the moment of our birth. There is the conflict with personal frailties and there is the larger arena of conflict against important social wrongs.

Mr. Faxon was not content to minimize the conditions in which he found himself. He could not satisfy himself by remaining upon the outer edge of the battlefield. He felt himself impelled towards the vortex, where the strife was fiercest; and he fought as long as he could stand and see.

But he fought with good temper and without personal malice. His blows were not dealt at individuals as such, but at that which he felt them to represent; and in this he was unfaltering to the last.

At length, as it must always be, there came a day when the change that must come upon every face came upon his face, and he lay still; but he had lived long, his record was made up, and his acts and his words are fully known—for he did nothing in hiding or behind one's back.

It was said of Professor Agassiz that if one were to show him but a single scale he could construct from it the whole fish. Admirable as was this as a tribute to the attainments of the great naturalist, it is not upon this principal that an estimate of individual worth may fairly be made. Single expressions and single acts form no trustworthy guide. It is as a whole that a man's life work should be measured.

Amid the shock of fierce contest, in any arena we see blows struck, we hear strong words spoken, we become conscious of dented armor and of mangled bodies. It is not surprising that one of the combatants should be less precise than those who, sitting aloof, choose the serener part of the lookeron.

Mr. Faxon found Quincy under the sway of a public sentiment which tolerated the dramshop and which suffered in silence the miseries which inevitably followed. By years of effort he did more than any other man to bring about that change which all residents of that city understand so well, and over which they so greatly rejoice.

And it was not in his home community alone that his power was manifest. In the state at large, and even outside its borders, he made himself felt as an uplifting moral force.

It has been suggested by certain of his townspeople that some tangible memorial to him be erected for the benefit of those who shall come after him, and the proposition has merit. There is that, however, which is more enduring than marble, or bronze or painted canvas. It is to be found in a comtemplation of the added peace and prosperity which so largely through him have come to the community in which he lived his life and to the state of Massachusetts whose loyal son he was. Hence if his fellow townsmen are to seek his best monument they have indeed only to look about them.

CHARITIES

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

It rained just enough last night to lay the dust.

Miss Amy Blodgett has returned home from a visit in Concord, Mass.

A regular meeting of the School Committee will be held Tuesday evening.

Quite a number of Atlantic people have purchased tickets, and are taking in the Harvard-Yale game.

Miss May Keniley has returned from the Quincy Hospital after an illness of three weeks being much improved in health.

There was an unusually large attendance at the prayer-meeting at the Point church last evening. Mrs. R. H. Newcomb was organist.

The two houses on Madison street which were moved from Hancock street have been remodelled and painted, and are ready for occupancy.

Quincy was represented at the Brockton dog show by G. L. Haupt's cocker spaniel "Red Peggy" who succeeded in carrying off third prize.

There was quite a party of amateur photographers at Chapins news store last night to witness a demonstration of the work that can be done with velox paper.

A smoke talk was held by the Thursday Evening club of Milton this week. Rev. Eli Walker was the speaker and his subject was "Crime and Criminals."

The Manet club is arranging a surprise in the way of a "Paragon Park" for sale to be held by the Ladies' Guild of Christ church on December sixth and seventh.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Melville Jones were held from her residence on East Howard street, Friday afternoon. Rev. Alfred R. Atwood, pastor of the Point church, officiated. The body was carried to Mt. Wollaston cemetery for burial.

The voters of Ward Two will have five names from which to select three Councilmen from Ward. There are no good reasons why Eugene R. Stone and William F. Sidelinger should not be returned, and there are good reasons why they should. Both have given faithful and honest service, and the fact that so many Councilmen have declined a renomination makes it necessary to reelect all who are willing to serve.

The three Republican candidates for the City Council from Ward Six have issued an appeal to the voters to stand by them because they are Republicans. Politics are very seldom mentioned in the City Council and it is the best men that are wanted as our representatives. If all three of the Republicans are the best men, then vote for them, but Councilman McLane of the present Council has a good record and should not be overlooked.

Points of Interest.

Quincy will soon be as famous for pilgrimages as Plymouth and Concord, as parties come now almost daily. Surely there are many historic spots of National interest, and enterprises which are novel to many. A brief list is given below.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Small fee asked.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

MYLES STANDISH CAIRN.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution, of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the indian Tisquantum.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS ADAMS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. In cellar is old town hearse, also box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams At extreme end, under front steps are the vaults of the presidents, a massive stone door closing the entrance. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place, or to the office of L. S. Anderson, treasurer, 9 Savings Bank building, whose office hours are 8 A. M. to 12 M. and 2 to 5 P. M. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

DOROTHY Q. HOUSE.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy. Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock street, across from First Church. Many old stones, among the oldest that of Rev. John Hancock, father of the Patriot, who died May 7, 1744. Was fifth minister of First Church.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

SQUAW ROCK.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

Many other points of interest might be mentioned: Thomas Crane Memorial Hall which is the public library building; Merrymount, the home of Mrs. John Quincy Adams, where Morton erected his famous May pole in 1626; the soldiers' monument at Mount Wollaston cemetery with its tablets; the famous Quincy granite quarries, many of great depth; the granite yards where monuments and statuary are being cut, and the polishing mills where granite is polished. Also the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company where warships are being built for the government.

Convicts In State Prison Fight For Freedom

TWO OFFICERS KILLED

Nitro-Glycerine Used to Blow Up Prison Gate--Flight Along Streets Under Fire Only to Be Finally Captured

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 25.—Five prisoners in the state penitentiary, taking advantage of the absence of Warden Hall and six guards, who left with 71 federal prisoners for Fort Leavenworth, attempted to escape, but only four left the prison after wrecking the gate.

Convicts Harry Vaughn, Charles Raymond, Hiram Blake, George Ryan and Eli Ziegler, who were working close inside the prison gate, having secured pistols and a bottle of nitro-glycerine, entered Deputy Warden See's office and shot him in the arm and the hip as he sat in a chair. He sank back helpless and the convicts rushed to the gate, where they met Gateman John Clay, who, being alarmed by the shots fired at See, opened the gate to look inside. Before Clay could raise his weapon he was shot dead. E. Allison, a commissary officer, ran to Clay's assistance and he was shot dead.

Then, as if to signal the convicts generally that an attempt to escape had been started, the convicts rang the gate bell and rushed through, dragging Clay's body with them. They slammed the gate shut and fastened it. While Ziegler was ringing the bell, he was left inside. The four convicts were then in the wagon entrance to the penitentiary. This entrance is 40 feet long and 15 feet wide. It leads to the public street through a second double gate of steel, which was locked. The convicts placed nitro-glycerine under the outside gate and blew an opening through the steel doors. The four men crawled through this rupture and dashed past a number of "trusty" convicts who were working in the street.

Almost before the four escaped convicts had covered a block prison officers were in pursuit, shooting as they ran. Pedestrians jumped behind trees, ran into houses and crouched down behind any obstacle that presented refuge from the bullets. Several men seized weapons and joined the prison officers in the pursuit. The chase kept on for a dozen blocks, the convicts outrunning their pursuers.

Near the Missouri Pacific railway depot the convicts came up with a wagon driven by Orville Lane. Jumping into this wagon the desperadoes seized Lane and used him as a shield from the bullets of their pursuers. One convict lashed the horse into a run and escape seemed sure when suddenly a squad of city policemen and armed citizens appeared in front of the fleeing men, who stopped the horse and made a desperate stand.

Lane was thrown to the bottom of the wagon and crouching over him, shielding themselves as well as possible behind the sides of the vehicle, the four convicts fought the policemen. Volley after volley was fired in the street by both sides, while residents and pedestrians were panic-stricken. The policemen, sheltering themselves behind trees, splintered the wagon and ploughed up the mud, finally putting a bullet through Vaughn and Blake, the latter falling to the ground and dying in a short time.

Then the convicts surrendered, much to the relief of Lane, who said that bullets had thrown splinters all about him. Lane and his horse and Convicts Ryan and Raymond were uninjured. The convicts were immediately taken back to the penitentiary.

Vaughn was sentenced from St. Louis for 35 years for robbery after a street fight in which he and a companion shot three detectives to death. Raymond and Blake are serving three years each for burglary. Ryan is serving eight years for robbery, while Ziegler is under sentence of three years for robbing bodies at a railroad wreck.

Would Restrict Child Labor

New York, Nov. 25.—A program embracing discussion of child labor, its evils, the efforts already made looking to its restriction in the United States, has been arranged for the second annual meeting of the National Child Labor committee. The three principal sessions of the meeting will be held in Washington on Dec. 8, 9 and 10, but there will be supplementary sessions in Philadelphia and Chicago.

Life Lost In Small Fire

Boston, Nov. 25.—A fire which occurred at 312 Centre street, and which damaged the tenement scarcely more than $100, caused the death of James McPhail, 59 years old, who happened to be asleep in his room at the time of the fire and was smothered by the smoke.

Editor Wants to Be Senator

Louisville, Nov. 25.—The Courier Journal prints the formal announcement of the entry of W. B. Baldeman, editor of the Louisville Times, into the race for the seat in the United States senate now held by J. C. S. Blackburn.

College President Inaugurated

Macon, Ga., Nov. 25.—Dr. Charles L. Smith last night formally was inaugurated president of Mercer university with exercises at which many of the leading educational institutions of the country were represented.

TROUBLE WITH TURKEY

America Has No Need to Interfere at Present

Washington, Nov. 25.—Inquiry at the state department develops the fact that up to this moment no overtures have been made to this government to join in the present attempt to coerce Turkey through a naval demonstration into yielding to the demands of the powers relative to the administration of Macedonian finances.

Nor has the porte addressed itself to this government on the subject. The fact is that the seven signatory powers who joined in the Berlin agreement, in the view of this government, thereby assumed complete responsibility for the protection of Christian interests in European Turkey. There is no warrant therefore, in the official view, for any interference by the United States in what is now going on in Turkish waters.

It is pointed out that if the lives of Americans in Turkey should be jeopardized as an incident to this demonstration it might be necessary to take some steps to protect them. But even in this our government has but one vessel, the protected cruiser Minneapolis, in European waters, and that vessel is in the British channel, more than a week's journey from Turkey.

The only other possible reason for expecting an entanglement of the United States in this trouble lies in the execution of the proposed blockade of Turkish ports, which might injuriously affect American commerce. But even in this case there is little chance that our government would enter a very vigorous protest against the execution of blockading plans unless it should appear that there was gross discrimination against American shipping. In fact the state department has tacitly recognized the right of peaceful blockade such as is now proposed, and a notable instance of this was in 1897, when six of the seven signatory powers blockaded the island of Crete.

Blockade May Be Ineffective

London, Nov. 25.—The commanders of the allied fleet at Piraeus held a further conference yesterday, as the result of which it is expected the fleet will sail today to seize the custom houses of the island of Mytilene. Doubts are expressed as to whether in the event of the sultan proving obstinate the combined fleet could establish an effective blockade of the Dardanelles.

Revolutionists Join Hands

Sofia, Nov. 25.—All the revolutionary bands in Macedonia have reported an agreement to work together for the autonomy of Macedonia. This understanding was ratified by the exchange of letters between leaders of rival bands which have been waging war between themselves.

"Reply" of the Powers

Vienna, Nov. 25.—The Neue Freie Presse asserts that the only reply of the powers to the porte's final note will be the issuance of instructions to Admiral Ritter Von Jedina to begin operations.

Effort to Block Strikes

St. Petersburg, Nov. 25.—The employers of St. Petersburg have taken the lead in resistance to the workmen whose constant strikes alternately on political and economic grounds have utterly demoralized the business of the country and are bringing ruin and bankruptcy to all branches of industry. They have formed an association and have mutually pledged themselves not only to refuse strike pay but to absolutely decline to treat with their employes on questions of wages or hours of work until the national assembly acts.

Internal Revenue Order Delayed

Washington, Nov. 25.—A circular has been issued to collectors of internal revenue postponing until Jan. 1 next the order requiring internal revenue taxes to be paid on certain preparations sold as remedies but containing a preponderance of alcohol. The chemical bureau of the internal revenue service has completed the analysis of 11 such remedies which come within the scope of the order.

Conflicting Opinions of Experts

Washington, Nov. 25.—Whether the president shall be requested to recommend to congress the authorization of battleships displacing 18,000 instead of 16,000 tons rests with Secretary Bonaparte, who has before him the conflicting reports of the general board of the navy and the board of construction. In the event of a tie vote of the boards, the chief of the bureau of navigation has a voice.

Virginia to Sue West Virginia

Richmond, Nov. 25.—The Virginia state debt commission has decided to institute a suit against the state of West Virginia for the recovery of that state's proportionate share of the famous war debt of the two states, such share amounting to $15,000,000. Brown Bros. & Co. of New York will join with Virginia in bringing the suit. They hold nearly all the certificates.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Habit In Appetite.

The so called cravings of appetite are purely the result of habit. A habit once acquired and persistently followed soon has us in its grasp, and then any deviation therefrom temporarily disturbs our physiological equilibrium. The system makes complaint, and we experience a craving, it may be, for that to which the body has become accustomed, even though this something be in the long run distinctly injurious to the welfare of the body. There has thus come about a sentiment that the cravings of the appetite for food are to be fully satisfied, that this is merely obedience to nature's laws. This idea, however, is fundamentally wrong. Any one with a little persistence can change his or her habits of life, change the whole order of cravings, thus demonstrating that the latter are purely artificial and that they have no necessary connection with the welfare or needs of the body. In other words, dietetic requirements are to be founded not upon so called instinct and craving, but upon reason and intelligence.—Russell H. Chittenden in Century.

The Practical Joker.

See the practical joker. He is not much of a sight, but still he is worth looking at as a curiosity, as a study in uncommon cussedness. The practical joker is the offspring of asininity run to seed. He is what was left over after the rest of the world was created. There was a slight surplus, a mere fraction, not enough to make a complete man, so the scraps were scraped up, pressed together and molded into a practical joker. The job was not patented. Nobody thinks enough of the invention to patent it. You couldn't sell practical jokers for 3 cents a bunch if you should stand out on the corner and spiel till your vocal cords got tied into double bowknots. The public is aware of the shell game when it sees the layout. The practical joker is an escaped idiot from the Idiotville asylum, but he is by no means a harmless idiot. When recognized, he should be roped forthwith and hauled back to his native and natural environment, the padded cell.—Portland Oregonian.

Blue and Gray Tobacco Smoke.

Did you ever notice while enjoying your favorite cigar that the smoke that curls up from the burning end of the "weed" is blue, while that exhaled from the mouth is of a whitish gray? The explanation of this oddity is not far to seek. The wreath from the fiery end of the cigar is in the shape of infinitesimal dust particles, and all such particles (even the blue of the atmosphere is explained in the same way) reflect the blue color. In the case of the exhaled smoke the fine particles have united with the moisture of the breath and have thereby become several folds larger than those escaping direct from the burning tobacco. This being the case, they have become large enough to reflect the white light, which gives the exhaled smoke an entirely different color.

His Love Was His Ruin.

When Hannibal had crossed the Alps into Italy he established himself in winter quarters in one of the finest houses in Capua. While walking one day in the garden he heard a sweet voice near at hand. Struck by the charm of its tones, he sent for the singer and became so enamored of her that he at once attached her to his household and disposed of her hapless husband by beheading him. Retribution quickly followed this outrage. The balance of the winter was devoted to pleasure. Drill and discipline were neglected, and as spring came on the Carthaginian army was so demoralized that its prestige was lost, and the downfall of Hannibal followed.

Carrot Jam.

Our best carrots are sold to jam-makers. We have made from 30 shillings to 45 shillings per ton, according to season. The carrots are washed clean in the field and taken to the station in our bags. At the station we drop them into clean sugar bags. And who but ourselves knows what the bags contain? Why, if any one saw a consignment of carrots for a jam factory the firm would soon be in ill repute. It would not do. I say emphatically jam—the very best jam—can be and is made from carrots and vegetable marrows.--Letter in London Mail.

Velocity of Meteorites.

It is no wonder that stones which fall from the regions of space are fired by the impact when they strike our atmosphere. Astronomers estimate that they fall with a velocity of at least 60,000 yards per second. This extraordinary speed is best understood by comparing it with a ball from a modern cannon, which never travels with a speed greater than 600 yards per second.

Bondsmen Superseded

The personal bondsman is fast becoming obsolete; the risk to private fortune is too great.

The corporate bond is just as rapidly supplanting the old form; and, in time, men will marvel that they were ever called upon to incur the danger of personal suretyship.

In point of safety, convenience and propriety, there can be no comparison between the two; the one is just as weak and perilous as the other is strong and safe.

The time is near when it will be thought as reasonable to borrow the key of a friend's safe as to borrow his name for surety purposes.

MARK TWAIN

Distinguished Career of the Prince of Humorists. Hale and Hearty at Threescore and Ten.

Glimpses Into the Life of the Genial Fun Lover at Whose Jokes All the World Has Laughed.

How He Rose to Be the Premier Humorist of Modern Times — Brimming Over With Fun, He Has Ever Been a Practical Joker. Witticisms of a Man Who Detests Collars and Cuffs.

ON Nov. 30, Thanksgiving day, Mark Twain arrives at his seventieth birthday. That the genial fun lover, the premier humorist of the whole world, should have attained the proverbial threescore and ten, and that in a hale and robust condition, should be an additional cause for gratitude to himself and his readers throughout the earth. In the scattering of mental sunshine, in the tearing off of masks, hypocrisies and seemings, in spreading common sense and in giving the world new, sane, wholesome and rational views of things, this prince of jesters has placed the age under a debt that we ourselves can scarcely measure.

Samuel Langhorn Clemens he was christened, but it is too much of a mouthful of a name, and besides Mark Twain fits better. He was born at Florida, Mo., but early moved to Hannibal. His father was an absentminded man and forgot the youngster at moving time. A neighbor heard the boy crying, rescued him and overtook the family on the road. Mark had little schooling and became a devil in his brother's printing office. Afterward he was a cub pilot on the Mississippi, where he has been described as green looking, plodding and slow. One day the captain said to him:

"Sam, you'll make a riverman some day if you'll just get over this nonsense of writin' fer the papers. Why don't you quit?"

"Yes, captain," replied the future humorist, "and don't ye s'pose I might make a pretty good writer some day if I'd jest get over this tryin' to be a riverman?"

At the outbreak of the war he joined a Confederate company of irregulars, but was never in much of a battle. He said the enemy never wanted to fight when his men did, and when the enemy wanted to fight his folks were generally on the move. So he left.

Struck Pay Dirt Right Away.

His brother who had owned the printing office was made secretary of the territory of Nevada at about this time and took Sam along as his private secretary. Here he tried mining and writing for the papers. The mining did not pan out, but in writing he struck pay dirt right away. At first he signed his stuff "Josh," but soon went back to the steamboating term of "Mark Twain." The San Francisco papers noticed him, and he got a job there as a reporter. In after life he ascribed his rise in the world to the fact that he lost that job. He tried mining again, with no better luck than before, after which he went to the Sandwich Islands, writing letters to the papers on the trip. He afterward returned to Frisco and lectured about it. Then he wrote "The Jumping Frog," which immediately made him famous. He went east and edited a paper at Buffalo. In later life he has lived at Hartford, Conn.; New York, Elmira, London, Paris, Florence, Vienna and pretty much all over the world. He now has a home at Tarrytown, N. Y., where he is a neighbor of that other famous press humorist John D. Rockefeller. Twain has more hair than Rockefeller, but the oil king has more money, so the score is even.

Mark Twain's opinion of himself is best told in a story. Like Grant, he often pauses to look at shop windows, especially those of bookstores. When once so occupied an irrepressible who had not seen his face paused beside him. Spying a picture of Twain in the window, the young person asked:

"What do you think of him?"

"I think," said Mark, "that he is the greatest impostor the American people ever refused to take seriously."

"How so?"

"Well, because he really is serious and because nobody'll believe him. He passes for being humorous."

Twain then faced his questioner, who promptly fell dead, but revived sufficiently to tell the story.

Ever a Practical Joker.

It may be that his estimate is right, that he does try to write seriously, but that he has in him such a pent up force of native fun that he cannot keep it from bubbling forth. The American people remember when he did try to talk soberly on Chinese missionaries, Christian Science, imperialism and other topics, but even then they would not believe he was in earnest. There are few more imaginative or better descriptive writers than he, few who can grow more indignant at injustice, few who can more effectively puncture a sham. But the spontaneous fun in him must have vent. It is so much a part of his nature that it shows in everything he says or does. In his letters and private conversation it is present as much as in his books. It is even revealed in his actions, for he has ever been a practical joker. He himself says that he smokes all the time when awake, but has never learned to smoke in his sleep. It is the same with his joking.

"Self Never Seems to Enter His Mind."

There is a tenderer side to his work, a quality of pathos, and this gentler vein shows forth in his home relations. He is a model host, famous for his fine compliments, and is affectionate in all his home relations. His sister-in-law has said of him that "self never seems to enter his mind. The wants of others are always uppermost."

Concerning his mother, the famous humorist once said: "As to wit, I have met my Waterloo. There is one woman whom I could never get ahead of in repartee—my mother." When Mark's steamboat captain reproved him for his drawl in speaking, asking him, "What makes you pull your words so?" the then cub pilot replied: "You'll have to ask my ma. She pulls them the same way."

Mark Twain's wife was a Miss Olivia Langdon of Elmira, whose father was quite wealthy. When the courtship was young Twain called on the old gentleman. Sidling toward the door, he timidly asked:

"Have you noticed anything between your daughter and me, Mr. Langdon?"

"No," was the sharp reply.

"Well," said the irrepressible Mark, "if you keep a sharp lookout you will."

The Twains had three daughters, and to commemorate their birth the proud father erected three handsome stone watering troughs, with the name and date of birth cut on each, thus publishing to the world what should be a woman's most hidden secret—her age. He never had a son, unless "Tom Sawyer," "Huck Finn," "Harris," "Pudd'nhead Wilson" and "Mulberry Sellers" may be considered boys of his.

The death of his daughter Clara and of Mrs. Clemens were sad blows to the great author, and under this double bereavement the world saw him in a new light. Telegrams of condolence came from all corners of the earth. It is said that more were received than at the death of Queen Victoria, so universally known and popular is this Yankee wit and philosopher. On the modest block of marble over his wife's grave he placed this inscription:

Warm summer sun,
Shine kindly here;
Warm southern wind,
Blow softly here;
Green sod above,
Lie light, lie light;
Good night, dear heart,
Good night, good night.

His kindness of heart is shown to others than his own family. He has started more than one young man in business. He got a doctor his first patient by telling a banker in need of medical services that he knew a physician who had never lost a case. He then gave the name of the young would be practitioner, who indeed never had lost a case—he never had one to lose.

It is not generally known that Samuel M. Clemens is an inventor, but he has taken out patents on a vest strap, a scrapbook and a game. Most of his inventions, however, are covered by copyright rather than by patents.

Anecdotal Burs.

And now look out, for I am going to shake the chestnut tree and open a few anecdotal burs. They were not chestnuts, however, when Mark Twain grew them.

When Mrs. Astor said that a man could not be a gentleman without a college education Mark said he regarded it as "a direct personal insult."

When the humorist was slightly ill his death was reported and a newspaper sent a man to find out the particulars. Mark said to the reporter:

"Young man, just wire your paper that the report of my death is greatly exaggerated."

When asked as to the sort of people who make the most sympathetic listeners he replied, "College men and convicts."

He is resourceful and ready on the spur of the moment. One morning when his telephone was not working well he used words hot enough to blister the receiver. Then when he discovered an eminent divine at the other end he said blandly:

"Is that you, doctor? My butler has been at the telephone and said he couldn't understand you."

He once told William Dean Howells that indecision had made his fortune. When he could not decide whether to spend his last nickel for a cigar or an apple he kept it and so got rich.

Here is a sample of a rather startling practical joke. A kindly old couple on whom the Clemenses were going to call were surprised in the early evening at finding a young baby left on their front steps. They decided to adopt the waif.

When the visitors arrived Mrs. Clemens almost fainted on discovering that the baby was her own.

Twain was always fond of cats. He had a bunch once that did not live long. They were overweighted with their names, he thought. The names were Sour Mash, Apollinaris, Zoroaster and Blatherskite.

Detests Collars and Cravats.

He is not overfond of clothes, preferring pajamas around home. He specially detests collars and cravats. When living at Hartford he used to climb over the back fence and call on Harriet Beecher Stowe, usually in a collarless condition. One morning after such a call Mrs. Stowe received a package containing a collar and cravat with this note:

Mrs. Clemens tells me that I spent half an hour at your house this morning without the inclosed articles. Therefore I must ask you to look at them for that length of time.

P. S.—Please return them; they are all I have.

This Hartford house, by the way, was built with the kitchen in front in order, as the owner said, that the servants might see the callers without taking time to run into the halls and peep through doors.

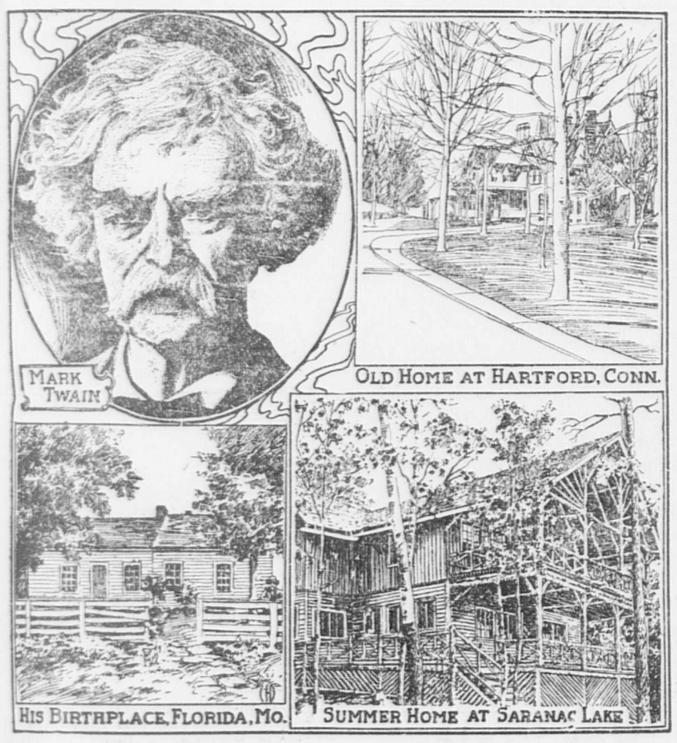
Much of the humorist's work is done at his summer home at Saranac Lake, where he goes to escape from his admirers.

When during a contagion one of the Twain houses was disinfected Mark said that the fumigator was so strong "that it took all the brass off the doorknobs and all the tune out of the piano."

Mark Twain's latest book, in which he skins King Leopold of Belgium, is probably the boldest attack ever made on a crowned head, and it is as righteous as it is brave.

The crowning act of the career of this most famous of American writers was in paying off the debts of the publishing firm of Charles L. Webster & Co., though not legally bound to do so. It took him years of hard work in his old age, but finally every cent was met. The world had laughed with Mark Twain before. It learned to love him then.

J. A. EDGERTON.



Monkeys In Society.

So much attention is being lavished on a monkey which is the new pet of one of Boston's social lights that it looks as though many of these little animals may enjoy a happy existence under society's beneficent roof before the winter is over, says the New York Press. The woman in question does not keep her pet indoors, but takes him out driving with her, giving the seat to him in her equipage which formerly belonged to her lapdog. On these occasions he has worn an elaborate sealskin coat and a jewel studded collar. Of late, however, some of her family plate and odd trinkets have disappeared, and it is suspected that this latest addition to the woman's happy family is the guilty party. However, the mistress is loyal to him and prefers to believe that her things were stolen by a common thief.

How Motorists Pay Fines.

A chauffeur recently fined at Kensington, England, said he had agreed with his employer that he (the chauffeur) should pay all fines. The practice, he added, was almost universal in motoring circles.

The New Hats.

Hats show the influence of long ago in their shapes, and, curiously enough, many of them are replicas of the hats worn by men between 1800 and 1825 in both countries.

Thanksgiving For Two

How Little Dan Cupid Was Aided In His Campaign by a City Delicatessen Shop

By EPES W. SARGENT

Copyright, 1904, by Epes W. Sargent

"CLOSE the window. I cannot stand it!" said the girl, thrusting her hatpin back and forth in the velvet with trembling fingers. The man did as he was told and then turned to her wonderingly.

"Can't stand what?" he asked.

"That noise down in the street, those gamins tooting horns and begging for pennies. It's so different from—from last year."

The man did not answer at once, but he understood. He could see it all—the big dining room at the farm, the large table in the center with its vivid red cloth and green shaded lamp, flanked on one side by plates of apples and nuts and on the other by copies of the American Farmer and the Ransom County Herald.

How they had both stood in the doorway that last Thanksgiving night for a final glance at the dear old room! And the next time they had entered it, how everything had changed! Death, desolation, the village auctioneer and the foreclosure of the mortgage, all these had come to the little farm in less than twelve months. The two years that Janet had spent in the big city denying herself everything, working in an office during the day and in her studio room at night to send home interest money for the mortgage, now represented just so much wasted time.

They had both come from Centerville, she as a typewritist and he as a bookkeeper—both fresh from business college. The mighty city had demanded much of their country vitality and energy, so that they had seen very little of each other, considering that they had come from the same town, yet somehow both had felt comforted in the thought that the other was within reach of messenger of telephone.

Janet had lived very much to herself and her typewriter table, but Herman had managed to see more of the city and absorb more of the city's ways.

SHE SAT DOWN WEAKLY TO WATCH HIM UNPACK THE BUNDLES.

That was why he had discovered a desirable restaurant where he could secure their table d'hote dinner for Thanksgiving day at the moderate price of 60 cents each.

Now he tried to speak cheerfully and to avoid looking at the hands that trembled and the eyes that would fill in spite of Janet's strenuous efforts to maintain her composure.

"Hurry up, Janet!" he said. "The Ramona fills up early, you know."

"I would not care if every table was taken," she replied impulsively. "Oh forgive me, Herman, when you are so kind to think of me today, but Thanksgiving dinner in a restaurant—you know that seems only for the homeless ones, and it makes me realize more than ever that I belong to that class now."

She looked around the room in which she had gathered the few family heirlooms brought down from the farm. It did not look homeless to Herman, and its possibilities as the scene of the Thanksgiving dinner were brought to mind as he caught sight of the handle of a chafing dish sticking out from the cretonne cupboard curtain.

"I say, Janet, we won't go out. We'll cook dinner right here."

She sat down very suddenly and stared at him.

"Start Thanksgiving dinner at 12 o'clock?" she asked half bitterly. "And will you please tell me how you can cook a dinner by the aid of one oil stove not guaranteed to work and a chafing dish built for two?"

"Dead easy," was his reply as he buttoned up his overcoat and reached for his hat. "You fill the oil stove and get the chafing dish ready and set out your table, and I'll do the rest."

Before she could ask any more questions the door closed behind him. Mechanically she removed her hat and reached for the gingham apron which she used when preparing her breakfasts and luncheons. Her dinners she always took at a nearby restaurant. She lifted the typewriter from its table and hid it in the closet. Then she spread a newspaper over the table. That would do for the culinary department, she argued.

She removed the student lamp from the center table and spread upon it a square piece of plain linen, handed down by Grandmother Harris. Then she went to a trunk which she had never opened since the day it left the farm, and one by one she lifted out the treasured pieces of family crockery. There were tears in her eyes now, and they were not bitter tears. She began to feel strangely content. The idea that Herman might fail to produce the viands for the feast never entered her head. Somehow or other he had always accomplished what he started to do ever since the day he had braved Farmer Green's bull to steal for her a certain red cheeked apple which she coveted.

When she heard Herman's step at the door she was just putting the chrysanthemum he had brought her to wear into a slender vase to grace the center of the table.

As she flung open the door she fairly gasped. The bundle he carried in either arm rose above his shoulder. She sat down weakly on a flat topped trunk by the "kitchen table" to watch him unpack the bundles. He checked off each package.

"One can chicken soup, one bottle pickled onions, two turkey drumsticks, ditto slices of white meat, stuffing and gravy, one tin pail of cranberry jelly, one wooden dish filled with mashed potatoes, one can lima beans, one stalk celery, one mince pie (just see how thick it is with real raisins!), one sack of nuts (have you got a hammer?) and two apples."

Janet looked at the remarkable combination with eyes turned suddenly grave.

"Herman, that cost you more than a table d'hote dinner would, and now how are we going to cook it?"

"Most of it was cooked at the delicatessen shop, and haven't we two stoves, or as good as two stoves? Draw out that oil contraption of yours."

She sprang to her feet. In a few moments the teakettle was boiling and the water was ready to pour over the coffee in the little French pot, which was then left to drip. The cranberry sauce and the rest of the cold dishes were set forth in brave array on the china from the farm.

While the soup cooked in the chafing dish the potatoes and the gravy were all heated in a big saucepan over the oil stove, and when the soup was served the beans took its place in the chafing dish. And the two young people who had forgotten to be homesick and heartsick seated themselves at either end of a ridiculously small Thanksgiving dinner table.

At last they sat over their nuts and raisins. Last year they had eaten them in front of a blazing fire. Instinctively Janet glanced toward a radiator in a distant corner of the room. It did not look cheerful, but the steam was escaping merrily from the valve, and that was something to be thankful for. Then she looked back at Herman. She ought to be thankful for him too. She gave a little sigh of contentment. He looked up quickly. It sounded like old times.

"Do you know," she said wonderingly, "I never supposed this place could be so much like home."

"Home is what people make it—what two people make it," he corrected.

He had stopped picking over the nuts now and his hands were clasped under the table. He did not want her to see that they were shaking. He had made the plunge so suddenly!

"I don't think this room is just what we ought to have, but we can get a nice little flat of three or four rooms and you would not have to stop your work, so long as you like it so much, but we would make sure the front room was cheerful and light for you to write in. I think it's a sure cure for homesickness for both of us."

She sat staring at him, at first stolidly; then gradually the color came into her cheeks and the expression on her face changed.

"I don't understand," she said, but Herman knew that she understood him perfectly.

"I am just offering you a prescription, signed H. Blake, M. D., to be taken three times a day, breakfast, dinner and supper—a husband and a cozy little flat."

Janet was regaining her composure.

"With delicatessen cooking?"

"Well," he maintained stoutly, "it is considerably better than poor restaurant food, and when Scollard & Co. wake up to an appreciation of my real worth you can queen it over a real flat and a real maid"—

"I think I will try the prescription."

And that is why Herman Blake has always maintained that while most men win their brides by the aid of the florist or the candy maker he wooed Janet through a delicatessen shop.

Thanksgiving In Hawaii.

The American citizeness in Hawaii can serve a Thanksgiving feast truly American if she does not wish to restrict it to the primitive simplicity of thanks and a hunk of breadfruit fresh from the tree. The Hawaiian towns have their markets, and in that temperate climate everything can be raised that can be grown elsewhere. For years the American church in Honolulu has had impressive Thanksgiving services, and the American ladies always decorate the building with flowers and appear on that day in their best new gowns.—Newark Call.

Wise by Experience.

Mrs. Hasher let her boarders decide by vote whether the turkey should be boiled, roasted, broiled, fried, stewed or fricasseed.

"What was the decision?"

"The boarders were governed by past experience and voted unanimously that the turkey be put through all the processes."

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

The tides are running very high just now overflowing the low lands and meadows.

Herbert Cobb, now in Uncle Sam's service on the battleship Illinois, was at home this week.

H. Fletcher Miller left for New York Thursday with the Harvard cross country team. Miller has been awarded his H. A. A. for making the team.

As a result of an examination in drill at Technology Carl W. Gram and Francis H. Bishop both of Wollaston wear sergeants' stripes on their uniforms.

Gilbert Halliwell and family of Wollaston have moved to California. Their former home on Bromfield street is now occupied by Mr. O'Connell from Houghs Neck.

Every one interested in the browntail moths should attend the illustrated lecture at Bethany chapel on Tuesday evening, Nov. 28, given under the auspices of the Civic Betterment committee of the Women's club. It is given by an expert, Mrs. A. H. Kirkland of the Gypsy Moth commission. Tickets may be had at the door on the night of the lecture.

Last Day Of Coupon

Grand Hustle For First Place And Several Surprises

The standing of the candidates in the Daily Ledger Scholarship contest is published today for the last time prior to the award of prizes, so naturally there was a desire among the candidates to make as good a showing as possible today. The gains for some run up into the thousands, and there is a great shakeup among the leaders.

In the ladies' list, two passed Miss Peterson, the leader of yesterday. Miss Bates, the new leader, moved up from third place. Miss Merritt also passed Miss Peterson. Miss Manning made a handsome gain and is now over 2000.

Miss Campbell and others also gain.

The biggest hustle, however, was in the men's list. The gain for Conductor Johnson was not enough to retain first place. Two or three bundles of coupons for Drug Clerk Maloney aggregating over 1100 votes places him at the top, and Engineer Johnson with a gain of over 600 is second. Where is Clerk Cash? Well, he did not gain any today, but he says he will not be so busy after Thanksgiving.

The dates below are arranged so as not to interfere with extra work at the Daily Ledger office because of Thanksgiving and the City election, otherwise the time would have been shortened. It takes time however to write or stamp large quantities of coupons.

Here are a few dates to remember:

Nov. 25,—last coupons will be printed.

Nov. 25,—last standing of candidates will be published before the award.

Dec. 1,—last day for purchase of Daily Ledgers with coupons.

Dec. 7, at 5 P. M. last date and hour when coupons will be received at office of Daily Ledger,

Dec. 12, award of prizes.

Valuable first and second prizes are offered to both men and women. A $100 scholarship in the International Correspondence school at Scranton, Penn., to the leader in each list, and as a second prize to men a suit of clothes or an overcoat and as a second prize to women a suit or coat. The scholarships take a wide range and many have found them great helps in securing better paying positions.

The Daily Ledger has no favorities. It would like to see all candidates win. It will endeavor to treat all fairly and alike. Wholesale purchases of papers by one candidate will not be disclosed to another. Neither will we agree to supply all demands. First come, first served.

The standing to date is:

Ward Four Rally.

A very largely attended meeting under the auspices of the Ward Four rallying committee in the interest of the candidacy of Mayor Thompson was held last evening in the St. Jean Baptiste hall on Copeland street. Much enthusiasm was shown and plans were formulated to get out a big Thompson vote at the coming municipal election.

It is probable that a rally will be held some evening next week. There is a possibility that the ward will give Mayor Thompson a majority.

One on the Councilman.

The robe which was reported as having been stolen from the carriage of Councilman Stone in front of the Adams building has been recovered. It seems that instead of being stolen the robe was blown from the carriage by the wind. It was picked up by Miss Mazie Hill who carried it to the Weeks-Hill pharmacy. Councilman Stone has been notified where he can find his robe.

Physicians' Fees.

The physicians of several towns met in Randolph, Monday evening, to consider the new fee list. This list, as agreed upon, now accords with that established by the Norfolk South District Medical society some years ago, which list has been followed by nearly all the members of that society for many years.

A fine turkey supper was furnished at the Howard house, after which there was considerable post-prandial speaking and the occasion was a very social and enjoyable one.

Jordan Hall.

Mr. Ben Greet, who has already delighted Bostonians with his production of "Everyman," will on Dec. 5 bring his company of Players to Jordan Hall, Boston, for a series of Shakespeare's plays which will occupy a four weeks' engagement. The subscription sale of season tickets is now in progress at Herrick's, in Copley square, Boston. The box office sale at Jordan Hall opens Nov. 25.

Mr. Greet's company this season is said to be the best he has ever assembled. The plays are, of course, all given in the Elizabethan manner, which is to say without scenery. The beauty of Shakespeare's lines is thus brought out at its best.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Bert Coote, of whom it has been said that "he is the composite of all that is good in American comedians," is to be the headline feature of an unusually attractive variety program at Keith's the week of Nov. 27, one of the best vehicles in vaudeville. "A Lamb in Wall Street" tells a rather absorbing story of "the lamb" who apparently is about to allow himself to be duped by his partner and succeeds in outwitting him in an original manner, and is capitally acted by Mr. Coote supported by an excellent company. An event which has caused more than unusual comment in musical circles as well as in public generally, is the announcement of the engagement of Edward Molenhaue the founder of the first conservatory of music in America and the only violinist appearing before the public at the age of eight years. The surrounding show is a capital one, including R. J. Jose, the popular contra-tenor; Spissell Brothers and Mack, eccentric comedy acrobats; and Leo Carillo, mimetic comedian. The kinetograph will show the usual new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

Of all the plays made from books during the past quarter century, "The Prisoner of Zenda" is undoubtedly the most popular. This dramatic version of Anthony Hope's picturesque romance has been given more than one production at the Castle Square Theatre, and so great is the interest in it that the announcement of its revival at that house next week cannot be otherwise than acceptable. It is now some ten years since E. H. Sothern first appeared as the many Englishman and his princely double, and the play during that period has been almost constantly before the public.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

It is a well known fact that there is always a larger demand for seats at a holiday performance at a theatre than at any other time, but usually the extra matinee suffices to take care of the holiday enthusiasts who have been disappointed at not being able to secure seats at night during the advance sale. It has seldom happened, however, that the advance sales have reached such proportions for holiday performances that it seemed advisable to add a third presentation on a holiday, yet that is what the management have found it necessary to do for "As Ye Sow," and performances are announced for Thanksgiving as follows: 11 A. M., 2 P. M. and 8 P. M. There is a peculiar fascination about this play, which so realistically and naturally depicts the life and characters of a Cape Cod town, that is almost indescribable. All classes of theatregoers are attracted by this story written by a clergyman, and, while the title suggests a sermon, it is far from being a preachy sort of play, and is full of wholesome humor and fun.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

On Monday, Nov. 27, to begin a three weeks' engagement, Charles Frohman will present, at the Hollis Street Theatre, the distinguished and tremendously popular artists, E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe, in a series of magnificent Shakesperian revivals. The arrangement of the repertory will be as follows: The opening week, beginning Monday, Nov. 27, with a special matinee on Thank-giving day, will be given to "The Taming of the Shrew"; the second week will be devoted to "Twelfth Night," and the third and final week will be divided between "The Merchant of Venice" and "Romeo and Juliet." The plays, it need scarcely be mentioned, will be presented in a splendidly elaborate manner in regard to scenic investitures, costumes and accessories and there will be a remarkably strong supporting company. Wherever Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe have appeared this season they have aroused the keenest interest and discussion over their interpretation of the new roles which they have undertaken, and crowded houses have greeted them everywhere. Their appearance at the Hollis Street Theatre will be the chief dramatic event of the Boston theatrical season.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

At the Empire Theatre next week Manager Morison announces an attraction that will without doubt be favorably received by the patrons of this play house. The selection made is the realistic drama of life in Indiana by Joseph Arthur "Blue Jeans" which has never failed to prove popular with Boston audiences in its earlier performances in this city. "Blue Jeans" deals with the country life of the interior of Indiana before the state was opened up to railroad travel as it is to-day, and the quaint scenes and characters of the play present contrasts with life in that state to-day that are vastly amusing. The coming production of "Blue Jeans" will realize in all essential details the scenic, mechanical, and costume effects planned for the original presentation under the author's direction.

The Jar of Coughing

Hammer blows, steadily applied, break the hardest rock. Coughing, day after day, jars and tears the throat and lungs until the healthy tissues give way. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops the hard coughing, heals the torn membranes.

Chief Williams

Risks His Life at Midnight Blaze On Station St

The alarm from Box 143 at 12.55 Sunday morning called the department to a stubborn fire in a dwelling house off Station street used by John Hight as a bakery. There was no one in the building at the time, and the cause of the fire is a mystery. It had made good headway before it was discovered and was burning briskly when the department arrived. It was extinguished with some difficulty. The loss is estimated by Chief Williams at $600.

CHIEF ENGINEER WILLIAMS.

The upper part of the building is used by Takti as a dwelling. When the department arrived this part of the building was a roaring mass of flames. Takti was nowhere to be seen, and a rumor started that he was in one of the upper rooms. No sooner did the rumor reach Chief Williams' ears than he ordered a ladder raised to one of the upper windows.

It was like courting a horrible death to enter the rooms at that time, but Chief Williams, nothing daunted, quickly mounted the ladder and disappeared through a window. The spectators held their breath in suspense at the daring act. In a few minutes the Chief made his appearance and reported the rooms empty.

It was later learned that Takti had gone to Boston Saturday evening and had not returned. It was a daring act for the Chief to do, but shows that he does not ask his men to go where he will not lead.

Wires Should be Buried.

"The disfiguring telegraph and telephone poles have been waxing more and more aggressive every year along country and village roads," says an editorial in the November Country Calendar. "The elms that glorify New England streets are ruthlessly desecrated, the branches lopped off, or entire trees murdered, to put up a naked and wire burdened gallows of the Anglo-So-and-So Telegraph Company. The companies have been in the habit of explaining that it cost too much to bury the wires. We notice however, that one large telephone and telegraph company has revised its calculations on this subject. The New England Company is burying its wires between New York and Boston. Undoubtedly the increasing price of the larger poles, necessary to carry the burden of a hundred miles or more, has led to this move. Let us hope that this method will prove successful in every way, and that these gaunt reminders of haste and worry will gradually disappear from the countryside."

This would be a good work for the Citizens' association of Quincy or the Civic Betterment committee of the Quincy Women's club to take up, for Quincy is overrun with poles and wires.

Heikkila—Rilola.

There was a pretty home wedding at 48 Brook road, South Quincy, Sunday evening when Mr. Evert Heikkila and Miss Soffi Rilola both of this city were united in wedlock by William M. Marden, Esq., in the presence of the immediate friends of the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Heikkila are well known member of the Finnish colony of this city and will reside at 48 Brook road.

Whist Scores At Wollaston

The Wollaston whist club held their weekly tournament Saturday night and the invincible pair of the club, Messrs. Hoxie, senior, and Broughton came out the victors, with Brown and Hoxie, junior, second, a pair to be heard from before the season is over.

The results follow:

E. E. Hoxie and J. H. Broughton	plus 9 4-5
J. G. Brown and C. B Hoxie	plus 3
V. S. Brokaw and M. Chase	plus 2
C. E. Hathaway and E. W. Taylor	plus 1
A. B. Hillman and R. F. Foster	minus 1-5
H. C. Seymour and G. A. Thompson	minus 1 2 5
D. A. Smith and E E. Finney	minus 2 4-5
L. Chapman and C D. White	minus 4 1-5
R. D. Mitchell and H. C. Lavelle	minus 7 1-5

After the playing was over, the members were surprised to find a collation ready for them through the kindness of James H. Broughton, which was greatly appreciated by them.

Real Work Among the Boys

Now that the football season is almost over, the Boys' department of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. is in a very flourishing condition, as the Boys' cabinet meeting last Friday night proved.

"That which is good enough for the United States is good enough for the Quincy boys' department" is the policy. Hence, the department has a "Boys' Cabinet," formed after the plan of President Roosevelt's cabinet. It consists of twelve boys, who advise with Mr. Noon, the boys' work director, regarding every important detail of the work. Each of these boys is chairman of a committee which has charge of one branch of the work.

Friday evening the cabinet met at supper at 6.30, after which brief reports from all committees were given. The reports told of a total membership of 113, (three times as many as there were three months ago); three outings with a total attendance of 96, the last being a trip to Boston, when 45 boys went. There are two Bible clubs with an enrollment of 35 and a weekly attendance of 28. There are ten boys' gymnasium classes weekly, with an average attendance of about 24.

By a "systematic giving" arrangement toward Y. M. C. A. work in other places, about 50 cents a week is being given.

There have been several socials and entertainments with a total attendance of 450.

A new boys' pool table just installed has been used much, 400 games having been played in five days.

Twenty boys are in the Glee club and a boys' orchestra is being formed.

A book club is to be formed soon.

Several boys have signed the pledge to keep from smoking, none being allowed to sign unless they meant business.

By the above figures it will be seen that real work for the uplifting of Quincy boys is being done. Much good influence is being spread abroad of which figures cannot tell. Every Quincy boy, regardless of creed or church, is invited to join. All are equal while at the Y. M. C. A. The best Christmas present possible for a boy is a year's membership in this organization which is doing so much for the boys of our city.

Off Day for Fore River

The Fore River team went to Andover on Saturday and met their first defeat in the league series at the hands of their nearest rivals the Andover team. Two 45-minute halves were played on the Phillips Academy grounds in the presence of a very large crowd.

Fore River kicked off against the wind, and only once or twice made brilliant plays. The Andover team scored a goal in each half and won 2 to 0.

The game at Quincy between the Lynns and the Quincys was a fine exhibition between two evenly matched teams, neither being able to score. Collins, Malcolm and Smith did particularly good work for the Quincys.

The association football games in the Merrimack Valley league on Saturday resulted as follows:

At Quincy—Quincy 0, Lynn 0.

At Andover—Andover 2, Fore River 0.

At Lawrence—Boston Rovers 5, Lawrence 3.

At Methuen—Methuen 2, Merrimac 1.

The league standing is as follows:

	Games W.	L.	D.	Goals W.	L.	Points
Fore River,	10	1	0	35	6	20
Andover,	7	1	3	34	9	17
Boston Rovers,	5	3	3	27	24	13
Lynn,	5	4	2	15	16	12
Merrimac,	3	7	1	16	29	7
Methuen,	3	6	1	9	17	7
Quincy,	2	6	2	16	14	6
Lawrence,	2	9	0	9	47	4

Games won counts two and draws count one.

83d Birthday.

Mrs. Caroline Adams Spear, one of the smartest old ladies in the city, will celebrate her eighty-third birthday tomorrow. We wish her many more pleasant anniversaries. She has done much to help the poor, and left her home yesterday to see what a poor family was in need of.

It will be "Grenfell Night" at the Men's club of the Wollaston Congregational church tomorrow night. The speaker will be Mr. Harrison B. Webster of the Harvard Medical school, who spent last summer in Labrador with Dr. Grenfell. Music will be furnished by Mr., Mrs. and Miss Moorhouse.

A meeting of the City Council Committee on Fire Department will be held tonight.

Bishop Lawrence

Confirms A Large Class At Christ Church

About four hundred people attended the morning service at Christ church, Sunday, to listen to a sermon by the Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, Bishop of the Diocese of Massachusetts, and to witness the administrating of the apostolic right of confirmation.

The Bishop entered the church during the singing of the Te Deum, and was conducted to the chancel by the rector.

At the conclusion of the morning prayer service, during the singing of the hymn, "Draw Holy Ghost, thy seven fold will between us and the fires of youth," thirty candidates came forward to the chancel and, in the presence of the Bishop assumed the confirmation vows; and then as all knelt at the altar rail the Bishop passed from one to another, bestowing the confirmation blessing on each.

After an address to the class by the Bishop, and during the singing of the hymn, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," the new members returned to their seats.

The subject of the Bishop's sermon was "Preparation for Heroism." His text was taken from Daniel 6:10, which reads, "Now when Daniel knew that the writing was signed, he went into his house; and, his windows being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he kneeled upon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and gave thanks before his God, as he did aforetime."

Daniel, at the critial moment of his life, found the strength and the power to be a hero by following the well established habits of his life. In illustration, the Bishop drew a vivid picture of the development of the life of General Shaw, showing how faithful adherance to the simple duties of his daily life gave him the power to organize and lead his colored regiment into battle and even into death.

The true hero in life is made by following the simple rules of prayer and praise and doing faithfully and joyfully the simple tasks of home, school and office or shop.

At the conclusion of this sermon, the choir sang the anthem, "God so loved the world."

The Bishop's annual visitation here rarely occurs on a Sunday morning and this occasion was deeply appreciated and enjoyed by all who were privileged to attend this strong and helpful service.

Should Eat In Quincy

Had Naval Constructor R. M. Watt purchased his dinners in Quincy when he visited this city, he might not only have had a dinner at the expense of the government, but a good dinner at the same time, but a Washington dispatch to the Herald says:

Naval Constructor R. M. Watt must pay for 12 dinners purchased in Boston, at a cost of $12. He has fought payment all the way up to Comptroller of the Treasury Tracewell, who today sustained the original ruling.

Between July 5 and Sept. 26, 1904, Constructor Watt made 13 trips on business from Boston to Quincy. He put in a bill for $28.75, and the auditor for the war department turned down all but $16.75, on the ground that he was not entitled to receive meals in Boston, his station at that time.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Quincy has been slow in getting through cars to Boston, and it will surprise many to learn the large number of cities and towns which now have through cars which run to stations on the Elevated.

Here is a partial list:

To the Dudley street terminal,—Milton, Canton, Stoughton, East Walpole, Hyde Park, Readville, Dedham and Needham.

To Park Street,—Brookline, Cambridge, Newton and Arlington.

To Scollay Square,—Chelsea, Revere, Lynn, Swampscott and Marblehead.

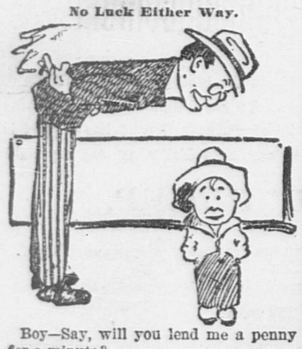
To Sullivan Square,—Somerville, Arlington, Everett, Malden, Melrose, Bedford, Lexington, Billerica and Lowell.

There should be no slip this time.

Not a Beat.

Bustle—Never mind, zur; you bain't the first motorist what's been in that theer pond.—London Tatler.

No Luck Either Way.



Boy—Say, will you lend me a penny for a minute?

Old Gentleman—What for?

Boy—I want to toss up to see whether to go to school an' get a lickin' or go home an' get it!

Unique Qualification.

"Why do you think I'd make a good umpire, Jimmie?"

"Because, Edwin, you're so blamed foolish lookin' nobody'd have the heart to slug you."

—Now that the Boston stores will deliver goods to the suburban towns free of express charges the local merchants should have the people realize they can buy just as cheap at home and with less inconvenience, while at the same time they can see what they buy. The only logical way is to advertise. Keep the money in town, and there is a chance of getting it back. Send it to Boston and there isn't. Advertise! Advertise!—Natick Bulletin.

SIXTEEN DEAD IN AWEUL CRASH

An Express Rams Into Local Passenger Train

CARS ARE TELESCOPED

The Mass of Wreckage Instantly Takes Fire and Those Who Were Not Instantly Killed Were Burned or Suffocated to Death--Claim That the Danger Signal Was Set by Brakeman of Local, but Was Unobserved by Engineer of Douple-Engined Montreal Train--Scores of Persons Seriously Injured

Lincoln, Mass., Nov. 27.—Sixteen persons were killed, 25 were more or less seriously injured and probably a score of others cut and bruised in a railroad wreck which occurred at 8:15 o'clock last night at Bakers Bridge station, a mile and a half west of Lincoln, on the main line of the Fitchburg division of the Boston and Maine railroad.

The regular Sunday night express which left Boston at 7:45 o'clock for Montreal crashed into the rear of an accommodation train bound for points on the Marlboro branch line, which started from Boston at 7:15.

Of the dead, 14 were passengers in the two rear cars of the Marlboro train. The other two were Engineer Barnard of the Montreal express and his fireman. None of the passengers on the express train was injured. Of those who lost their lives a number were apparently killed instantly in the collision, while others were either burned to death by the fire which ensued, or from suffocation.

Many passengers were caught and incinerated before they had a chance to be released from the debris. Few persons live in the vicinity of Bakers Bridge station and no fire department was availabble, so that the flames practically burned themselves out. The uninjured passengers and a number of train hands, assisted by villagers, went to the aid of the injured, and many persons were hastily carried or otherwise assisted out of the ruins and out of danger from fire. A special train was sent from Boston by the Boston and Maine management at 9:35 o'clock and reached here inside of half an hour. The train brought a number of doctors and appliances for aiding the injured. Dozens of doctors from Waltham and other places in this section were sent to the scene in carriages and by train. The railroad station and a number of dwelling houses were turned into temporary hospitals and many volunteer nurses assisted materially in relieving the suffering of the injured men and women.

Just after 11 o'clock a special train, carrying those who were the most seriously injured and who could be moved in safety, left for Boston, where all the available ambulances conveyed the maimed to the hospitals.

According to the statement of persons who were at the Bakers Bridge depot, a brakeman of the Marlboro train was sent to place a fusee, or red fire torch, some distance in the rear. The night was unusually dark, partly owing to a dense mist. According to those at the station, the torch had not been set more than a minute before the roar of a heavy train around a curve a short distance east of the depot was heard. Those on the station platform were helpless, for within a few seconds the headlight of an onrushing locomotive penetrated the mist and before a hand could be lifted to warn the passengers in the stationary train the two giant locomotives crashed into the standing coaches.

The crash was so terrific that it was heard by persons living a mile distant, and where a trainload of people had stood a moment before became an indescribable scene of death and ruin. Following the crash, the shrieks of the injured and the shouts of those who hastened to the rescue at times even were heard above the hiss of escaping steam which scalded some of the passengers, even before flames communicated from the ruins of the engine to the remains of the wrecked cars.

The leading locomotive telescoped the rear car of the Marlboro train, and the second engine forced the demolished mass against the third car of the local and completely wrecked it. In these two cars all but two of the fatalities occurred and practically all of the injuries.

The collision destroyed the forward locomotive of the Montreal train and the engine following it was considerably damaged, but did not leave the rails. None of the cars of the express was thrown from the track and the collision apparently had little effect upon those in them. The passengers stated afterwards that the shock was comparatively slight, especially in view of the rate of speed at which the train was proceeding.

Within two minutes following the crash the scene of ruin was transformed to one of horror. From the firebox of the battered engine, the engineer and fireman of which already lay dead in the tangled mass, flames communicated to the wreckage of the passenger coaches and a number of the unfortunate passengers who had been pinned down by broken seats and fragments of the woodwork perished. Some of the passengers had evidently been killed instantly. The second car of the local train remained standing on the irons and was not greatly damaged. The engine of this train escaped the wreck.

Passengers from both trains, the trainhands and a number of villagers, rushed to the wrecked cars and assisted many persons to escape, but the flames made it difficult to reach some who were alive, but evidently had been unable to extricate themselves from the mass. For the time it was necessary to lay injured persons side by side with several bodies of the dead, until every effort possible had been made to rescue other victims. The flames added to the work of destruction which resulted from the collision, and little was left of the leading express locomotive and the two rear cars of the local.

After some delay messages were sent to Boston, Waltham and Concord for doctors, nurses, surgical appliances and wrecking trains. One by one the bodies were marked, but it was late before complete identifications could be made. Several of the bodies were badly disfigured. Thirteen of the dead were sent to Boston on the train which carried the most seriously injured to Boston. Fourteen of the injured went on the train, and of that number it was feared that three would die within a short time. The majority of those injured were women.

The officials of the Boston and Maine railroad will make an exhaustive inquiry into the cause of the collision. Whether the proper signals were set at a safe distance, or whether they could be seen in time by the engineer of the Montreal train cannot be told at this time. It is probable that the district court will also hold an investigation of its own, and it is expected that an inquest will be held by the court on one of the victims, as is customary in serious accidents.

WRECK IN MAINE

Two Fireman and a Brakeman Killed In Collision

South Waterboro, Me., Nov. 27.—Three Boston and Maine railroad employes were killed and two others injured in a crash between two freight trains here. The dead are L. A. Hutchinson, fireman; Richard H. Proctor, fireman, and Alfred A. Jeannette, brakeman.

The trains in collision were a regular freight from Nashua, N. H., and a special freight from Portland, drawn by two locomotives.

The special, it is understood, had orders to pass the regular train at this station and, supposing that the regular train was waiting upon the siding for the special to pass, the engineers of the latter considered that they had a clear track. Only the engine and seven cars of the regular train had passed from the main track, however, when the double-header made its appearance and before it could be brought to a standstill the two engines struck the regular freight about in the centre, piling up the locomotives and three cars of the special and six cars of the regular train in a great mass of wreckage. Both engineers of the special jumped when they saw that a collision could not be averted, and escaped with slight injuries. The two firemen, Hutchinson and Proctor, and Brakeman Jeannette, who was riding in the cab of one of the engines, were unable to escape, and were crushed beyond recognition in the wreckage. The engineer and fireman of the regular train were unhurt.

Flower Practice Became a Nuisance

Washington, Nov. 27.—There will be no flowers in either house on the opening day of congress. A standing resolution of the senate was adopted during the last session of congress barring flowers from the senate chamber. Speaker Cannon has already given notice that he will not allow the flowers to be brought in as heretofore. The flower practice reached a stage where half the desks were buried in flowers and the persons they were meant to compliment were completely hidden.

Another Crook Goes Under

New York, Nov. 27.—Surprised in the act of breaking into a store in Harlem, five Italians exchanged a fusillade of shots with a policeman in the course of which John Galla, one of their number, was shot in the eye and killed. One of the others was captured and the rest made their escape. The police say Galla was a member of the gang headed by the Italian known as Paul Kelly, in whose saloon a man was found murdered a few days ago and who has disappeared.

Senator Burton Convicted

St. Louis, Nov. 27.—United States Senator Burton of Kansas was convicted on all six counts of an indictment charging that he received compensation in St. Louis for practicing as an attorney for the Rialto Grain and Securities company of St. Louis before the postoffice department in Washington while a senator. Burton's attorneys say that they will immediately ask for a new trial.

Double Crime Due to Jealousy

Dorothy, Pa., Nov. 27.—Goaded by jealousy, Steven Czintel killed his wife and then himself at their home here. The two were married three months ago. Czintel was 23 and his wife was 26. The husband was insanely jealous of a butcher and had threatened to kill him.

A GIFT OF $14,000

High-Water Contribution to the "Conscience Fund"

IT HAS REACHED $333,000

Other Large Presents of Cash Are Made to the Government Especially In Times of War--Queer Ideas of Some People

Washington, Nov. 27.—The newspapers are in error in describing the $12,000, which was recently received at the treasury on account of conscience, as the largest contribution of this kind ever made. The high-water mark was the receipt of $14,000, which was transmitted by an English clergyman, who told of a sinner that had come under his influence, and repenting of certain old-time frauds on the customs laws of the United States, desired to make restitution. If this clergyman could have the ear of all incoming tourists on the ocean steamers, and were equally effective in his ministrations, there would be no immediate need of a tax on coffee.

During the 94 years in which these contributions have been separately tabulated, they amount to about a third of a million dollars. They are entered among the miscellaneous receipts and are applied to current expenses, like any other moneys of the treasury. The newspapers unwittingly misrepresent the conscience fund, by the greater emphasis which they give to the messages of eccentric people, until the impression has become general that only cranks are in this way conscientiously moved.

Such is not the case. An examination of the letters on file at the treasury would convince anybody that most of the contributors are sincerely repentent of some fraud on the government, and take the only practical way of showing the genuineness of their regret. Rarely does any money come without an explanatory letter, and it is unusual to have any name signed.

Uncle Sam makes formal acknowledgment of all receipts from the source in the Washington newspapers. In fact, any money thus received is immediately posted on a bulletin in the secretary's office, so that all comers, reporters and others, may take note of it.

Some of the returns seem trifling. One poor fellow makes restitution for two loads of wood, which he had stolen from a government reservation, saying: "Let him that stole steal no more." The religious element is seldom absent from these letters. Most of the writers profess a changed attitude of mind, brought about by a religious experience.

Slightly removed in spirit from the conscience fund, but belonging to the "peculiar" receipts of the government are the gifts which it receives from its citizens. Occasionally a man bequeaths his property, in whole or in part, to the United States government. This was true of General Nathaniel Lyon, who was killed at the battle of Wilson's Creek, while fighting valorously to save Missouri for the Union.

It is in times of war that persons are most inclined to gifts. Helen Gould's contribution of $100,000 in the recent Spanish war is well remembered. An Englishman at the same time enclosed a postal order for £1, "as a contribution toward carrying on your war with Spain." Doubtless many similar contributions from this country went to Japan during her recent struggle, and perhaps a few to Russia. Another Englishman, a clergyman, sent the United States half a guinea, which he hoped might "furnish a cup of cold water to some members of the army or navy." Two little girls in St. Paul sent $1.40 out of their small earnings. Most Americans were content to pay their taxes, and let it go at that.

One of the most curious gifts which the treasury regularly receives, four times a year, is a $72 check. The giver draws a pension of that amount. He does not want to relinquish it, for fear that some time he might want it, but so long as he retains a lucrative position, which he is able to fill, he thinks he ought not to have the pension. He is doubtless right. He is moreover sane in his right mind.

There was a story told during the last administration of the pension office of a man who wrote very penitently, asking for the withdrawal of his name from the pension roll in acknowledgment that it had never deserved to get there, and otherwise apologizing for the dishonesty that had pervaded his application. Commissioner Ware was greatly pleased with the spirit of the letter and in order to write its author a letter of congratulation sent his messenger downstairs to get the address. It was found to be in an insane asylum.

Some people get possession of queer ideas. A New Yorker wrote to the government not long ago that he had heard of the embarrassment to which presidents were often put by not having sufficient funds for secret investigations, which they could expend "without any accounting for it." He wanted the president to feel free to have a little allowance of this kind, and so sent $1000. Uncle Sam takes all these gifts and only regrets that they do not amount to more.

Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. IN OPEN REBELLION

Successful Mutiny of Sailors at Sebastopol

ARE JOINED BY TROOPS

Big Procession Saluted With Full Military Honors by Regiment Which Refused to Join Mutineers--Reports of Sedition Among Soldiers In Manchuria

Sebastopol, Nov. 27.—The long expected mutiny of sailors, who have been on the verge of revolt for months, has come, and Russia's stronghold on the Black sea is in danger of falling completely into their hands.

The situation is critical. All the shore equipages, numbering 4000 men, are in open rebellion, having driven away or taken their officers prisoners. The Brest regiment of infantry has gone over in a body to the mutineers. General Neplueff, the commander of the fortress, is captive.

The Bielostok regiment, the only other regiment in the city, received the mutineers with cheers, but thus far it remains loyal. Some of the artillerists have also joined the men in revolt. Besides the Bielostok regiment there are two battalions of artillery and a battalion of the fortress artillery here.

The Euxine fleet is standing in the offing and is still obeying the orders of Vice Admiral Chouknin, but the crews are disaffected and there is grave doubt whether they can be restrained from joining the mutineers and greater doubt that they will fire upon them.

Eight sailors at the barracks seized, disarmed and expelled their officers. They then assembled a great meeting, Rear Admiral Pisarevski, commander of the practice squadron, supported by a company from the Brest regiment, went to the meeting and when it refused to disperse, ordered the troops to fire. Instead of shooting the mutineers, however, two shots rang out and Captain Stein of the company fell dead and Pisarevski received a ball in his shoulder.

During the night the sailors, with the aid of the Social Democrat leaders, having learned a lesson from the less prudent mutineers at Cronstadt, elected officers and decided upon a program, pledging themselves not only not to pillage, kill, or drink vodka, but to take measures to prevent rowdyism. They were joined by the workmen of the port and, in complete order, the sailors carrying the banner of St. George and the workmen red flags, marched to the barracks of the Brest regiment. The officers of the regiment threatened to fire upon the mutineers, but General Neplueff, a colonel and seven other officers surrendered and were sent under escort to the marine prison.

Being reinforced by the rank and file of the entire regiment, the mutineers and workmen formed a procession composed of 10,000 men and marched through the city. At Novissilstoff place the procession encountered several companies of the Bielostok regiment with a machine gun battery. The mutineers approached, their bands playing the national anthem, and the soldiers received the procession with full military honors, presenting arms and exchanging cheers. But the Bielostok men resisted the appears of the mutineers to join them and, obeying the orders of Commander Schulman, marched off toward the road leading to Balaklava. The battery, however, remained with the mutineers and participated in the meeting.

After the meeting the procession formed again and went to the barracks of the Bielostok regiment, where there were other companies, but these companies also declined the invitation of the mutineers to join them.

In the afternoon the sailors from the barracks signalled their comrades aboard the warships to join them and also sent a deputation to Vice Admiral Chouknin, requesting him to come to the sailors' barracks and hear their grievances. But the admiral declined to accede to the request.

The sailors thus far have comported themselves well. The city is panic-stricken and the inhabitants are fleeing. Last evening the mutineers stopped the trains in order to prevent the arrival of troops from Simferpol.

Cossacks Alone Are Loyal

St. Petersburg, Nov. 27.—The successful mutiny of the sailors at Sebastopol, accompanied by the first open revolt of an entire regiment of troops, has created the greatest alarm in government circles and no attempt is made to disguise the seriousness of this latest crisis.

The army is the last prop of the government. Mutiny is contagious and the epidemic of revolt which has attacked in turn practically all the units of the navy, from Vladivostok to Cronstadt, it is now feared, is destined similarly to spread through the army.

Ugly reports have been repeatedly circulated of sedition among the soldiers in Manchuria and it was specifically reported a week ago that General Linevitch had to put down a mutiny with considerable bloodshed and that subsequently he executed 42 officers. No confirmation of this report is obtainable, but whether it be true or not the morale of the troops on garrison duty in Russia has certainly everywhere been shaken by the revolutionary propaganda and the fidelity of individual units, even of the guard regiments, is questioned.

During the disorders following the promulgation of the imperial manifesto some of the provincial governors refrained from testing the loyalty of the troops, preferring to rely on the Cossacks, who showed no kind of wavering.

There is a strong impression here that intelligent leaders are at the head of the movement. It is evident also that the sailors at Cronstadt have had underground information of what was happening at Sebastopol because before the news was known in St. Petersburg reports of the mutiny were freely circulated at Cronstadt.

Revolt at Vladivostok

Vladivostok, Nov. 27.—A number of Russian troops who were taken prisoners at Port Arthur and who were recently returned here for enrollment in the local garrison revolted, killing two of their officers and wounding five others. The reasons for the revolt are not known.

Bomb Thrower at Warsaw

Warsaw, Nov. 27.—At 10 o'clock last night two bombs were thrown through the windows of the cafe of the Hotel Bristol. The explosions resulted in the smashing of furniture and the slight injury of a few persons. No one was killed, though the cafe was crowded.

A State of Anarchy

Moscow, Nov. 27.—The strike here is spreading. Crowds of strikers are plundering factories, private houses and state liquor shops. The military is operating the telephones.

Great Riches In Farming

Washington, Nov. 27.—"Wealth production on the farms of the United States in 1905 reached the highest amount ever attained in this or any other country—$6,415,000,000." This is one of the statements in the annual report of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson. He estimates that the farms of the country have increased in value during the past five years to a present aggregate of $6,133,000,000. This increased value, the secretary suggests, is invested better than in bank deposits or even in gilt-edged bonds of private corporations.

Autopsy on Branch's Body

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 27.—The body of Midshipman Branch, Jr., who died after a fist fight with Midshipman Meriwether, was disinterred and an autopsy was held by a board of naval medical officers, who will be able to answer questions that have arisen during the Meriwether trial as to the condition of Branch's heart and other organs prior to the fight. All those taking part in the autopsy were bound to secrecy as to their discoveries until their evidence is given before the court martial.

Hundred Thousand Saw Funeral

New York, Nov. 27.—Upward of 100,000 persons lined the route of the funeral procession of Nathan M. Shakewitz, the Hebrew novelist and dramatist. He is said to have been the author of more than 300 dramas and novels. Escorted by mounted policemen, the hearse was preceded by a chorus of 50 chanting dirges and was followed by several hundred members of various Hebrew societies on foot and a long line of carriages.

Liquor, Fire and Death

Towanda, Pa., Nov. 27.—Mary Shaylor, aged 30, and Henry Whitmiller, 8 months old, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the house of William Ackley. Two men were seriously burned and several others sustained severe injuries. The inmates of the house had been drinking freely and the fire was started through the accidental upsetting of an oil lamp.

Death Directly Due to Football

New York, Nov. 27.—Coroner O'Gorman, who investigated the death of H. R. Moore, the Union college student who received fatal injuries in a football game with New York university on Saturday, says that the fatality was a direct result of the play in which he was hurt. The young man, he says, was in a remarkably good physical condition.

Four Men Burned to Death

Washington, Nov. 27.—Four negroes were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the two-story office building of a kindling wood yard here. It is supposed the men were asleep on the second floor. The fire originated in a blacksmith shop adjoining the building in which the men were burned.

Birthday of Norwegian Queen

Christiana, Nov. 27.—The guns of the fortress and the warships fired salutes yesterday in honor of the birthday of Queen Maud. Their majesties spent the day quietly, though many visits were made to the palace and many gifts received in honor of the event.

Football Player Stricken

New York, Nov. 27.—The condition of Douglas Carter of the Columbia football team, who was seriously injured in the game with Pennsylvania Saturday, is reported to be favorable. He is suffering from paralysis of both arms and partial paralysis of the legs.

Earthquake In Italy

Rome, Nov. 27.—A slight shock of earthquake was recorded in all the observatories of the kingdom yesterday. It caused little damage except to the Cathedral of Ariano in Apulia, which suffered considerably. No lives were lost.

NEWS IN BRIEF

While standing in front of a newspaper bulletin board at Boston, reading the returns from the Yale-Harvard game, William E. Decrow, an old Yale graduate and formerly a newspaper editor and writer, dropped dead from heart disease.

The body of Timothy Flynn, single, aged 38, was found in the canal at South Berwick, N. H. A medical examiner pronounced it a case of suicide.

KILLED BY ALCOHOL

Four Vermonters Who Thought They Drank "Straight" Stuff

Richford, Vt., Nov. 27.—The death of S. La Grondiere from the effects of drinking what is believed to have been wood alcohol makes a list of three men and a woman who have met similar deaths in this vicinity within a few days. The others dead are Nelson Royston and Marshall Bliss, two farmers, and Mrs. La Grondiere, the mother-in-law of yesterday's victim. Two other men, Asa Mills and William Pattie of this town, are also ill from the same probable poison, but will recover.

The cases will be thoroughly investigated. Wallace W. White, proprietor of a drug store here, his son Alle and daughter Eva are under arrest in connection with the case, and are held for a hearing.

It is alleged that the liquor drank by the victims was purchased at White's store for alcohol. White is said to claim that he bought the liquor for cologne spirits, the name by which alcohol is known commercially, and sold it believing it to be straight alcohol.

Strange Lapse of Memory

Boston, Nov. 27.—Wylie C. Burns, a Boston broker who disappeared last June, was found in New York and has been brought to this city and placed under a physician's care that he may receive expert treatment. Burns is suffering from derangement of the mind, and cannot tell where he has been and does not realize that he has been away for more than a few days. The family had kept up a persistent search for him through a detective agency ever since his disappearance.

To Cut Out Social Functions

Boston, Nov. 27.—Governor-elect Guild has issued an announcement that during the coming year he will not accept invitations to any social functions of a public nature unless these functions are of such a character as to warrant the appearance of the governor of the commonwealth in his official capacity. During the present year Guild received more than 1700 invitations to attend public and semi-public functions.

Vermont City Without Gas

Barre, Vt., Nov. 27.—An explosion of gas practically wrecked the plant of the People's Lighting, Heating and Power company here, causing damage estimated at $10,000 and severely injuring Dwight Wells, an employe. As a result of the accident, the city will be without gas for at least a week. The streets and a large number of buildings, however, are equipped with electric lighting apparatus.

A Slight Improvement

Boston, Nov. 27.—Daniel J. Hurley, captain of the Harvard football team, who has been confined at the city hospital for several days suffering from an injury to the head, passed a comfortable day. For the first time since his admission to the hospital Hurley sat up for a short time. His convalescence is certain to be slow.

Killed by Insane Wife

South Norwalk, Conn., Nov. 27.—Edward Gustafson, who was shot by his wife during a sudden fit of insanity Friday night, died yesterday. Mrs. Gustafson is now in a sanitarium and is said to be recovering. Aside from his wife, Gustafson leaves two children.

Effort to Abolish Evil

Washington, Nov. 27.—Perry Belmont of New York, who is advocating a plan for publicity in all matters relating to campaign contributions, has appointed a committee to urge legislation on the subject. He has sent letters to prominent men throughout the country expressing the opinion that the time has arrived to advocate, by means of a national organization, the enactment in other states of such legislation on the subject as "embodies the results of practical experience of Missouri and Massachusetts."

Ban on Evening Weddings

Richmond, Nov. 27.—Bishop Van De Vyver of the Catholic diocese of Richmond has issued an injunction to the effect that "in future no marriages of Catholics shall be allowed to take place in the churches of the diocese later in the day than 4 p. m." It is stated that the tendency toward display, crowding and frivilous talking at evening weddings is the cause of the order.

Fatal Row Over a Woman

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 27.—R. E. Dickerson was killed by Dr. C. T. Kenyon in a shooting affray here. Kenyon was wounded. Dickerson accompanied Miss Florence Weston to the theatre and when they returned to her home Kenyon was there and called Dickerson to task for accompanying the young woman. The shooting followed.

The Isle of Pines Trouble

Havana, Nov. 27.—It is understood that the Cuban government is communicating with the United States government as to which government is to deal with the Americans in the Isle of Pines in the event of the latter carrying out their alleged threat to assume territorial offices.

Revolutionist Changes His Mind

Havana, Nov. 27.—The government has received information to the effect that Congressman Guerra, who is charged with being leader of the insurrectionary movement in San Juan de Martinez, has abandoned his alleged revolutionary attitude.

Big Fund For Sufferers

New York, Nov. 27.—The fund for the relief of the suffering Hebrews in Russia was increased yesterday by $50,932.05, making a total of $878,511.19 collected to date.

YOUR HAT
May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.
A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.
Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.
When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.
There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.
Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Charles T. Ewell and family of Hamden circle have moved to Westboro.

Thomas Broadbent and I. Hey of Wollaston have received a patent for a trolley wheel.

Mrs. J. E. Poland will give a whist party in Poland's hall, Norfolk Downs, on Friday evening.

A large number of Wollaston people were present at the Harvard-Yale football game on Saturday.

Miss Mary Grant is slowly recovering at her home on Washington street from a three weeks' severe illness.

Harry Holton of Edwards street has accepted a position in the shipping department of the Henry Siegel Co., of Boston.

Mrs. Mary E. Powers will entertain at her home on Washington street on Wednesday afternoon, the Brownie whist club.

Those who have not been up Whitwell street lately will be surprised to see how Glendale road has built up near the schoolhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. William Neidhart of Baltimore have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Loud, Washington street, the past week.

The Charitable ten, King's Daughters, will meet tomorrow evening with Mrs. Frank S. Davis, Elm street. A full attendance is requested.

The Missionary reading club of the Wollaston Congregational church will meet at the parsonage Friday at 2.30. The book will be "Christus Liberator."

George F. Field, of the Weather Bureau office of Providence, R. I., came up on Saturday to witness the football game between Yale and Harvard, and will renew old acquaintances in this city until Thursday.

Have you been waiting for the Thanksgiving announcement of Johnson Bros.? Well it is a little late, but Daily Ledger readers have it today, and they will profit by waiting. No disappointments if they get their turkeys at this market. Fair and plump birds direct from Vermont with all the fixings.

Mayor Thompson has issued circulars to all the property holders in the city, notifying them that they are required to destroy the gypsy and browntail moths on their property on or before Jan. 1st. Every one should be interested in ridding Quincy of the pest. The lecture by Mr. Kirkland of the state commission at Bethany chapel tomorrow evening under the auspices of the Quincy Women's club, is very timely and should draw a large audience. Tickets may be had at the door.

Officer Goodhue is moving to his new house on Elm street.

Chief of Police Burrell who is ill with pneumonia is reported as improving.

The Wollaston golf club will have a members tournament on Thanksgiving day.

Miss Mary Moody of New York is a guest of Miss A. Maud Briggs of Appleton street.

There will be a dance Thanksgiving evening given by Miss Lena Crane in Atlantic Music hall.

Representative-elect E. C. Hultman arrived home Sunday from a business trip to New York.

Rev. Alfred R. Atwood will meet the visiting committee of his church in the vestry this evening.

Miss Elizabeth Brown leaves soon for California, where she will spend the winter with friends.

Mrs. Lydia E. Manter left Friday for a three months' visit with relatives at Rockland, Maine.

Miss Elvira Ewell, has been confined to her home at Norfolk Downs the past three weeks by sickness.

Miss Mae Langley of Washington street was the guest of friends at Jamacia Plain over Sunday.

Mrs. Chandler of Foster street left last week for a six weeks' visit at her former home at New Brunswick.

Miss Florence Hill of Walker street has returned from a week end visit to Miss Flora Drew of Ashmont.

Rev. and Mrs. Leon H. Austin are spending the week at Mr. Austin's former home in Coventry, Conn.

Miss Julia E. Underwood leaves on Wednesday for a few days' visit with her sister and family at West Lynn.

Neither team was able to score on Saturday in the football game between the Atlantic A. C. and the Oakdale A. A.

Cards are out for a sale of painted china to be given by Miss Alice Coe at her home on Billings street this week.

Mr. Richard Williams of the S. S. Illinois, is enjoying a fifteen days furlough with his mother, Mrs. Sarah C. Williams of Cross street.

Many will doubtless miss the Scholarship coupons which have appeared in the Daily Ledger for several weeks, but there are some to be heard from.

The address at the union Thanksgiving service in the Wollaston Congregational church on Thursday will be given by the Rev. E. W. Hunt, pastor of the Unitarian church.

A grand fair and bazaar will be held in the Universalist vestry Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Dec. 5, 6 and 7. Season tickets, 25 cents. Admission 10 cents.

The railroad disaster at Lincoln Sunday night took place on the estate of Hon. Charles Francis Adams. The Quincy disaster of 1890 took place in front of his former residence in this city.

Franklin Jacobs, who has been confined to his home by illness for nearly two years, was about City Square this morning renewing acquaintances. He was formerly superintendent at the almshouse.

A very interesting service was held Sunday evening at the Point church. There was extra music by Mrs. T. B. Pollard's Sunday school class. The pastor spoke on: "Lessons from the life of Mr. Henry H. Faxon.

Three deer and a black bear arrived on one of the morning trains. They were consigned to Perley A. Glass and were the trophies of his recent gunning trip. The deer and bear are now on exhibition at Johnson Bros. Market.

Lieut. Frank Lyon, who has been stationed at the Boston navy yard, has been assigned for special duty at the Fore River shipyard at Quincy as assistant to the inspector of machinery for the battleship New Jersey. When that vessel is commissioned he will be her senior engineer officer.

Even persons from Wollaston, who have had occasion to patronize the Squantum cars have recognized Edward Dunn's adaptability to the needs, and whims of the patrons. Mr. Dunn has long been appreciated by Atlantic people, and no other conductor has been able to fill his place on the Squantum line.

Changing Fashions.

Father (meditating on time's changes)—Ah, yes, the fashion of this world passeth away! Daughter—Indeed it does, papa. I shall want a new hat next week.

The Life Line.

Amateur Palmist—The life line indicates how long you will live. Skeptical Friend—Yes? Isn't it a wonder the life insurance companies pay no attention to it?

Juniors Win At Bowling

Saturday night there was an unusual occurence in the bowling world, as on the Y. M. C. A. alleys several boys bowled against men who were not only much larger and stronger and from 5 to 7 years order, but also more experienced. The Junior bowling team of the Y. M. C. A., however, very easily defeated the men—the Makaria Fraternity second team—by 76 pins.

The highest individual string was bowled by Brooks of the Juniors, who also secured the highest total for the Juniors. Capt. Glover and E. Rhodes were a close second in the Junior totals, being only one pin behind. Mitchell excelled for the Makarias. The pin boys cheered both teams by original poetry. The results follow:

CHAPTER 373, ACTS OF 1905.

AN ACT RELATIVE TO THE TERMS OF OFFICE OF MUNICIPAL AUDITORS.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. After the passage of this act, and upon the expiration of the term for which any city auditor shall have been elected or appointed, and in every third year thereafter, there shall be elected or appointed in the manner required by the charters of their respective cities, an auditor of accounts to hold office for three years from the date of his election or appointment.

Section 2. Every such auditor of accounts shall hold his office until the election or appointment and qualification of his successor, unless sooner removed in accordance with the existing provision for removal in the city charter under which such auditor has been elected or appointed, or in accordance with any general law.

Section 3. When a vacancy occurs in the office of auditor of accounts in any city, the person elected or appointed to fill such vacancy shall hold the office until the end of the unexpired term of the person last holding such office.

Section 4. This act shall be submitted to the voters of every city at the next municipal election, and upon its acceptance by a majority of the voters voting thereon in any city it shall take effect in that city.

Section 5. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed. [Approved May 5, 1905.

USEFUL DRESS HINTS.

How to Bring a Last Year's Sleeve Up to Date—To Shorten a Mackintosh.

A last season's Eton coat sleeve may be brought up to date by slitting the sleeve up the back and buttoning it down with buttons and cord to match the vest or blouse.

To remodel dressy sleeves cut the old ones off at the elbow or a little below and finish with rows of shirring, a tiny ruffle of lace or a smart flaring turned back cuff.

A smart sleeve has a hanging shoulder puff brought down nearly to the elbow, and another way is to gather the sleeve all its length from shoulder to cuff, working along the outside seam. Now set a handsome trimming along the gathering. This trimming may be dispensed with, and the result will be very satisfactory.

The stout woman may choose a tight fitting gathered sleeve with a medium amount of fullness at the shoulders. This sleeve is becoming to the hand and to the figure. It need not be very large at the shoulder, but should taper gradually and steadily toward the wrist, where it may be finished with silk bands, gold braid, French knots and small buttons.

The gown illustrated is of pavement gray cloth. The skirt has a double effect, the top flounce buttoning diagonally a few inches from the waist. Each flounce is stitched at the edge. The smart little short coat has its dart fullness held with a strap of cloth, inset with velvet of a darker shade of gray. The revers, cuffs and high turnover throat collar are also of velvet.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

The Deep Sea Lead.

In order to find a ship's position when approaching the land in a fog soundings are taken with the "deep sea lead." This lead weighs twenty-eight pounds and is attached to a line which is marked off in fathoms by bunting of various colors, pieces of leather and knots. Bored in the base of the lead is a hole about two inches deep, and this is filled with tallow, so that the gravel or shells at the ocean bottom will adhere to it, and the nature of the bed may be thus ascertained. When the lead is thrown overboard the water's depth is noted on the line, and this and the adherence to the tallow when compared with the description given on the chart will give the ship's position with tolerable accuracy.

The Famous Mamelukes.

The mamelukes were a body of soldiers who ruled Egypt for several hundred years. Their name is derived from an Arab word which means slave, and they were originally captives from Caucasian countries. In the middle of the thirteenth century they were introduced into Egypt as the sultan's bodyguard, but upon the accession of Turan Shah, whom they hated, they overthrew him and elected one of themselves in his place. For nearly 300 years they held the power thus usurped, and even when compelled to resign it they had much influence in Egypt. In 1811 nearly all the mamelukes were massacred by Mohammed Ali, and those who then escaped to Nubia were destroyed in 1820.

The Pillars of Hercules.

The "Pillars of Hercules" was the name anciently given to the mountains of Calpe and Abyla, standing opposite to each other, the one on the European and the other on the African shore of the strait which connects the Mediterranean sea with the Atlantic ocean. The mountains are now called the Rock of Gibraltar and Jebel Zatant. The word Gibraltar, which is at present also applied to the strait, was originally "Jebel Taric," or "Mountain of Taric," Taric being the name of the leader of the first Mohammedan band which crossed at that point over into Spain in the year A. D. 710.

The Wind Sail.

It frequently happens that after discharging a cargo of a particularly malodorous nature it is necessary to let the air reach certain parts of the hold of a vessel not served by the fixed regulation ventilators. To effect this purpose a portable canvas ventilator, called a "wind sail," is employed. It is cylindrical in shape and is kept in position by means of stays. When it is erected the air blows down it, and the hold is soon pure once more.

FOOTPRINTS IN THE SNOW

[Copyright, 1905, by P. C. Eastment.]

There had been no less than thirty-six thefts and burglaries in the eastern suburb of the city, all evidently by the same hand, and yet the police had not found the culprit.

I know that the police worked hard on this case, and that every seeming clew was carefully followed, and that they let a boy fifteen years old take all the credit away from them was not their fault. I was that boy, and that I solved the mystery was owing to luck. The crimes began about the middle of September, and I gave them no attention until about the 1st of November. Then I happened to be talking with a man who had had his push-cart stolen. This, in fact, was at the beginning of the thefts. He mentioned that the tire of one of the wheels had been wrapped with wire to tighten it.

On the night of the talk another house was robbed. It was only two blocks from my father's house, and I went there, with others. The police refused all information, but during the day I was told by a son of the householder that they had found tracks under a window. It was an open fall, and the ground had not yet frozen. The tracks were those of a boot, and the sole of one had been mended. I went up and down the alley in the rear of the house with this boy, and in the dust we found the impress of what looked to be buggy tires. They were something else, however—they were the impress of the tires of that pushcart. At every revolution one of the wheels left a sort of smudge, and I was justified in believing that it was the tire that did it.

My theory was that all the stolen goods had been taken away in the pushcart, but the case was blocked right there. Where had they been taken? Had I gone to the police with my theory I should have been ridiculed. The detective who can't find a clew himself doesn't want any one else to find one. When I had lain awake a dozen nights trying to figure things out luck helped me. The streets were still dusty. A barn had been broken open and a lot of bedding temporarily stored therein had been taken.

I happened to be passing the place when the discovery was made and the police telephoned for. There were the tracks of the pushcart again. In the dusty road following the cart were boot tracks, and one of them had a patch on the sole. I followed them for a mile straight out into the country before they were lost.

It was easy to figure that if the thief was not selling any of his plunder he was storing it somewhere and that the country offered a safer place than the city. The idea now was to follow along the road and spot off any likely looking place. I had my mind made up that it would be an old barn out about two miles. I walked out on the road for five miles and found no one but farmers of honest standing. I took two crossroads and followed them for a distance, but with the same result. The thief had gone out that road with the pushcart and the bedding, but where had he brought up? The weather changed, the ground froze, and all at once the crimes ceased.

Then luck came again. I was buying a pair of winter gloves in a store when a farmer called and asked for a pair of mittens for a woman. Some talk followed, and it came out that she was a widow who was living next to him, three miles out of town. He also asked where he could get a pair of rubber boots for her.

I got the idea right then and there that the widow was the criminal. It seemed absurd, but yet the idea clung. A detective would have told me to go home and soak my head, and a reporter would have laughed me out of his room. I chewed over the thing for a week, and then something happened.

I had been sent on an errand directly after breakfast, and I passed a house which had been burglarized the night before. There were quite a number of people about, and the owner was telling them how entrance had been effected and what had been taken. What hunters and farmers call a tracking snow had fallen during the night, and the first thing I looked for was the track of that pushcart.

An alley ran alongside the house, and there they were. There were also prints of rubber boots. The alley gate opened rather hard, and sticking to it were some small threads of blue yarn. The farmer had bought blue mittens for the widow. Taking up the tracks, I followed them for two miles before they were obliterated by travel. I kept on to the house of the widow and found it a small cottage. Between the gate and the road the cart tracks and the footprints were as plain as day.

I had worked the case as far as I could, and I now went to the police. I was sneered at and warned not to meddle with their business. I went to the sufferer by the last robbery, and as he was a man of influence and anxious to get his property back he not only listened, but insisted that something be done. A search warrant was procured, a couple of detectives went out to the widow's farm, and from an outdoor cellar enough stolen property was dragged to fill several stores.

She had been stealing off and on for three years. She had always dressed as a man in her excursions. Until she stole the pushcart she had used a wheelbarrow. Stolen money she had made use of, but not a stolen article had been sold. She had passed for a respectable, hard working woman, and by her keeping the goods on hand her lawyers made out that she was a kleptomaniac and got her a sentence of two years, when she might have otherwise got fifteen. The New Post Office

Also the Locations and Postmasters Of the Past

Friday morning bright and early the Quincy post office will open for business in the new block on Granite street, near the corner of Hancock street. The change in the location will be made on Thursday and the business of the office will be in no way interrupted. All day Thursday while most people are attending family gatherings Postmaster Hammond and his corps of assistants will be at work moving the effects from the office in the Adams building to the new office.

The new office is by far the largest and most convenient of any of the previous offices. The room is 90 feet deep and has a width on front of 24 feet. Besides the main office there is a large carriers' room in the basement.

The executive office is on the westerly side of the room. On the street front is the office of Postmaster Hammond. This office is set in so that it is a little narrower than the remainder of the working department. Next comes the working office. This takes up less than half of the width and does not extend more than half the length of the office. In fact the main public room is about 40 feet long and 12 feet wide, considerable larger than the old office.

The office furnishings are of quartered oak and are very handsome. The office furniture, boxes, etc., are from the well known firm of Bourn, Hadley & Co. of Templeton, Mass., one of the largest manufacturers of post office fixtures in the United States.

The office of Post master Hammond is separated from the main office by a partition, which however is largely of glass. Then there are four windows. The first is the money order window, then the registered letter, stamp and general delivery windows. Then come the boxes. These are arranged on the lower easterly and northerly ends. There are 105 single boxes, 96 double or large boxes and 12 drawers. These are all fitted with what is known as the double dial, automatic safety lock. This lock is said to be the best thing of the kind ever manufactured, and the Quincy office is the first to be fitted with this particular pattern.

Under this system there are no keys. On the face of each box are two dials with letters. In order to open the box it is necessary to turn the first dial to a certain letter and then turn the second to another letter. The box then opens. As the box is opened the combination is thrown off so that any person who might be watching would not know what the combination of that particular box was.

At the rear is a door leading to the back of the office. The inside of the office is also finished in quartered oak.

In addition to the large window in front, and the windows in the rear, there is a large skylight so that the office is well lighted by day; much better than the office in the Adams building.

The history of the Quincy post office is an interesting one. It shows that the site of the office has been frequently moved but at no time has it been located a great distance from its new site. In fact it is worthy of note that it has been located twice before upon nearly the same site.

Pattee's history of Quincy tells us that the first post office in Quincy was in 1795 and the first postmaster Richard Cranch. At that time the rates of postage for a single letter were six cents for 30 miles, and the rate ran from this up to 22 cents for 450 miles, and 24 cents for over 450 miles.

The office under Mr. Cranch was located on the south-east corner of what is now the Edwards estate on School street. Mr. Cranch died in 1811, and in 1812 Dr. Benjamin Vinton became the postmaster. He moved the office to the building at the corner of Hancock and Granite streets, the building which was recently moved back to make room for the new block on this corner.

Mottram Veazie succeeded Dr. Vinton in 1813, and he moved the office to his residence, now the site of the Faxon block at the corner of Hancock and Depot streets. In 1825 Daniel French became postmaster and he held the office until 1849. Under Mr. French the office was located in the office of the old Hancock hotel.

Dr. William Bugbee became postmaster in 1849 and he transferred the office to his apothecary store in the Town House, the present City Hall.

The next postmaster was Francis Williams who took office in 1851, and he moved it to the store on Hancock street occupied for many years by the late John O. Holden, and now by Mr. Weixler, the jeweler.

In 1853 Daniel French was again made postmaster and again the office was moved. This time it went to Temple street in the Wilson building, the present site of the easterly end of the Adams building.

In 1854 John A. Green became the postmaster and the office went back to the John O. Holden building.

Then came George Baxter in 1858 and the office was moved to the Town House being located in that part of the present building occupied by the Commissioner of Public Works.

In 1861 George L. Gill was appointed postmaster and the office was moved to the old Savings Bank building which stood on the site now occupied by the Savings Bank building.

Mr. Gill was succeeded in 1866 by John B. Bass who held office until 1886. Under Postmaster Bass the office was first located in the apothecary store of John H. Veazie in the old Court Room building. From there it went to the building now occupied by Johnson Bros., on Hancock street, and then to a new building on the corner of Hancock and Granite streets which was one of the buildings moved back to make room for the new block where the office is now located.

In 1886 Mr. Bass was succeeded by Samuel H. Spear who moved the office to the building adjoining the Patriot office, now occupied by McConnell's fruit store.

Mr. Spear was succeeded by Warren W. Adams in 1890, and it was during his administration that the office was moved to the store in the Adams building. Mr. Adams was succeeded in 1894 by James F. Burke who retained the office in the Adams building.

Mr. Burke was succeeded by Charles L. Hammond, the present postmaster, in 1898, who also retained the office in the Adams building up to the present change to Granite street.

Some time in the dim future the office will make one more move probably the last for many years, to the government building on Washington street, should one ever be erected.

Since the establishment of the post office in Quincy, offices have been established at West Quincy, Wollaston, Atlantic, Quincy Point and South Quincy. All of these offices have since been discontinued or made sub offices of the Quincy office. In addition to this, sub-stations for the sale of stamps have been established in several sections of the city and the offices at Braintree have been consolidated with the Quincy office.

The postal receipts of the Quincy office are now over $50,000 per year, or $1,000 per week.

A Good Appointment.

Capt. Henry J. Howes of East River street has been appointed superintendent of the Sailors' Snug Harbor at Quincy, and he will take possession the first of the month. His family will accompany him, residing in a fine old house in connection with the home. It is a fine position and the captain is well qualified in every way to make the home for the old sailors attractive as well as successful.—Hyde Park Gazette.

Dock Trial Saturday.

The "Steam Trawl" Spray is nearing completion at the ship yard. The dock trial will take place on Saturday, and the vessel will be delivered to the Bay State Fishing Company at Boston a week later. Much interest in fishing circles is manifested in this vessel on account of it being the first vessel of its kind built in this country on the Atlantic coast.

Whiting--Rogers Wedding

At St. Mary's church, West Quincy, was solemnized on Monday morning at ten o'clock, the nuptials of Miss Josephine May Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Rogers of Copeland street, and Mr. Albert Spencer Whiting, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Whiting of Holliston. Rev. Father Powers officiated.

The bride was attended by a maid of honor, Miss Lillian M. Rogers, who wore a pretty white muslin, trimmed with an allover lace and ribbon bertha. The bride's gown was of delicate dove color trimmed with large lace medallions. The veil hung daintily over the long train. Herbert Mellyn of Roxbury was best man and the ushers were Archie Rogers and Ernest Rogers of West Quincy, Emile Carboneau of Lawrence and John McKim of Waltham.

In the evening from eight until twelve a reception was held at the home of the bride attended by over two hundred guests. The decorations were of ferns potted plants and flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Whiting are spending their honeymoon at Waltham, Southbridge and the Provinces. On their return they will be at home to their friends after January first.

Awarded Half a Thousand

A verdict of $500 was awarded Mrs Alice M. Abbott of Brockton at Dedham on Monday in her suit against Lillian I. Littlefield of Quincy, to recover $5,000 damages for alienation of the affections of her husband.

Runaway.

Johnson Bros. lost a valuable horse this noon as a result of a runaway. The horse attached to one of their delivery wagons was left in front of the store, but the animal started to walk down Chestnut street. He had not gone far before he became frightened and began to run.

The wagon struck a telephone pole and the horse cleared himself. When near the corner of Cottage avenue the horse fell over the curbing and broke his off hind leg.

Agent Furnald put two bullets into the horse's head with but little effect. Officer Murray then arrived and it required two shot from his revolver to put the animal out of misery. The wagon was smashed somewhat.

Ward Two Councilmen.

The interest in Ward Two politics apparently is centered entirely on who will represent that ward in the Council. The Democrats are making an effort to defeat one if not two of the regular Republican nominees. Last year the Democrats easily succeeded in electing one member and this year they hope with the number of votes that will be polled for the Citizens' candidate with the assistance of Democratic votes to succeed in electing the Democratic and Citizens' candidate. No criticism is heard of the Republican nominees who are above reproach, and will no doubt serve the ward faithfully if elected.

Petty Burglaries.

It was reported to the police Monday that several places at Quincy Point had been entered by burglars sometime Sunday night. Among the number were the express office of Peter Hynes on East Howard street, the store of Clifford Towle on East Howard street, and the grocery of Peter Delory on Broadway. Nothing was secured from Hynes express office. At Towle's store a small quantity of tobacco was secured, and at Delory's some canned goods.

For Thanksgiving.

Johnson Bros. have a very attractive market for Thanksgiving. Their stock is the richest and of the best to be found, and very large. Bear, deer, turkeys and chickens attract the attention of passers-by. The chickens are from the farm of W. R. Drake of Braintree whose name for good poultry is known for miles around. Let all eat and be happy.

HAVEN FOR JEWS

Premier Laurier Says They Will Be Welcomed to Canada

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—Premier Laurier last night, in an address before a meeting called to protest against the massacre of Jews in Russia and to subscribe funds for the survivors, suggested Canada as a haven for the persecuted race.

Clarence T. Desola of Montreal, president of the Zionist Federation, said 25,000 Jews had been murdered, 100,000 maimed and that there were now 300,000 of them homeless and on the verge of starvation. Taking these facts for his text, Laurier freely discussed conditions in Russia. He was doubtful if the present government at St. Petersburg had the power to end the present conditions and put a stop to the barbarity and cruel slaughter. They could not hope to bring all the homeless to Canada, said he, but all those who come will find a hearty welcome under British institutions.

Mrs Rogers Doom Sealed

Washington, Nov. 28.—The supreme court of the United States decided it is without jurisdiction in the Mrs. Mary Rogers case. The court affirmed the decision of the United States district court of Vermont. If neither the governor nor the state courts take action in Mrs. Rogers' behalf her execution must occur Dec. 8 next. The court held in effect that it was without jurisdiction in all the points raised.

Windsor, Vt., Nov. 28.—Mrs. Mary M. Rogers has not yet been notified of the adverse decision of the supreme court which determines her fate. High Sheriff Peck is expected to inform her of the facts today.

Hot Politics in Santo Domingo

San Domingo, Nov. 28.—The minister of war has resigned to become commander of the army. Governor Ginebra has been appointed minister of war. President Morales informed his ministers that he desired their resignations and that he wanted a new head for the army. The ministers agreed to resign on condition that a new cabinet be formed with the approval not only of the president, but of Vice President Caceres. This condition the president refused to grant. Thomas C. Dawson, the American minister, was instrumental in bringing about a compromise arrangement. The crisis is considered over.

In Memory of Odessa's Dead

New York, Nov. 28.—Friends, relatives and sons and daughters of the Odessa Jews paraded in the East Side Ghetto here in a black draped throng. The Ghetto shops each contained at least one bit of black hung in mourning on the door and some of them were almost covered with crepe. A singing band of women who accompanied the procession stopped at a synagogue and with their followers kneeling in the street they chanted lamentations for the dead in Odessa. A band playing dirges led the parade to a hall, where a meeting of protest was held.

LINCOLN SMASHUP

Death List Is Now Placed at Seventeen

TWELVE SERIOUSLY HURT

President of Road Thinks Engineer of Leading Locomotive of Express to Blame--Local Trainmen Are Exonerated

Lincoln, Mass., Nov. 28.—After clearing away the remaining traces of Sunday night's disaster at Bakers Bridge station and an investigation by the railroad officials, state authorities, and the newspapers, it is practically settled that 17 persons lost their lives, 12 were seriously wounded, and a score more or less injured, as the result of the terrible rear-end collision.

Investigation by the railroad officials began immediately after the accident, inspectors of the railroad commissioners have made a separate examination, and tomorrow Judge Keyes of Concord will hold an inquest.

President Tuttle of the road blames H. W. Lyons, engineer of the leading locomotive. Lyons, who is not severely injured, reached his home in Boston, but no attempt was made by the authorities to take him into custody. It is said that the engineer admitted seeing some of the signals used for the protection of the accommodation train.

At the Boston morgue 10 of the bodies have been positively identified and claimed by relatives. Reports from Maynard, where many of the victims resided, show that two persons, believed to have been on the train, have not yet been heard from.

A statement regarding the wreck was issued by President Tuttle of the Boston and Maine railroad. According to Tuttle, the road's investigation had established the fact that precautions had been taken by the crew of the local train to protect it from the express by throwing out red hand-torches and also by placing at stations, three miles back of the scene of the accident, of precautionary lights.

Last night President Tuttle of the Boston and Maine railroad made the following statement:

"I shall be surprised if Engineer Lyons of the Montreal express is not brought before the grand jury. For by his own admission he is criminally responsible for the terrible disaster. To Superintendent Cheever and Assistant Superintendent Smith of the Fitchburg division, this man, on being questioned after the collision, said: 'I saw the green signals which warned me of the train ahead. I cannot explain why I did not obey the rules.'

"After a most searching inquiry I find that the first warning was given by a red fusee which Donat Gauthier, rear brakeman of the local train, dropped at Silver Hill station. Then came the green lantern at Lincoln Great road, and further on another red fusee. Outside of Lincoln railroad station the second green light was displayed. Still the express train proceeded ahead with unabated speed and passed the last warning—a red fusee just east of Bakers Bridge. Then followed the death-dealing crash."

The inquest by Judge Keyes of Concord will begin tomorrow and will be held in the district court of that town. It is expected that the finding will be sent to the district attorney within a week. The wreck has been sufficiently cleared to enable the complete resumption of traffic on this portion of the road.

Must Refrain From a Jag

Binghamton, N. Y., Nov. 28.—On application of Recorder Roberts' attorneys Justice Sewell has granted a stay, restraining the common council from hearing charges against Roberts, pending an appeal on condition that Roberts remain sober until the appeal is decided by the appellate court and with the understanding that the stay will be revoked if the recorder becomes intoxicated before the case is decided by the higher court.

A Job For Weyler

Madrid, Nov. 28.—War Minister Weyler has left for Barcelona to investigate and repress the Catalonian disorders. These have assumed serious proportions between the military and separatist elements. A number of street demonstrations have occurred. Weyler has been authorized to take all the measures necessary to restore order.

Many Men Blown to Atoms

Emporium, Pa., Nov. 28.—An explosion at the Keystone Powder works destroyed the entire works, killed nine men and injured several others. The body of William Sprung was the only one of the dead recovered. The top of his head and one leg were blown off. Searchers are picking up the other bodies in small pieces.

Composing Days Are Over

New York, Nov. 28.—Edward McDowell, the music composer, is suffering from profound nervous prostration, brought on by insomnia and overwork. He has been ill since last March and so slow has been his improvement that his physicians fear he will never compose again.

Football Rules Need Revision

New York, Nov. 28.—Francis S. Bangs, chairman of the Columbia university committee on athletics, pronounces football as played under the present rules and methods to be a brutal and abominable game and says that if he has his way it will be prohibited.

YALE FALLING BEHIND

A Leading College Only In the Matter of Athletics

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 28.—The Harvard Graduates' Magazine for December will contain an article by a graduate of the university setting forth that Harvard should abandon athletic relations with Yale on the ground that such relations are used by Yale simply as a basis upon which to claim parity with Harvard as an institution of learning. Harvard, he says, furthermore, cannot win without adopting Yale methods, and this she cannot do without violence to her ideals.

Speaking of an alleged tendency on the part of the Yale authorities to maintain silence concerning the internal weakness of the university, in contrast to Harvard's policy of publicity and self-correction, the writer continues:

"The only publicity which Yale has consistently encouraged is publicity in athletics. Thanks to the linking of Yale's name with Harvard's in the sports of the past 30 years, the public has gone on supposing that Harvard and Yale were about on a level as institutions of education. The truth has been that, while Harvard has steadily held the primacy of American universities since 1870, Yale has dropped to sixth or eighth place in point of attendance, and has been outstripped by four, if not five other universities, in its offering of high-grade instruction and in its professional schools."

Mrs Gustafson Follows Husband

Westport, Conn., Nov. 28.—Mrs. Edward Gustafson, who fatally shot her husband in a sudden attack of insanity at their home in South Norwalk, committed suicide in the Westport sanitarium. Taking advantage of the temporary absence of the nurse of her ward, Mrs. Gustafson tied her night robe about her neck and then fastening a loop of it around a post of her bed, threw her weight against the noose and died of strangulation.

A Manchester Mystery

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 28.—At a late hour last night the body of Xavier Tremblay, aged 57, was found on the steps of his home on Central street. There were several wounds on the dead man's head. A trail of blood led across Central street up a back street to Chestnut street, to a house occupied by Louis Adams. Adams and his wife were arrested on suspicion of knowing something of Tremblay's death. The police are investigating.

Life Prisoner Kills Himself

Boston, Nov. 28.—John McPherson, serving a life sentence for murder, hanged himself in his cell at the state prison. McPherson, who was 33 years old, was under sentence for stabbing Frank P. Sharkey at his home in Worcester, when Sharkey surprised him in the house. It was the third time McPherson had been in the state prison.

Management Was Unsatisfactory

Boston, Nov. 28.—The American National bank has closed and National Bank Examiner Neal has been appointed receiver. There has been general dissatisfaction among the directors over the management of the bank.

American Attacked In Russia

St. Petersburg, Nov. 28.—Secretary Bliss of the American embassy was assaulted by roughs on the Horse Guard boulevard. He was returning to the embassy afoot after dining at the yacht club. The men suddenly sprang upon him from the shadow of the boulevard trees. He managed, however, to knock down one of his assailants before aid arrived. Bliss was cut about the face, but not otherwise injured. Charge of Affairs Eddy sent a note to Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, calling his attention to the assault on Bliss, but made no demands.

Sea Washing Away Island

New York, Nov. 28.—The unusual circumstance of parts of an inhabited island sinking into the sea, with buildings toppling over into the water, had a continuation on Barren island, in Jamaica bay. The tide cut another piece of land off the end of the island, and part of another building floated out to sea. Last Saturday two buildings and the land they stood upon slid into this tide, and on Sunday about 2000 more square feet of land crumbled away before the action of the waters.

Great Strike Threatened

New York, Nov. 28.—Sixteen thousand members of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers and Housesmiths' union of this city may go on strike today as a result of the efforts on the part of the constructing firm of Post & McCord to force an open shop plan by putting 300 men to work on three of the 30 buildings they are erecting in New York city. The union men have been waiting for this action of the firm, which now forms the basis of a general strike.

King Haakon Takes the Oath

Christiana, Nov. 28.—King Haakon, before the Norwegian parliament, took the oath to support the constitution. The building was crowded with the highest dignitaries of the state and the diplomatic corps. In a speech King Haakon said his motto was "All for Norway." He said he would govern according to the constitution and the people's will as represented by parliament.

Caught With Contraband Goods

Tiflis, Nov. 28.—A quantity of arms was discharged from boats at the north mole of the port of Poti. The inhabitants of the town assisted in the work. While the unloading was proceeding troops arrived on the scene and firing ensued, which lasted for some hours. The authorities seized 54 boxes of ammunition and 51 boxes of foreign-made rifles. Several arrests were made.

CITY BREVITIES.

General Foreman H. E. Frick of the Fore River Company is in Baltimore on business.

Workmen are relaying the brick sidewalk in front of the new block on Granite street.

The men of Wollaston M. E. Church are going to have an oyster fry and stew at the church on December 14.

If you find you need exercise after your Thanksgiving dinner you can surely get it by dancing to the lively five-piece orchestra at the Sunlight in Quincy Music hall.

It is understood that the gentlemen seeking election as Councilmen have received letters from the Central Labor Union asking questions as to how they stand on certain matters, particularly municipal ownership.

A considerable interest in a friendly manner is being manifested in the shooting contests between different departments of the shipyard at the Shipbuilder's Club. The "M" and "Q" departments have a contest tonight.

Wednesday will be a busy day at the City Treasurer's office. It is practically the last day of the month and besides the regular pay rolls that come due on the first of the month there are the labor pay rolls of the different departments and the school teachers. It will take several thousand dollars to do the job.

Junior Auxiliary.

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. was held in the Association building Friday afternoon Nov. 23.

The members are looking forward to a very pleasant afternoon on Saturday, Dec. 9, when Mrs. E. C. Mellville gives a lesson in candy making with a candy sale at the Y. M. C. A. Tickets can be obtained from the members of the Auxiliary or at the door.

Governor Sacrificed Dignity

Little Rock, Nov. 28.—Governor Davis wires from Fayetteville that former Congressman Dinsmore and Jack Walker assaulted him with drawn revolvers and that he (Davis) was struck over the head with a revolver. Davis in turn struck Dinsmore over the head with a cane. Other reports about the affair say that Davis made some remarks which Dinsmore resented. Dinsmore is regarded as a supporter of Senator Berry, who is a candidate for re-election, and for which office Davis is also a candidate.

Preacher an Alleged Fraud

Omaha, Nov. 28.—Rev. George G. Ware, rector of the Episcopal church of Lead, S. D., was indicted by a federal grand jury, charged with complicity in defrauding the government out of 125,000 acres of land in Hooker and Thomas counties, Neb. Frank Lambert and Harry Walch are made joint defendants with Ware. Each of the men was held in $5000 bonds. Cases are also pending against Ware for alleged illegal fencing.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY
Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

CHECK FOR STOCK

A $700,000 Operation That Eliminated Taxation

HELD FOR A FEW DAYS

Perkins Tells of Investment For Nylic Insurance Fund- Thousands Paid Hamilton From Syndicate Profits

New York, Nov. 28.—One of the most interesting features of the life insurance investigation developed a few minutes before adjournment of the Armstrong committee yesterday when Theodore F. Banta, cashier of the New York Life Insurance company, testified that about the beginning of 1901 Edmund D. Randolph, treasurer of the company, opened the vaults of the company, removed New York City stock valued at $700,000 and put a check of the Central National bank for $700,000 in its place.

Banta said he helped to open vaults at the order of Randolph and that he supposed Randolph acted for the finance committee. The stock was kept out for a few days and was then returned and the check withdrawn. The transaction was not recorded on the books of the company, so far as Banta knew. The effect of the operation would be that anyone having that stock would have $700,000 worth of untaxable property at the end of the year. Banta did not know who received the stock.

Vice President Perkins of the New York Life Insurance company and member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., bankers, described to the committee the transaction which resulted in his receipt of $40,193 from Kidder, Peabody & Co. of Boston, as half the profits of the sale of $2,000,000 worth of bonds of the Mexican Central Railroad company. Milton M. Mattison, a bookkeeper of the New York Life, had previously testified that $930,000 of the life insurance company's money was used in the transaction and that Perkins got the profit.

Perkins said yesterday that he went into the transaction for the Nylic fund, which is owned by the agents of the New York Life, and that he invested the profits for that fund. The life insurance company, he said, profited to the extent of 5 percent interest on the loan of $930,000. He stated that the company had no right to the $40,193 profits.

Perkins said also that J. P. Morgan & Co. had taken up notes of Andrew Hamilton and E. E. McCall, formerly justice of the New York state supreme court, amounting to $56,310, at the request of President McCall of the New York Life, and that the amount with interest was paid to Andrew Hamilton by the New York Life from the proceeds of a syndicate in United States Steel corporation stock.

President McCall told the committee yesterday that he had told the Central National bank and E. E. McCall that Hamilton was good for $50,000 and that they had then taken Hamilton's note. President McCall said the New York Life owed Hamilton the $56,310 and took the syndicate profits to pay him. The result was that the payment did not appear on the books of the company. The reason was that he wanted to keep Hamilton's expenses down.

Much evidence was given both by Perkins and McCall about the New York Security and Trust company's participation in the United States Steel corporation syndicate to the extent of $3,250,000, having the deposits of the New York Life for about that amount. The New York Life got 75 percent of the profits and Perkins contended that it was a safe and profitable venture. McCall said the life insurance company should have participated directly instead of indirectly.

McCurdy Retains Presidency

New York, Nov. 28.—Walter Gillette, vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, denies reports that R. A. McCurdy has resigned the presidency of the Mutual Life and that R. H. McCurdy had retired from the general managership of the company. Gillette says, however, that L. A. Thibaud, son-in-law of President McCurdy, has relinquished the position of the company's general agent for New York.

TWO PLEAD GUILTY

Crawford and Howard Admit Share In Geary Crime

DISPOSED OF THE BODY

One of Them Gives Evidence Against Doctor Who Is Alleged to Have Suggested and Carried Out Dismemberment--Forgot to Remove Rings From Fingers

Boston, Nov. 28.—The trial of Dr. Percy D. McLeod, one of the persons under indictment for the death of Susanna Geary, the victim of the famous suit case tragedy, has begun in the superior criminal court.

Previous to empanelling the jury Louis D. Crawford and William E. Howard were arraigned in the same case and pleaded guilty to being accessories after the fact to the death of Miss Geary. Both were remanded to jail to await sentence, but Crawford was subsequently brought back into the court room and was the principal witness of the day against Dr. McLeod.

After McLeod had pleaded not guilty, the jury was quickly empanneled and first listened to the testimony of Medical Examiner Harris, who described the condition of the body and stated that the immediate cause of death was peritonitis. Mrs. Geary, mother of the girl, identified the victim of the tragedy as her daughter, and also a number of letters from her daughter. The third witness was Morris Nathan, the girl's lover, who admitted his responsibility for the girl's condition.

The interest in the trial, however, centered in the testimony of Crawford. He stated that he was a familiar visitor at the office of Mrs. Dr. Jane Bishop, where it is claimed the illegal operation on the Geary girl was performed, and that he had seen McLeod at the office once or twice a week for the past four years. He claimed that he had nothing whatever to do with the operation upon the girl, but that it was performed by Mrs. Deane, for whom the local authorities are searching.

He said that the day before Miss Geary died in the Roxbury house where she was taken McLeod and Mrs. Deane agreed that death was only a question of a few hours and that the body must be disposed of in some manner. Dr. McLeod suggested dismemberment. At McLeod's direction, Crawford said that he purchased the suit cases and on the day of Miss Geary's death carried them to the house. Dr. McLeod took them upstairs and reappeared in about half an hour. He told Crawford and his companion, Howard, that he had placed the trunk in the larger case, the limbs in the smaller and the head in the small bag.

Crawford and Howard then took the bag and cases and that night threw them into the harbor. Crawford said that he received $115 from persons in the Bishop office. He met McLeod the next day and the latter said that he failed to remove the girl's rings, but that he thought that it would be all right.

Boys Tried to Hide Tragedy

Norwich, N. Y., Nov. 28.—While playing with a number of boys on a revolving turntable in the railroad yards here George W. Sherman, 6 years old, was crushed to death between the end of the table and the track. The boys carried the body to the tracks, expecting it would be believed that their companion had been struck by a train. The railroad officials said that as far as they knew, no one had been killed by a train. Upon being questioned by the coroner one of the boys gave the true facts.

Strike Deadlock Continues

St. John, Nov. 28.—Shipping men claim the turning point in the longshoremen's strike has been reached and that the men have lost. The longshoremen, however, declare that they will hold out. Superintendent Nairn of the Donaldson line offered the men last year's rate and to supply supper to them aboard ship. This was declined and in reply the men asked the rates prevailing at Portland, Me. Nairn declined to consider the proposal.

Seizure of Turkish Customs

Mytilene, Nov. 28.—Eight warships of the combined fleet arrived here yesterday. Admiral Von Jedina, accompanied by the Austrian consul, proceeded to the government house and handed an ultimatum to the governor. Three hours later 500 sailors landed and seized the customs and telegraph offices. Everything is quiet.

Accident to College President

Pittsburg, Nov. 28.—Rev. Dr. Patton, president of the Princeton Theological seminary, stepped off a street car here before it had fully stopped and, losing his balance, fell to the ground, badly spraining his shoulder as well as receiving severe bruises about the head and face.

Violated Civil Service Law

Washington, Nov. 28.—President Roosevelt has removed from office William S. Lieb, assistant United States treasurer at Philadelphia, for "constant and persistent violation of the civil service law while in office."

Yellow Fever Gaining Ground

Havana, Nov. 28.—Six suspected cases of fever have been confirmed as being yellow fever. One of the sufferers died last night. There are now 12 cases under treatment.

Mutineers Appear to Have Upper Hand at Sebastopol

Odessa, Nov. 28.—Governor General Kaulbars has received the following dispatch from Vice Admiral Chouknin, commanding the Black sea fleet:

"The mutineers have left the Kniaz Potemkine and the vessel is now in my hands. The sailors, together with the soldiers of the Brest regiment who mutinied, have shut themselves in the Lazareff barracks with some guns. When fresh troops arrive I shall attack, though I fear the artillerymen may join the mutineers. A very serious state of affairs prevails. Several officers have been killed."

According to private dispatches from Sebastopol, Chouknin has frustrated the design of the mutineers to seize the Black sea fleet and sail for Odessa by ordering all the gunlocks to be broken.

Pavlograd, Nov. 28.—Six companies of troops have left here for Sebastopol under urgent orders.

Others Guilty With Mrs Chadwick

Cleveland, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick has expressed the desire to go on the witness stand again in connection with the bankruptcy proceedings against her. She declares that if an opportunity is again given her to go on the stand, she will tell without reservation all the facts concerning her financial dealings. Mrs. Chadwick said: "There are a number of financiers who benefited very largely through their dealings with me. If I am to be punished it is no more than right that some of these men should suffer with me."

Heir to Millions Dead

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Marshal Field, Jr., died last night. He was the only son of Marshall Field, the multi-millionaire of this city, and was accidentally shot on Nov. 22. He was examining a new revolver which he had purchased when it was discharged, the bullet striking him in the right side, perforating the liver and spleen and injuring the spinal cord. An operation was at once performed and the bullet removed. The physicians from the first entertained but slight hopes of ultimate recovery.

Kept Daughter's Corpse For Years

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 28.—Following the death of Mrs. Hore Thompson, an aged and eccentric woman, a search of her cottage revealed in a storeroom, covered with rubbish, a hermetically sealed box containing the corpse of her daughter, who died 27 years ago. The body of the young woman had been dismembered. When the box was opened a disinterment certificate showed that the body had been shipped from Amherst, Mass., in 1881.

Midshipmen Tell of Fight

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 28.—No great progress was made Monday in the trial by court martial of Midshipman Meriwether on charges that embrace one of manslaughter in connection with the death of Midshipman Branch after a fist fight between him and Meriwether. Most of the testimony offered was by midshipmen and related to details of the fight and events that led thereto.

Winter Makes Its Appearance

St. Paul, Nov. 28.—The first blizzard of the season has blown into St. Paul and gives promise of raging 24 hours at least. High northwest winds sent the snow in such terrific gusts that pedestrians were all but blinded and travel was impeded. From all parts of Minnesota, North and South Dakota come similar reports. Railroad traffic is interfered with.

Cashier Adams' Big Stealings

Seattle, Nov. 28.—Papers have been served on George E. Adams in a civil suit for the recovery of $80,000, a portion of the amount alleged to have been embezzled from the assay office by the former cashier. The amount of the suit is based on the property and cash Adams is known to possess. It is said that the defalcation will amount to $153,900.

Brush With Insurrectionists

Havana, Nov. 28.—The first shots between rural guards and insurrectionists were exchanged yesterday near the center of Havana province. A detachment of the rural guards discovered a party of 20 insurrectionists, which fled after an exchange of shots. Nobody was hurt with the exception of a guard who was thrown from his horse.

A White House Conference

Washington, Nov. 28.—An important conference was held at the White House last night. Secretaries Root, Taft and Bonaparte, Senator Knox and Commissioner of Corporations Garfield were among those who were with the president. No information as to the subject or of the discussion could be ascertained from any of the participants.

Will Ask Congress' Authority

Havana, Nov. 28.—A meeting of Americans held on the Isle of Pines ratified the election of a delegate to the United States congress and the election of territorial officers. It was distinctly understood, however, that there will be no assumption of any office except by the United States authority.

Ordinance Against Football

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Alderman Harris last night presented to the city council a resolution asking the corporation counsel to prepare an ordinance to prohibit football in Chicago. The council sent the resolution to the committee on health for consideration.

NEWS IN BRIEF

William H. Underwood, aged 64, committed suicide at Newport, R. I., by eating powdered camphor. He was night watchman at a local bank. Ill-health is supposed to have made him despondent.

Isaac N. Blodgett died at his home at Franklin, N. H., at the age of 67. He had represented Franklin in the state senate and house. He was chief justice of the New Hampshire supreme court from 1898 to 1902.

The number of employes on construction work for the Panama canal now aggregates 17,000.

Captain Joseph Whaley, keeper of the Point Judith lighthouse from 1862 until 1890, died at his home at Wakefield, R. I., as the result of a paralytic stroke. He was 88 years old.

The trial of Harvey, Malato and Caussanel, accused of complicity in the plot in which a bomb was thrown at King Alfonso and President Loubet during the Spanish king's visit to Paris in May, has begun at Paris.

The sub-committee on Public Buildings of the City Council meet tonight.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

HOLIDAY NOTICE.

The office of the Daily Ledger will be closed on Thursday, Thanksgiving day, no paper being issued. For the holiday news see Friday's paper.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

A flag pole has been erected in the front roof of the Hancock building.

The weather was threatening this noon. It looked like snow and the air felt like it.

Walter M. Packard, who was nominated as Councilman from Ward One, has resigned as warden of Ward One, precinct two.

William H. Warner, the commander of Paul Revere Post, G. A. R., has now been confined to the house for several days.

The display of deer, bear, turkeys and other Thanksgiving goodies in front of Johnson Bros. store was photographed by Skinner this morning.

Duncan McLennan is the happy possessor of the trombone formerly owned by James Copland, and Water street people will have music for awhile.

W. B. Newton for several years connected with the engineering department at the shipyard has resigned his position to go with the Bath Iron Works in their turbine department.

The alarm from Box 52 at 7.22 this morning was for a fire in a lot of rubbish in the cellar of Dr. C. H. Adams' house. The burning rubbish made a lot of smoke but there was but little fire damage.

There is a stereopticon lecture tonight in Bethany church chapel by Mr. A. H. Kirkland, chairman of the Gypsy Moth Commission. Every one should attend and get all the facts possible about these moth pests and then go to work and rid the city of them. Now is the time.

The Brotherhood of Bethany church are holding frequent rehearsals for the mock session of the City Council to be held Wednesday evening, Dec. 13. Subjects which have agitated the Quincy Council and many others they have not dared to tackle will be touched upon and an effort will be made to show how business should be dispatched.

FATHER AND SON

Mother and daughter, old and young often need a good, reliable family tonic remedy. Complaints of stomach, liver and bowels —especially constipation—are common in every home at this time of the year.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

should be taken promptly when you notice any of these well-known symptoms: Furred tongue, variable appetite, disturbed sleep, irritability, malaria, poor complexion, costiveness.

Dr. True's Elixir is a pure vegetable home remedy with a wonderfully successful record. For three generations it has been in use. Its gentle laxative action keeps the stomach sweet, the bowels regular, the blood pure, increases the appetite, and gives rugged robust health. Given regularly it is a preventative of coughs, colds, fever and worms.

DR. J. F. TRUE & CO.: Portland, Me.

I shall in future know just what to recommend to others who are not feeling well: stomach out of order, headache, poor appetite, or a bad cold. Your Elixir has helped me out of just this combination of troubles and destroyed the cold I had.

Yours truly, MRS. E. A. SKOLFIELD.

Sold by druggists, 35c, 50c, $1.00. Write for free booklet, "Children and Their Diseases."

Come Now Own Up

You don't like those gray hairs, do you? And your husband certainly doesn't like them. Then why not try a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor? It restores color to gray hair every time, all the deep, rich color of early life. And it cures dandruff also. Sold for 60 years. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

The masquerade ball to be given by the Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor tomorrow night is the eighth annual by this society and like its predecessors will be a jolly good time.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

A New Coddington

The School Committee Vote for New Building

The School Committee at its regular meeting, Tuesday evening, voted to send a communication to the City Council, asking for a new school building at the Coddington, also to provide additional accommodations in the Lincoln district.

The committee has already called the attention of the City Council to the need of additional accommodations in the Atlantic district.

The resignation of Miss Florence J. Davis of the Willard school was accepted. Miss Davis has accepted a position with the schools at Taunton.

Miss Ina M. Harden was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Davis.

Miss Laura B. Tolman was elected as master's assistant at the Quincy school.

THE LINCOLN DISASTER

Death List Is Not Expected to Exceed Seventeen

Boston, Nov. 29.—The death list of the victims of the Lincoln disaster last Sunday evening has not increased and as all the injured at the hospitals are reported as steadily improving, it is believed that 17 will be the limit of the fatalities caused by Engineer Lyons' failure to heed signals.

The railroad officials conducted the first formal investigation yesterday, examining all the trainmen with the exception of Engineer Lyons, who failed to respond to the summons. It is reported that the engineer has been located by the railroad detectives and that he will appear today.

There is but little left at Lincoln to show where the collision occurred. The tracks are cleared and trains are again running on schedule time. What stray chips and pieces of broken iron remained were eagerly gathered by relic hunters.

CHARITIES.

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

Cooperation Necessary

To Fight Gypsy Moths And the Browntails

A. H. Kirkland, the State superintendent for suppressing the gypsy and brown-tail moths, spoke very interestingly on his work Tuesday evening at Bethany chapel under the auspices of the Quincy Women's Club.

There was a large attendance of ladies and gentlemen representing different parts of the city; also several of the Councilmen, members of the Park Commission, and other officials.

Mr. Kirkland was introduced by Mrs. Dexter E. Wadsworth, the chairman of the Civic Committee of the Women's Club. At the outset he said trees were worth having and they added much to the attractiveness of estates and communities.

At best the trees have a hard time especially in cities where the streets are paved and the sidewalks connected, and it is difficult for nourishment or water to get to the roots. The roots also suffer from leaking gas mains, and are often cut in laying pipes, street railways, etc.

Then horses feed upon the tree trunks and electric wires often kill noble trees. It is a wonder we have any trees at all.

There are more insects than a few years ago because the sparrows have driven away other birds, and pests have been brought here from abroad.

Coming to the moths, Mr. Kirkland said there were egg masses all over Quincy and it was important that every citizen should look over his trees this winter. He illustrated with stereopticon views the moths, the caterpillars, the egg masses, etc. Also the destruction which the pests have caused in towns north of Boston.

He described the moths fully, not only the gypsy and brown-tail but other kinds, so that they might be distinguished. Told of the rapidity with which the pests multiply. They not only were destructive, but where they come in contact with the human flesh, produced a most severe and painful nettling, and in many cases had made people seriously ill.

Mr. Kirkland was confident a parasite would be found but in the meantime there was much work to be done, and it could be successful only by cooperation. This was urged upon Quincy people. He understood city officials would push the work to protect trees in the streets, but individuals should clean up their estates. The ladies of the Quincy Women's club should continue to agitate the work.

Banquet of Mr. Lee's Class

A very pleasant occasion was the reunion of Mr. Lee's class in the vestry of the Point church, Tuesday evening. A bountiful turkey supper, provided by the boys and served by lady friends, was throughly enjoyed by all. At the close of the feast Mr. Lee acted as toastmaster and introduced the following speakers; Mr. T. B. Pollard, who spoke on "The boys in the Sunday School;" Mr. C. H. Sherburne, who spoke on "The Sunday School, its past, its present and its future;" and Rev. A. R. Atwood, who spoke on "The boy's place in the World." The following boys were present: Carlton McNeil, Irving Hayden, William Staples, Thomas Skinner, Herbert Harting, Harry Brown, Forest Hayden, Alfred Thayer, Arthur Dyer, Morris Smith, Charles French, Edwin Lee, David Melville, Russell Oliver, Roy Wales, Lewis French, Charles Yule, John Stitt, William French, Clarence Metcalf and Daniel McQueen.

An old-fashioned Thanksgiving turkey dinner will be served at Hotel Greenleaf and Hotel Hancock to-morrow from 1 to 2 o'clock. Price 50 cents. Parties may have special tables reserved. Price 75 cents each.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Evidently Postmaster Hammond is not superstitious about making a change on aFriday. He will open up the new postoffice on Friday.

Thankgiving is here, and Quincy people have much to be thankful for. Why then should not all be thankful! Some may not have been as prosperous financially as others, yet perhaps they are happier. Let us be thankful for health, and if thankful we will be happy and make others happy.

Newport, R. I., which is not bothered much for funds, has had a high school agitation of even longer duration than Quincy, about ten years. Now, however, it has a model new building about ready for dedication, and thanks are given to Herbert W. Lull, formerly of Quincy, under whose superintendency the plans have been developed. It was political differences which held up the appropriation there.

Whipped and Driven From County

Dublin, Ga., Nov. 29.—H. C. Christian, a barber, and Will Bethea, a laborer, were severely whipped by citizens of Dublin and run out of the county. The negroes confessed to being members of a black hand society, which had sent threatening letters to the chief of police.

Not Guilty of Manslaughter

St. John, Nov. 29.—In the case of Fred Northrup, held on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Charles O'Regan in a recent boxing match here, the grand jury found no bill and Northrup was discharged. Judge Hanington said he agreed with the jury's finding.

QUEER POLICIES

Loopholes Place Their Holders at a Disadvantage

PROBING OF SYNDICATES

Squire Tells of Deals In Which Officers of the Equitable Derived Profits--New York Life Money Paid to Hamilton by Another Concern

New York, Nov. 29.—Just before the legislative insurance investigating committee adjourned yesterday Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the committee, produced a policy written by the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company upon the life of an unnamed man, which policy stipulated upon the first page that the insured should pay fixed and stated premiums, "subject to other benefits and requirements elsewhere stated."

On page 2 of the policy he read a clause that the executive committee of the company could require the holder of the policy to pay any multiple of the amount of the premium stated on the first page which the committee saw fit. George D. Eldredge, vice president and actuary of the company, to whom Hughes read the policy, said that the number of such policies issued was small.

Previously Edmund D. Randolph, treasurer of the New York Life Insurance company, had said that it was true that he removed $700,000 worth of New York city stock from the vaults of the company and put a check of the Central National bank for that amount in the place of it on Jan. 5, 1901. Randolph understood that the bank wanted the stock for clients, one of which was the Merchants' Trust company. He promised to give the committee later the names of any officers of the New York Life Insurance company then in the Merchants' Trust company.

The deposition of George H. Squire, formerly financial manager of the Equitable Life Assurance society, in which he described some of the operations of the syndicates which included officers of that society, was read to the committee. Squire said in it that in 1901 the Equitable society bought 2000 shares of the stock of the Lawyers' Title Insurance company and resold 1500 shares to several of its officers and directors at the purchase price, $174. Some of the Equitable men sold their stock later, said Squire, and subsequently large blocks of the stock were sold to the Equitable society at $310 to $350 by the firm of Williamson & Squire. That firm might have bought it from the officers of the Equitable society, Squire said, but he did not know.

Mr. Hughes also brought out that a profit of $22,000 had been paid to Squire from the sales of stock of the Lawyers' Mortgage company to the Equitable society and that Squire had divided profits from an unknown operation, aggregating $18,960, among four officers of the Equitable society—J. W. Alexander, J. H. Hyde, T. D. Jordan and W. H. McIntyre.

The fact that the New York Security and Trust company paid $18,000 to Andrew Hamilton, the legislative agent, out of moneys belonging to the New York Life Insurance company was brought out by Hughes.

W. S. Fanshawe, a dealer in investment securities, told the committee that in 1904 he bought New Orleans traction bonds of a face value of $1,250,000 from the New York Life Insurance company and George W. Perkins, trustee of the "Nylic" fund, giving them his checks amounting to $937,500 in payment, and then borrowed the $937,500 from the New York Life Insurance company, using the bonds as collateral. He then sold the bonds, giving the New York Life Insurance company 95 percent of the profits and keeping 5 percent.

Chicago Politician Stabbed

Chicago, Nov. 29.—John V. Kopf, a Cook county commissioner, was stabbed during a political quarrel and sustained probably fatal injuries. A bitter feeling has existed between the Republicans in the 13th ward, and during a ward club election Kopf became involved in a dispute with George Roberts and Roberts plunged a knife in Kopf's abdomen. Roberts was arrested.

Presidential Inaugurations In April

Washington, Nov. 29.—The last Thursday of April has been decided upon by the national committee on the proposed change of inauguration day as the day to recommend to congress for future presidential inaugurations. It was decided that no action should be taken on proposing a new date for the assembling of congress. The vote was unanimous.

MASKS ON FACES

Doctors Concealed Their Features From Patients

THE TRIAL OF M'LEOD

Many Witnesses Testify That He Often Called at Office Where Miss Geary May Have Had Illegal Operation Performed

Boston, Nov. 29.—Shocking in its details, the story of the dismemberment and disposition of the body of Susanna A. Geary, the Cambridge chorus girl, was rehearsed in the superior criminal court at the trial of Dr. Percy D. McLeod, who is charged with being an accessory to a criminal operation.

The principal witnesses were Louis H. Crawford and William Howard, sometimes known as Hunt, who were arrested in New York; Emma Coulter, and Sarah Griffith, nurse at the house on Winthrop street, Roxbury, where the Geary girl is said to have died, and Dr. John H. Pettee of Roxbury, who testified that he had been called by McLeod to attend a patient at the Winthrop street house.

During the examination of Hunt and Miss Griffith it was brought out that McLeod wore a mask to conceal his features when he attended patients at the house on Winthrop street. Miss Griffith further testified that Pettee also wore a mask. Both McLeod and Pettee, Miss Griffith said, were masked while the Geary girl was conscious, but as soon as she became unconscious they uncovered their faces and made no attempt to conceal their identity. When questioned by counsel for McLeod, Miss Griffith said that the masks were not worn for protection, but in order that the physician's features might not be seen by the patient.

It was brought out by many of the witnesses that McLeod was a frequent called at the "Mrs. Bishop" office on Tremont street, where the illegal operation on Susan Geary is alleged to have been performed. McLeod, it was testified, had also been in the habit of calling at the Winthrop street house. According to the testimony he called regularly Saturday at the Bishop office to collect the money due him for his services.

The testimony brought out that McLeod did the "outside work," that is, he had no part in the illegal operation, but attended to patients upon whom such operations had been performed.

During his cross-examination of Hunt Attorney Vahey, counsel for McLeod, asked the witness if, while living in Philadelphia, he had ever thrown newly born infants into a furnace or placed the bodies of victims of his illegal operations in quicklime. Hunt replied negatively, but admitted that he had conducted an illegal medical office in Philadelphia and had also performed illegal operations in Boston.

An Engine of Destruction

Washington, Nov. 29.—What an eight-inch armor piercing shell fired at a distance of 1500 yards will do to the side of an armored cruiser, protected by a five-inch armor plate on a protective deck nearly three inches thick, was demonstrated by an important test at the naval proving grounds at Indian Head. The shell pierced the five-inch plate, went through the inclined protective deck and buried itself in the coal bunkers. The detailed conditions under which the test was conducted are kept in confidence.

Court Will Not Help Patrick

Albany, Nov. 29.—The court of appeals has denied the motion made in behalf of Albert T. Patrick for an amendment of the remittitur recording the court's dismissal of his appeal from conviction of murder in the first degree. The matter is purely technical, but it was of great importance to Patrick, as its procedure would have facilitated Patrick's appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

Owing to a hitch with the railroad, William Cashman has not yet built his spur track across Furnace avenue to his coal yard. At the present time the coal is unloaded from the cars to bins near the railroad track.

Eugene Burke a Quincy boy on the battleship Missouri is one of the champion naval football eleven attached to that vessel. They had a game scheduled for today in Boston with an eleven from Fort Strong.

W. A. Coles, the blind entertainer, humorist, impersonator and ventriloquist will give an entertainment to the members of the First Parish Sunday school and their parents on Friday evening at 7 o'clock. No charge of admission.

The Thanksgiving holidays of the public school children began earlier than scheduled, the no-school signal being given at 7.30 A. M. It was the first time since the summer vacation that the no-school signal has been given, an unusual record for pleasant weather. No school until Monday.

If YOU Were Called upon to Give a Bond at a Moment's Notice, What Would You Do?

It is increasingly difficult to find friends who are willing to become personal sureties.

What would you do?

You would seek corporate security, which is fast superseding the personal kind. You would go to the nearest office of the American Surety Company and obtain the necessary bond, quickly and without red-tape.

When placed in a position which requires a bond, apply immediately to

Paid for Serial Rights of New Story

"SIR NIGEL"

BY

Sir A. Conan Doyle

Author of Sherlock Holmes, White Company, Etc.

BEGINS IN

Boston Sunday Post Sunday Magazine Next Sunday, Dec. 3

☛ Conan Doyle says "Sir Nigel" is his masterpiece. It is an absolutely new story, and can be obtained only in the Boston Post Sunday Magazine. It is a companion to the author's "White Company."

☛ There was a sharp competition between the leading magazines for this great serial, which is considered the literary feature of the coming season. The Sunday Magazine, which is published by a syndicate of leading Sunday newspapers, including the Boston Sunday Post, Chicago Record-Herald, St. Louis Republic, Philadelphia Press and several others, secured the story for $25,000 cash, the record price for American serial rights.

Football Not a Recognized Sport at the University

THE ACTION IS FINAL

Association Must Disband and Have All Its Accounts Settled by End of Present Year--Diversified Opinions on Game

New York, Nov. 29.—Columbia university has abolished the game of football, as at present played, as one of the sports in which students of the university will be permitted to engage. This action was taken last night at a meeting of the Columbia university committee on student organizations. The following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

"Under the authority conferred by the university council on student organizations, 'to supervise and control all student organization, athletic and other, which in any way represent the university before the public,' it is

"Resolved, that from and after Dec. 31, 1905, the Football association of Columbia university shall be disbanded, before which date all its accounts shall be, settled to the satisfaction of the comptroller of student organizations.

"Resolved, that in the opinion of this committee the present game of football shall be abolished and the committee respectfully recommend to the university council that the game be prohibited at Columbia university."

The action of this committee is final. The students are not permitted to play without the consent of the committee and if they do so they render themselves liable to expulsion. Professor Lord said, after the meeting of the committee:

"The reason for this action needs no explanation. They must be present to the mind of everyone acquainted with the game as now played. Only by such radical action can the university and college life be rid of an absession which, it is believed, has become as burdensome to the great mass of students as it has proved itself harmful to academic standing and dangerous to human life."

Camp's Suggestion

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Walter Camp, the football authority, who is in Chicago, expressed little surprise at the action taken by Columbia university. "The time has come," said Camp, "when some action must be taken modifying the style of the present college football game. I believe a rule compelling the carrying of the ball 10 yards for three downs will ultimately prove the solution of the obnoxious elements of college football, and I sincerely believe that the time is near at hand when either this rule will be adopted universally, or some other means will be decided upon whereby all danger to the player will be eliminated."

New York University Acts

New York, Nov. 29.—The faculty of the University of New York has taken definite action looking to the abolishment of the game of football as it now is played. Every college whose football team has played against the university since 1885 has been invited to take part in a conference to fully consider and finally dispose of the future of the game. With the call for the conference is the announcement that the New York university delegates will support a resolution that the present game of football ought to be abolished.

Other Sports More Dangerous

New York, Nov. 29.—Coach Morley of Columbia, when asked what he thought of the action of the committee, said: "The number of deaths from football this season was 19. I believe the death rate is considerably smaller than in such sports as automobiling, steeplechasing, hockey, or horseback riding and other strenuous sports. Football as played by the large college teams is, of course, faster and harder than that played by the smaller or junior teams throughout the country, but they are able to do it because of their good physical condition."

Game Should Be Modified

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Acting President Judson of the Uinversity of Chicago, when informed of the action taken by Columbia university against the present style of college football, said: "Football is too good a sport to be entirely abolished from the American colleges and the drastic action taken by Columbia university will undoubtedly be the inauguration of a movement which will ultimately result in such a modification of the game as to eliminate any danger to the players that may now exist."

Would Not Abandon Football

Minneapolis, Nov. 29.—"I think that is going entirely too far," said President Northrop of the University of Minnesota, when asked for an expression of opinion regarding the action of Columbia university in abolishing football as a college sport. "I am very strongly in favor of the retention of football," he continued, "There is no question but that changes should be made in the game as played at present.

Must Be Changed at Rochester

Rochester, Nov. 29.—President Rhees of the University of Rochester declares that the game of football as played at present will not be tolerated at that institution and he will approve any action that may be taken to modify the rules and methods of the game.

Exceptions In the Case of Murderer Tucker Are Overruled

Boston, Nov. 29.—The full bench of the Massachusetts supreme court, by a unanimous opinion, overruled the exceptions in the case of Charles L. Tucker, convicted of the murder of Mabel Page at Weston on March 31, 1904, which were taken by his counsel at the trial, as well as the motion for a new trial, and remanded the case to the superior court for sentence.

If there is the least possible grounds for it, Lawyer Vahey will petition the supreme court for a rehearing. Failing in this, the case will go to the United States supreme court on an exception regarding the prisoner's constitutional rights, which counsel claims were violated by the search of his home for evidence without a warrant.

In the usual course of legal procedure Tucker will soon be brought into court and the death sentence will be pronounced. By his counsel carrying the case to the highest court, however, it will act as a stay of sentence.

Changing Ship Subsidy Bill

Washington, Nov. 29.—The merchant marine commission has considered amendments to the ship subsidy bill presented to the last congress. The commission made several verbal changes for the sake of added clearness and precision, and limiting the subventions absolutely to ships engaged principally in the foreign trade as distinct from the coastwise commerce, providing specifically that no vessel receiving a subvention shall receive any other subvention, bounty or subsidy from the United States, and requiring that one-half of the deck force of ships receiving subventions shall be able seamen, who have served at least two years on deck.

New Epoch In Austrian History

Vienna, Nov. 29.—The Austrian people throughout the entire land yesterday made known to the crown their demand for equal suffrage, and even as this demand was being voiced, the crown, through Premier Frankenthurn, in parliament, was assuring the people that their will would be done. The premier promised to bring in by the end of February a bill providing for a full and free universal, equal and direct suffrage. The people made known their demand by a series of monster demonstrations in all the principal cities and towns of the country.

Opposed to Rate Legislation

Buffalo, Nov. 29.—That the four big railroad brotherhoods will take concerted action against government regulation of railroad rates was confirmed by Grand Chief Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. "You can say that circulars now are being printed by the Brotherhoods of Engineeds, Firemen, Trainmen and Conductors," said Stone. "They will be sent to all employes of the four big brotherhoods and will explain why we are opposed to government regulation of rates."

Extension Will Cost $50,000,000

New York, Nov. 29.—At a special meeting of directors of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company the board formally authorized the building of the St. Paul extension to the Pacific coast from Evarts, S. D., to Seattle and Tacoma. It is estimated that the cost will be about $50,000,000.

More Votes For Jerome

New York, Nov. 29.—The examination of void and contested ballots will be finished by Wednesday evening. So far there has been no decided gain for either McClellan or Hearst. The only candidate who is gaining votes is Jerome, about 400 contested ballots having been decided in his favor.

Made Hundred Thousand Converts

Liverpool, Nov. 29.—Ten thousand persons gathered in Tournament hall here last night to bid farewell to R. A. Torrey and C. M. Alexander, the American evangelists, at the close of their successful revival movement in the United Kingdom. This movement has covered a period of three years, during which nearly 100,000 converts were made. Torrey sailed today for the United States and Alexander will leave on Dec. 16.

The Powers Give Warning

Sofia, Nov. 29.—An identical note addressed by the Austro-Hungarian and Russian governments to Servia, Bulgaria and Greece was presented here last night. It explains the motives of the powers in coercing the porte and warns Servia, Bulgaria and Greece against stirring up trouble in Macedonia. The note was supported by verbal communications from the representatives of the other interested powers.

Big Strike May Come Today

New York, Nov. 29.—Although the threatened strike of 16,000 members of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers and Housesmiths' union was not called yesterday, action was taken last night by the Building Trades Employers' association which, it is feared, will precipitate a crisis today. It was decided that the Employers' association should stand by Post & McCord in the fight with their former employes.

Roosevelt to Haakon

Christiana, Nov. 29.—King Haakon has received the following cablegram from President Roosevelt: "I appreciate your majesty's announcement that you have taken possession of the royal power, and on my own behalf and that of my countrymen I offer cordial wishes for your personal welfare and the happiness and prosperity of the Norwegian people."

Greece to Take Part of Albania

Rome, Nov. 29.—Professor De Marinis, a member of the chamber of deputies, who is looked upon as an authority on foreign affairs, asserts positively that Austria has secretly concluded an agreement with Greece by which the latter is to take over part of Albania, a region in the western part of European Turkey.

Dismembered His Victim's Body

New York, Nov. 29.—Joseph F. Bauer, charged with the murder of Thomas Corcoran, was found guilty of murder in the second degree and was remanded for sentence. Bauer lured Corcoran to a room, shot him and then dismembered the body.

Fourteen Months For Extra Vote

New York, Nov. 29.—George Ackerman, 23 years old, convicted of illegally voting at the recent election, was sentenced to the Elmira reformatory for not less than 14 months. He pleaded guilty to voting twice.

Nothing but Church Left

Rome, Nov. 29.—The village of Rocca Soraggio has been entirely destroyed by a landslide, with the exception of a church. Fortunately there were no victims, the inhabitants having fled.

Another Discontented Garrison

Batoum, Nov. 29.—The regiments of the garrison here, which are steeped in discontent, have formulated demands for the dismissal of the reservists of the Kherson regiment.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Word was received this morning of the death at Augusta, Me., on Monday of Mrs. Helen G., widow of Mr. O. B. Plummer, formerly of Wollaston Park. Upon the death of Mr. Plummer Mrs. Plummer removed to Maine, where she has since made her home.

Bert's Birthday At Y. M. C. A.

One of the faithful, constant and most popular workers in the Quincy Y. M. C. A., was given a birthday party Tuesday evening at the Association building by a few of his many friends. Tables were spread for 14 and shortly after 10 the party sat down to a delightful repast.

After the luscious morsels had gone to satisfy the inner man, Mr. Miller was presented with a gold locket watch charm engraved with his initials, to which he responded in deep words of appreciation. Toast's followed. The affair breaking up at 12 with "Flash lights," and "blisteration."

AMONG THE CLUBS.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

The Dec. 12th meeting of the Quincy Women's club is to be an open meeting when members may invite guests, or any one interested in charitable work will be welcome to attend. Dr. Jeffrey R. Brackett will address the meeting taking for his subject "Possibilities in Social Work," and Mrs. Hatch the Visiting Nurse, by request will repeat her paper on "District Nursing in Quincy." Members on the waiting list are especially invited to attend this meeting.

PICKWICK CLUB.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Crane entertain the Pickwick club at their home on Elm street on Wednesday evening, Dec. 6th. Mrs. William E. Alden has the evening's program in charge; subject, "Melpomena."

MOTHERS' MEETING.

The December meeting of the Mothers' club will be held on Wednesday afternoon, December sixth, in the chapel of Bethany church.

REBEKAHS

The Rebekahs are planing for a large meeting on Thursday Dec. 7th, when a public supper will be given, new applications received and out of town visitors entertained.

FRIDAY CLUB.

The Friday club will meet on December first with Mrs. John F. Welch of Hancock street instead of with Mrs. Henry M. Faxon, owing to her recent bereavement. The writings of Henry Hallam and George Grote will be discussed with Mrs. Z. S. Arnold and Miss Edith Randall as the committee in charge of the program.

DAUGHTERS of THE REVOLUTION.

Adams Chapter Daughters of the Revolution hold their December meeting on Monday afternoon December fourth, at three o'clock, at the birthplace of President John Adams. This will be the last meeting at the old house until spring, as the Chapter will meet at the homes of members during the cold weather.

JUNIOR FRIDAY CLUB.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Junior Friday club was held on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jessie Litchfield, Brook street, Wollaston. Three of the members were missed, Miss Randall, Miss Georgiana C. Lane, and Mrs. Griswold, who are ill. The literary program was in charge of Miss Etta M. Prescott, and some interesting papers and readings were given on Benjamin Franklin and Charles Brockden Brown. The hostess served a most dainty and appetizing lunch during the social hour.

HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION.

The meeting of the Hospital Aid Association held Thursday the 23d in the Women's clubhouse was largely attended. It was decided to have an entertainment during the winter to replenish the treasury. Various plans were discussed and the matter was left in the hands of the officers. The president, Mrs. Joseph C. Morse of Goffe street, has invited all the members to an all day sewing bee and box lunch at her home on Wednesday, December 6. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance and that they will come as early as 10 A. M.

PICKWICK PAPERS.

The Quincy Pickwick club met Wednesday evening with Miss Mary A. Thomas. The subject of the evening was "Current Literature", the programe being in charge of Mrs. H. W. Beattie and Mrs. H. E. Crane. Articles upon several subjects of the day were read, the feature of the evening being an original paper on "The Quincy Woman's Club", by Mr. Wilson Marsh.

GUILDS.

Friday evening at the Parish house of Christ church, St. Margaret's Guild will hold a business meeting which will be followed by a talk by Miss Jennie McIntosh of Boston.

ALLIANCE.

The meeting on Monday afternoon in the parlor of First church of the Quincy branch of the National Alliance of Unitarian women, was one of the best of the season. Considerable business was transacted, followed by an especially interesting paper on "James Martineau and modern Unitarianism" by Rev. Albert Lazenby of Lynn. Mr. Lazenby is an Englishman and had a personal acquaintance with Martineau, so that his paper proved most entertaining, being full of personal anecdotes. During the social half hour, chocolate and light refreshments were served.

NEIGHBORING WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Next Monday will be a home afternoon with the Milton Woman's club, the meeting being held in the parlors of the First Parish church, at the Centre.

The Ladies' Library association of Randolph is busily at work preparing to observe its golden anniversary next month. It is thought to be the oldest woman's club in existence.

The New England Women's club is to hold the first of this season's club suppers at their rooms on Clarendon street, Boston, on Monday December the fourth.

On Monday afternoon Rabbi Fleischer speaks on "Women in Democracy" before the Brightelmstone club of Allston. At the last meeting members were reminded of their responsibility in exterminating the gypsy and browntail moths and more earnest work urged. An appeal was also made to members to register, and vote for school committee, etc.

On Monday evening the choral society of the Cantabrigia club of Cambridge gave Rossini's "Stabat Mater" in the Universalist church of that city to an audience which completely filled the church. It was a great success musically and financially.

Prof. Louis P. Elson is to lecture on "The Songs of the Sea" before the Watertown Woman's club on Monday afternoon, it being the musical afternoon of the club program.

The Glee club of the Swampscott Woman's club composed of thirteen members, gave much pleasure at the last meeting of the club, singing several selections.

The Hyde Park Current Events club is observing Thanksgiving at their meeting today by an especially appropriate program, and an old time New England lunch.

At the last meeting of the Chelsea Woman's club a collection was taken for the benefit of the no-license work of the city.

The Lynn Woman's club has increased its membership to 200.

John C. Tomey was fined $10 for exceeding the speed limit with an automobile at the Blue Hill reservation.

John W. Landers was arraigned for violation of the Metropolitan Park rules. Case continued until Dec. 8.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Canthrarides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
